Space doesn't allow me many, but here are some: Matthew 10-1, And when he had called unto him his twelve disciples he gave them power against unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of sickness and all manner of disease; also, Matthew 10-8, and many more in Acts. I, myself, can't fight in words, but have myself experienced God's grace to save a lost sinner and the power to heal all my diseases, although this doesn't alter the fact that a doctor does a grand work but I stand on God's word.

I remain,

A PLOPPING PLUM?

Sir: An election was held in the township of Dummer on Dec. 1st. In the contest for school trustees there were three trustees running for two seats. The village of Warsaw, some believe, made a record for Ontario in the matter of "plumping" when the leading candidate secured 191 votes the other two candidates got 58 votes and 40 votes respectively. There were 100 or slightly more who "plumped".

Is it right to plump or not? Perhaps the editor of this fine paper would express his views.

Signed,
"EASTERN DUMMER"

(Ed. Note: It seems logical in a democratic society that where voters are called on to fill two positions they should be sufficiently acquainted with the candidates to be able to vote conscientiously for two, and thus avoid plumping. If the candidates are not to their liking, it is their fault; they have power to nominate.)

PETERBOROUGH AND INDUSTRY

Sir: Peterborough does not extend a welcome hand to new industry. Why?

This is the only logical conclusion of one who left this City twenty years ago and has returned to his home-town and re-entered business. "Yes", my friends say, "we have a fine new City Hall, new schools, a beautiful and modern new Hospital, a new postal building in the process of erection, also one of the finest public parking lots for cars in North America. "Our Community Centre?", well! "For many years now we seem to have had difficulty finding the right location. But industry? A few new small firms have located here and the oldstand-by industries have expanded a little, but no new major industry has located here, our large plants have laid off a great many employees recently and are moving some departments to other centres".

Why, you ask? Does our Council not want new Industry? If so, are they sure they are representing the will of the majority of those who placed them in office? Are they afraid to bring new industry into our community to compete with the old firms on the labour market? A recent report from the Unemployment Insurance Commission states unemployment higher in Peterborough now than at this time last year, due to lay-offs in local plants. Is our Council not aware of the fact that industry is the life-blood of a community and like any other business must have competition to remain vigorous and healthy and maintain a high level of employment?

Industry, also by assuming its fair share of taxes, helps tremendously in keeping taxation at a minimum to all property owners.

Peterborough has a backbone of fine well-established manufacturers, but is it wise to depend upon them solely to keep our workers employed for the next twenty years? Would it not be sound policy to build more homes and encourage firms to locate here and supply more jobs for more people?

New industry wants to come to our City, but is passing it by for lack of location and encouragement. It is going elsewhere. Many times this has happened during the past years.

Ontario is in the midst of the biggest boom in industrial expansion in its history and yet our community is not participating in, nor is receiving its fair share of this great prosperity. Why miss this golden opportunity? I know there are a great many more progressive-minded people in this city who are asking the same question. Perhaps someone will supply the answer through your paper, Mr. Editor.

Yours Sincerely,
A. METCALFE

GOAT AND RACE HORSE

Sir: In a "Letter To The Editor" recently I made some remarks about faith and, since the sad effect of the faith-insulin case at Barrie, a few have asked for my views on some aspects of the dispute.

I am pleased with the precise opinion expressed in your editorial "Prudence Is Also A Virtue" in Dec. 6 Examiner. I would not approve any legal ban on the voice of faith healers (or fellow-travellers either) and I am quite as sure as you, that the good sense which you specify is ample protection against all sorts of faith cures for physical or mental ills, ranging from psychosis, at one end, to ingrown toe-nails at the other.

Even your equivocal statement " . . . that faith and good sense should go hand in hand" is not so bad as I might have expected; but I can visualize an odd pair: good sense, as applied to medical practice, is the result of diligent research and reason, while faith, so far as we know, is still only a feeling; and feelings, as we can observe, can be hopped-up or inflamed with piety violence and vengeance, all in the same charge, that could spark some disaster that might range anywhere from the deplorable events known as the Crusades which, touched-off by faithful followers at the Council of Clermont, lasted about two centuries, to an election-time dispute on Sunday sports.

I can suppose that teaming faith and good sense would give about the same result as putting a goat in the stall with a high-strung race horse.

Respectfully,
W. H. ROSEBUSH

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else. (Isa. 45: 22.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Behold my servant; whom I uphold, mine elect, in whom my soul delighteth; I have put my spirit upon him: he shall bring forth judgement to the Gentiles . . I the Lord have called thee in righteousness, and will hold thine hand, and will keep thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, for a light of the Gentiles to open the blind eyes, to bring out the prisoners from the prison, and them that sit in darkness out of the prison house. (Isa. 42: 1, 6, 7.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And it came to pass, as Jesus sat at meat in the house, behold, many publicans and sinners came and sat down with him and his disciples. And when the Pharisees saw it, they said unto his disciples, Why eateth your Master with publicans and sinners? But when Jesus heard that, he said unto them, They that be whole need not a physician, but they that are sick. (Matt. 9: 10-12.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity.

And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she wasm ade straight, and glorified God. (Luke 13: 11-13.)

Unconsidered Trifles

"Have a cigar?" said the man with the smiling face.

"Don't mind if I do," said his friend. "But what's the occasion? Why the lavish display?"

"Oh, I've got an addition to the family."

"You don't say so? Congratulations!" said the other man, enthusiastically, as he put a match to his cigar. After a few puffs, he observed, "About the fifth child, I should say."

✧ ✧ ✧

In a night club, a dizzy blonde snuggled up to her escort.

"How about giving me a diamond bracelet?" she murmured, holding out her arm to envisage the effect.

"My dear," replied her friend, "extenuating circumstances perforce me to preclude you from such a bauble of extravagance."

"I don't get it," said the girl in bewilderment.

"That's just what I said!" came the grim reply.

A Little Thing

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)

In Vancouver a fuse blew in the power system. It knocked out fog-horns, signal lights and radar on the big Lion's Gate bridge for seven hours and gummed up shipping in the fog. One C.P.R. freighter went aground briefly at the harbour entrance but, fortunately, damage was slight.

Hospitals have auxiliary power plants to operate when the regular sources fail. One would think that the entrance to a great harbour like Vancouver would have similar safeguards, especially when heavy fogs there are taken into consideration.

Canadian Business Men Will Get Look At Iron Curtain Attending Vienna Congress

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadian business men will get a look at the Iron Curtain this year, in company with business men from some 30 other countries.

The occasion will be the fourteenth congress of the International Chamber of Commerce, May 18-23.

The place will be Vienna, Austria, where the armed forces of Russia, Britain, the United States and France face each other in uneasy occupation.

Each power holds a sector of Austria and a piece of Vienna. They consult together in a four-power council but so far have failed to agree on a peace treaty with Austria that might end the occupation.

KEEP WHEELS GOING

Meantime, under this over-all control, the elected government of the Republic of Austria carries on the ordinary affairs of the country while Communist-dominated Czechoslovakia and Hungary form a semi-circle around its northern and eastern boundaries, and the vast bulk of Russia looms beyond.

D. P. Cruikshank of Ottawa, president of the Canadian council of the chamber, explains the choice of meeting place as follows:

"The site. . . has a special significance at the present time. . .

"It was finally decided that it would be an excellent thing for private business in the free world to tell its story and discuss its problems in the shadow of Communist-captive countries.

"Fullest advantage will be taken of the opportunity to demonstrate the inherent solidarity of business men and their determination to expand world trade and raise living standards without resort to the enslavement of men's minds and bodies as exemplified by the Communist world."

HELD EVERY 2 YEARS

The congress is held every two years. In 1951 it met in Lisbon and, in 1949, in Quebec, the only time it has met in Canada.

The aims of the chamber which affect the every-day doings of people everywhere, are directed particularly at a freer flow of trade, foreign investment, and development of the world's resources for the purpose of general prosperity and advancement of underprivileged countries. It sets up regulations and codes of ethics for the conduct of commercial and monetary matters.

It makes representations to governments and other appropriate bodies.

The chamber's international headquarters are in Paris.

Current president is Rolf von Heidenstam of Stockholm, elected in 1951. He succeeded Philip D. Reed of New York.

HEADQUARTERS IN MONTREAL

The Canadian council's headquarters are in Montreal, with J.G. Nelles as general manager.

Canadian themes that will be presented to the Vienna congress will get a tune-up at the annual meeting of the Canadian council in Toronto Feb. 17, which will be attended by directors and delegates from across Canada.

Matters of particular Canadian concern at present include:

Dollar-sterling convertibility and what can be done towards bringing it about.

The trend of defence expenditures —their effects not only now but if and when they start to lessen.

The General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, signed in Geneva by a large group of countries in 1947. Canadians for the most part approve of the agreement's freer-trade objectives. Some, however, doubt its effectiveness and its value to Canada in view of some recent violations of the agreement by the United States.

Latin-American trade, in the light of information gained by a government mission to that area, may also be discussed.

About 25 Canadian representatives are expected to attend.

Kingston Seniors Get Win Against The Petes To Climb To Second Place

KINGSTON (Special) — Ted Nicholson's return to the amateur hockey wars and noticeable all-round improvement exhibited by the Kingston Goodyears featured last night's 5-to-2 conquest of the strengthened Peterborough Petes in the Community Memorial Centre. In previous OHA senior "B" clashes this season each team had registered a 5-to-2 victory and, oddly enough, on the home ice of the losers. The points accrued left Goodyears tied with Oshawa in second place, only three behind the Stouffville Clippers who were beaten last night 8 to 2 by Oshawa.

Probably owing to the inclement weather and the belated announcement of Nicholson's reinstatement by the Ontario Hockey Association executive yesterday morning, the crowd fell to the 1,640 mark, lowest attendance total of the season, and those who stayed away missed fine entertainment. Competition was keen, the action was fast and sustained and only 10 penalties, all minors, were inflicted, with each team drawing five sentences.

CANNY PLAYER

Nicholson's main contributions to the local cause were defensive "know how" and inspirational guidance. Playing cannily; he did not rush as often as when he was starring for the Locos six years ago, and neither did he figure in the scoring, but he was conspicuous on many occasions.

On the general run of plays the Petes were fortunate in escaping a more decisive defeat. Ray Harding, their veteran goalkeeper, stopped a barrage of shots from all angles and distances during a hectic first period when the locals outscored their old foes by 2 to 0.

PETES RALLY

Goodyears widened their margin by one, a shot by Jack White, early in the middle session before penalties and determined rallies by the visitors turned the tide. In that emergency the Petes struck their swiftest gait of the night, scored two goals on shots by Curly Mason and Chum Fryia and threatened to race into the lead. Goodyears, however, regained the ascendency during the last 20 minutes and left no doubt about their superiority on the night's play. Don Murray and Coach Joe Watts were the marksmen who erased Peterborough's last flickering hopes and concluded excellent efforts with Murray winning the most valuable player award.

Murray paced the goal-getters with a pair of well earned tallies; Clint Tinkess and Watts each scored once and had an assist; Bob Londry and Bob Markle each had two assists, while Jack White hit the webbing once and Ken Partis and George MacGregor each racked up an assist. Mason and Fryia split the Peterborough goals, while Don Floyd, Toodie Greenlaw and Eakins each contributed an assist.

Teams:
Peterborough: Goal, Harding; defence, Montgomery and Armstrong; centre, Leonard; wings, Greenlaw and Fryia; alts., Wasson, Legrow, Eakins, Hunter, Collins West, Floyd and Mason.
Goodyears: Goal, Johnson; defence, Nicholson and Stewart; centre, Murray; wings, Tinkess and Markle; alts., Londry, Watts, MacGregor, Ohlke, Aitken, Partis, Gerow and White.
Referee, Louis Lecompte; linesman, Bill Reason.

Summary:

First Period
Goodyears—Murray (Londry, Markle) 17:30
Goodyears—Tinkess (Markle, Watts) 18:23
Penalties—Legrow, Wasson, Montgomery 2.
Second Period
Goodyears—White (Partis, Londry) 3:13
Peterborough—Mason (Floyd) .. 9:50
Peterborough—Fryia (Greenlaw, Eakins) 13:38

Third Period
Goodyears—Murray (Tinkess) .. 9:10
Goodyears—Watts (MacGregor) 17:01

Front Office Ball Struggle Out In Open

CLEVELAND (AP)—The struggle for power in the Cleveland Indians' front office broke into open warfare today. Both sides said they would win.

In the one camp: Ellis Ryan, the baseball club's 48-year-old president, who startled those pressuring him to quit by reversing himself and announcing his intention to fight for the job he has held three years. Five directors are on his side. Ryan also is a director.

In the other faction: six directors and most of the officers in the baseball club, led by vice-president George Medinger They want Ryan removed as incompetent, and replaced by Medinger. They have asked for a showdown stockholders meeting a week from today to decide who should take over.

In a neutral corner: Hank Greenberg, general manager. He is not an officer but an employee At this point his job seems safe, since he has two years remaining in his contract at $65,000 a year and both sides say they want him to stay.

The important question to be answered is: Does the anti-Ryan faction or the pro-Ryan group control more than 50 per cent of the stock?

Ryan and his five directors say they and their supporters among the smaller stockholders do.

A spokesman for the anti-Ryan people told a reporter:

"I would never have entered this contest unless I felt confident of winning. And I assure you we will win."

In announcing his decision Wednesday to fight to stay on as president, Ryan also said he would keep Greenberg as general manager.

That was a surprise. Although he had said nothing against Hank it was understood that he had wanted to take over some of Greenberg's duties.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

"Ottawa's iron curlers are undoubtedly the best in the country!" That's the boost from one of the best granite players to come out of Quebec City, the cradle of curling, and once the home of the iron game. Being strictly a granite player, we are in no position to argue.

Marcel Schnobb, writing in the Journal, sizes it up this way:

"A discussion on the merits of both varieties of the game usually ends up where it started, with no one in any way converted."

And the merits of both games are not the writer's pet subject, but, talk of the international curling bonspiel which is held every year in Quebec, this now famous 'spiel was originated in 1902, and it is only recently that our club has been represented in this event. Last February Dr. R. Clark, Dr. R. Morgan, V. Selkirk, and Z. Levine won the Seagram's International Bowl, one of the 13 beautiful trophies competed for. We don't know if the boys are going back again this coming season or not.

PS—We have just heard that some of the clubs down Ottawa and Montreal way are voting whether it will be granites or irons.

Mrs. M. McCartney and Mrs. R. Miler are skipping rinks at Oakwood in the ladies' bonspiel.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Down at Civic Arena the other night some of us were railbirding and second-guessing. Most of us agreed with one guy who said not too many amateur puckists today know how to give a soft pass or to cradle a pass. He felt a pass in hockey should be let go like a forward pass in football, having enough authority to reach the receiver but not being too bullet-like to hold. And the receiver in hockey, as in football, should be able to take it on the fly and cradle or nurse it to offset the impact and hang onto the rubber—then dashing away with it. Plenty of puck passes today are sizzling hot and a receiver would need a lacrosse stick to hold the disc, if he did manage to touch it.

* * * * * *

Also, we discussed odd goals we've seen scored in hockey. Told 'em of the time at the Brock when Kingston juniors were playing our Colts, the latter having Tommy Foley in goal. Tommy, who starred later for the Petes in senior ball—best centre fielder of them all—was a quiet chap. Absolutely never spoke a word while in action in ball or hockey, and had little to say after a game. During a Kingston attack, he crouched by a goal post, hanging onto the post with one hand. Leaned forward as a thrust threatened, but the attacker suddenly swerved to carry the disc around the net. Tommy's leverage lifted the back of the net an inch or so off the ice and the puck slid in from behind. Well, there was a king-sized ruckus when the light went on, but 'twas ruled a goal. Leaning far over the balcony above, we heard Tommy speak then, but briefly. He just said: "%&?!$½%!!"

Don Miguel Confused?

Scribe Mike Rodden had this to say in the Kingston sheet Tuesday: "It is possible that no less than five highly rated players will answer the Petes' call for reinforcements which was broadcast when the situation became a bit desperate. It is surmised that when the Petes' ads for help reaped no dividends, past grievances were shelved and amicable relations restored. At any rate, it can now be told that Chum Fryia and Toodie Greenlaw will see action here Wednesday, and that three other stalwarts, Keith Montgomery, Doug Mortimer and Jim Munroe, may also be included in the squad. Montgomery, a robust rushing defenceman, has signed with the Petes but has not as yet received his clearance papers from the OHA."

* * * * * *

Come, come, Mike, Monty was okayed by the OHA last Friday. Also, Greenlaw and Fryia have been with the Petes all season. Furthermore, Doug Mortimer as junior coach here, and Munroe as coach at Cobourg, certainly won't be with the Petes this semester. How wrong can you be? Don Miguel, as he is sometimes called—was he a veteran in the Spanish-American war?—has been writing sports for a long time. His earlier essays, written after the fashion of Charles Lamb, may have been penned by a quill, though he now manipulates a mean modern typewriter. But we have nothing but admiration for our friend Michael, who had a colorful career over the years as Toronto and Kingston sports editor, starry playing role in hockey and football, Big Four grid coach, NHL referee, and so forth. But he should quit guessing at the rather unpredictable Petes.

* * * * * *

Kingston Takes a Win

Ted Nicholson returned to the hockey wars for Goodyears at Kingston last eve and helped them to a 5-2 victory over the Petes, the win putting the K's into a second-place tie with Oshawa Truckers. It was a real fast, clean encounter with good checking shown, and Ray Harding came up with another nifty net display. Murray tallied twice for the home crew, singles going to Tinkess, Watts and White. Curly Mason and Chum Fryia each hit the hemp once for Jim Ellis' squad, an assist each being marked to Toodie Greenlaw, Don Floyd and Eakins. The Petes hope to get right back in the hunt here Friday night when they tackle Belleville in what should be an old-time ding-dong duel betwixt these rivals of the ice lanes.

* * * * * *

For a former heavyweight pro wrestler, hefty Bunny Dunlop proved a touchy guy at the Brock last eve. Just because Pat Flanagan accidentally knocked him seven ways for Sunday—through a missed flying tackle—the perturbed ref awarded the main mat bout to Lou Plummer and Dick Raines. The terrible Texans haven't been beaten here yet, though Chief Big Heart and Pat gave them what-ho this time ere getting a raw deal from the ref. The latter nearly got pummelled after by the losing grapplers and by some indignant fans, but he reached his room in safety. Lee Henning and Johnny Barend drew in the semi-final. Prelim saw both Bull Montana and Joe Christie counted out of the ring.

Shouldn't Happen To Dog, Let Alone Horse Pacing Mare Lost Between Canada And U.S.

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Dagsworthy Lola, the homeless mare of Yonkers Raceway, was back in Delaware today munching oats in her owner's barn after an experience that shouldn't happen to a dog—let alone a pacing horse.

Seems that when Yonkers closed for the season Nov. 15 and the horses were shipped to winter quarters or other destinations, Dagsworthy Lola was left behind by accident.

Nobody knew who she was, or her owner.

Yonkers called in the Pinkerton horse identification bureau, and experts went to work. Checking the markings on the legs, they finally identified the horse.

Truman L. Campbell of Dagsboro, Del., had sent the horse to trainer Del Mactavish of Lachute, Que., with instructions that he take her to Canada for training this winter.

Dagsworthy Lola had been converted from trotter to pacer this year, and Mactavish didn't consider her satisfactory. He arranged with a trucker to ship the horse back to Delaware.

But something went wrong. The trucker didn't pick up the horse. Campbell thought his mare was in Canada, Mactavish thought she was in Delaware.

Emms New Trade Pays Off, Whip Guelph 7-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hap Emms, fiery coach of Barrie Flyers, must have inherited some horse-trading blood somewhere along his ancestral line.

For the second time this season Emms has lured a player with high scoring potential away from another Ontario Hockey Association Junior A team. The first was Tony Poeta, a consistent performer since Emms acquired him from Galt Black Hawks.

Wednesday Emms traded three players to Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts for Orv Tessier and goalie Bill Harrington. Wednesday night Tessier scored two goals in 27 seconds of the second period as the Flyers trounced Guelph Biltmores 7-3.

No changes occurred in the standings but Oshawa Generals helped Galt consolidate their fourth place hold by dropping a 7-5 overtime decision to the Hawks.

Three Rivers Reds of the Quebec Junior Amateur Hockey Association defeated Quebec Citadelles 3-1 at Three Rivers.

SCORING THREAT

Another consistent scoring threat for Barrie, Jim Robertson, notched three in the Flyers win. The other two went to Orien Carver and Johnny Martan. Ted Brady, Bill McCreary and John Gillies scored for Guelph.

Frank Bonnello and Zip Collin scored the overtime winners for Galt. Collin scored one other and John Sleaver with two, Jim McBurney and Eddie Switzer notched the rest. Bob Attersley and Jack Armstrong each scored two for the losers. Roger Maisonneuve accounted for the other.

Raymond Cyr scored the only Quebec goal after three seconds of play at Three Rivers. Jean Guy Gendron and Ray St. Cyr put in two for the Reds in the first period and Yvan Houle scored the final in the third.

Queen Mary Wins

Queen Mary edged out Grove seniors 4-3 to open their Public School Hockey League schedule at Civic Arena. Brown notched two goals for them, Reynolds and Haig getting the others, as Hendry had two assists and Dafoe one. For the losers, R. Wood, Casey and Sherry did the sniping, with Patterson and Simmonds aiding on one each. Stewart, Hendry and McArthur stood out defensively for Queen Mary, while Davey in goal, and Simmons, Patterson and Griffin went well for Grove. Teams:

Queen Mary — Haig, Brown, Goodfellow, Dafoe, Reynolds, Perritt, Jackson, Mein, Jobbitt, Hendry, Stewart, Wilson, Drury, McArthur.

Grove — Davey, Merrett, R. Wood, Patterson, Casey, Copping, Griffin, Simmons, Sherry, L. Wood, Keene, Heard.

Referee, E. Loveday.

Dunlop Gives Main Bout To Villains Of Texas Over Flanagan And Chief

Taking exception to being knocked for a loop, though accidentally, Referee Bunny Dunlop last night at the Brock Arena disqualified Pat Flanagan and his partner, Chief Big Heart, and awarded the deciding fall of the main pro mat bout to the terrible Texans, Lou Plummer and Dick Raines.

Pat caught the rotund Bunny with a flying tackle—though he was aiming for Raines—and Dunlop got up groggily a minute later and stopped the rousing tussle. The end came in eight minutes after some furious mixing by the combatants, and the fans didn't like the decision a bit. Neither did Pat and the Chief, both threatening to tear into Bunny as a hey-rube appeared imminent.

EVENED THE FALLS

Raines pinned Flanagan in 14 minutes for the second and equalizing fall with two hard backbreakers, after the pair from Texas had worked on Flan plenty along the ropes. They kept pounding him after the bell till the enraged Indian jumped in and banged their heads together. Dunlop kept checking on either Pat or the Chief when either came in from his corner to warn the ref of skullduggery in the other corner—and this gave Lou and Dick plenty of time to work on a helpless victim. The latter were plenty rough, while Big Heart and Flan proved most agile in a wide-open bout that had just about everything in it to keep the fans yelling.

Pat flattened Raines in 22 minutes for the opening fall with a standing reverse full nelson after some quick work in getting out of a punishing grip by Dick. Four at a time were into the lively scuffling and Flanagan was perpetual motion to enliven team tag bouts here. He was an old hand at the game and occasionally took time out to clip the other villain outside the ropes. In between rounds, the pair from Texas carried on a vocal feud with the fans, who roared back at the rough grapplers.

GOES TO A DRAW

Lee Henning and Johnny Barend battled to a time-limit semi-final draw, and they mixed it up after the bell, a ring cable being broken and requiring some time to be fixed. The colorful Henning was certainly not popular with his illegal tactics and his scornful strut, but he gave Barend a hard time of it. He had a 20-pound pull at the weights and a lot of villainy stored up from years of ring work. However, Barend had his moments, too, when Lee was in lots of trouble. Referee Dunlop got into it a few times in the exciting match. Johnny was coming along strong toward the finish, but time ran out on him.

Bull Montana and Joe Christie were both counted out of the ring in the prelim after 22 minutes of tussling. Montana was the rougher one and quite unpopular, but Joe got in some rugged stuff, also, though he walked into some well-set traps to receive a dirty going-over in spots. They were on the mat a lot and did some slugging along with hair-pulling, eye-rasps and gouging. Both used closed fists, despite official warnings. Montana finally tosed Christie out of the rink in front of the ringside fans and then piled out after him. They were mixing it there when Dunlop hit the count of "ten," and that ended it.

Bruins Marching Up Ice Toward Top Spot, Down N.Y. Rangers 4-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Boston Bruins are streaking up the National Hockey League ladder. A few weeks ago the Beantown crew was in fifth place. But after going seven straight games without a defeat, Lynn Patrick's boys are knocking on the door of the league leadership, one point behind the pace-setters, Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Red Wings. The tail-end New York Rangers were Boston's victims Wednesday night when the Bruins won 4-1 at home. Boston scored two quick goals early in the third period to break a scoreless tie and then added a couple more while the Broadway Blues could only register once.

Rookie defenceman Warren Godfrey set up the first goal for Boston when he fired a hard one at goalie Chuck Rayner. Ed Sandford shot the rebound past a defenceless Rayner. Less than a minute later, Sanford set up a goal when he passed to Fleming Mackell, who slipped it to Joe Klukay.

Rookie Leo Labine made it 3-0 when he took a pass from Milt Schmidt. Real Chevrefils scored the other.

Paul Ronty spoiled what would have been Sugar Jim Henry's fourth shutout when he scored late in the final session.

At Toronto Bernie Geoffrion scored just past the half-way mark of the third period to give fifth-place Montreal a 2-1 edge over the fourth-place Leafs. It was the Canadiens' first victory in 10 starts and the first away from home in 25 games.

Centre Paul Masnick put Montreal ahead early on a combination play with Maurice Richard and Geoffrion. Then before the first period was over George Armstrong tied it up, Ted Kennedy and Sid Smith assisting.

Just past the half-way mark of the final session Geoffrion picked up Billy Reay's pass deep in the Toronto zone and scored with a 25-foot shot. Paul Meger, who worked the puck out of the Montreal end, also received an assist.

Gaye Stewart made his debut in a Montreal uniform, the fifth he has worn in touching all but one city (Boston) in the circuit. The former Ranger, picked up for the $7,500 waiver price, played only once during the game.

Tonight Montreal is at Chicago and Detroit at Boston.

Davey Badly Outclasses Fitzie Pruden

CLEVELAND (AP) — Chuck Davey, dancing man from Michigan, tuned up for a welterweight title bout by stopping a badly-outclassed Fitzie Pruden of Paterson, N. J. in the third round.

Referee Jackie Davis halted the one-sided bout Wednesday night at 2:32, after Pruden, formerly of St. Catharines, Ont., went down for an eight-count and then rose in a feeble effort to continue the fight. Pruden's face was beet-red and he had landed scarcely a blow throughout the bout, which had been scheduled for 10 rounds.

Davis said Pruden suffered a cut inside his mouth and said there simply was no contest between the two.

A crowd of 11,921 at the Cleveland Arena saw the feature fight on the Cleveland News annual Christmas toyshop fund show. The gross receipts were $84,232.

Davey weighed 150 and Pruden 149.

LITTLE RETURN

The fuzzy-haired Davey kept a stream of leather flowing into the face and occasionally the body of the beetle-browed Pruden. Several times in the last round he landed as many as 10 straight punches without a return.

Davey has been promised a title bout with welterweight champion Kid Gavilan next year. The bout probably will take place February in Chicago.

A heavy favorite Wednesday night, Davey went to work in a hurry, jolting Pruden in the opening round with his machine-gun left. Pruden seemed completely confused and hardly landed a blow in return.

Pruden's face turned a deep red in the second round as Davey kept up the barrage. Pruden was staggered several times, but gamely kept after Davey.

Indians Have Best Scorers

TORONTO (CP)—Stratford Indians, leading the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A standings by three points, also dominate the individual scoring race.

Statistics released by the OHA, including games of Dec 8 show four Indians at the top of the list. Mickey Roth leads with 53 points, 25 goals and 28 assists in 20 games. Dinny Flanagan is next with 14 goals and 32 assists for 46 points in 20 games. Billy Flick has 44 points and Ferguson 43.

Roth's 25 goals top the league in the scoring department.

Haney Puts It Up To Rickey On Job

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Fred Haney, skipper of the successful Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League, put it squarely up to General Manager Branch Rickey of Pittsburgh Pirates today whether he will sign as Pirate manager.

After flying here from the West coast for a meeting with Rickey, Haney was asked bluntly if he will sign with the last-place Pirates. He said:

"If Mr. Rickey wants me to do it, I may. It's up to him. I would do it for him, because I feel I owe him an obligation for helping my Hollywood team."

Rickey invited Haney to his palatial suburban home for a morning conference.

Mercurys Bow To Indians With 5-4 Loss

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sarnia Sailors won a game in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series when it counted. Owen Sound Mercurys lost one that meant a lot.

Sarnia jumped from sixth place to a fourth place tie with Chatham Maroons by nosing out Brantford Redmen 4-3 Wednesday night. Owen Sound lost the chance to come within one point of the league-leading Stratford Indians by losing 5-4 in Stratford.

North Bay Trappers hustled into a first-place tie with Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior southern group by defeating the tail-end Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) Indians 6-4 in North Bay.

At Schumacher Timmins-Schumacher Flyers were sparked to a 6-5 win over Abitibi Eskimos in a Porcupine Senior Hockey League game by playing-coach Pat Petrucci.

SCORES TWICE

Sarnia scored twice in the third period to cop the win. Chuck Glaab notched two for Sailors. Don Emms scored a single and Rolly Beauchamp slapped home the winner. Don Oberholtzer, Wally Hnatiuk and Sam Kennedy shared the Brantford scoring.

Stratford also staged a third-period rally in their win over Owen Sound. Tommy Burlington and Buck Forslund scored two each for Owen Sound. Jack White scored twice for Stratford. Singles went to Lloyd Ferguson, Billy Flick and Dinny Flanagan.

Don Hogan scored twice for North Bay and moved into the league's scoring leadership as a result. Bill Dwyer also notched two and George Gosselin and Fred Valenti scored others. Indian marksmen were Dan Horeck with two, Jack Heon and Jim Farelli.

The Schumacher win strengthened their hold on second place, 10 points behind Noranda Copper Kings. Petrucci scored once and set up three other goals. John Kennedy rammed in three with others credited to Dennis Morello and Ralph Orlando. Paul Godin scored two for Abitibi. Butch Festarini, Roger Donovan and Eddie Lamarche shared others.

Indian Players Oust Italians In Cup Match

By GAYLE TALBOT

BRISBANE (AP)—India trotted out a really fine tennis player named Sumat Misra today in gaining an even break with the Italians in the opening singles matches of their Davis Cup interzone semi-final.

Misra, a big tall fellow with a terrific service, blasted Rolando Del Bello off the court 6-4, 6-4, 6-1 after Fausto Gardini had put the Italians in front with a 6-1, 5-7, 7-5, 6-2 victory over Naresh Kumar.

As a result of Misra's great showing, Australian experts gave the Indians a chance of upsetting the European zone champions and opposing the United States in the interzone final in Sydney next week.

Tomorrow's doubles pit the two-man India team against the veteran Italian pair, Gianni Cucelli and Marcello Del Bello. The way Misra blasted the ball today the Indians must be given a chance of winning it.

FEEL HEAT

The opening singles was played in temperature well over 90 degrees and both Italians appeared to feel it more than the Indians.

Gardini was somewhat lucky to win. Kumar, little moustached Indian, led 5-3 in third set with his own service coming up and appeared to have the tall Italian youngster on the run. But then Kumar lost his touch and won only two more games.

When it ended Kumar said disconsolately: "I handed it over to him."

The towering Misra finally won his match by breaking Del Bello's serve in the 10th game. It looked as though Del Bello might square it when he broke through Misra in the third game of the second set, but the Indian star broke right back and never again let the Italian come close to taking his service.

Hershey Clips Cleveland 3-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hershey Bears scored a 3-2 win over Cleveland Barons to move to within three points of the losers—now leaders in the American Hockey League.

An overtime goal by Dunc Fisher gave the Bears the win Wednesday night and marked their return to home ice after 15 days on the road.

Joe Schertzl scored in the second and third periods for the winners, but the Barons tied the count in the third session on goals by Ray Ceresino and Frank Kubasek.

At Buffalo, the Bisons handed Providence Reds their seventh straight loss 5-0. Sam Lavitt, Hartley McLeod, Eldy Kobussen, Vern Kaiser and Bob Fryday counted. Phil McAtee scored his second shutout of the season.

A four-goal third period gave Syracuse Warriors a 5-2 win over Pittsburgh Hornets. The win was the Warriors' third in the last four games.

Leo Cusick scored twice for Syracuse and other goals went to George Milligan, Eric Pogue and Armand Lemieux. Danny Lewicki and Bob Sabourin tallied for the Hornets.

WILLIAMS WINS BY KO

LONDON (AP) — Johnny Williams, British heavyweight champion, threw one good punch Wednesday night flush to the jaw of Werner Wiegand, a lumbering giant from Luxembourg, to win by a fifth-round knockout of the scheduled 10-round bout. Wiegand was a last-minute substitute for U. S. heavyweight Harry Matthews, who pulled a back muscle in training.

Chamber Plans Santa's Parade

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — Lakefield is making preparations to welcome Santa Claus, who will arrive in the village at 3:30 p.m. Saturday, December 20, retail chairman A. W. Stewart announced at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening at the Lakefield Hotel. The vice-president, W. A. Killoran, occupied the chair in the absence of president Don Hendren.

Mr. Stewart said the Hydro would begin at once to put strings of colored lights across Queen Street's business section, and 50 Christmas trees will be placed along the curbs. The mammoth parade which will escort Santa through the village will be headed by a Scottish piper, and there will be treats for every child attending. Accompanying Santa will be "Tick Tock" the clown.

The council will again be approached re placing name plates on all the streets. The blueprint map of the village, which the Chamber of Commerce proposes having printed, is ready, and was on display. However, to make it effective, the streets must be plainly marked.

The American Nepheline Co has offered the Chamber of Commerce some village property they are not using, and as a result of this generous offer, a letter will be sent to them suggesting the proposed property be given to the village council, who, in turn, will give it to the Lakefield Lion's Club for the purpose of developing it for a recreation centre.

The Chamber of Commerce feels that it is the duty of all citizens to vote on election day, and in order that as many as possible do so, they will have a free car service. Anyone wishing transportation to the polls, regardless of how they care to cast their ballot, may have it. After three o'clock, those who have not already voted will be contacted, and if they desire transportation, a car will call for them.

Reeve E. H. Nrothey stated that the council chamber, which is at present being used as a class room for the Public School, will be available for the issuing of motor vehicle licences and drivers' permits. A safe has been purchased, and everything is in readiness for January 1, the opening day, when Lakefield residents may buy licences in the village rather than in Peterborough as formerly. Licences will be issued by Mrs. William O'Brien, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who will be under a committee in charge of arrangements.

Treasurer Sam Henderson reported fees were coming in very well and paid tribute to Albert G. Buchanan and his committee in charge of this division.

Missions In Africa YPU Meeting Theme

SPRINGVILLE (ENS)—Springville Young People's Union meeting was held Sunday evening, at the home of Myrna and Lila Seymour. Eleanor Bowles, acting president in the absence of Hazel McIntosh, conducted the business. Carl Preston was appointed to represent the YPU at the meeting of Springville Church Board. Myrna Seymour brought in the report of the nominating committee for next year's officers. A clothing drive to send clean used or new clothing to countries in need was inaugurated, with Eleanor Bowles, Lois Paddock, Mark Lowes, Howard Johnston and Neal Whitfield in charge.

Plans were made for next Sunday evening's meeting to be held at the home of Lois and Lorraine Paddock. The following Sunday, a White Gift service is planned at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hooten.

Mrs. Owen Murray is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Carew, Toronto.

Lakefield WI Visits Meeting

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Mrs. Wilbert Abbott was hostess to members of the Lakefield Women's Institute at her home in Douro for the December meeting, when 22 members were present.

President Mrs. Howard Bullock presided. The president explained about a play the Institute will produce in January called "Shooting Stars," and Mrs. C. S. Chatten, Mrs. F. A. Dainton, Mrs. Roy Farrow and Mrs. Thomas Payton were appointed a committee in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. E. Waldon gave a report on the Area Convention held in November in Toronto, to which she was a delegate, and Mrs. Chatten reported on a recent meeting of the Canadian Cancer Association.

It was decided to accept the invitation to attend the January meeting of the Selwyn WI to be held in Selwyn Hall, and also to send the sum of $10 to the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

Mrs. Clarence Foster gave a report on the work done to the Institute's cupboard at Memorial Hall which has recently been renovated, and said that new spoons would be purchased soon. Dishes had been bought recently.

A report of the work being done by the Girls' Club was given by leader Mrs. Roy Farrow and the Institute decided to purchase the material for the covers of their notebooks, which is usually plywood or some similar material.

Santa arrived and distributed Christmas gifts from a gaily decorated Christmas tree. Assisting the hostess in serving tea were Mrs. Farrow, Mrs. G. E. Renwick and Mrs. Dainton.

Continue Testimony On N.Y. Power Contribution

WASHINGTON (AP)—An investment analyst continues his testimony today on New York state's ability to float a $266,500,000 bond issue to finance the United States partner of the St. Lawrence power project.

Franklin T. McClintock, vice-president of a New York underwriting firm, told a federal power commission hearing Wednesday that he had no doubt of the state's ability to finance construction.

The New York state power authority seeks a federal licence to join the province of Ontario in the hydro - electric development. Cost of the entire project is estimated at $520,000,000. Canada would provide the balance

Also scheduled to testify today was Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario hydro-electric power commission, which would represent the province. Saunders supports the New York application

McClintock said the state could sell revenue bonds that would be free of state and federal taxes on interest paid to bondholders. This would make the bonds marketable at lower interest rates.

The session before Examiner Glen R. Law was adjourned before McClintock had estimated how much interest and financing would cost the authority. But Charles M. Goetz, its counsel, told reporters that the cost would not exceed $42,000,000 over a 50-year period.

Franklin J. Leerburger, an engineering consultant to the authority, said that figure, plus other essential charges, would bring total cost of the project to a possible $316,000,000 for an American partner.

Leerburger emphasized, however, that his figure contained a "cushion." This was taken to indicate that the ultimate cost would not reach $316,000,000.

Law said it now "appeared likely" that the case would proceed into a second week. Hearings began Tuesday.

John E. Burton, chairman of the power authority, said that if New York is permitted to build the project, a potential annual saving of $60,206,000 to electric consumers in the state is possible.

Burton earlier had estimated that were New York permitted to redevelop the hydro-electric potential at Niagara Falls, N Y., as well as join in the St. Lawrence construction, the two generating centres would produce an annual $95,000,000 in savings to the state's consumers.

Elect Mrs. R. Campney Trent R. WA President

TRENT RIVER (ENS) — Mrs. R. Campney was elected president of the Trent River United Church Women's Association at their annual meeting held Wednesday afternoon in the dining hall of the church.

The Rev. R. G. Newman conducted the election of officers, and other members elected to offices were: Vice-president, Mrs. Douglas Fleming; secretary, Mrs. Jack Henry; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Prentice; deaconess, Mrs. W. C. Inkster.

Upwards of $1,000 was made by the three church groups during the year. Pot-luck dinners, bazaars, quilts and sale of home crafts were the money-making projects.

Mrs. Walter Lewis, retiring president, took charge of the meeting.

100,000 Drivers Face New Tests In Quebec

QUEBEC (CP) — About 100,000 Quebec holders of drivers' permits will probably have to undergo tests before permits are re-issued to them.

Premier Duplessis indicated this Wednesday in the legislative assembly during discussion of a government bill designed to reduce traffic accidents and clamp down on overweight and oversize transport vehicles.

Mr. Duplessis said there were about 700,000 permit holders in Quebec province and of these at least 600,000 were known to be competent and experienced drivers.

HAVEN'T DETAILS YET

In answer to questions from George Marler, Liberal house leader, who asked what category of drivers would be tested, Mr. Duplessis said details had not yet been worked out.

The bill under discussion proposes establishment of drivers' tests for drivers and mechanics and stipulates that the provincial cabinet will work out regulations governing the tests.

It is understood all inexperienced drivers will have to undergo these tests.

Other categories which might be subjected to tests are permit holders between 18 and 24 years of age, and drivers who have records of previous accidents or convictions for drunken or reckless driving.

Until now getting a permit was a mere formality.

Refuse To Stay Spy Executions

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge refused today to stay the executions of convicted atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, who are scheduled to die at Sing Sing prison the week of Jan. 11.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan, in denying a motion to stay their execution, also denied another motion by their lawyers to have their convictions set aside.

Then Judge Ryan denied an application by their co-defendant, Morton Sobell, to have his 30-year prison sentence set aside on constitutional grounds.

All three were convicted on March 29, 1951, of conspiring with a former Soviet vice-consul and others to transmit atomic secrets to the Soviet Union between 1944 and 1950.

Pastor Declares New Bible An Evil Thing

DENVER, Colo.—The Rev. Carl McIntire Tuesday night denounced the new revised standard version of the Bible as the work of "Satan and his agents."

Mr. McIntire, of Collingswood, N. J., said the new Bible is "an unholy book" produced by "liberalists and modernists" who "do not believe [illegible] the deity of Christ."

"I tell you, [illegible]," Mr. McIntire said, "Carl McIntire believes the Christian church in this new Bible faces one of the greatest crises it has ever faced."

Thirty-four times during the speech, a crowd of 1,200 chorused "amen." The people shouted "no" repeatedly when McIntire asked if they could accept the new Bible.

He assailed the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S., which sponsored the revision, and said the "radical, pro-Communist ideas in these very churches are at the bottom of the Bible project.

Mr. McIntire is president of the International Council of Christian Churches and a founder of the American Council of Christian Churches, which sponsored the rally.

Both organizations, made up mostly of smaller, young denominations, have strongly opposed the national council, embracing more than two-thirds of American Protestants.

Mr. McIntire said the Bible was the "smoothest, slickest, biggest sales promotion job ever put over on the American people," and announced a series of rallies would be held across the country Jan. 30 to protest it.

Union Membership n 1952 Swelled To Record Figures

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian labor is closing out a year that was volcanic in spots but generally marked by unspectacular progress.

Organized labor took some objectives, made gains towards others, was stalled elsewhere. By and large, it moved ahead.

The national wage average pushed to successive peaks month after month, under labor impetus. Union membership swelled to record figures. The base of union organization was broadening into new fields.

The biggest headline-snatching development of 1952 was the payoff in the long-standing feud between A. R. Mosher, 71-year-old president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, and James E. McGuire, his rival for the top job in that largest of Canadian transport unions.

A long rough fight resulted in McGuire being thrown out of the CBRE and this was followed by Mosher's resignation as boss but later he was elected honorary president. Mosher went on to get re-elected as president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, which he founded in 1940.

Late in the year, talk of organic unity among all factions of the approximately 1,100,000 workers in organized Canadian labor gained new strength. This was stirred by suggestions of an AFL-CIO amalgamation in the United States, which would put pressure on their Canadian associates.

But there were no active steps towards liaison in Canada, though Mosher's 370,000-member CCL was warm for affiliation with the 525,000-member Trades and Labor Congress. During the year, the TLC moved a few degrees farther away from confederation.

The stand of smaller central labor bodies towards amalgamation was not made known.

On wages, unions generally managed to move ahead during the year.

But as the 1952 close neared, the country's biggest wage dispute was still unsettled. That was the struggle between the railways and unions representing 144,000 non-operating employees, the largest bargaining group in Canada. The same group staged the paralyzing rail strike of 1950, but the question of a strike was not raised in the current fight.

During the year, the voice of communism faded further in unions. The big central bodies had cleared out all but the minor fringe of Reds.

Another move in this tough fight was a clean-up of the leftist-ridden Canadian section of the United Textile Workers of America (AFL-TLC). Its top Canadian leadership was expelled and supplanted by anti-Red officers.

Unions made inroads into the government-employee field during the year. The TLC signed up about 5,000 workers in the federal government's unemployment insurance commission, breaking new ground. It also issued a charter for a federation of around 20,000 municipal employees across the country.

EXECUTORS AND TRUSTEES FOR OVER HALF A CENTURY

Assistance FOR WORRIED EXECUTORS

WHEN a relative or friend names you in his Will as Executor of his Estate, the time will come, (if you survive him), when the problems of administering his estate will be all yours to worry about.

If you are a busy man or inexperienced in estate administration, you will find that the many details and problems involved will be more than you can handle with justice to the estate, the heirs, or to yourself.

Should you find yourself in this position, appoint The Royal Trust Company as your Agent to administer the estate with you. This would relieve you of practically all the work and annoyance and much of the responsibility.

Conversely, in consideration for the friend you might appoint in your own Will, be sure to name The Royal Trust Company as Executor of your estate to act alone or with a friend as Co-executor.

CANADA'S POPULATION MAY BE 30 MILLION BY 1975

...FUTURE DEPENDS ON INVESTMENT OF SAVINGS says Dominion Bank President

ROBERT RAE
President

Canada's national income has again achieved a new peak. The physical volume of production has also broken all records. The 1952 crop of wheat and coarse grains has surpassed that of any previous year. Export trade has been greater than ever before, both in dollar value and in physical volume. Capital investment in new plant and equipment has established a new record. Retail sales have been buoyant. The cost of living is much the same as it was a year ago. This means that the Canadian people are now living more comfortably than ever before.

The current rate of population growth is striking evidence of the faith which native-born Canadians, and new Canadians coming from abroad, have in this country's future. During the past twelve months the number of persons in Canada increased by no less than three per cent—a high rate of growth. If this rate of population increase is maintained, Canada will have nearly 30 million people by 1975—twice as many as at present.

Unfortunately, there are influences at work which mitigate against this. During the next few years family formation resulting from new marriages is likely to be at a lower rate than in the recent past. Another factor is Canada's lack of a positive and expansive immigration programme. This lack in a country as wealthy and underpopulated as Canada, is to be deplored on both social and economic grounds.

Canada has ample space for a larger population. There can be comfort and economic security for all. But we can only have comfort and security if we work for them. We must continue to save and invest on a substantial, indeed, an increasing scale. We must keep up the present rate of technological progress. We can do this, if we have the will. I am confident that, in the days to come, Canadians will achieve a living standard much higher than that to which we are now accustomed.

The strength of the Canadian dollar in the foreign exchange markets during the past year has been a source of pride to most Canadians. But for some of our largest and most important industries—mining, pulp, newsprint and lumbering—it has also been a source of real embarrassment. Therefore, I think we should regard as a healthy influence the recent lessening of the foreign exchange premium on our currency. A considerable volume of consumer purchasing power within this country is still dependent on sales of our export industries. To-day, Canada markets abroad one-fifth of her total output.

The inward flow of capital from abroad which has been a marked feature of our economy since 1950 has made a substantial contribution to Canada's industrial expansion. But the proportion of new capital investment financed with funds from outside has not been as large as many people think. Canadians have subscribed from their own savings nearly four dollars for each dollar invested in Canada by non-residents.

The discount on U.S. dollars has enlarged the outward flow of capital from Canada, so that no one yet knows accurately the relative importance of these two movements this year. It will not be surprising if for the whole of 1952 the inward and outward flows nearly neutralize one another, leaving only a small net movement.

Since the net movement of capital this year will be small, it is apparent that the continuing inflow of capital has not been mainly responsible for the Canadian dollar selling at a premium in New York. The principal reason has been the improvement in our merchandise trade position.

During the past four years, while Canadians were saving 8½ cents out of every dollar of personal income, the people of Britain—faced with unprecedented need for the rebuilding and modernization of plant, equipment and housing—could only save one cent out of each dollar, due to the character and burden of taxation. Practically all of British investment during the postwar period has come from government funds and from corporate savings. In these fields also the rate of savings in the United Kingdom has been somewhat less than in Canada.

We Canadians may learn much from the present plight of Britain. The load of taxes which burdens us is less heavy than the load burdening the British people. The fiscal system here is less harmful toward enterprise than the fiscal system in Britain.

For long years past, even in Canada, there has been an insidious growth in the cost of government. There has been a tendency to penalize risk-taking and enterprise. The marvel is that our Canadian economy, nevertheless, now grows as fast as it does. The danger is that if we continue to discourage effort and enterprise, we may seriously retard the rate of our growth.

Canada is rich in resources. The long-term prospects are bright. Developments now under way will increase greatly the range and volume of materials which the world needs and must have, and which Canada will be able to supply at fair and competitive prices. If risk-taking and enterprise are encouraged, if Canadians are given an incentive to save and invest, Canada will continue to move forward to greater achievements.

ASSETS AND DEPOSITS OF DOMINION BANK TREBLED IN 12 YEARS says General Manager

The 82nd Annual Statement which I have the pleasure to present shows the greatest annual growth in the history of the Bank. Assets and deposits are at a peak level. Total assets exceed half a billion dollars for the first time, amounting to $517 millions, an increase of $59 millions for the year. Healthy expansion has been experienced in all phases of the Bank's operation.

The past 12 years have been a period of substantial progress for the bank. In this period assets and deposits have more than trebled.

This year net profits were $1,158,556 after setting aside $575,224 for depreciation of premises and equipment and $1,315,000 for Dominion and Provincial taxes—up $125,000 from last year.

The already heavy tax burden became more onerous during the year, Dominion and provincial taxes absorbing 53 per cent of net income.

The Bank's profit margin is low. Net profit this year was equivalent to 0.24% on average assets throughout the year whereas the rate in 1939 was 0.51%.

A new year-end high was recorded in total loans of $253 millions—an increase of $8 millions over 1951. Total deposits by the public at the end of the fiscal year amount to $457 millions, an increase of $58 millions.

The increase in deposits is clear evidence that Canadians appreciate the value of thrift. This is reflected not only in the larger volume of savings entrusted to us for safekeeping but also in a healthy increase in the number of savings accounts at all branches.

Deposits are active dollars. From coast to coast Dominion Bank dollars are busy each day helping Canada to grow and creating new jobs for Canadians.

The Bank's holdings of Dominion, provincial and municipal bonds represent dollars lent to finance improvements which make Canadian communities better places in which to live.

The principal channel of investment for deposit dollars is commercial loans. They help little and big business to expand and this makes jobs for Canadians. They assist enterprising individuals to start their own business. Such loans make a real contribution to the country as a whole.

Shareholders now number 3,083. Of the outstanding shares, 77.3% are held in Canada, 16% in Great Britain and 6.7% in other countries. The average Canadian shareholder owns 200 shares which indicates that most of the capital stock is in the hands of small investors.

Business in Canada is humming. During the first six months of 1953 business in Canada should be reasonably good but beyond that prospects are difficult to assess. A continually rising level of business activity is unlikely. While it is only prudent to expect occasional set-backs, the long-term outlook for Canada remains favourable.

Case Appealed Charge Reduced

Judge John de N. Kennedy Tuesday reduced a charge of drunk driving to driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol against Harry Jopling of Bridgenorth. Mr. Jopling appealed the case after he was found guilty of drunk driving last January in magistrate's court.

Judge Kennedy under the reduced charge fined Jopling $100 and $44 costs. Last January Magistrate Philp had sentenced Jopling to seven days in jail and his car impounded for three months, but Jopling served notice then he would appeal that judgment.

The drunk driving, leaving scene of acicdent, liquor in a place other than his residence, charges were laid when Jopling was found beside his car in a ditch on Chesterfield Ave., on December 11.

The leaving the scene charge was withdrawn and a fine of $15 and $2.50 costs levied for the illegal possession of liquor charge.

Canada Opposes U.N. Declaration

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada strongly opposed a proposed United Nations declaration on the right of nationalization of natural resources which would cite government ownership as indispensable to progress.

K. W. Taylor, Canada's assistant deputy finance minister, told the economic committee of the general assembly Wednesday that the proposed resolution "appears to assume the necessity of centralized government planning of economic affairs."

"It seems to us that neither private ownership nor public ownership is a principle of eternal or universal validity," Taylor said in the debate on the resolution introduced by Uruguay and Bolivia. Russia and Poland supported the plan in the day's debate while New Zealand joined Canada and others in opposing it.

Believes Power Project Would Save 60 Million Yr.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Electric consumers in New York state would save about $60,206,000 a year if the St. Lawrence power project were built, the federal power commission was told Wednesday.

The estimate was made by John E. Burton, chairman of the power authority of New York. The authority is asking the commission for a licence to build the estimated $320,000,000-project in co-operation with Canada.

Canada has already named the Ontario hydro-electric commission to build its half of the project, in the International Rapids section between Massena, N. Y., and Cornwall, Ont.

ESTIMATED SAVING

Burton said the estimated saving in future electric bills for New York consumers includes:

1. Lower cost of hydro power as compared to that generated by fuel — approximately $20,756,000 a year.

2. Differences in fixed charges on public and private development of generating plants — about $17,000,000 a year. He said this is realized partly from the lower return required for capital investment and partly from the difference in tax costs.

3. Savings by development of an integrated power pool, which would be required to spread benefits of hydro power equitably through the state — about $22,450,000 a year.

Burton previously had estiated that a total annual $95,000,000 in savings would result if New York is permitted to redevelop the hydro-electric potential at Niagara Falls as well as the St. Lawrence project.

QUESTION OF PAYING

Before making his newest estimate, Burton sparred with counsel for the Aluminum Company of America as to whether the authority or the company should pay for work at the St. Lawrence Power Co., a subsidiary of Alcoa, to assure uninterrupted power generation for Aloca's Massena aluminum plant during the St. Lawrence project construction.

Each contends the other should pay for the temporary work, including an intake in the Massena canal from which the Alcoa subsidiary draws its water supply for generating purposes.

Burton said he was "perfectly willing" to let the state courts determine the question.

Burton also told counsel for the Lake Ontario Beach and Land Owner Protective Association that the proposed project would not necessarily affect the level of Lake Ontario.

"The project might have an effect on the lake level," Burton said. "But I don't anticipate that it will."

Gets Six Months

BRANTFORD (CP)—Leon M. Healey, 50, of Windsor Wednesday was sentenced to six months for stealing a truck and for driving while intoxicated. He was fined another $100 or 30 days for leaving the scene of an accident. Evidence was that the truck Healey was driving struck a bicyclist and dragged the bike several hundred yards.

Modern School Opened

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Prince Charles School, described as one of the most modern in Ontario, was officially opened Wednesday by Premier Frost. Built of pre-cast, insulated concrete slabs, the $795,500 school has 17 regular classrooms.

Montreal Port Closes

MONTREAL (CP)—The navigation season here was officially closed Wednesday with the sailing of the Canadian freighter, Seaboard Freighter. The vessel is en route to Europe with a cargo of flour, wheat and military equipment. Last year the port closed Dec. 13.

SHE SURE IS—It's plain to see why Mrs. Willie Mae Drake was named "Knockout Grandma of 1952" upon winning a California beauty contest. The 37-year-old grandmother from San Diego, above, spent some time basking in the sun at a Las Vegas, Nev., resort, as part of her award.

Toronto Reporter Interviews Talking Horse

TORONTO (CP)—Dorothy Howarth, reporter for the Telegram, interviewed Lady Wonder, the talking horse at Richmond, Va., whose predictions have become famous.

Among the information Miss Howarth gleaned from an interview with the prophetic mare, told Wednesday in a copyright front-page story:

"Ambrose Small was murdered. Mabel Crumback is in Maine. Mickey McDonald is dead. Canada will have an election next year. The Liberals will win it. Edwin Alonzo Boyd will not try another jail break. The Korean war will end in 13 months and I'll be married in a year's time."

Ambrose Small was a Toronto theatre owner whose disappearance in 1919 has never been solved. Mabel Crumback's disappearance about two years ago from her Toronto home also is a mystery. Mickey McDonald, long viewed as Canada's No. 1 criminal, escaped from Kingston Penitentiary Aug. 14, 1947. Boyd escaped from Toronto's Don jail a couple of times in recent years; he's now in Kingston serving a life term for bank robbery. The Korean war has been under way since June, 1950. The Liberals have been in power in Ottawa since 1935.

Nothing is known publicly about Miss Howarth's matrimonial prospects.

Dies of Injuries

TORONTO (CP)—Kalles Mattinen, 56, of Toronto died in hospital Wednesday night of injuries suffered when struck by a car Dec. 7. It was the city's 59th traffic death this year.

Suggest Milk And Bread Delivered By Same Man

TORONTO (CP) — Delivery of milk and bread by the same man was recommended by an American sales expert as a means of cutting costs for the consumer.

G. P. Gundlach of Cincinnati, O., told the Ontario Milk Distributors Association Wednesday that a survey of American housewives indicated that 50 per cent of them would prefer to have a single agent handling both products. Joint deliveries were being made in many United States centres.

W. K. St. John, executive secretary of the National Dairy Council, said competition from other beverages and substitute products threatens not only the dairy industry but the country's health.

He urged increased efficiency and productivity on the part of labor, including reduced deliveries; provision for monetary incentive to home deliveries by way of discount on volume purchases; and introduction of effective loss leader legislation which will prevent stores using milk as a sales-builder for other products.

Mayor Hume Again

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fred Hume, 60-year-old electrical contractor and half-owner of a professional hockey team, was re-elected mayor of Vancouver Wednesday for his second two-year term. Mr Hume, who owns a half share in New Westminster Royals of the Western Hockey League, won in a close fight with Tom Alsbury, 48-year-old high school principal and veteran member of the CCF

Opera Selections Of Simoneau Deight Audience

It was in the operatic selections on his program that Leopold Simoneau showed his voice to greatest advantage in his recital on Wednesday night. Not only was he more at ease in the fine lyric arias than he appeared to be in the pieces from oratorio, and the art-songs which comprised the remainder of his recital; his tone and control were actually better. By a happy chance, someone had asked him to sing "Una furtiva lagrima", from "L'Elisir d'amore", and in this he produced those effects of an exquisite melodic line, and of that dwelling and diminishing of tone called "messa di voce" which explained and fully justified his reputation as an operatic tenor. A man who can sing Donizetti need have no fear of anything in opera.

As well as this aria, Mr. Simoneau sang "Il mio tesoro" from "Don Giovanni", in which he displayed a noble portamento. To the Dream Aria from Massenet's "Manon" he gave the same lovely quality which had delighted his hearers in "Una furtiva lagrima". A more robust tenor quality appeared when he sang "Questa o quella", from "Rigoletto", (which he did in French).

Though not from opera, Rossini's "La Danza" requires an operatic approach, which Mr. Simoneau was fully able to bring it, and he sang this much-abused song brilliantly. It was interesting that, although he showed a preference for quick tempi in the rest of his program, he sang his somewhat slower than many singers do, and the song gained greatly from the more reasonable pace.

Operatic, but in a now somewhat outworn sense of the word, was "When other lips", from "The Bohemian Girl". This is a lovely and artless melody, in which the tender sentiment of Alfred Bunn is beautifully complemented by the music of Michael Balfe, and it is good to hear it on the concert stage again. For too long it has languished in those books, usually called "The Jumbo Album of Songs the Whole World Loves". There is lots of life in "The Bohemian Girl" yet.

SLIPS ON HANDEL

As Mr. Simoneau fully lived up to, and exceeded, his reputation as a singer of opera, it will not be thought ungrateful if we say that he was markedly less successful in his singing of two Handel arias, songs by Schubert and Schumann, and two or three songs with English words. Handel wrote with wonderful understanding of the voice, and superficially he appears to be easy for an accomplished singer. But Handel also demands a content of thought, and a perfection of English pronunciation, which Mr. Simoneau did not bring to the songs he chose. Nor was Schumann's familiar and beautiful "Dedication" given the understanding which the fine lyric demands. In two songs by Dupare and Saint-Saens the singer was much more at ease.

Mr. Allen Rogers, who accompanied Mr. Simoneau, also played a short group of piano pieces with style and a formidable technique. —R.D.

R. Ayrhart Re-elected Game Club President

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The Campbellford and District Fish and Game Protective Association elected officers for 1952 at the regular meeting held in the Parish Hall here on Tuesday evening.

Owing to the absence of Lloyd Taylor, secretary of the club, Murray Locke was appointed to act in his place for the meeting.

The financial statement for the year, prepared by treasurer H. J. (Bert) Taylor, was read by president Russ Ayrhart in the treasurer's absence. Total receipts for the year amounted to $1,651.46 and total expenditures were $818.43, leaving a balance on hand of $833.03 on the year.

A letter was read from the treasurer, H. J. Taylor, in which he stated that owing to ill health he was forced to resign his office. The resignation was accepted with regret by the club, and on motion, a letter of thanks is to be sent to Mr. Taylor for his efficient work on behalf of the club.

Forrest R. Dennis and George W. Lucy were appointed as auditors.

As a result of the election of officers for 1953, Russ Ayrhart was re-elected president; Murray Locke, vice-president; and the office of secretary-treasurer was left open until the next meeting.

Various matters of interest to the club were discussed, including the sponsoring of a float in the Santa Claus parade to be held in Campbellford on Saturday. A committee was named to prepare the float.

Work Proceeds On Removal Of Gut Dam

CORNWALL (CP) — Work of removing Gut dam in the St. Lawrence river between Prescott and Cardinal is proceeding on schedule. A. H. Parker, superintendent of the Ontario St. Lawrence canals system, said today.

The 900-foot dam is being demolished on order of the international joint commission. The earth and stone structure, built by Canada in 1902, has been blamed for high water conditions in the Great Lakes.

Mr. Parker said the stone-fill and timber cribs on the upstream side of the dam have been removed. The stone-fill on the downstream side still must be dug out, but Mr. Parker said he expected this would be completed by the Jan. 15 deadline set for the dam's removal.

Workmen employed by the Canadian Dredge and Dock Company, Toronto, are camping on the mainland north of the river channel and also on Adams Island on the American side of the river. Two tugs, four bulldozers, two draglines, scows and a fleet of trucks are employed in the removal work.

Much of the material from the wrecked dam is being deposited on Adams Island.

Christmas Play Presented To WMS

FAIRMOUNT (ENS) — The Christmas meeting of Fairmount W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. L. A. Hooton with a large attendance.

A letter was read from Peterborough Presbyterial suggesting a missionary be adopted for prayer. The nominating committee presented their slate of officers for the coming year the installation service to take place at the January meeting.

The Worship service was taken by Mrs. Fred McIndoo assisted by Mrs. H. McBain and the Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Larke who sang a duet.

A play, "Christmas as comes to Hamphire Road" was then presented.

A social half hour was enjoyed with lunch of sandwiches ice cream and cake served by Mrs. L. A. Hooton, Mrs. E. Downes, Mrs. F. McIndoo, Miss Jean Hanbidge and Mrs. W. Windrem.

Campbellford Stores To Stay Open

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Stores in Campbellford will remain open on Wednesdays from now until Christmas. This has been the custom in former years, and although it is followed by most merchants, some still close on Wednesday, and shoppers complain that they never know when stores are going to be open. Many merchants don't appear to know themselves.

A bylaw of the town provides for the suspension of Wednesday closing for the month of December, but merchants usually do not take advantage of this suspension until the second Wednesday of the month.

During the remainder of the year, the stores close all day Wednesday.

Accounts Total $6,574

Witnesses Give Outline Of Their Religion

OTTAWA (CP)—Jehovah's Witnesses, appealing to the Supreme Court of Canada for a declaration that they form a religious denomination, outlined their beliefs to the nine-member court.

The outline was given Wednesday by W. Glen How of Toronto, counsel for the Witnesses, during a hearing on the validity of a Quebec City bylaw prohibiting distribution of pamphlets without a permit from the chief of police.

Mr. How said the beliefs of the Witnesses are based on the Bible. They believed in a supreme being. But they differed from other religions in that they look forward to the establishment of God's kingdom on earth rather than in Heaven.

EVERY DAY SUNDAY

Mr. Justice Ivan Rand asked if the Witnesses observe Sunday. Mr. How said the witnesses take the position that "every day is a day of equal responsibility to the Creator."

The religious services of the Witnesses consisted of hymns and prayers and lectures on the Bible. The Witnesses believed it was their duty to spread the gospel For that reason they went from house to house distributing tracts containing sermons on sections of the Bible.

It was the distribution of such tracts that led to the present case.

Mr. How said the Witnesses place the law of God above the law of man. They were taught to be good citizens and to obey the law. But they placed God above man where there was conflict between divine law and civil law.

Laurier Saumur of Quebec, a Jehovah's Witnesses evangelist, considered the Quebec City bylaw conflicted with his duty to spread the gospel. He contravened the bylaw by distributing Bible tracts and was arrested.

Ask Civic Centre For Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Construction of a civic centre in downtown Toronto to house city administrative offices and courts was recommended today.

The recommendation is contained in a report prepared by the civic advisory council for submission to city council. The advisory council suggests that the present city hall become the county court house for York county and that a magistrates' court building and civic administration building be erected on land adjacent to the city hall.

The block of land, known as civic square, now is occupied by stores, several hotels, a movie theatre, a large parking lot and contains much of the area known as Chinatown. The report recommends that this block be cleared to accommodate the new buildings and a park area bordered by trees.

Canadians Of U.K. Lineage Main Ethnic Group Of '51

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians of British Isles lineage still predominated as the main ethnic group in Canada in 1951, but as a percentage of total population, this group showed a steady half-century decline.

Those of French ancestry formed the second largest racial and cultural group, but as a percentage of total population this group showed an increase placing it just slightly ahead of where it was 50 years ago, the bureau of statistics reported Wednesday.

Canadians of continental European origin showed gains, both in number and in percentage of total population, but those of Asiatic origin declined, the bureau said.

Canadians with English, Scottish, Welsh and Irish blood totalled 6,709,000 in 1951, an increase from 5,715,000 in 1941. During that period Canada's total population climbed to 14,000,000 from 11,500,000.

As a percentage of total population, the British-Isles group dropped to 47.9 in 1951 from 49.7 in 1941. In 1901 this group formed 57 per cent of the total population.

The French cultural group increased to 4,319,000 last year from 3,483,000 in 1941 and the percentage of total population edged ahead to 30.8 from 30.3. At the turn of the century, this group formed 30.7 per cent of the population.

Those with ancestry in continental Europe, such as Germans, Italians, Jews, Dutch, Poles and Russians, increased to 2,553,000 in 1951 from 2,044,000 a decade ago and the percentage of total population rose to 18.2 from 17.8. This is more than double the 8.5-per-cent of total population in 1901

Asiatics, which include Japanese, Chinese, Hindus and Syrians, declined to 72,827 from 74,000 — down from 85,500 in 1931 but up from 66,000 in 1921.

The number of Negros dropped also to 18,000 from 22,000 in 1941 while the number of Eskimos increased to 9,700 from 7,200 and the number of native Indians to 155,800 from 118,300.

Sailors Aboard Magnificent Amateur Artists

HALIFAX (CP)—There's probably no Canadian ship afloat with more paintings hanging from her bulkheads than the aircraft carrier Magnificent.

The Maggie's art club has made about 1,000 officers and men aboard more art conscious than if they had toured the Montmartre district of Paris.

None of the club's members had painted before Lt.-Cmdr. C. Anthony Law of Ottawa, noted war artist, started art classes last spring.

SHOWN IN HALIFAX

They've come a long way since then. Recently 48 of their paintings, portraying scenes in Malta, Greece North Africa, Scotland and England, were exhibited at an art gallery here.

Law organized hte club as a hobby group. The only entry requirement was: "Anybody interested is welcome." The class began with 50 but now is about half that number.

Most of the work was done during the Maggie's European cruise. The lieutenant-commander and his students painted the town and countryside at nearly every port of call. They touched up their canvases during off-duty hours at sea.

ALL OVER SHIP

CPO George Green, Victoria, had five canvases on display in the radio room. CPO Joseph Poirier, Quebec, the ship's barber, had one bulkhead reserved for the work of AB Gaston Boulanger, Montreal.

CPOs Joseph Doucette, Belliveau N.S., and Lester Bell, Toronto, had their exhibition in the shipwright shop. In the officers' living quarters there was "Greenwich Alley," where five of the eight officers in the section were painters.

Law makes no effort to influence his students' style. "Ive let them develop their own and they've come along amazingly well."

Costly Cab Ride

VANCOUVER (CP)—A northern British Columbia Indian chief believes in doing things in high style. When a writ of habeas corpus arrived at his village of Topley ordering him to produce his three grandchildren in a court custody case here, Chief J. Daniel Leon bundled them into a taxicab and set off. Some 700 miles later the chief got a bill for $395

Damage Suits Hit $25,000,000

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (CP)—Damage suits planned as a result of high water in Lake Ontario will total at least $25,000,000, a Rochester lawyer says.

Norman Atterby, president of the Lake Ontario South Shore Land and Beach Protective Association, was among a dozen lawyers representing owners of property along the lake's south shore who met Wednesday to plan prosecution of claims against the United State government and Canada for high-water damage.

Then shore residents contend that a gut dam—built by Canada in the St. Lawrence river—contributes to the high water level.

Canada now is removing the dam in a step preliminary to building the St. Lawrence seaway development.

Atterby said the lawyers planned to name New York state and Ontario as additional defendants.

Sunshine Makes Animal Fur Dull

TORONTO (CP)—Sunshine may be fine for humans. But it makes animal fur dull and lifeless.

This is the conclusion of the department of lands and forests, which has been doing considerable research into factors affecting the pelts of fur-bearing animals. For instance, a cloudy fall produces better fur at end-of-the-season skinning time.

Clear weather this fall gave many wild fur-bearing animals a reprieve. Trappers were late in putting out their lines in northern Ontario because the fur they sought was late in reaching its prime.

Swedish King Gives Out Nobel Prizes

STOCKHOLM (AP)—King Gustaf Adolf has distributed the 1952 Nobel prizes.

Three scientists from the United States, two Britons and a French novelist received the coveted awards and a royal handshake in Stockholm's concert hall Wednesday night.

Gold medals, diplomas and cheques totalling more than 664,000 kroner (about $132,000) were shared in this 49th festival of the Nobel Foundation by the winners in four fields:

Medicine—Dr. Selman A. Waksman, 64, Russian-born American scientist of Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J., named for his work in discovery of streptomycin as a weapon against tuberculosis.

Physics—Dr. Felix Bloch, 47, a Swiss-born professor of Stanford University, and Dr. Edward Mills Purcell, 40, of Harvard University, named jointly for their independent development of a new method of measuring magnetic fields in atomic nuclei.

Chemistry—Dr. Archer Martin, 42, of the National Institute for Medical Research, London, and Dr. Richard Synge, 38, of the Rowett Research Institute, Aberdeen, Scotland, named jointly for their discovery of partition chromatography a new method for separating compounds.

Literature—Francois Mauriac, 67 French Catholic author of such works as "Viper's Triangle" and "The Lover and the Unloved" who was singled out for the "penetrating psychology and artistic intensity with which he, in the form of the novel, has interpreted the drama of human life."

Fined For Gambling

TORONTO (CP)—A total of $2,700 in fines was imposed Wednesday on 33 Toronto business men and a home owner in suburban North York township who were arrested when police raided a crap game Monday night. John Argier, 36, owner of the house, was jailed for 10 days and fined $200 for keeping a common gaming-house.

Fewer Milk Companies

TORONTO (CP)—The number of Ontario milk companies has dropped to 543 from 750 during the last 13 years, Everett M. Biggs of the Ontario department of agriculture said Tuesday. Addressing the Ontario Milk Distributors' Association convention, he said reduced profits accounted for the liquidation or absorption of the 207 companies.

OUTBOARD WORKERS MEET

Tonight at 8 o'clock members of Local 230, Outboard Marine Workers Union (CCL), will meet in the Knights of Columbus Hall, Simcoe St., to ratify the tentative agreement reached between the union and management. The agreement was reached earlier this week as both parties sat in with a conciliation board. Details of the new contract will be published Friday if it is aproved tonight by the membership.

DEFECTIVE SPRINKLER

Hundreds of residents in the central and northern sections of the city were wakened shortly before 3 a.m. today by the wail of sirens as fire trucks raced to the old Auburn plant, on the River Road N., owned by G. Whitaker and Co. There was no fire; it was a false alarm. Somehow a sprinkler went off sending in an automatic alarm. Firemen are checking on the sprinkler system today to prevent a recurrence.

Roseneath Cow Bucks At Personal Treatment
Farmer Knocked Down, Ribs Cracked

ROSENEATH (ENS) — The efficiency and safety of the machine age were brought home to a Roseneath farmer Wednesday morning.

Usually Bruce Arthur uses a milking machine for his herd of cattle, but since the flow had declined recently, decided to milk by hand.

One of the first cows to receive the unfamiliar treatment kicked, knocking Mr. Arthur to the ground. In his excitement, it trampled him, fracturing several ribs.

Mr. Arthur was treated at Roseneath office of Dr. George H. Field.

Complaints Stalled Work Bellevue Sidewalks Not Done

Complaints received earlier this year have stalled the laying of sidewalks on Bellevue St., City Engineer A. E. Chalmers said today. Residents on the south side of Bellevue St. petitioned to have a sidewalk laid between Fairbairn and Donegal Sts. But after the city had filled in the boulevard to bring it up to road level the residents found that, in some cases, the sidewalk was going to be a couple of feet higher than their front lawns.

City officials conceded that it was unsightly and inconvenient for the residents. However, as the houses were built on a hill that rises sharply to the north, there wasn't much they could do about it. Cut down the road, maybe; but that would be too much for the homeowners to pay on the local improvement part of their tax bills.

Meanwhile the earth fill that had been dumped there by the city, and graded off ready for paving, presented the additional problem of mud. One resident said today his car was mired in mud in front of his home. While discussion went on about what should be done on Bellevue Street city workmen were withdrawn, and work went ahead to finish sidewalks in the Brookdale subdivision.

BROOKDALE FIRST

"As a matter of fact Brookdale comes first on our program, but we had delayed doing the sidewalk laying there because we were laying storm sewers at the time," said City Engineer Chalmers. "When discussion began on what was to happen on Bellevue we switched to Brookdale.

"We would have come back to Bellevue and the other streets in that area (the south side of Wellington between Stormont and Fairbairn, and the east side of Stormont between Wellington and Belevue) but we just didn't finish our program.

"The fact of the matter is, though, that it will be more suitable for laying sidewalks there next year after the frost is out of the ground and the fill is settled."

The piece on the east side of Stormont Street was left because it was not known how high the connecting Bellevue sidewalk will be, if and when it is laid down.

Nearly Extinct

"The bed-bug is practically extinct in Peterborough." So says R. N. MacPherson, city sanitary inspector in his monthly report for November. And Mr. MacPherson has more good news about insect and vermin control in the city. "The cockroach is well under control and the rats in our dumps, in food plants and in homes are being eliminated," he reports.

Former Principal Sister Patricia Dies Suddenly

Rev. Sister M. Patricia, of the Sisters of St. Joseph, principal for years of St. Peter's High School, died suddenly Wednesday evening at the residence of the Order Mount St. Joseph, on Monaghan Road.

Sister Patricia was born in the township of Douro, daughter of Denis O'Brien and hi s wife, Johanna Welch. She was the last member of that family. Her older brother, the late Michael O'Brien, was at one time on the staff of the old Collegiate Institute, opposite Victoria Park, and subsequently was appointed Separate School Inspector.

Dedicating her life to the service of God 49 years ago, Sister Patricia first taught in two primary schools of Peterborough, St. Mary's and Sacred Heart, for eight years, and then was transferred to St. Joseph's Academy at Lindsay of which she was principal about twelve years. Sister Patricia was then called back to Peterborough to assume charge of St. Peter's School of which she was principal 18 years, retiring in 1948.

The body is resting at Mount St. Joseph until Saturday at 9.30 a.m., when requiem mass will be celebrated in the chapel. Burial will be at St. Peter's cemetery.

Of the life and work of Sister Patricia, Bishop Berry said today: "The passing of Sister Patricia removes one of the last links with our Separate Schools of the 19th century for some of her former pupils are now in their sixties. They look back to her teaching with a fondness and an appreciation that betray the impact on their young lives of a strong personality and devoted religious who gave her life up to the work of the church in the teaching of the young.

"Even after she had retired and had leisure, she had the interest of the present-day pupils at heart, and pleaded for the improvement of facilities in her favorite spot in this district.

"The Examiner has published some of her writing about the authors of the Kawartha district, and made her known to its readers who will have noticed her flair for the literary accomplishments of native sons and others. The family of O'Briens, to which she belonged, has earned the respect and gratitude of educational authorities in all this area, and not the least contributor to that end was Sister Patricia, now gone to what all will hope is a rich heavenly reward. May she rest in peace."

It was learned today that about an hour before her sudden death, Sister Patricia read with a glow of interest the Examiner's report of the retirement on Wednesday of her successor, Sister Lucretia, as principal of St. Peter's High School. The news story was featured by a three column photograph of Sister Lucretia.

City Health Nurses Make 357 Home Visits

Department of Health nurses made 357 visits to homes during November as stated in the department's monthly report.

There were 605 visits to individuals during the month and 201 individuals were visited for the first time in 1952. New homes visited for the first time this year totalled 109.

During the month eight student nurses from the Civic Hospital and four from St. Joseph's Hospital spent a two-day observation period with department nurses.

3 Attempts To Start Fire In Collegiate
Cobourg Fire Dep't Snuffs Blazes Ask Investigation

COBOURG (ENS)—Three attempts to start fires in the Cobourg Collegiate were made today between 8:30 and 9 a.m.

All were discovered in time before the threat became too serious, but Fire Chief Ken Baird said that he is asking the fire marshal's office in Toronto to send an investigator.

The first fire was found by pupils on the stage of the auditorium in the new section of the building. Some one had started a blaze among the furniture set out on the stage for a collegiate play which was to have taken place tonight. Now it will have to be postponed. Draperies were burned and furniture charred.

As men of the Cobourg fire department were beginning to gather their gear after putting out the fire, two more fires were discovered.

OBVIOUS ATTEMPT

Fire Chief Baird said the fires had obviously been started by someone while his men were busy on the first fire. Both were in the old section of the building at the opposite end of the collegiate.

Burning paper was discovered in a corner of the old gymnasium and on the opposite side of the brick wall another pile of papers had been ignited under boys' stairs leading from the basement to the first floor.

Pupils who saw smoke coming up from the two fires reported them and they were quickly put out.

Collegiate students are suspected.

It is believed today's fires have no connection with the fire which started last spring on the roof of the school building. Hot ashes forced up through the chimney by its draft were blamed in that case.

Lindsay Starts Curfew To Keep Youths At Home

LINDSAY (ENS)—As a result of Wednesday's trial here of eight juveniles on charges of petty theft and malicious damage, Chief Constable John Hunter, after conferring with Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan, QC, and officials of the Children's Aid Society, has announced that the regulations of the Children's Protection Act will henceforth be enforced in the town.

General orders will be given to the local police officers today, that starting tonight, any juvenile found loitering after ten o'clock at night, and not in the company of a parent or guardian, or adult appointed by the parents, will be warned to go home immediately, and will, on second offence, be either taken home by police, or taken to the Children's Shelter, and charged under the Act.

In addition to those provisions of the curfew, the parent of juvenile violators of the act may be charged under the same statute, and will be liable to penalties. Chief Hunter who warned that "hangouts" of the juveniles will be inspected regularly by officers of his force, while on duty after the curfew hour, and juveniles will be kept out of such places.

Crown Attorney Jordan said today that of the ten boys tried Wednesday in juvenile court, three were in high school, the balance in grade eight. Their ages were 14 and 15. They were charged with theft of about $50 from milk-bottles around town during October and November, and some were also charged with breaking car radio aerials, four or five cases of which have been reported over the same period.

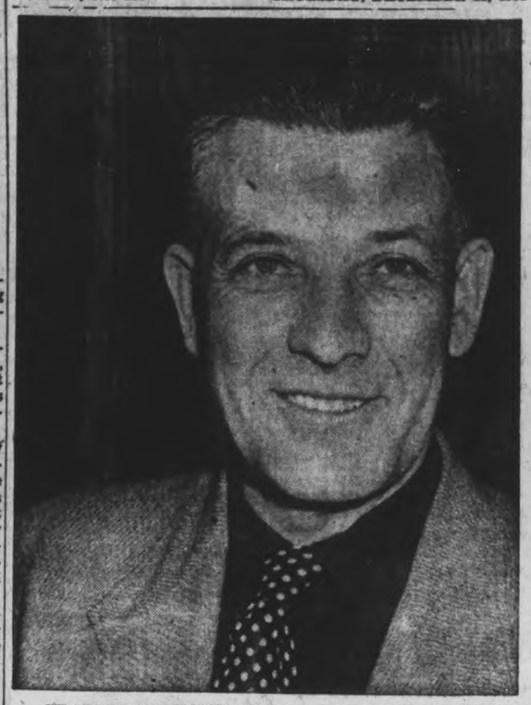
Eight of the boys were returned to custody of their parents with strict warnings from Magistrate Gee to both the boys and their parents to stay out of trouble in the future. One boy was handed into the custody of his married sister, and the other was remanded for a month, on his behaviour, to check on his progress.

Sanitation Men Elect President

Herbert Waters, of the Northumberland and Durham Counties health unit, is 1953 president of Region 10 of sanitation personnel.

Mr. Waters was elected at the region's ninth annual conference held at the Public Library here Wednesday. Vice-president is William Burns, of Newmarket. The organization has no secretary or treasurer.

The 20-odd delegates were welcomed by MOH Dr. J. P. Wells, and heard two speakers. G. M. Galimbert, of the Ontario Department of Health, spoke on problems in water supplies; James Duncan, of the department, spoke on interpretation of sewage analyses, and R. A. Craig, of Newmarket, guided a discussion on sanitation problems. Mr. Craig was chairman.



CHARLES FORSYTH will be moving shortly to Toronto to take over as secretary of the Central YMCA. Mr. Forsyth came here from Niagara Falls about two years ago. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Charles Forsyth Appointed Secretary Of Toronto YMCA

General secretary at the YMCA for the past two years and a half, Charles D. Forsyth has accepted the offer of executive secretary of the Toronto Central YMCA, one of Canada's largest YMCAs. Mr. Forsyth said Wednesday, after announcing that he was leaving to the board and the staff, that he will probably be leaving in January to begin his new position in Toronto on February 1.

Executive secretary of the Toronto Central Y is considered to be about the third highest position in the YMCA in Canada. Mr. Forsyth will be in charge of the Central Y, which has a 6,000-membership, more than a 300-resident facilities, a larger program of activities and a cafeteria. He will be assisted by a staff of 17 secretaries included in the 100 employees.

RELUCTANT TO GO

Mr. Forsyth added that he was offered the position about three weeks ago, but was reluctant to leave Peterborough, because "I would have liked to have put a bit more time into the Peterborough job."

At Central Y, Mr. Forsyth will be succeeding Greg Macdiarmid, who has been promoted to metropolitan secretary for Toronto. Mr. Macdiarmid succeeds John McCurdy, who accepted the position of president of the George Williams College in the United States.

No successor for Mr. Forsyth has been named as yet since he announced that he was leaving only Monday night to the board of directors. Several former Peterborough YMCA men may be considered.

Since coming to Peterborough in September, 1950, Mr. Forsyth has taken an active part in local, national and international affairs, mostly dealing with social work.

In Peterborough he has been an advisor to the So-Ed programs, and has helped with discussion groups. At George Street United Church, Mr. Forsyth has acted on the board of session and also led co-ed groups on Sunday mornings. Other Peterborough activities included the Rotary Club (chairman of its youth committee), chairman of the Health, Recreation and Social Work group, and the Masonic craft.

Nationally Mr. Forsyth was chairman of the planning committee for Canadian YMCAs for the secretaries' training conference and internationally was vice-president of the North American Community Secretary Association and past director of the American Camping Association.

Mr. Forsyth came to Peterborough in 1950 to succeed G. H. Roper, who had been with the YMCA for 35 years. Mr. Forsyth had been general secretary of the Niagara Falls YMCA for three years previously.

A graduate of the University of Manitoba, he first entered YMCA work in 1928 in Edmonton, and in 1936 moved to Winnipeg where he was assistant boys' work secretary. During his seven years there he was recognized as one of the leading boys' work secretaries in Canada.

Mayoralty Recount Near End At Lindsay

LINDSAY (ENS)—Results of the recount in Lindsay's close mayoral race held Dec. 1 will be known some time today. Unofficial sources said last night that the final result should be known this afternoon, since about two-thirds of the ballots had been counted by last night.

The recount is taking place under Judge J. A. McGibbon, with the assistance of town clerk W. R. Allely. Neither of the two candidates concerned, Mayor Charles Lamb, or Alderman Lloyd Burrows, are present, but both are represented by counsel. There has been no indication of what, if any changes, have been effected so far.

Christmas Rush Started At Post Office

Apparently Peterborough people don't need a snowfall to remind them that Christmas is only two weeks away, for already the flow of Christmas cards has started at the post office. The increase in mail, especially cards and letters, was noticed today, but the heavy flow is expected to begin this weekend.

At present the main problem is screening the 300 applicants for the extra help taken on during the rush. List of unemployed from the National Employment Office and another list compiled at the post office include most of the extra help. A few university students, who have helped in previous years, will also be re-employed.

EMPLOY 100

Again this year the post office will employ about 100 for the rush. Beginning Monday each letter carrier will be assisted by a helper, while the remainder will assist with the sorting of cards and letters and handling parcels. The extra help, after Monday, will be taken on as the mail load increases.

Post office officials commended the people who have already started to mail cards. The gradual increase which has been evident since early Wednesday will continue until a peak is reached — probably December 19 or 20. The rush is expected to be over by Christmas Eve.

Last year the post office handled more than 1,000,000 cards and letters in the rush. This year the early indications point to an even larger pile.

A few overseas parcels are still coming in, but these, due to boat departures, will not arrive in Europe in time for Christmas. The mailing date this year was by November 25.

In some cases the post office has received word that people in Peterborough have received "thank you" notes from Europe for their Christmas parcels.

USE ARMOURIES

This year the post office will again use part of the Armouries for the incoming parcel mail. There two 12-hour shifts will be maintained to take in, sort and deliver parcels. The outgoing parcels will be handled as usual at the post office.

The sub-post office at the Armouries will be opened on Friday and until Christmas all parcels for delivery in Peterborough and district will be sorted there.

Lineups at stamp wickets in the main post office have prompted the opening of an additional wicket; there will be two wickets opening beginning Friday until Christmas Eve.

Already the post office has received a number of cards and letters improperly addressed. Officials ask the public to address properly, checking the street and number carefully. They also request a return address to avoid delay in returning those incorrectly addressed.

N'tl. Employment Service To Occupy Old Post Office Building
Move Not Official Yet, Says G. K. Fraser Employment Office Not Included In Plans of New Federal Building

National Employment Service will move into the city's old post office building on completion of the new federal building. This is the understanding of Gordon K. Fraser, MP for Peterborough West, who at the same time said the move was "a good idea." No accommodation for the NES office was included in plans for the new federal building on Charlotte St. This was because of the probability of long line-ups and large numbers of people in and around the office.

Such queues and crowds could interfere with normal workings of other departments to be located in the new building. For this and other reasons the NES will be moved to the old post office building at Water and Hunter Sts.

"It's a good location for it," said Mr. Fraser. "It's all on the ground floor."

Government officials had not definitely announced the move, but it was expected to be made official sometime soon. The NES office is presently located on George St., south of King St.

The post office building was erected in 1888 and 45 years ago the one-storey section to the north was built. This was at the time of the inauguration of the postal carrier service.

William Mellis, manager of the local employment ofifce, said he expected the post office would make a good office for the NES, but added that it would need considerable renovation. "It's going to take three years for them to build the new Federal building, so we're not concerned about moving right at the moment."

30 Inches Of Snow

Three inches of rain since Monday, Dec. 1, were equivalent to 30 inches of snow, James Harrison of the waterworks plant of the Utilities Commission computed for The Examiner today. As December is the first of the winter months it might have been expected to express itself in snow rather than rain. But the temperature has been lenient, although persistently cloudy, and has spared Peterborough's people the labor of 2½ feet of snow, to say nothing of the municipal expenditure of its removal from the streets. As for the sidewalk snow plow contractors they are probably all for this kind of December, knowing that winter is likely to work its will before spring comes.

Allies Had Plan To March To Finns' Aid

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain and France had a plan for marching across neutral Norway and Sweden in 1940 to "rescue" Finland from Russia, but action was delayed and the operation dropped when Finland surrendered, a British official war history disclosed today.

The plan, approved by the Allied supreme war council Feb. 5, 1940, contemplated sending two or more Allied brigades to the front where the Finns were sturdily resisting Russian invasion, according to T. K. Derry in "The Campaign in Norway." It is the first of a series of official war histories published by the British government.

APPROVED PLAN

Derry, who has a specialized knowledge of Scandinavian affairs, wrote: "On its way to rescue the Finns the main striking force was to land at Narvik and advance along the railway to Kiruna and Gallivare, the two centres of the north Swedish ore-field, and on to the Baltic port of Lulea."

The British cabinet March 12 approved a plan for rushing volunteers ashore at Narvik, but the Finns surrendered the same night.

"On March 14 the British war cabinet decided, with the reluctant assent of the French, that in the altered circumstances our plans would meet with positive resistance from Norway and Sweden and might drive them into the arms of Germany," Derry said.

Wilson, Secretary of Defence; Eisenhower; John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State-designate; and George Humphrey, new Secretary of the Treasury.

Armored Shorts Given Troops

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Army said today it is offering armored shorts for its troops in Korea. Together with the armored vest the two garments will give protection to the entire torso.

The army said the armored shorts resemble a prize-fighter's trunks and weigh only four pounds. The vest weighs eight pounds.

Specifically designed to protect the hips, abdomen and groin, the garment has been tentatively designated as "armor, lower torso." It is made of 12 layers of flexible, laminated nylon duck encased in a water-resistant plastic layer with an outer covering of nylon fabric.

The vest, made of the same materials, has been demonstrated in Korea to deflect about 65 per cent of all types of missiles and to reduce chest and upper abdominal wounds by about 60 per cent.

Police Sergeant Has Been Suspended

WHITBY (CP) — Judge F. J. MacRae of the Pickering township police commission today announced that Sgt. Fred White of the Pickering township police force was suspended from duty Monday. No reason was given.

The committee will meet Friday to discuss the suspension, Judge MacRae said.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, December 11th—Do you have that harried, hurried feeling when you think of Christmas shopping? I know just the remedy for that "too little and too late" sensation. Do your shopping at the BANK OF MONTREAL. It saves you lots of time and frantic rushing about—AND you can be sure that, when you give these B of M Christmas presents, they'll be received with enthusiasm. First of all—for Aunt Miranda . . . a B of M Money Order! The B of M will "gift-wrap" it in a special Christmas envelope, and hard-to-please Aunt M. will love picking her present for herself. Then there's that special gift for Junior. Here's a tip—youngsters love to have their very own B of M Savings Accounts! So give Junior a Christmas Passbook with a dollar or more in it to start him off. And for niece Sue, at college—give her what she always needs more of—money—one of those holly-gay B of M Christmas cheques. Feel better about your shopping now? I thought you would. I've bought B of M Christmas presents myself, and I've always found them highly successful!

For The 'Big Shaver' on your Christmas list . . . for a gift he'll really enjoy . . . give the new REMINGTON 60 DE LUXE, the finest electric shaver yet! Talk about clean, smooth, fast shaves . . . why in 60 seconds whisker bristle just melts away! What man wouldn't cheer a one-minute morning shave? The secret is the three diamond-honed twin-cutting heads. Think of it! Six cutters—each two inches long . . . they get at those face angles with one clean sweep! Your special man will get a special thrill comes Christmas morning—and every morning . . . when you make his gift the new Remington 60 De Luxe—complete in its own distinctive carrying case.

Washing Dishes isn't nearly the chore it used to be now that those wonderful new chemical soaps do the job in a jiffy. So dishwashing doesn't bother me now—and the chemical soaps don't bother my hands any more, either. The secret? I just keep Jergens Lotion handy—use it after every watery job. Because Jergens is liquid, it quickly supplies the softening moisture that dry, thirsty skin needs. Truly, for lovely, petal-smooth hands — all you need do is use Jergens faithfully. It costs very little — just 15c, 37c, 65c and $1.15. Why not take my tip and try it. Remember JERGENS LOTION . . . because you care for your hands!

It's What The Well-dressed Man will be wearing in '53 . . . so do be sure to Christmas-gift your husband with a BVD NYLON TRICOT SHIRT. He'll be proud of you for knowing just what he wants for Christmas! Made of comfortable, good-looking nylon tricot—with fused nylon collars and cuffs that never wilt—BVD Nylon Shirts always look neat and trim—without ironing. Just think of the time and money you'll save! Laundering's no problem at all . . . just a quick rinse, wait awhile, and the shirt is ready to wear. So take my tip. Get your husband a handsome, long-wearing BVD Nylon Tricot Shirt for Christmas ($12.95 in blue, tan, grey or white).

The Bigger The Better?—not always, anyway! I don't imagine, for instance, that the Face-Elle people are the 'biggest' in the tissue handkerchief business but their fine quality product certainly gets my vote as the best! Yes, FACE-ELLE is softer than anything you've ever used and yet stronger and more absorbent too. And Face-Elle has two exclusives: They make the only THREE-ply tissues and the only tinted tissues marketed in Canada. Personally, I'm a 'push-over' for those delightful Face-Elle 'En Pastels' tissues. Their soft pastel shades add a welcome touch of color wherever you use them . . . try them next time you buy tissue handkerchiefs!

Here's Wonderful News for all you busy Christmas shoppers! It's "quick meal" news from Heins spotless kitchens. Heins have a wonderful variety of thrifty, delicious, main-course dishes for you. In addition to their five kinds of Oven-Baked Beans, there are two kinds of HEINZ COOKED SPAGHETTI and two kinds of HEINZ COOKED MACARONI. So if there were nine days in your busy shopping week (and don't you wish there were!) . . . there would be a special, fast-cooking, wonderful-tasting Heins treat for each night of the week. Stock up now for rushed meals during these busy days. You'll be glad you did!

When You Wake Up on a cold snowy morning, what's the first thing you think of? Something HOT for breakfast? I know I do. Cold weather gives me an appetite that only my favourite "CREAM OF WHEAT" will satisfy. M-mmm! It's so good topped with brown sugar and cream. And it's good for you, too. Quick "Cream of Wheat" provides Iron, Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. Be sure you get the package with the familiar words "Cream of Wheat" and the smiling chef—both trade marks of Cream of Wheat (Canada), Ltd. and Reg. Canadian and U.S. Pat. Off.

Bring On The Christmas Turkey! It's going to be extra-good this year because you've basted it with Blue Bonnet! That's the margarine with the fresh, country-sweet flavour that does wonderful things for all your cooking . . . and goes to the dinner table, too. Yes, now Blue Bonnet's famous Yellow Quik bag is even stronger than ever. Makes it so easy to colour your BLUE BONNET MARGARINE a luscious golden-yellow for table use. And another thing you'll like about Blue Bonnet . . . it's truly economical. Why, I find I can buy extra milk with the money I save on Blue Bonnet Margarine! Just compare Blue Bonnet Margarine with any spread at any price for flavour, nutrition and economy!

I Can't Get Along Without It when I'm entertaining. INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE is so economical—so quick to make (it's as easy to make ten cups as one) and, above all, it's so good. You see, Instant Chase & Sanborn is the delicious result of almost 100 years of coffee experience. Yes, you'll agree . . . the flavour's there—and the body—and the real lift. So when friends drop in—or when you're planning your Christmas party . . . plan to serve Instant Chase & Sanborn Coffee. You'll save up to 40c a pound compared with ground coffee. The regular size jar of Instant Chase & Sanborn gives you the same number of cups as a pound of ground coffee, but there's a big difference in price.

Particularly Now, during busy Christmas shopping season, our bean suppers are a real treat (for both me, the cook—and the family). Because, though baked beans for supper date back to grandma's day—Heins have made beans so much easier to prepare! Just empty a can or two of HEINZ OVEN-BAKED BEANS in a casserole, flip a switch, and before you know it, a bean treat for the family! Delicious? Even grandma sings the praises of Heins Oven-Baked Beans. Yes, most any night is Heins night in our house. You see, there are now five kinds of Heins Oven-Baked Beans . . . the latest—Baked Beans with Sliced Wieners, delicious variety for lots of quick meals!

Screening Crews Of Ships At U.S. Ports

WASHINGTON (CP)—New immigration regulations calling for screening of ships' crews entering the United States go into effect Dec. 24 but officials disagree whether the rules affect Canadian crews.

A justice department spokesman here said Wednesday night he did not believe Canadian ships are affected by the new ruling while at Ottawa an official of the Canadian transport department said he believes Canadian ocean-going ships will come under the law.

The Canadian noted that for some time Great Lakes seamen have been examined for security purposes jointly by Canada and the United States.

Meanwhile it was announced special immigration inspectors will be placed aboard some of the big foreign passenger ships to screen crews.

BEGIN CHECKING

The justice department said the first inspector left Tuesday from New York aboard the French liner Liberte to begin the task of checking the political reliability of each crew member, thus determining whether they are eligible to go ashore at American ports.

A justice department official said the U.S. government has told Britain it is willing to fly immigration inspectors to London to be placed aboard the two big Cunard liners, the Queen Mary and the Queen Elizabeth. The crews number about 2,000 for each vessel. The examinations would be made for the most part while the ships are at sea.

Britons are reported concerned about the new rules, which are part of the new McCarran-Walters Immigration Act, fearing that the screening may take so much time it may delay voyages of the two vessels. An official source in London said Britain will lodge a protest with the U.S.

Cut Production Of Army Tanks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Army announces it will apply the brakes to production of tanks and trucks. Some plants will have to close as a result of the slowdown.

Army spokesmen explained Wednesday that the immediate needs of the army are close to being met. At the same time strong production lines have been established to meet future needs.

Production of medium tanks will be cut back to a point about 45 per cent below the original goal set for the spring of 1954, the army said.

There will be a 22-per-cent reduction in output of light tanks and the manufacture of 2½-ton trucks will be slowed.

Production rates of some other basic weapons will be reduced later, a spokesman said.

To Settle Unpaid Bill

KITCHENER (CP)—A $4,000 unpaid bill for fees claimed owing the crown attorney's department will be settled by the city Monday night "one way or another," Mayor Bruce Weber said Wednesday. The fees cover liquor cases and summary convictions handled by Crown Attorney Harold Daufman who went on strike 10 days ago until the bill was paid. Police Chief John Patrick has acted as public prosecutor since then.

Lower Cattle Prices Cause 2 Million Loss

TORONTO (CP)—The United Co-operatives of Ontario report that lower livestock prices caused a drop of $2,000,000 in total sales for the year ended Sept. 30.

Hugh Bailey, general manager, told the annual meeting Wednesday that livestock sales increased in number but fell $5,250,000 in value. Total sales of all products were buoyed by increases in dairy and poultry marketing sales and more business in farm machinery, feed and fertilizer.

It's the 'KNOW HOW' that Counts!

HINTS ON TABLE TENNIS

1 Control is essential for good results in this game. Ball must be watched every instant, otherwise shots will be missed or returns will not be effective. Concentrate keeping your eye on the ball.

2 Footwork must be right. Keep on your toes, changing position of feet with every stroke. Always "choke" your racket by keeping grip as close to hitting blade as is possible. This gives control and leverage.

3 Keep the ball low. Avoid tilting the hitting blade back or jabbing at ball. Follow-through on every shot keeps ball controlled. Return to position in centre of table after every shot — do not edge over to side.

Yes, it's "know-how" that counts in table tennis as in every sport — "know-how" that sets one performer above another. Learn the correct form — the "know-how" — then practise until you have mastered it and you'll get more fun and enjoyment out of your sports and game.

Magazine Agency Operated From Bed

TORONTO (CP)—Two war veterans are operating a magazine subscription agency from their beds in Sunnybrook Military Hospital here.

Bob Schultz, whose home is in Churchbridge, Sask., was an RCAF pilot in the Second World War. He was injured in a motor accident near Madoc, Ont., two years ago, suffering a broken neck and a damaged spinal cord.

His pal, Stanley Davies of Hamilton, suffered a broken neck while swimming near his home in 1949.

"We're working hard on this magazine subscription scheme and we hope we can make a go of it," said Schultz. "Someone already has donated a city directory and we've started mailing our letters and pamphlets. We call ourselves the Paravet Magazine Agency."

A. J. Whetung Recalls Life On Reserve In Early Days

Albert J. Whetung of Curve Lake, recently bereaved in the death of his wife, recalled some of his experiences over the past half-century when he called into The Examiner today.

Mr. Whetung, who is in his 70s, doesn't smoke or drink and still tips the scale at 200 pounds or more. He is best known throughout the neighboring townships—particularly in Ennismore Township—as a buyer of horses.

After marrying the former Sarah Franklin of Alderville, he moved with his young bride to Curve Lake in 1901.

They did not settle in the village itself, but struck out into the bush a mile and a half away. There they underwent the pioneer life—clearing the land of bush and rock, burning the timber and roots, and planting crops in the cleared areas.

One patch of woods is kept intact by Mr. Whetung. That was where a camp meeting was held and Mr. Whetung keeps it as a religious memorial.

BOUGHT STOCK

Some stock was added to the farm and then Mr. Whetung, in about the year 1904, branched into the horse-buying business. It was not only a living, but a source of enjoyment to Mr. Whetung, who tells of the "friendly atmosphere" at these sales. He has a special warm spot in his heart for Ennismore.

Throughout the 51 years of their married life Mrs. Whetung did her share to keep the farm going smoothly. She died last Thursday after a short illness and was buried Sunday.

In a nostalgic mood, Mr. Whetung told of the old cable ferry that used to link Ennismore with Curve Lake. The ferry was operated by a shore-based winch.

"Those were good days," said Mr. Whetung. "I don't think that modern life has been able to make any improvement on them."

Execution Delayed

QUEBEC (CP)—Roger Lizotte, 33, whose appeal against a conviction of murder now is before the Supreme Court of Canada, has been granted a stay of execution until June 12, it was announced Wednesday. Lizotte was scheduled to be hanged Dec. 19 for the beer-bottle slaying of Gerard Beaumont, a lumberjack, June 14, 1947.

CUPFUL OF SAFETY—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, right, U.S. Air Force chief of staff, awards the Daedalian Trophy for flying safety to Gen. Curtis LeMay, commanding general of the Strategic Air Command at ceremonies in Washington, D.C. The trophy is an annual award given to the Air Force Command flying over 100,000 hours with the lowest accident ratio.

Zoo Officials Worried

LONDON (AP) — Ivy was calm about it all today but everyone else around London zoo was pacing the floor. The big polar bear is expecting another cub. In fact, the event is nine days overdue. Ivy is the mother of the famous cub Brumas, said to be the only zoo-born polar bear to survive in 100 years. Brumas now is valued at £40,000.

Crown Jewels Hidden In Wall

EDINBURGH, Scotland (CP)—As a wartime safety measure in event of German invasion, details of Scotland's crown jewels and regalia were sent to Canada, it has been disclosed.

The jewels themselves were built into a wall of Edinburgh Castle. Only four men knew the secret.

Details were sent to the British high commissioner in Canada, where it was assumed Britain would carry on the fight in exile if necessary.

The story of the jewels is recalled in a book of reminiscences published by Tom Johnson, formerly state secretary for Scotland and one of the four men who knew where the state possessions were hidden.

Denies Saying U.K. Regrets Ban

TORONTO (CP)—James Thomson, deputy high commissioner for the United Kingdom, denies saying the British government regrets the ban by Canada on the awarding of titles to Canadians.

Newspaper reporters quoted him Tuesday as saying at an armed forces conference on foreign affairs here the ban "is a matter of some regret on the part of the United Kingdom government."

He said Wednesday he made his remarks during a question period which followed his speech. An officer asked him to describe the system of distributing military and civil honors.

"All I said was that the effect of this Canadian decision, which was entirely accepted by Britain as something for Canada to settle, was that there can never be another case like that of Banting," he said in an interview.

"The late King George V conferred a knighthood on Canada's Dr. Frederick Banting, one of the co-discoverers of insulin, on the suggestion of the Canadian government.

Sees Red China Facing Problem

BOMBAY (CP)—China's Communist government will "sooner or later" face a disastrous fall in living standards, says Dr. Lewis Walmsley, professor of Chinese history and civilization at the University of Toronto.

Dr. Walmsley, in China 27 years as principal of a missionary school, said the Chinese Reds have set their faces against population control. But the average Chinese peasant holds only 0.45 acres of land against about eight acres in Canada and the United States, thus causing a "terrific pressure" on the land.

China's 475,000,000 population is increasing at the rate of 5,000,000 a year, the Canadian professor said. This was likely to increase because of the falling death rate, occasioned partly by the end of old practices such as massinfanticide.

Dr. Walmsley, who left China in 1948, was inetrviewed while attending a conference on planned parenthood.

Hundreds Losing Jobs, Machinery Industry Slumps

OTTAWA (CP) — A labor delegation has told the government that hundreds of workers are losing their jobs in Canada's slumping farm machinery industry, and has asked for aid to both the industry and the unemployed.

C. H. Millard, Canadian head of the United Steelworkers, said Wednesday four Ontario cities — Hamilton, Toronto, Woodstock and Brantford—have been hit by the production and employment slump.

He headed a 14-man delegation which suggested, in a meeting with four cabinet ministers, gifts of tractors and other farm implements to underdeveloped countries, federal public works projects in Brantford and Woodstock — the hardest-hit areas — and an investigation into the possibility that the implements industry may be a monopoly, fixing prices at such levels that sales were reduced.

CONSIDER PROPOSALS

Labor Minister Gregg said the government will consider the proposals. He added, however, that if there are any jobless steelworkers next year they will be able to find jobs easily in such big projects as the St. Lawrence seaway and the Kitimat, B. C., aluminum development.

The delegation, representing the steel and auto workers unions, charged that the farm implement industry is dominated by three companies and is actually following monopoly practices.

Justice Minister Garson said he would consider the suggestion of an investigation under anti-combines laws.

Mr. Millard said that in Brantford, more than 1,000 of the 3,000-odd Massey-Harris employees have been laid off and the foundry is on a four-day week.

"The tractor plant at the Massey-Harris Company in Woodstock is to all intents and purposes closed down," he added. "Seventy-five-per-cent of the 350 employees have been laid off with little prospect of recall."

The Massey-Harris Company had laid off more than 1,000 of its Toronto employees in July, but had recalled some. In Hamilton, the International Harvester Company had laid off 400 since August.

JUDGMENT DAY—The line outside the Supreme Court in Washington waits for the doors to open. The high court is taking up the question of racial segregation in public schools. The suit names Washington, D.C., Virginia, Delaware, Kansas and South Carolina as violators of the constitution in separating students on color lines.

Mau Mau Trouble Workings Of Foreign Power: Richmond

Answering his own question, "Are Missions Worth While In North Africa?" the Rev. Charles Richmond, of Omemee Anglican Church, addressed the Salvation Army Temple Men's Club at their monthly dinner meeting Mon[illegible].

The speaker gave an account of his work among the natives of Kenya in the Lake Rudolph area.

The Mau Mau movement which has caused whites to be slaughtered, is the result of subversive forces of a "foreign power" at work among the natives, Mr. Richmond said. These events, which have been brought to our attention through the medium of the press, would cause us to rightfully say, "Bring the missionaries home. It is not worth while."

The speaker recounted some of his personal experiences with the people of Kenya, not only as a spiritual teacher but in a practical way, giving first aid and medical attention when needed.

No school or hospital was in existence for many miles in the area where Mr. Richmond's work was carried on. The speaker told of his contact with natives . He remembered a lady and a young man to whom he gave medical aid later becoming converts. Such experiences, the Rev. Richmond said, cause him to say, "Missions are worth while in Kenya."

Mr. Richmond showed colored slides of the country and people among whom he worked for 15 years.

Major H. Roberts introduced the speaker and Col. Ritchie tendered an expression of thanks.

During the evening, two vocal solos, "O Holy Night" and "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," were sung by Roy Wilford. Ross Brock was at the piano. A singsong of Christmas carols was led by Frank Robinson.

Arrangements were in charge of Alf Mills, president, Ralph Braund, secretary, and Alec Cumming, treasurer.

Neuritis Is Problem To Treat But It Can Often Be Relieved

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

An obviously discouraged correspondent asks, "is neuritis as incurable as all other forms of rheumatism? Is physiotherapy as good a treatment for relief as any?"

Reading between the lines one can assume that the writer has suffered painfully and long from an inflammation of the nerves called neuritis. Incidentally, it is somewhat better to call this neuritis than rheumatism since rheumatism is more often applied to aches and pains in the joints and muscles than it is to the nerves.

As to the question on physiotherapy, the answer depends on the kind of neuritis, on the condition of the patient, on the kind of physiotherapy, and particularly on whether the physiotherapy brings a certain amount of relief, or as is sometimes the case, makes the pain worse.

Now neuritis is defined as a painful condition of the nerves. In essence it means an inflammation of a nerve or nerves which is accompanied by pain and tenderness, disturbances of feeling or sensation, and usually a certain amount of wasting of the muscles.

Many causes may be responsible. The problem is to try to find which one is present.

Vitamin deficiencies, especially the lack of vitamin B-1, may produce nerve pain. One type of neuritis is common among the victims of chronic alcoholism. Perhaps at least part of the reason for this is that such persons substitute alcohol for a properly balanced diet containing enough vitamin B-1.

This type of neuritis often can be much improved or even relieved entirely by giving enough of this vitamin.

INFECTION OFTEN IS CAUSE

Neuritis is present in shingles, or herpes zoster. In this disease the cause of the trouble is a virus. Severe anemia can produce neuritis. Many chemical agents such as arsenic, and many of the substances used in industry may produce neuritis. Infections of almost any kind are frequent sources of difficulty.

Successful treatment is almost always a problem. Sometimes the pain is almost intolerable, particularly in people who have been weakened by disease and in the elderly. Relief has sometimes been obtained by killing the nerve, by injecting alcohol, or by cutting the nerve by operation. Of course, this does not get at the bottom of the trouble, but it may be needed to ease the terrible pain.

Victor Mature Signs New 3-Year Contract

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Victor Mature has just signed a new three-year contract with 20th Century-Fox which will hand him $5,000 a week and whopping yearly bonuses.

That is news in these times, when studios are dropping high-salaried stars wherever possible.

"They couldn't afford to let me go," he said. "It's purely a matter of economics."

In the postwar years, Vic has given up his old hobby of making publicity and has settled down to merely making money. And that, he explained, is why his studio lifted his option at a handsome salary increase.

"The loan-outs are what did it," he said. "Every time my option comes up, the money boys take a look at my salary and say, 'this boy has got to go.' But then they start going over the books and they see what kind of money I have brought in on loan-outs. Then they realize they can't get rid of me."

The situation is different with other, less marketable stars. When their salaries start pushing up to $3,000 and $3,500 a week the stars are either dropped outright or signed to one or two pictures annually.

The bosses figure it isn't worth keeping most high-priced stars on a year-round salary. They can save money by letting the players go and hiring them back at flat fees.

But Mature has been working at other studios as much as he has at his home lot.

Why is he so popular with other studios? He is a big, serviceable actor who can perform in any kind of film — westerns, musicals, dramas, comedies or adventure epics.

Mature is well on his way to becoming a retail tycoon. He has sponsored the openings of a TV store, a furniture store and two appliance stores.

Won't Allow Wolves Make Trip To Japan

SUDBURY (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has refused to sanction an exhibition trip to Japan by the junior Falconbridge Wolves in January.

Max Silverman, president and coach of the senior Sudbury Wolves said Wednesday he was advised of the decision by George Dudley, secretary-manager of the association.

Silverman said Dudley didn't give any reasons for the CAHA's refusal to allow the trip, but he thought it was because the Wolves haven't played in league competiton this year.

The juniors have played only three exhibition games.

Rare Birds

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP)—A "little gull," common in Europe but rare in Canada, was seen here recently. The bird, marked by dark underwings, was in a group of about 5,000 Bonaparte and herring gulls.

Kitchen Dangers Listed To WI

BETHANY (ENS) — There were 25 in attendance at the December meeting of the Bethany Women's Institute held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Cummiskey.

Mrs. H. Rayson, convener of "Home Economics and Health" gave two very informative articles on "Danger In Your Kitchen" stressing prevention of accidents by homemakers, such as keeping harmful medicines out of children's reach; avoiding dark stairways and mats on slippery floors; the proper handling of electrical appliances; how fires can be avoided, etc. "Care Of The Teeth" gave information on proper diet, the effectiveness of taking care of children's first teeth; new types of dentifrices which help to allay tooth decay and new methods used by dentists which make the old time dreaded filling an almost painless procedure.

Concluding on a Christmas note, Mrs. Rayson told the story of a small boy's idea of Christmas giving and sharing. "In the hearts of children the real spirit of Christmas is expressed. It is adults who sometimes forget the true meaning of Christmas and who have allowed gift giving to become so commercialized that it is a financial burden."

Mrs. Harold Sanderson read the minutes of the previous meeting and the correpsondence which included an appeal from the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children and greetings from Mrs. W. Armstrong, the district's president.

The treasurer was requested to send a donation of $5. to the Sick Children's Hospital. At the January meeting each member is requested to bring a gift suitable for a convalescent child and these will also be sent to the hospital. Treasurer Mrs. Charles Reynolds reported all accounts paid and a bank balance of $167. A statement was read from Mr. Orloe Wright, chairman of the Fire Fighting Trust Fund Committee, listing donations received to date at $770. and the sum of $669. spent on the new portable pumper, hose, nozzles and couplings etc. Further donations will gladly be received in order to purchase additional hose and keep equipment in repair.

Mrs. W. R. Price reported for the Hall Renovating Committee, stating some plastering had been done and showing the plans designed for the new kitchen. Two entertainments to raise funds for this work were planned for early in the New Year.

Mrs. T. Jennings led in the singing of Christmas carols. Mrs. Walter Rowland won the prize for a "Merry Christmas" contest.

During the social hour Christmas gifts were exchanged among the members. Lunch was served by the Hostess assisted by Mrs. H. Rayson, Mrs. C. Page, Mrs. Preston Neals and Mrs. Charles Reynolds.

Ms. H. L. Challice expressed the thanks of the members to Mrs. Cummiskey for the use of her home and to Mrs. Rayson and her group for the interesting program.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. T. S. Gault, in charge of Mrs. T. Jennings and the program will feature agriculture and Canadian industries.

Send Student Nurses To Outposts

TORONTO (CP)—Hospital patients in areas sometimes almost 1,000 miles from Toronto are being cared for by nurses of Western Hospital here.

This is not remote control healing. It's a plan by which nurses spend a month serving in northern Red Cross Hospitals during their "internship" after a two-year training course.

Purpose of the project is twofold. It gives the nurses a chance to observe care of the sick in small hospitals. And Western Hospital gets an opportunity to compare the quality of a two-year course with the regular three-year course which until recently was the standard for nurses' training.

This is done through reports from the Red Cross Hospitals on the nurses' efficiency and general approach to the job while away from home. Contrary to what might be expected, all the nurses who took the trip this year were much in favor of the idea.

"I'd like very much to go back there," said Harriet Trawin of Port Hope, who spent her month at Nipigon, 920 miles from her training school. "People are very friendly, they have to be."

"A nurse in a small hospital has more responsibility," said Lois Asoph of Alliston, who was at the Englehart Hospital. "The doctor can't be there all the time, and you have to carry on more on your own."

CENTRAL SCHOOL

The Rev. B. S. Morwood gave an inspiring Christmas message at the meeting of Central Home and School Association, Monday evening. After reading the beautiful passage of scripture from Luke 2, so familiar to all, Mr. Morwood spoke of the significance of the way in which God had chosen to reveal Himself to His people. He pointed out that the birth of Christ gave great importance to human nature; that it knit together the divine and the human into that element, the family; and that it uplifted womanhood, which to the time of Christ's birth was considered of very little consequence. Mr. Morwood urged being ever mindful and respectful of these things in daily living, fulfilling God's intention as revealed by the coming of Christ as a babe.

Previous to Mr. Morwood's talk, president, Mrs. L. Horning had presided for the usual business session. Then Miss Palmer introduced the school choir which she has developed this year from the senior grades. The Christmas carols they sang were much enjoyed as were "The Sleigh Ride Song" and the chorus of a new song "God Bless Our Queen."

Mrs. Horning thanked those taking part in the program and extended Christmas wishes to all present.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. R. Kelcey's committee, assisted by the girls of the choir.

Guest Mrs. C. W. McGee read many selections of her own poetry. She was introduced by Mrs. Robert Hutton and she and the others contributing to the program were thanked by Mrs. Ivan Drain.

Report of the tea at the WA bazaar was given by Mrs. R. Hutton, Mrs. H. Allison, Mrs. F. A. Hicks and Mrs. Black. A committee was then appointed to further investigate the need of a refrigerator in the church kitchen and includes Mrs. Hutton, Mrs. Gatfield, Mrs. John Thornton, Miss Georgie Hardill and Mrs. Black.

A donation of $100 is being given to the WMS from the 1952 proceeds.

The original meeting night, the third monday in each month, is now available and was decided upon. A nominating committee report was presented.

After the close, members went to a beauty counsellor Christmas party at the home of Mrs. S. Evans.

Election of oficers for the WA was held and an impressive installation ceremony conducted by the Rev. D. P. Morris. Mrs. Karl Blewett is the newly elected president, succeeding Mrs. Clifford Hartman.

Mrs. W. G. Ray was in charge of devotions and opened with the singing of "Silent Night" and read a short Christmas message. Mr. Morris led in the opening prayer. Scripture from 2nd chapter of Luke was read by Mrs. W. Nichols. A Christmas prayer was read by Mrs. W. Telford and Miss Olive Sidey gave an inspiring reading "The God who does not wait," followed by "The Christmas Pilgrimage" by Mrs. Earl Nichols.

Two beautiful solos were sung by Mrs. L. Hale, "Infant Holy" and "Good Christian Men Rejoice." She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. C. Telford. A pretty duet "Forget-me-not" was played by Mrs. A. K. Nichols and Mrs. W. Nichols. "The Real Meaning of Christmas" was read by Mrs. R. Arnott. With the reading of "Appreciation of Other Races" Mrs. Ray closed devotions.

Mrs. Hartman welcomed the gathering and extended sincere thanks to everyone who had helped make the past year a success. Mrs. J. Johnston, president of the WMS, announced another quilt is ready for sale. Miss Sidey announced a "white gift" Sunday in the Sunday School this week.

January meeting of the WA is to be in the church basement and the WMS meeting at the home of Mrs. C. Telford on the second Tuesday.

Mrs. L. M. Richardson reported for the WA nominating committee and the list of WA officers for '53 is as follows:

President, Mrs. K. Blewett; vice president, Mrs. W. G. Ray; secretary Mrs. C. Hartman; treasurer, Mrs. W. Nichols; pianist, Mrs. C. Telford; flowers and cards, Mrs. E. Blewett; visiting, Mrs. W. Telford, Mrs. P. Pettersone and Mrs. C. Telford; church decorating, Mrs. R. McConkey and Mrs. R. Jopling; parsonage committee, Mrs. J. Smith and Mrs. C. Hartman; program, Mrs. G. Ray, Mrs. J. Johnston and Mrs. J. Hardill; press, Mrs. E. Blewett.

Lovely refreshments were served by Mrs. F. Crookshank and Mrs. Pettersone and committee.

Snake Jewellery Exact Copies Museum Pieces

TORONTO (CP)—Snake jewelry like that worn by women of ancient Rome will go on sale here soon.

The pieces are being made by Sylvia Hahn, artist at the Royal Ontario Museum. All are exact copies of jewelry now in the museum and one is a silver snake bracelet. The pieces are made by hand by the same processes used in making the originals.

Ear-rings were fashionable with Roman women, and two styles of these are being made. Copies of a pin in the shape of a horse which imitates a 10th century piece from Byzantium will also be included.

Miss Hahn hopes to make some Egyptian jewelry, which can be checked for authenticity by paintings of mummies in the museum. Most of the jewelry came originally from tombs.

Oldest of the Cambridge University colleges is Peterhouse, founded in 1284.

DOROTHY DIX

Does It Belong To The Young Exclusively

DEAR MISS DIX: Will you please define "love"? My husband insists that love and sex are one and the same thing, and, if two people love each other after they pass 50, they should be put in a mental hospital. I maintain that after middle-age there should be greater love between two people, since they have shared so much together by that time. For the past eight years, my husband has treated me more like a housekeeper than a wife. He is a good provider, but never talks to me or sits with me in the evening. In fact, I am never noticed unless we have folks in to visit.

He is very attentive to other women, so I know he has not developed an allergy toward the opposite sex.

Does this situation usually develop in the lives of older married people? B.L.T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your husband is a sadly deluded man, closing his heart, mind and soul to their greatest happiness because he puts love on one level only—the physical. Were his theory correct, all wives would be repudiated when they passed the peak of physical attractiveness; in fact, some wives, who never were beautiful or glamorous, would be left right after the honeymoon.

Surely there are many happy marriages around you to attest the truth that love can, and does, continue all through life, regardless of either partner's looks.

Love is a complex thing, compounded of three elements, physical, mental and spiritual. Physical attraction, which is usually the first step, may pass in time to be supplanted, in a happy marriage, by the congeniality that springs from mutual respect and admiration; from the sharing of troubles and joys. Latter-day marital happiness has its beginnings all the way back to courtship, which is why it is so important, as I emphasize so often, that two people contemplating marriage should have a harmonious background. You might say that love begins and ends with friendship, which is only insured by mutual tastes and common respect.

If your marriage didn't have this foundation, you can scarcely expect to rear, at this late date, a temple of peace. Quite frequently older folk find their greatest happiness in the later years of marriage, when the financial worries are not so great, children are launched in their own homes and Mother and Dad can settle down to enjoying the things they have always wanted. Without love, they would face a horribly bleak life together, wouldn't they?

No, my dear, your husband's specious argument has no basis in fact whatever. He's using sophisticated phrasing to cover up his own incapacity for affection and his own shortcomings as a husband. He's leading a very empty life, a truth he'll have to face one of these days to his sorrow.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a widower 32 years old, with no children. Several months ago I met a widow whom I love with all my heart. She says she loves me, too, but she has four children, and I wonder if it would be possible for us to be happy under these conditions. CARL J.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Only you can supply the answer to this problem. It isn't easy to take on the responsibility of a ready-made family, but many men do. It depends entirely on your own character. Have you the patience to cope with four lively youngsters; are you entirely willing to face the fact that your wife must put the children first in all things — at least until they are grown? If you can answer "yes" to these propositions, go ahead. In the meantime, why not seek the counsel of your clergyman?

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My problem concerns a family visiting in our home so often that they have become a nuisance. They are two brothers, one married, who come here every night and stay until bedtime. Sometimes they bring their families. I can't ask other friends in because I know these people will always be on hand. I have never been nervous or cross in my life, but now my nerves are all shot. PAT.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Where do people get the unmitigated gall to trespass on hospitality to such an extent? Surely, some time in the past you must have given these men some encouragement, or some reason to assume that they were perpetually welcome at your table? Unless there is some special reason why they come to you, you most surely should put a stop to such imposition. The trouble is that the only cure is so drastic, most reluctant hosts prefer the nuisance to the remedy. Unwelcome guests are not usually amenable to hints. In fact, sometimes even blunt statements don't do the trick. I would suggest that you, using your health as an excuse if necessary, announce emphatically that you are unable to have as much company as heretofore, and you must ask them to limit their visits. It isn't easy to take this course, but it's a lot better than being used as a free hotel for the rest of your days. Courage, Pat!

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Preparing For Gala Christmas Dinner

Serious—and even the not-so-serious-devotees of this column are expected to clip today's ideas, for I will mention them in the Christmas dinner menu which will appear here on the same day next week.

These are a collection of recipes and instructions that you have asked for and that I want to give you. They are traditional Christmas fare that turns up only once a year, so you may not be able to find them in your cookbooks.

Clip this if you need or want a guide when you come to those important last-minute details.

STUFFING FOR THE TURKEY (Chestnut and variations)

(I will give you turkey roasting instructions next week.)

This is the first time I have given you chestnut stuffing. However if you are timid about using French chestnuts I have given you an alternative for them. Don't be timid though—remember what variety is the spice of! Use chopped celery or mushrooms instead of chestnuts if desired

Prepare 12 cups day-old breadcrumbs—the quickest method of crumbling the bread is to shred it on your medium-size grater—this permits you to use the crusts—but please don't snag your finger nails. Melt but do not brown ¾ cup butter or margaine and add to it ¾ cup ground or very finely chopped onion, cooking gently until they are just yellow. Stir a cup of the breadcrumbs into them and turn them into a large bowl with all of the breadcrumbs. Add ½ cup finely chopped celery, 2 or 2½ cups chopped boiled French chestnuts (see below), 2 tablespoons (or less) salt, 1 teaspoon crumbled dried herbs (such as sage or thyme or basil) (or use up to 1 tablespoon if you wish) and 1 teaspoon pepper. Mix well. It is now ready for stuffing the turkey.

TO PREPARE CHESTNUTS: Cover 1 or 2 lbs. French chestnuts with boiling water and boil for 25 minutes. Drain and remove shells and inner skins. Cover again with boiling water and cook until tender—about 15 minutes. They should be tender enough to force through pureer or ricer.

CRANBERRY JELLY

I gave you recipe for Cranberry Sause last year. I like individual jellies for their decorative appearance. Maybe you will too. Wash and pick over 1 lb. cranberries, cover with 2 cups boiling water, boil for 5 minutes or until skins burst. Put through strainer. Add 2 cups sugar. Place over heat and boil 5 minutes—very ripe berries require a few minutes longer. Pour into moistened small moulds and chill.

SPICED CRANBERRY JELLY may be made by adding 2 inches stick cinnamon, 2 whole cloves and ¼ teaspoon salt to berries when they are first boiled.

FOAMY SAUCE (For Plum or any Steamed Pudding)

This is closely related to Hard Sause. Cream 3 tablespoons butter until it is light and airy, and very slowly beat into it 1 cup icing sugar. Add 2 unbeaten egg yolks and beat for 5 minutes. Just before serving fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites and 1 teaspoon vanilla (or if desired 2 tablespoons cooking sherry or 1 tablespoon cooking brandy.)

ALMOND PASTE (for Christmas or Wedding Fruit Cake)

Blanch 1 lb. almonds. Dry them by spreading on towel and allowing to stand uncovered at room temperature for 24 hours. Put through finest knife (nut knife) of grinder twice. Mix into the finely ground almonds 2 lbs. icing sugar, 2 beaten eggs, 1 teaspoon each orange flower essence and almond essence. Knead this mixture well with the hands for at least 5 minutes. Wrap well and store in covered jar in refrigerator for 1 week. Three days before you are ready to cut the cake brush the top of cake lightly with white of egg. Roll paste out to fit cake exactly to ¼ to ½ inch thickness. Press over cake. Allow to harden before spreading over Plain White Icing: Beat 2 unbeaten egg whites with 1 cup icing sugar until well mixed but not stiff, then add 1 or 2 tablespoons lemon juice and sufficient additional icing sugar to make of spreading consistency—but not runny. Spread evenly over almond paste to ⅛ inch thickness. This keeps well without hardening.

Sorry—but it is too late now for you to expect answers to your questions before Christmas.

Taxi Driver Helps Police

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Alertness of a taxi driver spelled arrest for two youths today after police station wires hummed through early hours with reports of five breakins. The two were charged with one of them.

Harold Smithers, driving a cab past the corner of York and Rectory streets, glimpsed two shadowy figures and paused. When they acted suspiciously he radioed his dispatcher who passed the word to police.

Within a minute William G. Gruber, St. Thomas and Robert A. Major, Rectory street, were arrested.

In city court the two were remanded without plea until Monday for arraignment on charges of breaking, entry and theft.

Loss in all five burglaries, while undetermined by police, may be substantial.

Sailors Need Discipline Magistrate States

HALIFAX (CP) — Magistrate R. E. Inglis said Wednesday naval discipline in Halifax should be tightened, after placing a seaman on two years' suspended sentence for damaging a restaurant.

"We've had more trouble in the last six months with sailors than we had in the six years after the war," he said. "I don't think the fault lies with the boys themselves. There's definitely not enough discipline somewhere along the line."

Plowing Match Next October Filling Hotels

Cobourg hotels are booked almost completely for two weeks around the dates of the International Plowing Match next October, Len Henderson of Cavan township told the Peterborough Plowmen Wednesday night.

"The British Hotel has been taken for the headquarters staff" he said. "Massey-Harris will move in on all the accommodation of another one. Ford's have taken a third hotel, and so it goes. We think the crowd looking for rooms will overflow to Port Hope and up to Peterborough. It is still a long way off, but plans are already taking shape."

Howard Quinn, a director of the Ontario Plowmen's Association, expects a 100,000 crowd for the Cobourg match.

"The situation near the County Home is ideal, practically in the town. The fields for plowing are to the west. The site is on the main No. 2 Highway. We expect entries from other countries to an extent that will be truly international. Anyway, with 80,000 at Carp this fall, I can't see why we shouldn't increase it a whole lot next October."

Henry Batten was re-elected president of the Peterborough county association.

Find MacArthur Cautious In Statements

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just in case anyone has the impression Gen. MacArthur said he has a plan for ending the Korean war, the fact is, he didn't. At least he didn't in so many words.

What he said was: "I am confident there is a clear and definite solution to the Korean conflict. . . A present solution involves basic decisions which I recognize as improper for public disclosure or discussion."

He didn't even say there that he himself has a solution. He said "there is" a solution. That he expressed himself as he did instead of saying he has a solution or plan, may be only a matter of literary composition.

MAY BE SIGNIFICANT

But MacArthur is credited with real consciousness of the language and the fact that he used the phrases he did, and in the way he did, may have some significance for the future.

Since President-elect Eisenhower listened to Senator Robert Taft's recommendations for his cabinet and then rejected them, it would seem he's willing to listen but determined to make up his own mind, no matter who likes it.

Eisenhower and MacArthur have now agreed to meet. The language MacArthur used should save him from any feeling of loss of face if Eisenhower listens to him, as he did to Taft, and then goes his own way, anyway.

Whatever it is that MacArthur has in mind, if Eisenhower accepted it and it ended the war, MacArthur could feel he had ended his military career on a plane of vindication after his embarrassment in 1951.

Mislaid Typhoon Weatherman Blasted

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — An agency of the Chinese Nationalist government today censured the weatherman, charging that he lost a typhoon.

It said Cheng Tze-chung failed properly to chart the course of a disastrous typhoon, so that it struck Formosa Nov. 14 without warning. The storm left 161 persons dead or missing, 392 injured, 9,720 houses destroyed and 14,020 damaged.

Youth Admits Stole Car From Parking Lot

Gerald James Murphy, 16, of 922 Hurley Ave., pleaded guilty in magistrate's court today to the theft of a car from the CGE parking lot Wednesday night. He was remanded until Monday for sentence at the request of Crown Attorney John Bradshaw.

Murphy was picked up Wednesday night in Norwood by OPP constables George Grey and Kenneth Barber after the car was reported stolen.

Killed 4 Canadian POWS Escaped Nazi Still Free

COLOGNE, Germany (Reuters) An interview with an escaped German criminal, sentenced by the allies for the murder of four Canadian prisoners of war, appears today in the West Deutsche Neue Presse.

The interview, accompanied by a photograph, was obtained by a reporter who met the criminal in a secret hideout through a series of contacts.

The man, Hans Kuehn, 36, was serving a 20-year prison sentence for the 1944 murder of the Canadians until he escaped 14 weeks ago. The British Army has been searching for him ever since.

He was recaptured by German police but escaped again while awaiting a British military escort to pick him up. West German police have since refused to co-operate in the search for him, since he is classed as a war criminal.

Kuehn said in an interview that he had had nothing to do with the murder, being unarmed and 60 yards away at the time. Soon after the incident he was transferred to the Russian front and was listed as missing. The real murderers blamed him for the crime, thinking him dead, he claimed.

The shooting of the four RCAF prisoners occurred at Solingen Nov. 6, 1944, just after an Allied air raid.

Conveners are: veterans' affairs, Mrs. E. Pruner; ways and means, Mrs. T. Hendry; flowers and cards, Mrs. F. H. Coones and Mrs. Leether; social, Mrs. T. G. Nice; assistant, Mrs. Forsythe; telephone, Mrs. W. J. Davies, Mrs. S. Gibbs, Mrs. L. Freuer and Mrs. F. H. Patterson; press, Mrs. F. M. Craig; assistant, Mrs. Harvey; Local Council of Women representative, Mrs. A. Gynane; standard bearer, Mrs. Nice; pianist, Mrs. J. Ellis; visiting committee, Mrs. W. G. Morrow, Mrs. E. Brady, Mrs. Hendry, Mrs. J. H. Young, Mrs. J. H. Quirt, Mrs. R. Dutton and Mrs. Fitzgerald.

Mrs. Williams presided as the reports of officers and conveners were given. Mrs. F. Burnham reported she had placed a bouquet of 'mums in the hospital chapel and also that flowers were sent to the chapel by Mrs. Emery, of Hastings, and Mrs. E. Pruner. Convener of veterans' affairs Mrs. Pruner has, with the help of a committee, packed eight boxes for men overseas at Christmas.

A beautifully dressed doll, the gift of Mrs. Nice, was drawn for and the winner is Mrs. Eric Shiner, mother of a young daughter.

The president closed business with congratulations to the ladies on splendid support in '52 and expressed the hope a good 1953 is awaiting the Chapter.

Refreshments were served by social convener Mrs. J. Young and Mrs. Williams, and afterward Mrs. Freuer acted as Santa in a happy exchange of gifts.

5-Year Reform Plan

CAIRO (AP) — The Egyptian government said last night it has approved a five-year reform plan to increase national production. A high council, comprising the ministers of finance, commerce and industry, supply, agriculture and public works, will chart Egypt's economic, cultural, agricultural and hygienic policy during the next five years.

Convicts Want Raise

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — A 66-per-cent increase for 200 convicts was asked today. It would raise the present scale from 15 cents to 25 cents daily. Warden Parker L. Hancock, who sought the increase, told Governor-elect Hugh Gregg the rate has not been changed in 20 years and that inflation is imposing hardship on prisoners desiring minor luxuries.

Two Discovered Dead In Stalled Auto

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—A man and woman were found dead today in a stalled automobile, on a road about five miles southwest of St. Catharines.

The two, identified as Judson Findlay, 66, St. Catharines and Mrs. Pearl Beckett, 50, Fenwick, apparently had been asphyxiated. A third occupant of the car, Harry Beckett, was brought to hospital here for treatment.

Police said the car is owned by Gene Hubert of Niagara Falls, Ont. They said the car's exhaust pipe became blocked off by mud after the vehicle backed into the bank of a ditch while being turned around.

Planes Begin Search For Missing Transport

RENO (AP) — Planes began a search at dawn today for an air force C-47 transport with a crew of five and one passenger, missing in the Nevada-Utah border region.

Approve Principle

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The International Telecommunications Union, which represents 82 countries and colonies, Wednesday overwhelmingly approved a resolution endorsing the principle of "unrestricted" flow of news through the world. The vote was 49 to 11, with nine abstentions. The resolution is merely a recommendation. It does not change agreements which permit any country to censor dispatches believed ot threaten its security.

Tire Prices To Be Reduced

TORONTO (CP) — Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Canada Ltd., today announced price reductions in tires and tubes amounting to approximately $1.50 on the most popular sizes of first-line tires.

Officials of Dunlop Tire and Rubber Goods Company Ltd., said consideration is being given to downward adjustment of price.

H. G. Harper, vice-president in charge of sales at Goodyear said the price adjustment is a result of lower costs in raw materials, particularly rubber, textiles and some compounds used in the building of tires. The reduction does not extend to second-line tires.

The price reduction in tires for farm tractors and implements will average between $3 and $4 a tire.

Says Sergeant Urged Co-operate With Japs

NEW YORK (AP) — A British officer says John David Provoo, former army sergeant on trial for treason, urged fellow prisoners to co-operate with their Japanese captors on broadcasting enemy propaganda.

The officer, Charles R. F. Williams, now stationed in Uganda, British East Africa, testified Wednesday that Provoo led the move to have prisoners broadcast for the Japanese.

As one of the objectors, Williams said, he was forced to stand facing a wall for 11 hours, given five days' solitary confinement and transferred to a labor camp.

Provoo is accused of going over to the Japanese side after the fall of Corregidor in 1942 and contributing toward punishment of fellow prisoners. If convicted he could be sentenced to death. Provoo contends that anything he did was under duress.

Jailed Two Years For Attempted Bank Robbery

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Arthur McKay, 24, one of three men charged in connection with the Nov. 12 attempt to rob a bank here, was sentenced to two years and fined $200 for illegal possession of narcotics.

Crown Attorney Bruce J. S. Macdonald said Wednesday a fourth man, Norman Quinlan, 41, also will be charged with attempted robbery. He now is charged with conspiracy.

The attempted robbery was frustrated when two employees of Brinks Inc. entered the bank after two men, wearing rubber masks, had handcuffed 22 bank employees and customers.

Others charged with attempted robbery are Robert Woods, 27, and William Buckley, 24, both of Toronto.

Queen Elizabeth Expresses Ideal Developed By 1,000 Years Of Struggle

(Queens and princesses are often connected in the public mind with castles, courtiers, and the pageantry of state occasions. There is more to their job than that. This story, one of a series, explains the rights and duties of the Queen in our constitutional monarchy.)

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Elizabeth II, Britain's sixth ruling Queen and 40th sovereign since the Norman conquest, bears a crushing and inevitable burden.

Crowds who cheer her public appearances seldom think of the tremendous duties and responsibilities which history and tradition confer.

The Queen is more than a figurehead, despite the saying that in modern times the sovereign reigns but does not rule. She is the embodiment of an ideal developed by 1,000 years of struggle among the monarchy and nobles, Parliament, church and people.

ANCIENT INSTITUTION

The monarchy is the United Kingdom's most ancient institution, its continuity broken only in Oliver Cromwell's time. There have been interruptions in the line of succession, but the hereditary principle is not abandoned. Elizabeth, for instance, is a descendant of a Saxon King, Egbert, who united all England in 829.

The Queen carries on a line unbroken for 250 years from George I. She has blood of Tudors and Yorks; Kings of France and Spain; dukes of Normandy, Anjou and Saxony; and Charlemagne, King of the Franks. She is the first Queen to succeed her father in direct natural succession to the throne.

As the personification of the state, she is the supreme authority in law; head of the judiciary in England, Wales and Scotland; titular head of the army, navy and air force; head of the established Church of England; and nominally sole representative of the nation in international affairs.

PARAMOUNT AUTHORITY

She may send ambassadors and ministers abroad and receive those from foreign countries. She alone can enter into treaties, declare war, make peace. As paramount authority in the kingdom, she summons, prorogues and dissolves Parliament. Her assent is required before any bill becomes law

In royal terms, she is the "fountain of honor, the fountain of justice, the fountain of mercy," attributes which are reflected in various phases of the Coronation next June.

She has many incidental rights. All treasure trove is her exclusive property, as are whales and sturgeon caught in territorial waters and white swans in open rivers. She decides when salutes are to be fired, what the royal arms should be, and has sole right of printing the Bible, book of common prayer and state documents.

The royal will is expressed in many ways—by orders-in-council; by order, commission of warrant under the sign manual; and by proclamation, writs, patents, letters or other documents under the Great Seal, affixed by the Lord Chancellor in obedience to a royal warrant countersigned by a minister.

WELL-INFORMED RULER

Although sovereignty is exercised by the Queen in Parliament, rather than by the Queen in person, ministerial responsibility does not detract from the sovereign's participation in the smooth functioning of government. The Queen must be informed on every aspect of national life. On more than one occasion, her grasp of affairs is said to have impressed persons outside the court circle.

Elizabeth, finally, is leader of society by order of general precedence dating from the 14th century.

There is one other detail—she can never retire.

A court official said:

"The postman, the civil servant, in fact any ordinary person, knows that on reaching 60 or 65 years of age he is free to retire and spend the rest of his life growing roses. But the sovereign, short of abdication, must remain a sovereign to the end."

Decide Picketing Will Cease At Quebec Plant

LOUISEVILLE, Que. (CP)—Any fears that violence would flare up again in Louiseville's nine-month textile strike appeared ended today with announcement that picketing would cease. The announcement came in the early morning from Rene Gosselin, member of the local executive of the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, who said the action was in accordance with the provisions of the Riot Act, read to strikers on Thursday.

Mr. Gosselin said no pickets would be placed at any entrance of the plant of Associated Textiles of Canada, where the first of two clashes of strikers with provincial police occurred.

Mr. Gosselin also confirmed reports that a special meeting of the CCCL executive and the local textile syndicate will be held in Montreal Saturday.

In attendance will be Gerard Picard of Montreal, CCCL president, and Jean Marchand of Quebec, general secretary. Marchand arrived in Louiseville early today.

Provisions of the Riot Act and a 9 p. m. curfew were still in effect and provincial police continued to patrol the streets which became practically deserted Thursday night.

There was no statement from Associated Textiles. The first clash, outside the plant gates Thursday, provoked a burst of tear gas from provincial police and reading of the Riot Act.

The second clash followed later at the union's hall, where more than a dozen strikers or sympathizers were injured. Five were taken to hospital, one suffering from a bullet wound in the jaw and lower neck. The others suffered largely from blows about the head and body from police sticks.

Between 20 and 30 men were arrested and taken to Montreal to face charges of violating the Riot Act by assembling at the union hall.

Thursday night's 9 p. m. curfew passed quietly. Even before that scarcely any pedestrians could be seen on the streets. Louiseville, 67 miles northeast of Montreal, has a population of 3,500.

The strike violence brought statements from Premier Maurice Duplessis and Msgr. Donat Baril, Louiseville parish priest.

In the legislature Thursday, Mr. Duplessis hinted at "bolshevism" and declared the government will see that order is maintained.

Msgr. Baril, without direct reference to the violence, said "a grave injustice" is being committed in Louiseville and he could see no solution except for the government "to take the situation in hand."

He said if now law exists, there should be one to permit intervention in long and unsuccessful negotiations in a labor dispute.

Get New Scale For Basic Freigth Rates

OTTAWA (CP) — The board of transport commissioners today took the first big stride towards national freight rate equalization by ordering a level scale of basic rates for all parts of Canada except the Maritimes.

The new scale of "class" rates —the ceiling charges directly involving about $200,000,000 of the country's $1,000,000 - a - year freight business—was ordered effective tentatively Jan. 1, 1954.

It largely omitted the Maritimes from a general lift in eastern rates, on the basis of legislative protection given the seaboard a year ago by Parliament.

For the West, the board indicated a drop in the general rate level but forecast a later boost in the charges on grain moving in that area for domestic consumption.

The changes in the class rates, upsetting the existing levels of tolls between the Quebec-New Brunswick border and the Pacific coast, were expected to have these effects:

1. Rates between points from the head of the lakes to the west coast will go down generally.
2. Rates within Ontario and Quebec will go up.
3. Between the East and points beyond the Manitoba-Saskatchewan border, there will be reductions.
4. In Manitoba, midway between East and West, local rates and east-west rates should stay fairly stable.

There was no indication in the 15,000-word judgment as to how far up or down rates might vary regionally. The aim was to preserve current revenues of the railways by pushing up the central Canadian rates to balance cuts in the West, which has had a higher scale of rates.

French Troops Circle Mosque

CASABLANCA (AP) — French troops pointed machine-guns at the gate of the Moslem mosque today as hundreds of Moroccans assembled for prayers. Expected demonstrations did not take place.

No disturbances were reported elsewhere in this North African city, which has seen bloody rioting and demonstrations almost daily since Sunday. Seven or eight Europeans and several score natives have been slain in riots growing out of nationalist demands for independence.

The French feared further disturbances today as the Friday day of prayer for Moslems gave rioters a chance to assemble in large groups.

French Foreign Legionnaires surrounded the huge square in front of the Moslem mosque. They set up machine-guns aimed directly at the mosque entrance. Other Legionnaires and Moroccan troops patrolled Casablanca's arab quarter with fixed bayonets.

One Arab was killed and two others severely wounded Thursday night in Rabat, the protectorate's capital 55 miles northeast of this industrial and commercial centre.

Scores Of Volunteers Help Drain Quarry

NAPERVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Scores of volunteers manned a battery of huge portable pumps today in an around-the-clock effort to drain a quarry that may hold the bodies of two missing children.

Thousands of dollars worth of labor and equipment has been donated in an effort to learn the fate of Jean Peterson, 6, and Edward Rosenstiel, 3, who disappeared Sunday.

The search for the youngsters has centred at the quarry since Monday, when bloodhounds followed a scent from the neighborhood where they last were seen at play to the quarry, a half block away.

The quarry, 90 feet deep in spots, holds an estimated 81,000,000 gallons of water. Searchers believe that the quarry could be emptied of water by Sunday.

Saunders Testifies

Ontario Ready To Start Power Project Immediately

WASHINGTON (AP) — The province of Ontario is ready to start work on the St. Lawrence river power project as soon as an American partner is designated, a Canadian official says.

Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario hydro-electric power commission, testified Thursday at the federal power commission hearing on the New York state power authority's bid for a licence to join Ontario in the venture.

The hearing resumes today.

Saunders told Examiner Glen R. Law that his commission is ready to start work as soon as the American partner is picked.

"We're not only ready and willing to get started," Saunders said, "but we are extremely anxious to do so. If New York should get a licence today we'd be ready to start tomorrow."

DISCUSSES ASSETS

Saunders said his commission had assets of $1,036,029,000 and produced 86.2 per cent of all power produced in Ontario.

He said, however, that a power shortage is in prospect: "Along about 1957 we'll be in trouble if the St. Lawrence project is not built."

Saunders estimated that actual power production would follow start of construction by four or five years. It is estimated that eight years would be required to complete the hydro-electric development on the International Rapids section of the river.

Saunders said that if the New York application is not granted, Ontario hydro would have no alternative but to curtail its use of power and would also need to build more expensive steam-generated plants to meet "increasing demands."

He said it costs 7.5 mills to produce one kilowatt hour of steam generated energy compared to three mills for hydro energy.

"Failure to construct the project," Saunders said, "would also adversely affect many highly essential manufacturing plants in the area served by the grid of the Ontario hydro commission."

Sydney D. Pierce, Canadian minister in Washington, joined Saunders in the plea for quick action.

Pierce said that nearly half of Canada's current defence production came from the region served by Ontario hydro.

He said United States armed forces had placed "many" defence orders in the area, for aircraft, ammunition, explosives, turbine blades and aircraft parts.

M. Swanston To Represent Liberal Party

Former Mayor Chosen To Run In Federal Election

Former mayor Max Swanston was nominated to represent the Liberal party in the 1953 federal elections at a Liberal meeting on Thursday night at the PCVS auditorium.

Onetime candidate Dit Clapper also receive a nomination, and his plea of pressure of business paved the way for Mr. Swanston's acceptance.

The next federal election will see Mr. Swanston's maiden bid for a post beyond the municipal level. His name has been mentioned in Liberal circles as a possible candidate before now, and it was reported he was strongly considered as a candidate at the last provincial election.

Mayor of Peterborough for three years—1949, 1950 and 1951—Mr. Swanston was nominated by T. Percy Davidson, of Indian River, and the seconder was T. J. Carley. Mr. Clapper's nominators were Ken Kingston and Ald. James Gillespie.

TIME TO CAMPAIGN

Several local party members referred to the party's habit in the city of naming a candidate only a few weeks before the election. They felt this had been a mistake and that the candidate would have plenty of time to campaign between now and the election, which will probably be called shortly after the coronation next June.

Arthur Lewis, chairman of the meeting and head of the local association, assured his audience that "we can elect a Liberal candidate in Peterborough. We came close in 1949 and we will win next year."

Mr. Swanston said he did not decide until Thursday that he would accept if nominated. He, too, predicted a Liberal victory in Peterborough if "the people of the county and the city are behind me."

Mr. Clapper also felt that victory was sure, with the proper support. "We just can't miss next year." He pleaded too great a pressure of business to accept the nomination.

Unrequited Love Prompts Theft

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Unrequited love prompted a former German Army officer to rob a London bank of $7,400, he told police in a statement admitted in city court.

Alfred Bahr, 28, Windsor, pleaded guilty Thursday to robbing with threat of violence the Royal Bank branch on Richmond street. He was remanded a week for sentence.

Bahr, who came to Canada less than a year ago, asked to be sent to Korea but the court said it lacked the power.

Bahr said he had a tiff with his girl in Windsor and figured he could win her affection back by buying her mother an expensive Christmas gift, he told police.

The man got the money from the bank by presenting a note to a cashier, warning that guns were pointing at her. He was caught shortly after leaving the bank.

NATO Leaders Agree On Use Of A-Weapons

PARIS (AP)—The military leaders of the Atlantic Alliance say they have agreed upon the use of atomic weapons in a revised strategic plan for the defence of Europe. The plan also included:

The possible use of West German and Yugoslav armed forces.

Gen. Charles Foulkes of Canada, chairman of a military committee of the 14-power North Atlantic Treaty Organization made these points at a press conference Thursday night.

In disclosing that atomic weapons now figure in the Allies' new strategic plans, Foulkes pointed out that the United States is required by law to withhold from other nations its information on atomic developments.

But this "does not interfere with making military plans," he said.

FIRE AND WATER caused thousands of dollars damage when the elevator shaft of the Dewart Milling Co. caught fire at 8:30 a.m. today. Firemen choked it off before it spread to the rest of the building. Above shows the aerial ladder raised to the elevator tower where the blaze was confined and firemen and Dewart employees are lugging hose in their successful bid to put it out.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Fire Damages Dewart Mill After Pulley Belt Jammed

Fire that broke out at 8:30 a.m. today in the elevator shaft of the Dewart Milling Co., was put out in three-quarters of an hour. Several thousand dollars worth of damage was caused and the shaft, badly gutted in the upper part, will be temporarily out of action. A jammed pulley at the top of the three-storey shaft caused the pulley belt to rub against it instead of running free. The belt at first smoked from the friction and then burst into flame. Two hundred spectators gathered outside the mill as firemen raised the aerial ladder to the top of square elevator shaft that sits like a block on top of the Dewart building.

Thick smoke poured from the eaves and cracks in the metal-shelled tower. And about 10 minutes after the alarm was given by mill workers flames burst out one of the windows on the east side of the elevator tower.

LAY 3 LINES OF HOSE

Firemen laid three lines of hose up the aerial ladder and attacked the tower from three sides. By 9 a.m. they had climbed in the upper windows and were able to play the hoses inside the burning tower.

From then on they were masters of the situation and the fire was quickly put out.

For sometime after, they continued to deluge the inside of the shaft with water to snuff out the last spark. Water damage will be heavy.

FIRE DAMAGES MILL

The man who discovered the fire in the elevator shaft at the Dewart mill was William McCarthy, a foreman. Mr. McCarthy cut away the smouldering pulley belt and then it burned away, collapsing to the bottom of the shaft. Nobody was burned or injured.

Federal Ban On Steel Use To Be Lifted December 31

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal ban on the use of steel for pool halls, skating arenas and other amusement and recreational centres ends Dec. 31. The government announced Thursday night that it is lifting controls on steel for non-essential construction that day, paving the way for a big building expansion in 1953.

Limitations on the amount of steel stockpiled by civilian industry also will be removed, but the government will still maintain the right to channel steel from the mills if it desires.

As a result, Canada's multi-million-dollar building industry will apply to the federal steel controller for an allotment of steel to build banks, office buildings and civilian factories.

Steel controller Kenneth Harris had been allowing some steel for these types of buildings in recent months, but he still maintained tight control over use of steel for bowling alleys, dance halls, theatres, liquor stores and the like.

NO LONGER APPLY

Builders will be able to bid against each other freely for the steel — if it is available. There still may be difficulty getting sufficient structural and plate steel, but production is expanding steadily.

By the time the construction industry gets into full swing next spring many of the shortages likely will have disappeared.

But the government will retain one order giving it power to tell a mill to ship steel to any point the government sees fit.

This power, however, probably will be used sparingly, unless a great scarcity develops again and Canada's three-year $5,000,000,000 defence program suffers.

The steel controls were the last remaining government restrictions on the construction industry, partly to give defence projects priority on available supplies and partly to discourage non-essential construction and curb inflation that followed Korea.

Discover Moon Goes Wrong Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — Discovery of a new wrong-way-travelling moon of the giant planet Jupiter was announced today by the Carnegie Institution of Washington in its annual report.

It's a pipsqueak in size as planetary satellites go and, like three others among Jupiter's total retinue of 12 moons, violates the heavenly traffic rules followed by the majority of celestial objects in the solar system.

It cruises around Jupiter in an east-to-west direction, whereas standard operating procedure calls for a west-to-east routine.

The newly noted moon is visible only on photographic plates taken with a giant telescope — a fact which may disappoint amateur astronomers who now can see four of Jupiter's moons with an ordinary telescope, and sometimes even with opera glasses.

Jupiter itself has a varying distance of between 600,000,000 and 367,000,000 miles from the earth. Its dozen moons are at differing distances from Jupiter, up to a maximum of about 20,000,000 mills.

U.S. Navy's New Atomic Submarine Called Deadliest Undersea Craft Of All Times

WASHINGTON (AP)— The new atomic submarine will be the most stealthy and deadly ships of the United States Navy.

Rear-Admiral Homer N. Wallin, chief of the Bureau of Ships, discloses this in an article writte for Collier's Magazine. Wallin has this to say of the commander of the U.SS. Nautilus, one of two nuclear-powered undersea boats being built:

"He will be able to cruise so deep and silently that an enemy will have great difficulty locating him, and even greater difficulty damaging him. There will be no throbbing of engines, no exhaust bubbles, no surface wakes to disclose his whereabouts. If necessary this vessel can lie utterly still for long periods of time; longer, certainly, than any enemy surface ships are likely to cruise around exposing themselves to the Nautilus' acoustic sound-tracking torpedoes."

The Navy is working on devices to enable the crew to stay under water for long periods, Wallin said.

He also reported the Nautilus will have three power systems: Her main, atomic engine which will operate on a steam turbine principle with heat generated by the atomic furnace; conventional diesel engine, and electric power from batteries.

The admiral called the craft "the deadliest submarine of all time."

Married Couple Charged With Taking Child

TORONTO (CP)—Police today charged Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blower with kidnapping Linda Charmaine Bond from her carriage in front of an east-central five-and-ten-cent store. They were remanded a week. The husband, 32, was released on $1,000 bail and the 24-year-old wife was detained for mental examination. Police said Mrs. Blower, mother of a three-year-old son, has an "exceptionally strong" longing for children.

"For the last two years she has been hoping to have a second child but has been unable to have one," said a police official. "the couple said they even tried to adopt one. But they didn't have any luck."

Police said Toronto's greatest hunt since the escape of the Boyd bank robbery gang last September ended last night with the arrest of the Blowers and the recovery of the baby about 10 hours after the child disappeared.

But it took police a few minutes to persuade Mrs. Doris Bond that the child, her hair cropped and in new clothes, really was Linda Charmaine. When first told the news the pretty 18-year-old mother fainted.

Mrs. Audrey Guitar, who had been on the shopping expedition Thursday with Mrs. Bond, said: "Mrs. Bond screamed as she took the bonnet off the baby. Her hair was so short she couldn't recognize it as her own daughter."

The baby's father, Fred Bond, said he had doubts at the time that the child was his.

"She had quite a mop of jet-black hair before," he said.

Mr. Bond said it appeared as if somebody had tried to disguise the baby. The undergarments were new, and even the booties appeared to have been hand-knit.

Linda's new clothing—white with some pink—looked as if some one who wanted a baby badly had prepared for one, Mr. Bond said.

FINALLY CONVINCED

Mrs. Bond decided the baby was her own Linda when she noticed a rash on her right cheek that had been there before Linda disappeared.

Mrs. Bond said: "Police brought the baby to the door and they said she was mine. But when I asked them where they found her, they wouldn't tell me. They said they would let me know tomorrow."

Linda was snatched from her carriage in front of a five-and-ten cent store while Mrs. Bond went inside with her 17-month-old son, Freddie, to do some Christmas shopping.

Offer B.C. Boxer $300 To Lose Fight

VANCOUVER (CP) — A young Vancouver boxer said Thursday night he had been offered $300 "Christmas money" if he took a dive in the first round of his fight.

Sonny Jones, a 20-year-old middleweight, told reporters his story just after he won a decision in a six-round preliminary fight here.

The Vancouver athletic commission said Jones' manager, Jimmy Jones, had reported the fighter's story earlier and that police have been called into the case.

The fighter said the offer was made Nov. 27 when he was training to meet Vancouver middleweight Bill Brenner. Brenner was forced to withdraw when he crushed his hand in a conveyor belt and Jones decisioned Blackie Vanderveer of Aberdeen, Wash.

Suchan, Jackson Refused Chance Appeal Sentence

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada today rejected a request by Leonard Jackson and Steve Suchan to appeal convictions of murder to Canada's highest court.

The two members of the notorious Boyd gang are scheduled to be hanged next Tuesday for the shooting of Toronto Detective Edmund Tong.

Counsel for the two men had sought leave to appeal the convictions on a point of law. The case was heard before Mr. Justice J. W. Estey of the Supreme Court of Canada.

Counsel for Jackson and Suchan —at one time the two most wanted men in Canada—argued that the trial judge had not made it sufficiently clear to the jury the "limited use" to which certain evidence could be put.

TRIAL EVIDENCE

The evidence in dispute at the trial dealt with the capture of the two men in Montreal last March and the shooting barrage that preceded it. It also dealt with a dummy torso and head used by the two men in target practice the night before Detective Tong was shot on a Toronto street March 6.

Defence counsel John J. Robinette and Arthur Maloney of Toronto argued before Mr. Justice Estey that Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario high court who presided at the trial should not have admitted this evidence.

Having admitted it, he should have made it clear to the jury that it was not totally relevant to the charge of murder and that it could be put only to a "limited use."

16-Cent Raise Begins Dec. 1

MONTREAL (CP)—The railways announce they are putting into effect as of Dec. 1 the 16-cent-an-hour pay increase recommended for 144,000 non-operating railway employees by the majority report of a federal conciliation board.

"Appropriate action" will be taken for employees not covered by union agreements.

The Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways said Thursday they gave notice to that effect to leaders of the 17 railway brotherhoods with whom they are seeking to negotiate settlement of a wage dispute hanging fire for five months.

The unions, seeking a 45-cent-an-hour raise, rejected the majority report of the conciliation board, though they indicated they favored a minority report recommending a pay boost of an average of 26 cents.

Killed By Chinese In Uniform

Rule Canadian Captain Murdered Off China Coast

HONG KONG (Reuters)—A coroner's court ruled today that the Canadian captain of a British freighter—pursued by armed Chinese junks after she left a Red Chinese port last week—was murdered by "a person or persons unknown."

Coroner James Wicks said most of the Chinese who boarded the ship waving sub-machine guns and pistols wore cap badges emblazoned with a white sun on a blue sky, the emblem of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist troops. But he did not go as far as the first mate of the freighter Rosita, who identified the attackers as Nationalist guerrillas.

The British-registered 700 - ton steamer Rosita left the Communist port of Hong Wah Dec. 1, after unloading fertilizer. The 53-year-old captain, Robert Adam of Montreal, was cut down by a machine-gun bullet as he tried to save his unarmed ship from pursuing Chinese junks. Adams is survived by a wife and two children in Montreal.

Mate Eric Shakeshaft, 29, told the court how the junks pulled alongside the Rosita and the armed Chinese jumped aboard.

"I thought at first they were pirates," he said. "Then I saw soldiers in uniform behind a man in civilian clothes. They gave me the impression of being a well-organized body and that there were people with authority among them."

He said the Rosita also was attacked by machine-gun and pompom fire from two Chinese junks on their way into the Communist port. The guns missed their targets.

On the foremast the Rosita was flying the Communist flag, a courtesy customary in approaching a foreign port, Shakeshaft said. On the stern she flew the British red ensign.

Lindsay Soldier Injured At Camp

PETAWAWA (CP)—Three privates of the 3rd battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, were slightly injured in a training accident at the army's military camp here.

The accident occurred when a rocket-type "bazooka" weapon was badly aimed and missed a group of soldiers by only 15 yards. The soldiers, W. M. Collett of Fredericton, J. E. Playter of Lindsay and F. B. Laliberte of Tilbury, received minor fragmentation wounds. They were treated at hospital and released.

Strike Favorable Balance In Arms Deal

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is finally striking a favorable balance in her arms deals with the United States.

U.S. defence contracts placed in Canada in the 1951-52 fiscal year totalled $325,000,000, about $55,000,000 more than the $270,000,000 worth of orders Canada placed in the U.S., John Dickey, parliamentary assistant to Production Minister Howe, said Thursday night in the Commons.

"The most effective use of the resources of both Canada and the U.S. is essential to the success of the defence effort," he said in a review of Canada's arms production progress.

Canada's arms purchases from the United Kingdom were climbing. The Canadian government government placed $55,00,000 worth of defence contracts in the first seven months of the current fiscal year which began April 1 last. This was a boost of $17,000,000 over the $38,000,000 placed for the whole of the previous fiscal year.

Jewry Observes Feast Of Lights

Chanukah, the feast of lights, which commemorates Jewry's first struggle for religious freedom, will be ushered in at sundown tonight with special synagogue services and home observances.

The events which gave rise to the establishment of Chanukah were the efforts of Antiochus, a Syrian monarch, to impose idolatry upon Judea, and the resistance of the Jews under leadership of the renowned Maccabean family.

To signalize their victory, the Jewish religious leaders of the day ordained that annually there be observed a festival of dedication, which is the meaning of the word Chanukah.

A candle-lighting ceremony and the recitation of special hymns of thanksgiving, mark the observance. It is also a gift-giving holiday and like all Jewish festivals, is featured by donations to charitable causes.

Consider Insurance For Farm Workers

OTTAWA (CP)—The labor department will study the question of extending unemployment insurance coverage to some types of farm workers, the national advisory council on manpower was told. Arthur MacNamara, deputy minister of labor and co-chairman of the council, gave this assurance Thursday as the 32-member body—which advises the government on manpower problems—ended a two-day session. Mr. MacNamara spoke in reply to a suggestion from R. A. Stewart, a director of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, that some farm employees doing specialized work—such as mechanics—might be insurable. Because of the seasonal nature of farm work and other complications, this occupation is not covered by unemployment insurance.

Mr. Stewart said it would be impracticable to extend it generally to the farm industry.

VOLUNTARY BASIS

He and other members, however, urged that measures be taken to extend workmen's compensation to farm workers, on a voluntary basis on the part of the farmer-employer. This covers compensation for injuries received at work.

On other problems, the council:

1. Referred the question of seasonal unemployment to the national employment committee of the federal government's unemployment insurance commission. The committee is a voluntary advisory body.

2. Recommended that the vocational training agreements between the federal governments and the provinces, which expire next March 31, be extended for a year. Under these agreements, the governments split the cost of training apprentices for industry.

3. Deferred consideration of a proposal to give five-year protection on job reinstatement and unemployment insurance to workers enlisting in the regular armed forces. At present, their job seniority rights are preserved for three years.

Will Keep Out Of Truman Row

HONOLULU (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower, relaxing in Hawaiian sunshine from his Korean tour and policy-shaping talks, steered clear today of any fight between President Truman and Gen. MacArthur over a peace plan for Korea.

Eisenhower planned talks today with John Foster Dulles, secretary of state-designate, and Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon, Eisenhower's selection as interior secretary.

Two close associates predicted Eisenhower would shun public controversy with the president. Truman Thursday called the Eisenhower mission to Korea a "piece of political demagoguery" and said it was MacArthur's duty as a soldier to report to the President if he has any plan for peace in Korea.

"Ike is not going to get into any quarrel with Truman," one of Eisenhower's close friends said. "He's going to see Gen. MacArthur, as he said he would, to get MacArthur's views on the best way to bring peace to the Far East."

"Ike will stand on the sidelines in the Truman-MacArthur affair," another associate said. "Truman has said some harsh things about Ike—but it's my guess that he (Eisenhower) won't make a reply."

Crown Attorney Miffed About Minimum Fines

LINDSAY (ENS) — Miffed at minimum fines levied by Magistrate E. A. Gee, of Lindsay, Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan today remarked during a case:

"It's not much use recommending the minimum to your worship because you give it any."

"This isn't Toronto, where they have lots of money," replied his worship.

The comment was made after conviction of Robert Macklemoyle, 32, of Nogies Creek, on a charge of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol. Macklemoyle first pleaded not guilty, then changed his plea to guilty.

Defence counsel R. I. Moore asked the court for the minimum fine ($50). Magistrate Gee then asked the Crown counsel what he thought of the request.

Macklemoyle was fined $50 and $18 costs.

Train Hits Stopped Car Both Ends Damaged

The front and rear of a Lakefield man's car were damaged on Thursday afternoon when a CNR freight hit the car on Bethune Street at Brock Street.

N. V. Bronson was driving north on Bethune, and stopped behind a truck at Brock Street. He waited until the truck pulled away and an eastbound auto passed on Brock Street.

Just as Bronson was about to pull away, his car was struck on the right rear by the train, driving the auto forward into the railway warning signal. About $150 damage was done to the car.

Engineer and conductor of the train were John O'Loughlin and Grenville Sinclair, both of Lindsay.

Rugby Champs To Be Recognized By Bd. Education

The PCVS senior rugby team —1952 COSSA champions—were remembered Thursday night by the Board of Education at the final monthly meeting of the year.

A committee of three—Charles Huffman, Mrs. Paige Rowell and Stanley Adamson—were appointed and instructed to "recognize" the team's achievement in winning the championship. The recognition must not run to more than $300.

There are about 26 on the team.

Both Mrs. Rowell and Mrs. Blake Bell opposed the motion—not because they begrudged the rugby team anything but as a matter of long-standing principle.

Last year Mrs. Rowell made it plain that she wanted all extra-curricular activities (choral societies, drama groups, and others) to be recognized. Not just rugby teams.

"What about the girls' choral club who this year won the open class at the Kiwanis Music Festival?" enquired Mrs. Rowell.

PAID OWN WAY

G. Wilson Craw said that the trip of the choral club to Toronto had been partially financed by the Board. The rugby team out-of-town trips were not financed by the Board.

Mrs. Rowell insisted that all groups should be recognized and added that the committee on the rugby-team gifts should be instructed whether it should be "token or very real recognition."

Chairman W. B. (Pete) Gordon conceded that the matter of recognition of all groups, as suggested before by Mrs. Rowell, should have been taken up earlier in the year. But somehow it had been overlooked.

The original motion was made by Dr. Ralph Honey who pointed out that few expected the football team to go further than their group and yet they won a COSSA championship.

"It is a tribute to Bev. Goulding and the team that they did so well," he said.

MORE ABOUT—

First indication that anything was wrong came about 8:30 a.m.

William McCarthy, a foreman, noticed that the east belt on the pulley line wasn't working properly. Grain was being shifted to the flour mill by the elevator which is a series of buckets operating constantly.

BEGAN TO BURN

"The belt was struck right up in the peak," said Mr. McCarthy. "Smoke was coming from it, and then it began to burn.

"We used an extinguisher on it but by that time the fire was too far advanced. Melville McIntyre, manager of the mill, turned in the alarm.

"It was a good thing we caught it when we did."

Mr. McCarthy said the elevator had only been operating for 20 minutes when the mishap occurred.

Acting Chief Stewart Foster agreed that they had nipped the blaze just in time.

East of the elevator tower is the old chop room. It is mainly of wooden construction and a fine layer of chop lies over everything. Had the fire once got a foothold there, the whole east side of the building would have been doomed.

WATER DAMAGE HEAVY

J. A. Dewart, president of the Dewart Milling Co., said that most of the damage would be caused by water.

Three bins of grain were soaked but the grain is salvageable, he said. There will be some cost involved in drying it.

"There's no tie-up at all," stated Mr. Dewart. "The elevator is an intermediate link and we can use other elevators. It will have to be shut down temporarily for repairs."

This elevator usually transfers the grain from the bins to the flour or feed mill. It extends upwards from the receiving room, where farmers of the district bring in their grain.

Fire trucks returned to hte station at 10:30 a.m., two hours after the outbreak. At 2 p.m. a line of hose was still attached and looped up over the roof, with a fireman on duty, in case the blaze should break out again.

Western Oils Lead Mixed Stock Market

TORONTO (CP) — Western oils continued to lead a mixed stock market in early afternoon trading.

Volume for the first three hours totalled 838,000 shares.

Western oils gained strength steadily during the session as more issues attracted support. The list of small gains was led by Trans-Empire and Gridoil. Anglo-Canadian headed the losers.

Retail stores were strong in the industrials list and utilities, banks and papers gained. Steels and foods weakened while most other groups were mixed.

Senior golds held firm in spite of a $1 loss by McIntyre but juniors showed a majority of small losses. Belleterre was an exception with a loss of 20 cents. Prospects slipped led by Conwest, but Gunnar made a small gain.

Hudson Bay continued weakest in base metals with a loss of $1.75 in early afternoon. A few lower-priced issues traded actively. Ascot moved 70,000 shares for a gain of pennies. Femimore and Eastern metals added pennies in active trading but Nesbitt-Labine dropped a penny. East Sullivan also slipped.

Reds Smash Back To Capture 2 Peaks

SEOUL (AP) — About 750 Chinese Reds smashed back to the peaks of Big and Little Nori Hills on the flaming western front today, only two hours after rugged South Koreans captured the strategic heights in a bloody, hand-to-hand battle.

Fiercely-fighting Chinese swept up the two hills in a two-pronged drive shielded by cover of darkness and a devastating Communist artillery and mortar barrage.

The 1st Republic of Korea division had seized the hills in the sixth of a series of bloody counter-attacks in savage, day-long fighting.

AP correspondent Milo Farneti reported the South Korean infantry drove the Reds from Little Nori in an enveloping attack from the right and left flanks.

A half-hour later, South Koreans dug in around nearby Big Nori to cut off the Communist approach route. Then the RoKs dashed through Chinese fire to the peak of the bloodstained crest.

Lindsay Man Killed By Explosion

LINDSAY (ENS) — A Lindsay foundry worker, William D. McLaughlin, 48, of 104 Elgin St., was killed Thursday morning when a furnace piston he was repairing at a forge exploded.

The inner moving rod of the piston was thrown out by the explosion and hit McLaughlin in the stomach. Both his legs and one arm were broken as he was thrown back against a machine. He was not found for several minutes because a dense cloud of dust made it difficult to see.

He lived long enough to reach hospital, but there died. It was for Ross Memorial Hospital that he was repairing the piston, at the John McCrae foundry.

It consisted of a casing 12 inches long, four inches in diameter. The piston shaft protruded about two feet from the casing.

WATER SEEPED

Foreman Leo Roach said he believed that water had somehow seeped inside the casing. When it was heated on the forge, steam was produced and the pressure built up higher and higher until there was an explosion.

Part of the casing was shot through the side of the forge and smashed into a saw about 45 feet away. Two other workers narrowly missed being hit. One had been standing at the forge but had just turned away seconds before the explosion. Another, Frank Callaghan, was burned about the face.

Dr. W. C. Blackwell was called from the hospital and he attended the injured man.

McLaughlin is survived by his 12-year-old daughter Donna. His wife died last August of tuberculosis.

ONE OF FOUR VEHICLES involved in a Highway 7 crash about two miles west of Havelock Thursday night was this car, driven by Mrs. Winnifred Simpson, Havelock, which crashed into the rear of a tractor driven by Reginald Burleigh, R.R. 2, Norwood. He received broken ribs. A truck which stopped a few seconds after the first collision was hit by a car following.—(W. W. Reid Photo).

Tractor, Two Cars, Truck Crash; Man's Ribs Cracked

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A farm tractor, a Hydro truck and two autos figured in a four-vehicle pile up on Highway 7 about two miles west of Havelock on Thursday afternoon, about 5:45.

Forty-year-old Reginald Burleigh, of R.R. 2 Norwood, driver of the tractor, was the most seriously injured. He was thrown from the tractor, suffering face and head lacerations, several fractured ribs and severe shock. His condition today was good.

The four vehicles involved were all travelling west at the time of the mishap. A car driven by Mrs. Winnifred Simpson, 36, of Havelock, came upon the tractor on the highway. Mrs. Simpson didn't see the slow moving vehicle until too late, and struck it in the rear. The driver of the tractor, Reg. Burleigh, was thrown into the ditch along with his tractor. The Simpson car continued on, out of control, and wound up in the ditch west of the tractor.

STOPPED FOR ACCIDENT

A large Hydro truck, driven by Charles Puffer, 37, of Norwood, came upon the accident a few seconds after it happened, and the driver stopped suddenly. A second car, driven by Mrs. Dorothy Elliott of R.R. 1 Norwood, aged 42, was following the truck.

Mrs. Elliott failed to get her car stopped in time, and it plowed into the rear of the Hydro truck. Neither Mrs. Elliott nor her passenger, Mrs. Herbert Beavis of Norwood, were injured, but the car suffered about $200 damage to the front end. The Hydro truck received about $75 damage to the rear.

The truck driver, Charles Puffer was not injured, nor was his passenger, Gerald LaBrash, 46, of Norwood.

Mrs. Simpson, driver of the car which struck the tractor, suffered bruises to her knees. Her daughter, Mary Ann, age 9, suffered slight injuries and cuts to her face and head, and a third passenger, Mrs. May Hill of Havelock, complained of head and chest injuries.

The most seriously injured, Mr. Burleigh, was taken to Peterborough Civic Hospital. His tractor received damage to the rear, while the Simpson car, which hit the tractor, was the most seriously damaged of the four vehicles. The right front fender, grill and windshield of the car was damaged to the extent of about $500.

Provincial Constables Archie Eady and George Rose of Campbellford investigated, but said no charges have as yet been laid.

Christian Living Answer To World's Problems—Chote

Christian living based on Christian principles is the answer to our problems today, the Rev. A. A. Chote of Millbrook told the Kiwanis Club on Thursday afternoon. His brief address was "It's in the Book," or "God's Solution to Modern Man's Dilemma."

"If we are to save our democracy we have got to start with ourselves, our families, and communities, and bring Christ back into our lives," he said.

Mr. Chote, who was an RCAF padre during the Second World War, said that it is impossible to straighten out social and international problems unless we first straighten out our individual lives.

BUSINESSMEN

He said that modern man—and he addressed himself directly to the businessman—must ask himself the question: Where are we heading? Already there is another ideology (apparently an oblique reference to Communism) that challenges our established institutions, ideologies and principles.

Considering our cumulative achievements in the arts and sciences this should be "our greatest day," he said.

"If scholarship and learning and social achievements are the criterion then by this time we should be fairly close to the Kingdom of God on earth."

But that is not so, he contended. There are still useless wars, and, in the midst of economic plenty, people starve.

"The things in which we have been placing our faith have not been paying dividends."

"Christianity—Christ in everyday life—is the answer," said Mr. Chote.

"It is time we took a look at the Book," he said. "It is time we stopped and found out what God has to say."

Mr. Chote was introduced by President Walter Howell and thanked by the Rev. Benjamin S. Morwood of Mark Street United Church, a Kiwanian.

Mrs. Bertha Walsh

Funeral service for Mrs. Bertha Walsh, 69, of 712 Ross St., was conducted Thursday at 1.30 p.m. by the Rev. E. W. Rowland of George St. United Church. The service was held at the Comstock funeral home.

Pallbearers were: Bert Proud Sr., Bert Proud Jr., William Swanger Sr., William Swanger Jr., Daniel Whitnell, and Edward Partington. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Twenty - four - year - old Wallace MacDonald, of 175 MacLenan Ave., Trenton, escaped without injury on Thursday afternoon when his car went out of control after striking loose gravel on a township road a few miles south of Campbellford.

MacDonald was travelling north on the roadway leading to Victoria Street in the town when he came over a hill and met another car almost head-on. He swerved to the right, missing the oncoming car, struck loose gravel, losing control of his car, clipped off a hydro pole and came back onto the highway. There was about $300 damage to the right side of the car.

Provincial Constable George Rose, of Campbellford, investigated. No charges have been laid.

Win Award Butter Makers For Consistency

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — At the Ontario Creamery Association convention held last week in Toronto, the butter-makers of the Trent Valley creameries in Campbellford were awarded a prize for having made 100 per cent. first-grade butter every churning during the season of 1952. Two hundred and fifty creameries in the province competed, but only 12 oher creameries gained this distinction.

Every year since H. N. Carr and son began operating the local creamery they have been awarded prizes at the creamery conventions, and every time they exhibited butter at shows, such as the Royal Winter Fair or the International Dairy Exposition, they have been awarded first prize.

At the International Exposition a few years ago, Trent brand butter, made at the local creamery, was awarded first place for the province of Ontario, second for the Dominion of Canada and fifth for the North American Continent. They also hold two silver trophies for the highest degree of sanitation of their product.

The creamery owners are proud of their reputation for high quality butter, and loud in their praise of their staff who safeguard the quality of their product.

Is The Unsatisfied Judgement Fund Satisfying?

Driving permits next year will cost two dollars in this province. One dollar is for the permit, the other the driver's compulsory contribution to the Unsatisfied Judgement Fund. The Fund was established a few years ago, following legislation, and during its first two years of operation no fee was collected; thereafter fifty cents was required from each licensed driver. The Fund is now bankrupt. Hence another fifty cents is being collected from each of the hundreds of thousands of Ontario drivers.

* * *

The Unsatisfied Judgements Fund was established to provide financial relief to persons who suffered damage from a motor accident for which they were not responsible, and who have been unable to recover damages from the person who caused the accident and the loss. Is the Fund fulfilling its purpose?

* * *

To date more than three million dollars have been paid out of the Fund to innocent victims of traffic accidents. In grievous cases the Unsatisfied Judgement Fund has been a protection and a great financial help. In some ways the legislation for it provides better protection than compulsory public liability insurance (as in Britain); for instance, it protects against hit-and-run drivers never discovered, and uninsured, irresponsible motorists from outside the Province. But in minor accidents involving damage of only a few hundred dollars—and these form the greatest number—the Fund is less useful than compulsory insurance legislation would be. The millions paid out of the Fund have mostly been in packets of $500 to $10,000, for loss of life and damage to property after major accidents. Victims of minor accidents have found the processes of collecting from the Fund too cumbersome and costly. Most of them do not dare to start the legal process for fear of its costing them more than they can recover.

* * *

What happens if an uninsured, impecunious driver bangs into a car stopped at a traffic light and does $200 damages? What happens if the same sort of bad driver forces another car to take to the ditch, and the innocent man's car is bruised to the extent of $180? Let us suppose that the innocent driver has collision as well as public liability insurance; the other fellow has nothing, neither insurance nor money, not even ownership of the car (mortgaged fully). The insured man has the usual $100-deductable clause in his policy. The insurance company will pay the rest of the bill—$80 or $100. The insured man is out of pocket $100 unless he can collect from the Unsatisfied Judgements Fund.

* * *

He becomes a plaintiff and has to take the guilty party into Civil Court, there (a) to prove the defendant's negligence, (b) to get the amount of the damages established, and (c) to secure a judgement against the man. Then he (or his lawyer) sets the sheriff on the guilty driver (who has not paid) to seize his goods and chattels (if any). If there are none, the innocent party must cause the defendant to be examined as a judgement debtor, to prove him penniless. Furnished with all these legal documents, the plaintiff applies to a judge of the Supreme Court at Osgoode Hall, on notice to the Minister of Highways that he wants to collect from the Unsatisfied Judgement Fund. Thus, if everything is in order, the plaintiff may get his car damage paid for, and the court costs—but not the lawyers' fees nor his own loss of time and certain other preliminary costs. The insurance company will take everything over the hundred dollars deductable. The man therefore gets $100, but it has cost him up to $100 to get it (maybe more, the minimum is $50), his time, his worry and the generally unpleasant feeling of involvement with the courts. The insurance company has known all the time that a claim for a couple of hundred dollars is worth neither the trouble nor the cost; that is why it did not go to court on behalf of its insured client.

* * *

Therein is the flaw in the Unsatisfied Judgement legislation and Fund. It does not protect citizens who suffer loss from irresponsible, uninsured drivers. They can contribute a dollar a year for the privilege of seeing their money paid out, in sometimes very large sums, to victims of more serious accidents. On the other hand, if both drivers in an accident are insured for public liability, the insurance companies take over the whole matter, and the victim of a minor accident (which he did not cause) gets his damages paid for without any fuss and no cost other than the insurance premium. If the Unsatisfied Judgement Fund cannot satisfy the victims of minor damage better than it is doing, there will be much resentment against the additional fifty-cent levy.

"One Of The World's Major Industrial Areas"

The November 27th issue of the London Times weekly review contains a special survey of the Province of Ontario. There are articles on the St. Lawrence Seaway, the first underground railway, the International Trade Fair, the aircraft industry, Toronto (this article is headed "A City Built On Sands"), Chalk River, setting of "the world's most powerful reactor," the manufacture of motor vehicles, cheap electricity, the importance of branch banks, family farming, the forest lands, and the attractions the Province has for tourists.

The Times' survey justifies Premier Frost's statement printed as a preface to the survey: "The leading industrial province of Canada since 1891, Ontario has surged forward to establish recognition as one of the world's major industrial areas." The Times Weekly's supplement fails in completeness as a survey when it omits all reference to the life of the people: their homes, their churches, their schools, their culture. It is really an industrial and commercial survey.

Premier Frost's introduction contains some information which may be new to Ontario people, as well as to Britons for whom it was written. Ontario produces between a third and a half of Canada's manufactured goods. The Province's fifteen thousand manufacturing establishments accounted last year for more than eight of the 21.2 billion dollars' worth of gross national production.

"Practically all of Canada's output of motor cars, agricultural implements and starch products come from Ontario, besides more than 50 percent. of iron and steel products, rubber goods, electrical apparatus and supplies, flour and fed mill products, hosiery and knitted goods, furniture, fruit and vegetable preparations, and tannery products. Of major importance is the development of Ontario's natural resources. The products of our mines, notably gold, silver, iron and nickel, are tremendous. Ontario's pulp and paper industry supplies 13 percent. of the world's total of newsprint and paper products."

In the last dozen years Ontario's population has risen from 3,700,000 to 4,700,000, and the present income of the Province is not far below the income for the whole of Canada in 1939. Payrolls have risen in the last decade from $378 million to over $4 billion, and during that time the number of employees engaged in manufacturing has increased from 318,871 to more than 625,000. Truly, Ontario has become "one of the world's major industrial areas."

American Retailers Coming To Canada

Ever since Canada first began to feel her muscles, American financiers and industrialists have had a hand on them, and in fact, have developed much of the muscle. Any person in any Canadian industrial and mining town can name firms partly American or entirely American; here in Peterborough, for instance, all the factories (with a couple of exceptions) are American branches, affiliates or subsidiaries. Considering this heavy entry of American industry and money into Canada, it is surprising that few American mercantile organizations have established themselves here, apart from some dime stores and one grocery chain. American departmental stores have stayed out.

Now, it seems, American retailers have eyed the Canadian market closely and seen in it a good opportunity for expansion. Sears-Roebuck has just bought into Simpson's. There are rumours that Montgomery Ward of Chicago are casting about for Canadian outlets, and there is a story in Montreal that Macy's of New York has acquired or is about to acquire an interest in Dupuis Freres, a large Montreal departmental store.

Incidentally, unconfirmed reports from Montreal say that Montgomery Ward has offered $1,600,000 for a block of garden and convent land on St. Catherine street, owned by the Sisters of Providence. The Roman Catholic church and various religious orders own much land in Montreal which has become extremely valuable as the city has grown around it. The church has held on to its land, preferring to grow potatoes on a million-dollar plot than sell; it is possible that the Sisters of Providence would similarly like to resist a $1,600,000 offer from Montgomery Ward, if such an offer has been made. One of the beauties and distinctions of Montreal as a great metropolis is the land vacant of all except trees, vegetable gardens and cloister walls, in the very heart of otherwise crowded financial, commercial and residential districts.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A fossilized fish, reputed to be 350,000,000 years old, has been discovered in Sweden. The Ottawa Citizen suggests that it is a rock bass.

There is reputed to be gold to the value of $14,000 for every human being on earth, lost in the sea. These might be referred to as our liquid assets.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: Why shouldn't the Queen be styled "Defender of the Faith"? She is head of the Church of England, and inherited the title from her ancestor Henry VIII, who was also head of the Church of England. There seems to be a movement on foot in some of the Commonwealth countries to have this title removed from the royal styles.

ANSWER: Yes; but Henry VIII was given the title by Pope Leo X who praised Henry as a defender of the faith for his book against Luther, written in 1521. This was before the Pope discovered that Henry was a defender of the faith of the Catholic Church in and of England; not of the Catholic Church of Rome.

There are good reasons why the title may be retained and give satisfaction to all Commonwealth countries, whether the religion be officially established as Christian (and in the Church of England form) or Mohammedan. The faith which is being defended is not defined in the title.

The design of the new British coinage shows Queen Elizabeth's head on the obverse side, encircled by this legend: "Elizabeth II Dei Gra: Britt: Omn: Regina: F:D"—Elizabeth II, by the Grace of God, Queen of All the Britons; Defender of the Faith". The reverse sides of the sixpence and shilling reiterates the title Defender of the Faith very firmly; the entire legend on the reverse of each is the denomination of the coin and "Fid Def".

Canadian coinage has long eschewed the title. The 1920 25-cent piece, for instance, shows the head of George V, encircled by this legend: "Georgius V Dei Gra: Rex et Ind. Imp". Until after the war and the formation of the Republic of India, the George VI Canadian coinage had the same legend; the latest omitted "Ind. Imp" (Emperor of India). No mention of the King as Defender of the Faith.

ALPHA: Why a pair of trousers when there's only one? Did you ever try to buy a trouser?

ANSWER: The answer is in the second question. Trousers are plural, the way drawers are plural—of which you've never bought one, either, I'll bet (that is, the kind you pull over your thighs). So they are a pair.

There is an old singular of trousers—a trouse, but trouse, the article and the word, is obsolete. Trouse meant a close-fitting article of attire for the buttocks, in other words, trews, which are close-fitting, narrow-legged trousers, combined with stockings and worn by Scottish and Irish Highlanders, and still worn in certain regiments. A trouse is trews; and the plural of trouse is trousers, formed, no doubt, by analogy with drawers.

BROWN MONUMENT: Last Friday I wrote of the family and life of Captain Edward T. Brown, who died at the battle of Batoche, N.W.T., May 12th, 1885, at the age of 32 years and became a Peterborough hero. Now for a few words about the monument in Confederation Park.

When word was received in Peterborough of the death of Brown, a public subscription was immediately opened, for funds to raise a monument to him. Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers and other prominent citizens of Peterborough formed the committee. The City Council made a grant to supplement the voluntary subscriptions. The work was speedily undertaken, and on May 14th, 1886 the monument was unveiled by General Sir Frederick Middleton, commander of the Canadian forces in the Northwest Territories in 1885. A newspaper account of the ceremonies relates that "There was an immense gathering present; the police had hard work to keep the crowd at a comfortable distance".

By this time the project had become a tribute to all the Peterborough volunteers who had fought in the Riel Rebellion, and as well as a memorial to Captain Edward Templeton Brown. As General Middleton took off the red and blue bunting with which the memorial was swathed, the band of the 57th Peterborough Rangers played "In The Sweet By and By".

✧ ✧ ✧

THE MONUMENT was (and remained until the 20's) a drinking fountain. It stood midway between McDonnel and Murray streets in Central Park (now Confederation), a few feet from the George Street sidewalk. The legends are: (on the front)

Pro Patria
Captain Edward R. Brown
Fish Creek
Batoche
1885

The back has this inscription on a panel: "A tribute to the Canadian volunteers and to the memory of Capt. Edward T. Brown, of Boulton's scouts, a native of this county who fell at Batoche on May 12th, 1885".

I SET DOWN THESE inscriptions because they are now almost illegible. The deterioration of the monument is thought by many to have resulted from its being made of local stone—too soft for the weather. In fact only the two bases were local—Warsaw limestone. The superstructure is of Ohio sandstone. This has weathered poorly; vandals and carelessness have done the rest of the damage.

The fountain memorial was done by the John Burgess marble works, Peterborough, and the carving by James Byrne of that firm. Here is part of a contemporary description: "From the cap, ornamented by serrated and circular indentations, the plynth rises, which connected with the saddle and the finial, completes the height of the memorial. Around the plynth at each corner the apex stones stand guard, completing the four columns rising from the second base. The four apex stones terminate in cones. The plynth is enriched by a catafoil, from the indentured groundwork . . . As yet (this was before the unveiling) no provision has been made for water, nor has there been an ice box provided".

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE for keeping the monument? Lieut.-Col. Rogers, speaking at the unveiling, said to Mayor Stevenson: "To you, as Mayor of Peterborough, I now hand it over, confident that it will ever be preserved by the town authorities as a sacred trust to commemorate the bravery of our citizen soldiers, to keep alive the memory of the gallant Captain Brown." Colonel Rogers' confidence would be shattered were he to see it now.

On May 31st, 1928, the Examiner carried an account of preparations for moving the memorial fountain from its central position in the park, to make way for the Great War Memorial. The Board of Works then decided "To make some attempt to prevent it from weathering any further". The attempt has come to nothing; what the weather has not beaten, youngsters and vandals have.

Perhaps some patriotic organization could undertake to reclaim the memorial, or the City Council might examine its duty regarding it. There may be others in the city who feel that the undistinguished false-Gothic memorial has now acquired distinction as the city's oldest and sequestered public ruin, and prefer to let time continue its work.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR THE RECORD: Two weeks from yesterday is Christmas. The weather has trailed two months behind calendar: no snow, plenty of rain, warm temperatures. Today's coldness suggests that we may have a white Christmas after all, although there has been no snow this month so far (rain instead), and last month all told only an inch fell.

HE'S HARD TO CHARM

Odds Mount Against The Whale

By O. M. GREEN

EIGHTEEN expeditions—three less than last year—are converging on the Antarctic for the whaling season which opens in January.

Norway is sending only eight expeditions instead of ten. None is reported from Argentina. Italy had planned to send one, but has been discouraged by the expense. Other countries that are sending expeditions are Japan, three; Great Britain, three; the Netherlands, Panama, South Africa and the U.S.S.R. one each.

The smaller number of expeditions is due to the fall in the price of whale oil (resulting from the increased supply of vegetable oils), from one hundred pounds—and even one hundred and ten pounds—a ton a year ago to only seventy-two pounds now. The Norwegians are believed to have fifty thousand tons still unsold from last year. Strict orders have been given to British and Norwegian skippers that there must be no waste of food or other materials, previously allowed to pass unnoticed when enormous profits were made in whaling.

Chief among new devices for attacking the whale is an apparatus developed from the British asdic system; this is fitted underwater on each side of the bows of the catcher, and sends out two beams which expand in a V-shape. The whale does not like the pinging sound of the beans: in theory, it makes of in a straigth line to escape, and is thus easily overtaken.

But more seems to have been claimed for this method than it as yet deserves. Sometimes, the whale will dive seventy-five fathoms deep and will escape to right or left under the beam; or the beam may be blanketed by a block of ice. However, the apparatus is to be further tested this season by the Norwegians.

One expedition is taking out a Sikorsky helicopter, from which it is hoped that whales will not only be sighted but also killed by explosive rockets. The general opinion seems to be, however, the helicopters, besides being extremely difficult to fly, are far too risky for use in view of the sudden storms in the Antarctic.

THE BRITISH UNITED WHALERS are taking out two crews trained to use the electric harpoon; of this they are wholly in favour, because of its humanity, the time it saves in bringing the whale alongside, and the absence of the internal destruction caused by explosive harpoons. It takes time to train a crew to use the electric harpoon, but British United Whalers hope that within three or four years all their catchers will be equipped with it. No doubt remains as to its serviceability. Mr. Robert Marsden, of the General Electric Company, which perfected the harpoon, went out in a small expedition nearly to the Arctic Circle last August. A sixty-five-foot fin whale was shot and, in only ten minutes, was on board and being flensed. This being about a sixth of the time taken after using the explosive harpoon.

One extremely interesting discovery made in the August outing, Mr. Marsden tells me, is that the whale population of the Arctic is increasing conspicuously. It had been so cruelly killed off that for many years whale-hunting in the Arctic has become negligible. None of the superb right whales were seen, but fin whales, the next largest, have undoubtedly profited from the respite to replenish their breed. Another curious point mentioned by Mr. Marsden was that all the whales sighted were swimming in a straight line for the Arctic Circle. Even the oldest whaler could suggest no explanation.

This season in the Antarctic should decide the question of whether the great blue whale is being hunted too hard. There is much evidence, based on the decreasing number of blue whales killed in the past few years, that, unless protected by cutting down the number permitted to be taken, he will be on the way to extinction, like the right whale.

But the International Whaling Commission, at its annual meeting in London last summer, thought that the evidence was still inconclusive. However, it appointed a special sub-committee of representatives of Norway, Great Britain, Japan, the Netherlands, and the U.S.S.R., to go into the matter thoroughly this season and to report to the Commission at next summer's meeting. So this controversy may be decided at last.

Letter To The Editor

ANSWERS MRS. HAMILTON

Sir,—In reply to Mrs. Joseph Hamilton's letter of Dec. 4 to The Peterborough Examiner, I would now like to challenge her very unjust and untrue statements. First, "the graves of the dead are being decorated with stolen cedar boughs"; second, "that cedar is being smuggled into the U.S. by big truck loads like cigarettes"; and thirdly, but certainly not least, Mrs. Hamilton's reference to the cedar as a "racket" and not a business.

I am not refering in any way, Mrs. Hamilton, to your recent court case, but to your ridiculous and ignorant statements with regard to the cedar business.

I myself am a cedar cutter and have been for quite a while, during which time we have never cut a branch of cedar unlawfully; there are many hundreds of cutters like us who ask permission before cutting. Therefore, why condemn all cutters for the misconduct of a few? The majority of cedar is certainly not stolen. Do you realize that 10 times as much cedar is used for decorative purposes in banquet halls and for floral designs as is used in wreaths for our dead?

As to truck loads of cedar being smuggled into the U.S., well, Mrs. Hamilton, that is really laughable. Have you ever tried to smuggle anything across the border? May I ask you how anyone could smuggle a truck load of cedar sprays into the U.S.? A 3-year-old child could see the stupidity of that statement, yet alone a grown, educated woman.

"It is a racket and not a business." I do not think you are in any position to make such a statement in reference to something which you obviously know nothing about, from the worker's point of view. Cedar cutting is and has been for the past 10 years most definitely a "business" in the strictest sense; and, may I add, a very profitable business to anyone who is willing to work hard and aim at a goal; like any other business, this goal is not easily reached.

So, Mrs. Hamilton, before casting aspersions upon the livelihood of many, a hard-working man and woman, why don't you yourself try becoming a cedar cutter and find out for yourself that it is a business and not a racket?

(Signed) A CEDAR CUTTER.

"WHO SAYS THIS ISN'T TH E LAND OF OPPORTUNITY?"

Says Russia Using UN For Propaganda Purposes

OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservative external affairs spokesman says Russia is using the United Nations to spread propaganda and to make trouble among the Western powers. Despite this the assembly might yet become the foundations for peace

Gordon Graydon, member for Peel and an adviser on Canada's multi-party delegation to UN, said in the Commons Thursday that the assembly is the only global organization where international troubles can still be talked over.

There were many dangers on the international scene, especially in Korea. The western powers should use careful language among themselves so as not to create splits that could be exploited by the Communists.

There should be no appeasement about Korea.

Mr. Graydon said the North Atlentic Treaty Organization should have first priority call on Canada's government and Parliament.

He said Russia already has used the UN as a "glorified press conference" taking advantage of the free press, radio and television to spread propaganda. Day after day she and others of Communist extraction put obstacles in the way to peace.

CCF-Social Credit Feud Brims Over In House Again

OTTAWA (CP)—A growing CCF Social Credit feud has brimmed over again in the Commons with the leaders of the two parties in starring roles.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader since 1942, and Solon Low, Social Credit leader for eight years, engaged in a major verbal bout Thursday.

Liberal and Progressive Conservative members sat back and enjoyed this side-light in the throne speech debate and sometimes prodded the antagonists on.

The CCF and Social Credit leaders exchanged charges and counter-charges that had their origin in the stormy British Columbia election campaign last June. The Social Credit party won that election by a one-seat margin over the CCF.

OFFERS QUOTATIONS

Mr. Coldwell attempted to justify charges made in B.C. that the Social Credit movement is steeped in anti-Semitism and racialism and had shown anti-democratic tendencies. In support he offered a long series of quotations, including some from Major C. H. Douglas, founder of the Social Credit movement.

Mr. Low, counter-punching fast, said the CCF itself tries to foment class hatreds by blaming big business for all economic ills. He described Mr. Coldwell's charges as "adolescent and flimsy distortions and flasehoods."

Later Angus MacInnis, CCF member for Vancouver East, took on John Blackmore, Social Credit member for Lethbridge and the party's main proponent of monetary reform.

Mr. MacInnis said Mr. Blackmore was completely at sea in economic matters. He made himself look foolish by propounding Social Credit theory.

Earlier Mr. Blackmore had accused Commons' members of being stupid. It was only nonsense, he said, to say that Social Credit theories of making the supply of money balance with the supply of goods can't be implemented.

The throne speech debate also unexpectedly produced an important government announcement. John Dickey, parliamentary assistant to Defence Production Minister Howe, announced that effective Dec. 31 the government will lift control on steel for non-essential construction.

One Liberal, James A. Byrne from Kootenay East constituency, got in on the fringes of the CCF-Social Credit scrap. He said Social Crediters were hiding their political ambitions under a cloak of religion and he was not going to be converted by "a politician in the guise of a prophet."

Mr. Coldwell's submission was in reply to charges made by Mr. Low in the House several days ago. The CCF leader said the Social Credit founder, Maj. Douglas, was well-known for his anti-Semitism. And in 1945 Mr. Low criticized people who promoted the idea of world federation and singled out "only Jewish persons for condemnation." In 1950 Mr. Low had accused Wall street bankers of financing communism's rise to power in Russia and had named virtually only people of the Jewish race.

He also said that Social Credit members of the Alberta legislature had advocated the end of the secret ballot, condemned majority rule and organization of political parties.

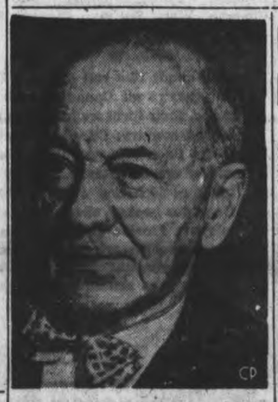
MASTERS OF EVASION

Mr. Low, replying, said Mr. Coldwell showed himself to be "in addition to a master of the smear technique out on the hustings, a master of evasion in the House."

Mr. Coldwell objected and the deputy speaker, Rene Beaudoin, termed Mr. Low's remark about "master of evasion" unparliamentary.

Mr. Low said he didn't wish to overstep the rules, but wanted to make his language as strong as he could in "condemning a practice which I think certainly has no place in our Canadian life."

Mr. Low said Mr. Coldwell's accusations didn't make sense because the facts were that on not more than one or two occasions had Social Crediters mentioned Jews and never to hold them up to ridicule as a race.



REPORTER RETIRES—H. H. Emerson, 65-year-old head of the Senate Hansard, which reports debates and committee hearings, is retiring January 1 after 35 years' service. Mr. Emerson first became a Hansard reporter in 1906 on the staff of the House of Commons. He joined the Senate Hansard when it was organized in 1917.

Union Membership Hits 1,146,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Union membership in Canada reached a record 1,146,000 by the end of 1951, the labor department estimates.

The figure was 117,600 higher than a year earlier, but the department said part of the increase resulted from a wider coverage in its annual survey. This factor accounted for at least 24,350 in membership of independent groups not surveyed earlier.

The estimate was made in the department's 1952 edition of "Labor Organization in Canada," a publication detailing the country's union set-up.

The publication also said the proportion of workers belonging to labor organizations was the highest ever. More than 30 per cent of the labor force belonged to unions.

Membership in the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada was shown at 522,965, compared with 470,926 a year previously. The Canadian Congress of Labor was shown with 330,778—it now claims 370,000—compared with 318,532.

Free Constable Of Manslaughter

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto police constable, James Schoffield 30, was acquitted Thursday of manslaughter in connection with the death Oct. 19 of a youth he was trying to arrest.

John Fegan, 19, died of a bullet wound in the back suffered as he was running away from Schoffield. The youth had been found in a used car lot with keys taken from the lot office.

The constable said he fired two warning shots.

Believes Edmonton Will Take Lead

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton may emerge as the biggest chemical centre in Canada.

Dr. J. R. Donald of Montreal, head of J. T. Donald and Co. Ltd., chemical engineers and consulting chemists, said Thursday initial leadership in the chemical field will go either to Edmonton or Sarnia, Ont., and "it is probable that eventually Edmonton will exceed Sarnia."

Natural resources, including gas and oil, give grounds for future confidence in the development of chemical industries here, said Dr. Donald.

Expect Lake Level To Drop Six Inches

HAMILTON (CP)—A drop of six inches in the level of Lake Ontario is expected with the removal of the Gut dam from the St. Lawrence river, D. S. Ellis, dean of applied science at Queen's University, says.

The work of removing the 900-foot dam, located between Prescott and Cardinal, is proceding on order of the international joint commission.

Mr. Ellis told the Niagara district engineering institute it will take 100 days for the drop to become apparent.

Italians Rally To Defeat India Players

By GAYLE TALBOT

BRISBANE (AP)—Italy's veteran Davis Cup tennis pair of Gianni Cucelli and Marcello Del Bello rallied from the brink of defeat today to defeat India's stubborn combination of Sumant Misra and Naresh Kumar in a five-setter and give their country a 2-1 lead in the interzone semi-final.

The score of the match, played under a blazing sun, was 1-6, 1-6, 6-2, 6-2, 13-11.

All the thrills were packed into the final set. The Indians reached match point three times in the 14th, 16th and 20th games, but couldn't get the winning point.

Italy now needs to win only one of Saturday's concluding singles to qualify for the interzone final against the United States next week at Sydney. Misra is scheduled to meet Fausto Gardini in the first singles. Kumar and Roberto Del Bello finish it off.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

It was learned after today's match that Misra suffered either a hernia or rupture in the closing stages and probably will be unable to play Saturday. If that case his place will be taken by George Basant, originally brought along as manager. Misra was taken to hospital for diagnosis.

Seldom is such a radical reversal of form seen in first-class tennis as befell each pair in turn in the first four sets today.

The Italians couldn't play a lick at the outset and were two sets down before they knew what had hit them. Then they started playing and the Indians couldn't do anything right.

Unexpectedly all four players found their games at once in the final set and for 50 minutes, until Kumar netted the decisive point, it was thrilling tennis.

Senior Squads Tie

Queen Alex and King Edward drew 1-1 to open their senior Public School Hockey League schedule at Civic Arena. Johnston scored for QA in the first period but Kempt, aided by Simmons, evened it up shortly and that's all there was. Stewart turned in a starry effort, while Waldie, Simmons and Kemp went well. QA was better on the attack while KE was stronger in goal; there was but one penalty. Teams:

QA: Goal, Macklin; defence, Druce, Seifried; centre, Stewart; wings, Magee, Johnston; alternates, Kilborn, Levine, Tucker, Sanderson, Hamilton, Jackson.

KE: Goal. Waldie; defence, Post, Rowe; centre, Beggs; wings, Tushingham, Walling; alternaties, Simmons, Hope, McCulloch, Warner, Kemp, Livingstone, Jones, Heard, King.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

Late last evening the committee needed only four more entries for the Examiner Trophy bonspiel. It would be fine if we reach the quota of 28 rinks.

The lady curlers are in for a busy season after the holidays. Besides their regular schedule games and local contests, they have two big events coming up:

The three-day open bonspiel for the Warne Trophy, and the playing of the Ontario Ladies' Curling Association Tankard final games a little later. These events take a lot of preparation, and the several committees have begun already to make plans. Of the ladies' Tankard, we believe it is seven years since it was last held here.

Mrs. J. Watts is the convener of the Warne bonspiel, and Mrs. J. Green and Mrs. G. Wood conveners for the Tankard games.

Vancouver Plans $1,250,000 Athletic Bowl

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver is to have a $1,250,000 athletic bowl, the biggest sports stadium in Canada.

It will be built for the 1954 British Empire Games. It will be designed to seat 32,000 under covered stands and at least another 30,000 in temporary bleachers. There will be standing room for thousands more.

Four miles from downtown Vancouver, it will be on the spacious grounds of the Pacific National Exhibition, with nearby mountains and Burrard Inlet as a background.

The big stadium will far out-rank that of the University of Toronto, now the biggest in Canada with a seating capacity of 27,500.

Vancouver voters Thursday approved a $750,000 by-law to assist in the stadium's construction. The remaining $500,000 will be supplied by the British Empire Games Society through public subscription.

The stadium is expected to open the door to the entry of Vancouver into the Western Interprovincial Football Union, and to bring it many other big-time sporting events.

Ford Snatches 1st Round Lead

MIAMI, Fla. (CP)—Doug Ford, 30-year-old Harrison, N.Y., professional, shot a three-under-par 67 to snatch the first-round lead in the $10,000 Miami Open on the Miami Springs municipal golf course.

Ford scored 33-34—67 Thursday to move out in front of a field of 166 players.

Stan Horne of Montreal shot a 37-34—71, one over par to rank in the first 25 low-scorers. Stan Leonard of Vancouver shot 39-36—75 and Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon shot 38-38—76.

Trailing Ford by one stroke were Art Wall, Jr., 29-year-old Honesdale, Pa., pro, and the veteran Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N.C.

The Manitoba decision follows the refusal of the University of British Columbia to take part in a western college loop, dormant for several years.

Let's wave the flag for a minute today. The last half century belonged to the United States but this one belongs to Canada. Folks today—unless they're nudging 70—will see our population tripled, we feel, and Canada wooed by other nations in the world as the coming country. It will be a melting pot for millions of people of foreign extraction. This thought occurred to us while looking over the latest NHL scoring figures. The long list included names from many countries, monickers like Hergesheimer, Delvecchio, Prystai, McFadden, Bodnar, Pronovost, Mickoski, Mosienko, LaBine, Pavelich, Schmidt, Klukay, Watson, Toppazzini, Skov, Kraftcheck, Lund, Hucul, MacPherson, Woit, Sullivan, Zeidel, Stasiuk, Kryzanowski, Sawchuck and many more.

Sounds like roll call at a United Nations meeting, huh? But they're all Canadians. Liked the famed Irish of Notre Dame, their forbears hail from many European countries. It's a good country, Canada, especially in the summer. Tourists really flock this way then. It's okay, too, during the frosty winter months. Hardy, healthy and fun. Who minds the odd touch of 20 below weather? Just so it doesn't last too long! Great for hockey, skating and skiing, anyway. We don't want to go to Florida or Hawaii for the winter, lolling lazily on sunny beaches, when there's crisp weather waiting here, lots of snow, sometimes slush, and so on. Golly, that last sentence in this para should win us the 1952 award of Liar of the Year!

Petes Can Take Glens

Though the Petes dropped a 5-2 decision in Kingston the other night, things are picking up in their camp and they feel optimistic of the future. They're building and getting some good material lately, so we look for 'em to roll the rest of the schedule. It's a tight race with not many points separating the trailers from the leaders, and tonight's senior tilt here betwixt Belleville Glens and the Petes promises to be a real slambang affair. Red Doran, Vern (Jumbo) Goyer and those speedy forwards have been doing right well lately in loop fixtures, but the Petes expect to knock 'em over in this one to tighten the race, Monty, Legrow and the other recent additions will strut their stuff for the first time at home his season with the Ellis' crew.

It costs minor puckists just a buck a season for insurance under the OMHA plan. The PMHA is affiliated with the Ontario body and can take out this protection at bargain rates. We're all for it, as it's unfair to expect parents to pay hospital, doctor or dental bills for a boy hurt in hockey, when a low-rate insurance policy is available. The policy covers injuries sustained in practices or games, or while being transported to same, and the indemnity in excess of $10 goes up to $250, except that it does not exceed $35 for dental expenses. It'll be dated from the time of application to Mar. 1 or time of OMHA elimination of a team. But more again.

Minor Clubs in Action

Results of the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association tussles last p.m. weren't in at this writing, but should appear elsewhere. Every Thursday night they go in five or six games, sometimes that sixth struggle being laid over till the next evening. Games Dec. 18, commencing at six p.m., are: Bantam Aces vs. Shamrocks, midget Aces vs. Otonabee Wolves, juvenile Marines vs. Havelock, Norwood vs. midget Shamrocks, and Aces vs. the juvenile Shamrocks. These Shamrocks are the former St. Peter's squads. Following eve has Swartz bantams playing the Trojans. The schedules run right through the Christmas holidays, as they wind up on Jan. 30, with PMHA playoffs following, and then the OMHA playdowns for the survivors.

President Art Duncan of the Trent Valley Hockey League announces that there will be 12 teams playing this season: Point Anne, Wellington, Trenton town, No. 6 RCAF Repair Depot, Frankford, Stirling, Marmora, Campbellford, Hastings, Havelock, Norwood and Lakefield. This city, Belleville and Trenton are declared open territory and TVL teams may draw players from them, but each club is limited to five puckists of senior calibre, the lists to be submitted to the executive for approval. Executive has the final say on passing players. No word yet on how the loop is to be divided up, and the schedules haven't been drawn up yet. It all depends on when ice is available in the village rinks.

Cobourg Comets Edge Flyers 7-5 Lakeshore Loop

COBOURG — Cobourg Comets capitalized on a sudden break in the third period here Wednesday night and took a 5-3 lead that eventually led them to a 7-5 win over Trenton RCAF Flyers in a Lakeshore League intermediate A OHA game. The break came when Attrill, star Flyer forward, was penalized for charging, with the Comets hanging grimly onto a slim 4-3 lead in the face of a sustained Air Force drive.

While Attrill was off, George Campbell passed to Cliff Maundrell and Maundrell gave the Comets a 5-3 edge at 4:21. The Air Force club made it 5-4, two minutes later, but Bessin of the Comets got that one back on a trickling shot at 11:20. Jack Reeves added another Cobourg goal as the game entered its last minute, but Len Beatch of the RCAF picked up a last second goal with the Airmen all around the Cobourg net as the bell sounded.

"Boom Boom" Baker of the Comets, distinguished himself by picking up five penalties and was banished from the game just before the end, for fighting in the Flyer end with McPherson.

The teams battled on even terms in the first period, 2-2, and again in the second at 3-3, but Attrill's penalty gave the Comets the needed opening.

Doug Fisher scored two goals for the winners, Hessin, Lawless, Campbell, Reeves and Maundrell getting the others. Len Beatch, the Flyers' veteran centre, was the star of the game and led his team with two goals and two assists. Bowman got two counters for the losers and Attrill the other. The win was the fourth of the season for the Comets.

Says Referee Lost Control

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The executive vice-president of the American Hockey League says the referee lost control of the Syracuse and Pittsburgh hockey game here Wednesday to such a degree that players could have been seriously hurt.

Eddie Shore, also owner of Syracuse Warriors, said Thursday night that the officiating of referee Red Story hurt both teams. He said he had no complaints about favoritism.

Chuck Blair of Pittsburgh is being treated in a hospital here for a facial fracture suffered in the game.

"The referee just let the players go," Shore said, "and did not call obvious violations for slashing, interference, tripping and one case where a player hit another over the head with a stick."

Junior Clubs Draw

Confederation and May's drew 1-1 in junior school hockey at the Civic yesterday in a neat tussle. The game was tight throughout, but many of the players, on ice for the first time this season, lacked polish. G. Hopkins counted the lone marker for May's, and W. Hewie was the scorer for Confederation. Teams:

Confederation — Brook, Stevenson, Callan, Hewie, MacLellan, Chambo, Jackson, Westwood, Mahood, Black, Rexe, McMillan.

May's — Park, G. Bell, Hamilton, Armour, Grant, Hutchison, W. Bell, Snelgrove, Burfield, Young, Hopkins.

Quebec Dumps Marlboros 4-1

QUEBEC (CP)—Camille Henri scored two goals to pace Quebec Citadelles to a 4-1 victory over Toronto Marlboros in a junior hockey game of the Quebec-Ontario interlocking schedule.

Thursday night's result moved Citadelles into a first-place tie with the idle Montreal Canadiens in the Quebec section. The Marlboros sitll lead the Ontario loop.

Michael Labadie and Adolph Kukulowicz notched singles for Quebec. Johnny McDonald scored for Toronto late in the first period.

Say Robinson Agrees To Fight

LONDON (AP)—British promoter Jack Solomons kept the middleweight boxing controversy going by declaring that Sugar Ray Robinson had "definitely agreed" to defend his world middleweight crown against Randy Turpin June 9 in either London or Dublin.

To back up his statement Thursday, Solomons turned over to the British Boxing Board of Control the signed contracts of Turpin and his manager, and cablegrams from George Gainford, Robinson's manager.

That constitutes a binding agreement, said Ted Waltham, secretary of the BBBC.

In New York, however, chairman Bob Christenberry of the New York state athletic commission said he isn't impressed.

"I don't think we can wait until June," he said. "Robinson has been given enough consideration. If he fights in June it will be much more than a year between title defences."

The New York commission vacated Robinson's title in the state last week, subject to review Dec. 19.

Boy Breaks Leg In Fall Playing Hockey

Ron Jones, playing for midget Shamrocks in the second game of the PMHA set of games last night at Civic Arena, fell and broke his leg. He was attended by Dr. J. R. Epping and removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, and it is expected the leg will be in a cast for nine weeks. No other player was near him when young Jones fell.

UE Aces defeated Havelock juveniles 9-3 on goals by Smith and Wasson in the first period; Allan, J. Strickland and Stewart next heat; and Brooks, Allan, G. Strickland and Whitnall in the third. The losers' goals were by Chase, Newman and Pollock. Marines juveniles blanked Shamrocks 7-0 as J. Corbett banged in three goals, Cupoli, Frizzelle, Ball and Dodds getting singles.

A CLOSE ONE

Aces won a 4-2 midget melee over Shamrocks, Floyd tallying two and Murphy and Heffernan getting the others. Ferren and Garvey scored for Shamrocks. The midget Wolves beat Norwood 8-2. Heffernan scored for them in the first, Garvey and Heron counting next stanza, and Buchanan, (Garvey (with two), Heron and Carr counting in the third. Rooney and Hannon tallied for Norwood.

Aces and Trojans went to a 2-0 bantam tie. McIntosh and Fitzgerald were Aces' snipers, with Garvey and Seidel counting for Trojans. The other bantam tilt saw Shamrocks win 10-2 over Swartz, Armstrong and Kinlin scoring for the losers. Baker got a pair in the first for the winners, Darling tallied two and Mahoney one in the second, and Baker got two, Darling, O'Connell and Mahoney getting the others in the third. Darling had three assists, also.

Red Wings Back On Top After Plastering Boston In 10-1 Defeat

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Detroit Red Wings, defending champions of the National Hockey League, are finally in their usual spot—at the top of the league standings. A few weeks ago the Wings were in fourth place and their followers were skeptical of the Stanley Cup holders' chances. But within the last two weeks the Wings vaulted into contention and during the weekend moved into a deadlock with Chicago Black Hawks for the league leadership.

A Detroit victory and a Chicago defeat Thursday night did the trick.

The Wings routed Boston 10-1 in Beantown for the Bruins' first defeat in eight games and worst in 10 years. In Chicago Floyd Curry scored twice in the first 12 minutes to lead Montreal Canadiens to a 3-2 win over the Black Hawks.

DROP FOUR IN ROW

The Hawks now have dropped four in a row and are two points behind Detroit. Montreal moved into third place behind Boston, one point up on the idle Toronto Maple Leafs.

Bert Olmstead scored the other Montreal goal, Maurice Richard getting an assist. Jim Peters of Chicago beat Gerry McNeil early in the game and Pete Conacher scored in the third period.

Detroit set the pace early by scoring three goals in the first period. Terry Sawchuk held his shutout until the eight-minute mark of the third period when Jerry Toppazzini, with his team a man short, broke away in the clear to score.

John Wilson, Gordie Howe, Tony Leswick and Metro Prystai each scored twice for the Wings. Glen Skov and defenceman Len Kelly accounted for the other two.

COULDN'T MAKE IT

The big lead gave the Wings a chance to try to set up veteran Ted Lindsay for his 200th NHL goal. Although his teammates did everything but roll out a red carpet, Lindsay had to be content with a pair of assists.

Lindsay moved ahead of Wally Hergesheimer of New York in the scoring race as a result of the two assists to take over second place with 27 points.

Howe's two goals gave him a firmer grip on first place with 31 points.

No games are scheduled tonight.

Ask New Glove To Cut Boxing Deaths

CHICAGO (AP)—The Journal of the American Medical Association calls for an all-out effort—including a re-designed boxing glove—to cut "the high incidence of deaths and injuries" in the ring.

It urged research and renewed action all along the line to protect professional fighters in their careers.

In a swing at the National Boxing Association and most state boxing commissions, the Journal said Thursday professional boxing deserves to be labelled "the nation's most dangerous trade." It added: "Boxing can be and must be made a safer sport."

ACCIDENT COMMITTEE

The Journal said in an editorial that the NBA should "immediately establish" an accident and fatality committee. This body, the Journal added, would "record the annual (boxing) death rate, conduct precise analytical studies of the causes of death in the ring and institute remedies to improve the protective equipment."

In Washington, Col. Harvey Miller, executive secretary of the NBA, told a reporter that the "NBA has always stood ready to fully co-operate in any move toward greater ring safety."

Miller said the NBA had co-operated in the development of such safety measures as:

The compulsory eight-count which requires a boxer to wait until the count of eight before resuming after he has been knocked down; a new safety mat, light weight headgear, chalk instead of resin in the ring, and safety guard gloves.

The Journal said no official effort is being made to compile the annual death rate from boxing. But it said that Dr. Vincent A. Nardiello, physician at Madison Square Garden, reports that 87 boxers are known to have died throughout the world since 1946—47 of them in the United States.

Three From Royals Make All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Montreal Royals placed three men on the International Baseball League's all-star fielding team although Springfield Cubs had the best team defensive record.

Official league statistics released Thursday showed Montreal's second baseman Junior Gilliam .986, outfielder Walt Moryn .994 and catcher Charley Thompson .991 in front at their positions.

Other leaders, by positions, were: First baseman Harvey Zernia, Buffalo .995; third baseman Bob Ludwig, Springfield .961; shortstop Gene Corbitt, yracuse, .961; and pitcher Al Ihde, Sprinkfield, 1.000. Twenty-one pitchers fielded perfectly but Ihde accepted the most chances, 62.

Peirson Breaks Jaw Thought It Bad Tooth

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Bruins Thursday lost the services of right wing Johnny Peirson who has a broken right lower jaw.

Peirson played in Wednesday night's 4-1 National Hockey League win over the Rangers in New York and thought he had a troublesome tooth. A visit to the dentist disclosed the broken jaw.

Peirson said he thinks he suffered the injury Sunday night when he was elbowed by Detroit's Tony Leswick.

Belleville Hawks Trip Cobourg Jays 11-2

BELLEVILLE — The Belleville Hawks strengthened their grip on first place in the OHA Junior "B" group standing here last night by trimming the Cobourg Jays, 11-2. It marked the locals' fifth straight win and gives them a six-point advantage over the second place Peterborough Trip-Links.

The smooth working Hawks piled up a commanding 6-0 lead in the first period, held a 2-1 margin in the middle stanza and outscored the visitors, 3-1, in the final 20 minutes.

Henri Therrien paced the attack for the winners with five goals and one assist, Doug Hull claimed two goals and one assist, while Dave Jones and Jack Casey were each credited with one goal and two assists. Tom Paranuik and Ron Halstead got the others. Neil Cain and Dutch Boswell were the Cobourg marksmen.

Track Suspends Tony DeSpirito

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tropical Park's racing stewards blasted Tony DeSpirito's hopes for a new American winning record by suspending the leading jockey for 10 days. They will decide today whether to extend the suspension for another faulty ride in Thursday's sixth race.

The 17-year-old apprentice jockey was grounded Thursday until Christmas eve for allowing his mount to interfere with another horse in Wednesday's fourth race. That virtually wiped out his chances of breaking the record of 388 winners in a year.

DeSpirito was allowed to ride out his mounts Thursday. Three hours after the suspension was announced he was disqualified in the sixth race for allowing his horse, Nightown, to int rfeeriwethmo D Nightown, to interfere with Dom W., ridden by Freddie Ryan, about 70 yards from the finish line.

Nightown finished third but was disqualified and placed last in the field of 12 two year olds. Dom W. was out of the money.

It was Ryan who lodged a claim of foul against DeSpirito Wednesday which brought about his 10-day suspension. DeSpirito has ridden 370 winners this year.

ANNOUNCE NIGHT GAMES

BROOKLYN (AP) — Brooklyn Dodgers will play 24 night games at home next season. The Dodgers home schedule, released Thursday, showed they will play four each with the Giants, Cardinals, Reds, Cubs and Pirates, three with the Phils and one with the Braves.

Beliveau To Play 3 Games With Habs

MONTREAL (CP) — Managing-director Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens announced Thursday night that Jean Beliveau, high-scoring centre with Quebec Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, will play three games on lend-lease with the Canadiens.

Beliveau's signature to a contract has long been sought by the National Hockey League club, but he has consistently declared he prefers to remain in Quebec.

Under hockey's lend-lease arrangement, Beliveau's status with the Aces will not be changed.

Rangers Gloomy At Weekly Luncheon

NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Frank Boucher and coach Bill Cook of New York Rangers along with reporters were as gloomy as the weather at the weekly luncheon of the New York Hockey Writers' Association.

The Rangers, mired in the National Hockey League cellar, had lost another game to Boston Bruins Wednesday.

While the group was pecking at the food Thursday, an unexpected visitor, a minister, came in out of the rain.

A startled scribe remarked: "He must be here to administer the last rites."

Ordinarily the luncheon is restricted to the writers and hockey officials but this time Rev. E. S. Harper, retired rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, Brooklyn, was invited.

After Boucher said a new left winger, George Senick of Saskatoon in the Western League, was expected to join the club in time for Sunday's game against Toronto the clergyman was asked to speak.

Mr. Harper said: "I don't know anything about hockey but I do know an angel can't get to heaven on a left wing only, he needs a right wing also."

Providence Edges St. Louis 4-3

By THE CANADIAN PRES

Zellio Toppazzini ended a seven-game Providence losing streak by scoring the winning goal at 1:50 of overtime to give the Reds a 4-3 American Hockey League victory over St. Louis Flyers.

The Reds came from behind twice to tie the game Thursday night, the second time with just 10 seconds left in the regular playing time. Jean-Paul Denis hit that goal.

The Flyers grabbed a 2-0 lead in the first period on goals by Joe Lund and Guyle Fielder. Pete Kapusta started the Reds' comeback in the second period and put them on even terms midway in the third. Then Ed Stankiewicz notched a goal to make it 3-2 for the Flyers.

St. Laurent Calls Parley 'Worthwhile'

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada, satisfied that his visit to London for the just-concluded Commonwealth conference was "worthwhile," left for home today by RCAF plane.

The prime ministers and finance ministers of nine countries formally ended a two - week meeting Thursday night with a 2,500-word communique.

They agreed to "seek the co-operation of other countries in a plan to create the conditions for expanding world production and trade"—the sort of conditions Canadian ministers have been urging for the last five years.

Part of this program would be a long-term plan for progressive removal of import restrictions in the sterling area and restoration by stages of free exchange between the pound and other currencies.

TRIP WORTHWHILE

St. Laurent, leader of the Canadian delegation which included Finance Minister Abbott, called his London trip a worthwhile one in an interview Thursday night.

At the airport today St Laurent said: "I think a great deal has been achieved by the conference.

"It has been a very useful two weeks. There was no outstanding point of special interest to Canada but freedom of trade is as vital to Canada as to any other unit."

Most London newspapers welcomed the conference conclusions as a constructive step but stressed that the road ahead would be long and hard.

The Conservative Daily Mail headlined the communique "Boldest Ever Empire Plan."

But the right-wing Daily Express, which under Canadian - born Lord Beaverbrook's direction has campaigned for years for closer empire co - operation, said:

"This is a sad moment for those who believed in the empire. A sad moment and a shameful one."

The Express criticized the conference particularly for not wanting to seek extension of imperial preference in trade.

The Times said the communique was vague but conceded that its generalties might do "less than justice" to the real achievements of the conference.

The Communist Daily Worker's headline was: "Empire Premiers Say More Sacrifice."

What the Commonwealth plan will mean in specific policies was left in the broadest terms, because it depends on many imponderables such as Commonwealth United States - European co-operation and because internal decisions of individual governments are involved.

The plan cannot be fully implemented without co-operation of the U. S. and Western Europe. Their collaboration is "essential," the communique said.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain said that the timing and procedure for approaching the Republican administration of U. S. President - elect Eisenhower has not been decided. Previous reports said Prime Minister Churchill would visit Washington next spring.

The communique probably foreshadows:

1. A world economic conference next summer, aimed at correlating Commonwealth policies with those of the U. S. and Western Europe.
2. An intensified development program within sterling - area countries, designed to save dollars and increase dollar earning.
3. Stricter domestic policies to curb inflation within some Commonwealth countries.
4. An effort to stabilize prices for primary commodities.

Asks Committee Hear Views Of MacArthur

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Lester Hunt (Dem.-Wyo.) proposed today an immediate extraordinary session of the Senate armed services committee to look into Gen. MacArthur's views on ending the Korean war

President Truman, with some barbed remarks about both MacArthur and President-elect Eisenhower, rejected Thursday a senator's suggestion that he call the two men to the White House to discuss Korea.

Truman said, among other things, he doubts MacArthur has hit upon any new way to peace, and that he still thinks Eisenhower's campaign announcement that he would go to the Korean war zone was demagoguery.

Truman's words drew some Republican cries of "arrogant" and "slanderous" on Capitol Hill. Hunt, taking no part in that row, told a reporter:

"I would like to see Senator Richard Russell (Dem. Ga.) call either or both generals to Capitol Hill to brief the armed services committee."

OUT OF TOWN

Russell, the committee chairman who presided over the 1951 Senate investigation of the president's firing of MacArthur as Allied commander in Korea and the Far East, is out of the city.

Hunt, a member of Russell's committee, said he thought Congress should be "informed and consulted" at once if there is any new plan to end the war.

Another committee member, Senator John C. Stennis (Dem.-Miss.), said: "I would endorse the plan if Senator Russell sees fit to call a meeting of the committee."

Stennis declined to comment specifically on Truman's tart remarks about MacArthur and Eisenhower, but he said he disapproves of the way the whole matter has been handled.

Eisenhower, now en route back from Korea, has disclosed he intends to meet MacArthur in New York soon to discuss what lies behind the latter's declaration of Dec. 5 that "I am confident there is a clear and definite solution to the Korean conflict" without unduly heavy Allied casualties.

Lord Kemsley Sells Paper

LONDON (AP)—Lord Kemsley has sold the London Daily Graphic to Associated Newspapers, Lord Rothermere's group, which owns the rival Daily Mail. The purchase price was not disclosed.

An announcement Thursday from Kemsley's organization said "The Sunday Graphic will continue to be published under its present ownership." It was understood production of the Sunday paper will be transferred to Kemsley's Manchester office.

The Mail, with a standard-size format, and the small-sized Graphic are morning newspapers and pro-Conservative in their editorial policies. The Graphic has a circulation of about 780,000.

Rothermere's group will take over production of the Daily Graphic beginning Monday.

Cigar Store Holdup

TORONTO (CP) — Benjamin Sable, 70, struggled with two armed men who held up his cigar store Thursday night. Before being knocked down by a gun butt, he managed to pull a coat off one of them. The thieves escaped with between $25 and $30.

WIND WRECKAGE — Residents of Payneville, South Africa, comb through the wreckage of their wind-battered homes after a weekend gale swept through the village, killing 13 natives, injuring 30 others and leaving hundreds homeless. The village, in the Johannesburg area, is located 30 miles from Albertynesville, where a tornado killed 30 and injured 400 late last month.

Child Chokes To Death

STRATFORD (CP)—Two-months-old William Paul Dodd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Dodd of Stratford, choked to death Thursday. The attending doctor said death was caused by food which entered the child's lungs following feeding.

Canada Soon May Become 3rd Largest Trading Power

OTTAWA (CP)—Expanding exports may make Canada this year the world's third largest trading power, government trade experts say.

Biggest power is the United States, with Britain second. Canada and France have tussled for the third spot for a number of years.

Canada, with just about one-third of the French population of 42,000,000, held third place for most of the post-war period until France recovered from wartime devastation and recaptured it in 1951.

This year, however, the French grain crop was slim while Canada's soared to the biggest in history. Canada also has boosted sales of newsprint, metals and flour and other goods.

The possibility that Canada may overtake France was raised Thursday in the bureau of statistics' 67-page review of foreign trade for the first half of 1952. The report showed these developments:

1. Canada's exports for the half-year climbed to a peak $2,114,000,000 from $1,762,000,000 in 1951. The boost was mainly in increased shipments to Commonwealth and Latin-American countries. Imports dropped to $1,950,000,000 from the record $2,102,000,000 in 1951.

2. World prices, inflated in 1951 because of Korea, dropped steadily in 1952, with prices for Canada's imports falling more rapidly than those for exports. Sharpest declines were for livestock, which Canada normally exports, and jute, wool, natural rubber and tin, which Canada imports.

3. On imports, the U.S. supplied 74.8 per cent of Canada's needs, up from 70 per cent in the previous year, while the proportion from Britain dropped to 8.3 per cent from 10.7.

Actor Grows Beard, Lots Of Jobs

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Success is a funny thing. It can come from the most trivial of happenings, such as growing a beard.

That's how Gene Evans made it. Clean-shaven, he was a bum. With a beard on, he's a hit actor who is always working.

You've seen Gene in numerous war pictures. Usually he's the grizzled old sarge, although once he made it up to major. He's been before the cameras almost without vacation the last 2½ years. And that's as long as he has been sporting his beard.

I asked him if he would keep the beard and become a rugged Monty Woolley. At present, he has trimmed it down to a sleek, spade-like affair for his role as the Oriental heavy in "The Golden Blade."

MIGHT LIMIT ROLES

"I don't know whether I'll keep it or not," he replied. "I'm okay as long as they keep making war pictures and if I can work into adventure pictures like this one. But it might limit the kinds of roles I can take."

Although he looks like an old timer in his war films, he is only 30.

Capsule review: "Hans Christian Andersen" is a handsome hunk of entertainment for the holiday season. The plot is admittedly a fairy tale, though not as imaginative as the ones Andersen himself concocted. There are no surprises in the story. But the dances are stunning, and the Frank Loesser songs provide the best new film musical score in years. Danny Kaye is refreshingly restrained in the title role, and Jean Maire is excellent while dancing.

Committed For Trial

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Leona Loescher, 42, Thursday was committed for trial on a charge of trying to murder her seven-week-old baby. William Droppo, Mrs. Loescher's landlord, testified at a hearing that on Nov. 14 Mrs. Loescher burst into his bedroom to say that she had struck her baby with a hammer.

Christmas IN THE KITCHEN

Little folks love popcorn balls! Cook taffy syrup till it forms a very hard ball in cold water. Remove from heat and add a teaspoon of Shirriff's True Vanilla, Maple, or Butterscotch flavouring. Tint with a few drops of Shirriff's red or green food colouring. Decorate with fruit, cellophane straws, paper cup hats.

Surprise! It's a red-currant jelly candle to serve with the turkey. Shirriff's tangy True Fruit Jellies can be loosened with a knife and rolled right out of the jar. Cut in half to make a pair of candles. The wick is cream cheese on a toothpick. Another favourite with turkey is Shirriff's Old Time Cranberry Sauce!

Now's the time for candy-making. For melt-in-your-mouth divinity fudge, add a teaspoon of Shirriff's fragrant almond extract, and a few drops of Shirriff's red food colour. Merry eating!

Make all the food you prepare for Christmas more wonderful with Shirriff's Flavouring Extracts, Pure Food Colouring, or Shirriff's glittering True Fruit Jellies.

Everybody loves SHIRRIFF'S

it will always be right if it's...

Pearson Twice In One Year Key Man At Conferences

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson of Canada will probably look back on 1952 as the year of the hot seats.

The year saw the Canadian diplomatic corps undergo major shuffles and it saw important international events, but for Mr Pearson it was both a big year and a tough one.

Twice abroad he sat in hot seats as the key man in hectic meetings vital to the world. Once he came home to face his toughest fight in four years in parliament.

In February, he presided over the Lisbon meeting of the North Atlantic Council which shapes up now as the most controversial the 14-power alliance has ever held.

That was the meeting that laid down the European military objectives for the next year, objectives that had to be fought out in the secret sessions of the council and which became the basis of controversy in one country after another once they became known.

Mr. Pearson came home from Lisbon to find the same objectives pitching him into one of the few serious splits the Canadian Parliament has had on international affairs since the war. The CCF attacked the objectives as dangerous and impractical. Mr. Pearson defended them in exchanges that produced strong words between himself and M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader.

In September, he ended his year as chairman of the North Atlantic Council. A month later he became president of the United Nations assembly He quickly found himself swallowed up in the ramifications of the search for a Korean truce, the bitterness of the East-West split, the resignation of Trygve Lie and the suicide of Lie's chief lieutenant.

Meanwhile his department was expanding modestly but in important directions.

New embassies were opened at NATO headquarters in Paris, in Japan, in Colombia, Venezuela and Uruguay and new legations in Lisbon and Vienna.

Dana Wilgress came home from London to head the department's staff as undersecretary. His predecessor here, Arnold Heeney, went to the new NATO post. Norman Robertson ceased to be secretary of the cabinet and went back to his old job as high commissioner in London.

Those were the highlights in a series of shifts which affected most of Canada's major diplomatic posts abroad. At the same time, for the first time in two years, the department took in a class of apprentice or embryo diplomats.

The big events of the year ranged from signing of the Japanese peace treaty in April to the Commonwealth economic conference in December. High on the list was Canada's formal notification to Washington that she intends to build the navigation phase of the St. Lawrence Seaway and power project alone.-

HAD BUSY YEAR—Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson has had a busy and tough year during 1952. In February he presided over the Lisbon meeting of the North Atlantic Council which shapes up now as the most controversial the 14-nation alliance has ever held; in October he became president of the United Nations Assembly in New York; the department opened a number of new embassies abroad and he has had to face Parliament in the toughest fight of his four years in the Commons.

SEND FOOD NOT ARMS

TORONTO (CP)—Canada should substitute food gifts for arms shipments to western Europe, Agriculture Minister Kennedy of Ontario said Thursday. He told the Ontario milk distributors association: "We have just learned of another $65,000,000 worth of weapons of war going to the continent. How much better it would have been if we had sent food to build up morale."

Hope To Start Work In Spring

HAMILTON (CP) — Transport Minister Chevrier says he is "more hopeful than ever that the way might be cleared for a start next spring" on the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

In a speech prepared for the Ontario Traffic League, Mr. Chevrier said Thursday night "Canada has given a decisive answer to the long-standing argument as to whether the St. Lawrence seaway and power project should be undertaken."

"The pertinent question now is when can we start construction. The only step remaining to make the project a reality is the authorization of an entity in the United States to act along with the Ontario hydro in the power development."

Debaters Uphold Canadian Nationalism

TORONTO (CP)—The principle of Canadian nationalism was upheld by a 2 to 1 vote by University of Toronto debators at Hart House.

Professor A. R. M. Lower of Queen's University, Kingston, said in the Thursday night debate there is no other alternative to nationalism for Canada since nationalism is a condition, not a theory. Professor Lower said he did not believe that in a middle-of-the-road country such as Canada nationalism would be taken to excess.

Must Stop Accidents

LUCAN (CP)—Traffic accidents are "draining the life blood" of Ontario and must be stopped, J. D. Millar, deputy highways minister, said Thursday night at the annual Middlesex warden's banquet here. Harold Corbett, reeve of Lucan and retiring chief magistrate of Middlesex, was host.

Car Injuries Fatal

HAMILTON (CP)—Alex Hussey, 43, of Toronto died in hospital Thursday from injuries received earlier in an auto accident. He was a passenger in a car which collided head-on with a transport near Oakville.

Ask 2 Governments Check Substitutes

TORONTO (CP)—A resolution asking provincial and federal governments to check the use of substitutes for dairy products was passed by 700 delegates to the annual meeting of the United Co-operatives of Ontario.

The delegates said substitutes are an immediate threat to the entire industry and will endanger the livelihood and business of every dairy farmer.

In the resolution Thursday they urged "all dairy farmers and all who have the welfare of Ontario and Canadian agriculture at heart" to watch closely and study all possible effects of further or more widespread use of dairy substitutes.

Drowned In Creek

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Twenty-month-old Daniel Tunks of Lobo was drowned Thursday in Oxbow creek near his home. His body was recovered after about 2½ hours of frantic searching by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tunks, and a large party of neighbors and police.

Abstract Work Makes Good Art Show

Peterborough's first exhibition of non-representational painting is now hanging in the gallery of the Public Library. It is a remarkable show; some viewers will find it thrilling, so striking, even militantly offensive, are some colors and designs. This exhibition of Canadian abstract painting has been assembled by a group of southern Ontario galleries.

To see one or two abstracts in an exhibition of other paintings whose conventions are conservative or merely modern—where a tree is a tree, a cat a cat—makes a proper appreciation of the abstract work difficult. Here is a showing entirely devoted to non-objective work where the creative possibilities of this art form can be assessed. Set by themselves thus, some of the work makes good sense and most of it looks interesting — in some instances wildly interesting.

The work of 26 painters is being shown, ranging from artists who merely dabble with abstractions in order to have touch with the mode, to people whose metier this is, like Luke Alexander and Perce Tacon, or to others like the senior Lawrence Harris whose development during the last 30 years has been consistently towards abstracting form and color from nature. Lawrence P. Harris, his son, is also an abstractionist in his own right and has two interesting works.

One of the more conventional abstractions is Bertram Brooker's "Symphonic Form"; he is an excellent painter. Joseph Plaskett's "Gold" is quite wonderful to look at, as also is Lionel Thomas' "Wind in the Trees."

There are some things which would do credit to a six-year-old, for instance, A. Weininger's fret work wood relief, and Ray Mead's "Magic Facade," which this viewer does not like at all; he does like his yellow "Composition." A small Louis Muhlstock "Non-Objective No. 2" is fascinating.

Visitors to the show who can sense no significance or feeling in any of the work (there is really much of both, if one does not look for symbols and things but lets the paintings do their own mesmerizing) can have fun trying to find the teeth of the "Angry Man" (Jack Bush), the trees in Lionel Thomas' pair, or the black cat in Harold Town's rather repelling painting. One of the painters says that "abstract painting should be enjoyed with child-like unbiased enthusiasm."

Leon Bellefiure has two abstracts which should excite interest. The show has non-objective as well as abstract paintings; hence some of the titles.

Freedom from visual subjects is the essence of non-objective painting; the abstractionists therefore depend on what comes out from within themselves. If this theory is correct, some of the painters in this show are messy-souled and flabby-minded. — T.J.A.

JETS FOR RAF—RAF pilots accept delivery of Canadian-built F-86 Sabre jets, intended for England, at the RCAF base at Bagotville, Que. Fourteen Sabres — first group of between 300 and 400 going to the RAF under an agreement between Canada, the United Kingdom and the United States —will be flown to England. The planes will follow the route taken by four RCAF squadrons which flew the Atlantic earlier this year.

U.S. To Import Canadian Hay

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has opened its borders to importation of Canadian hay needed to help supply livestock farmers in drought-affected areas of the south and southwest.

The U.S. has not permitted hay or straw to be imported since outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Western Canada last February. The disease can be transmitted by these materials.

Canadian hay which may be imported must come from areas east of the 85th meridian, west longitude. The 85th meridian cuts north through central Michigan and northern Ontario.

Formal opening of the border to the hay probably will be on Saturday.

At Ottawa, agricultural officials said removal of the U.S. ban on Canadian hay will benefit growers in eastern Ontario and Quebec.

Surpluses were available in both these areas for shipment to the U.S. market.

Public Schools Register 4,861 In November

A November enrolment in the public schools of the city of 4,861 was reported to the Board of Education on Thursday night by Superintendent K. S. Wightman. This was an increase of 21, or more than half a classroom over October. There were 46 new students who moved into the city to start in the schools, while 26 left the city.

Prince of Wales school with an enrolment of 914 is the largest in the city and Queen Mary with 719 is second. Enrolment at the other schools are: Central 525, Confederation 544, King Edward 489, King George 652, Queen Alexandra 372, Grove School 300, May's 177 and Parkhill 169.

Confederation school with an average attendance of 95.69 per cent. led the list with an average for the month in all the schools of 83.64 per cent. a figure believed to be a record for November.

Dr. Jethro Graham, school dentist, reported the results of the survey in Grove, May's and Confederation schools. In Grove he found 69.3 per cent. of the children requiring dental treatment, 73.6 in May's and 63.1 in Confederation.

An attendance in November of 1,059 was reported for the PCVS a decrease of 17 and at Kenner Collegiate 323. The average attendance at PCVS was 95.58 and at Kenner 95.41 per cent.

THE Ranger PROTECTS THE FORESTS FOR THE BENEFIT OF EVERYONE

Be sure there's

No Forest Fire in your Home this Christmas

When you bring Christmas trees into your home to gladden hearts at the holiday season—take all normal precautions. As a tree dries out it becomes highly inflammable and constitutes a very real fire hazard. So never use candles for decorations. Keep lamps or open flames well away from your tree; don't even strike a match too close to it. If the tree is set in a bucket of water, and kept watered, it will hold its needles longer, remain green longer, and be slightly less of a fire hazard. And above all—warn the children.

Cattle Prices Drop On Steers, Bulls

TORONTO (CP)—Cattle prices dropped 50 cents to $1 on steers, bulls and heifers and up to $2 on cows and fed yearlings this week at the Ontario stockyards. Calves and hogs were steady while lambs were steady to 50 cents higher.

Cattle receipts were 7,433. Choice weighty steers sold at $25.50-26.50 with good at $24-25 and medium at $22-23.50. Common to medium light steers and heifers were at $13-20 and good heifers at $21-23. Choice fed yearlings brought $26 and medium to good $19-24. Medium to good stockers made $18-22.50. Good cows closed at $12-13 with canners and cutters at $9-11. Good bulls were at $13.50-15 and common downward to $11.

Calf receipts totalled 2,113 head. Choice veal calves were steady at $26-29 with common to medium at $14-25 and grassers at $12.50-13.50. Stock calves brought $24.25.

Hog receipts were 4,156 head. Grade A hogs sold at $26 and dressed cows at $17.

Change Baby's Blood

STRATFORD (CP)—The blood of a day-old baby was changed Thursday in an operation which lasted 1½ hours. It was the first replacement transfusion to be performed here. The operation was necessary because the baby's blood was being destroyed as a result of a condition which arises one in 2,000 births. The blood was donated by a member of a local blood bank.

Communists Appear Before Senate Committee

OTTAWA (CP)—Communists and left-wingers appearing before a Senate committee were told to cut out political speeches and to stick to the point.

They appeared Thursday before the Senate banking and commerce committee to present objections to proposed changes in the Criminal Code.

The group included Tim Buck, national leader of the Labor-Progressive (Communist) party; Guy Caron, Quebec LPP leader; William Kashtan, LPP labor secretary; and Roscoe Rodd of Windsor, Ont., co-chairman of the League for Democratic Rights which Justice Minister Garson has described as Communist-inspired.

INTERRUPTIONS FREQUENT

Interruptions by committee members were frequent when Mr. Buck said the provision of stiffer penalties in the code for treason was written at the United States' request and that basic freedom was being tampered with.

After Mr. Rodd said the language of the code would lead to "repression similar to that in the U.S.," he was told by Senator J. W. de B. Farris, acting chairman, to stop attacking the U.S. and confine his remarks to Canada.

Mr. Buck was told by Senator John T. Haig, Senate opposition leader, that he insulted the government by his claims.

Mr. Buck claimed that Canadian sovereignty was being "undermined in a manner to facilitate suppression of criticism." Changes requested by the U.S. were being written by the law officers of the crown, "in other words, they were produced by the cabinet."

HAVE FREE SPEECH

Mr. Buck said a section which bans advocating the forcible overthrow of the government could be used to suppress political agitation "against the presence of foreign troops in Canada or use of Canadian troops contrary to government direction like the Koje incident."

Senator Arthur Roebuck (L—Ontario) said the section doesn't interfere with common law rights such as the right of free speech.

GALT (CP)—A mysterious Mr. Smythe of Calgary is reported to have leased a number of lots in this district on which he said he would drill for oil.

The leased land lies between the Grand river and Highway 24 about seven miles south of Galt. One woman said she understood the Trizone Oil Company of Calgary, reported to be involved in the deals, is a drilling and prospecting company.

Trustees Bow Out

Trustees Dr. Ralph Honey and Frank H. Jobbitt said goodbye to their colleagues on the Board of Education at the December meeting Thursday night. Neither of them stood for election this year and so automatically vacate their places on the Board at the end of the year. All trustees serve without pay.

Workers Vote To Accept 18-Cent Raise

A membership meeting attended by nearly 100 workers of the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. voted unanimously Thursday night to ratify a contract with the company that would include a package increase of 18 cents an hour.

The 500 production workers have as their bargaining agent Local 230, Outboard Marine Workers' Union (CCL), who have been negotiating since last August with the company.

Threat of a strike at the Outboard plant disappeared after a conciliation board, under the chairmanship of Prof. Eric Taylor, kept the parties negotiating until they reached agreement at 4 a.m. Tuesday. And the terms were approved by the membership Thursday night.

PRINCIPAL ITEMS

Included in the 1953 contract that runs till September 30, 1953, are these principal items:

A general wage increase of six cents an hour—four cents of it retroactive to October 1, the anniversary date of the old contract.

The cost of living bonus incorporated into the wages of the workers, estimated at about eight cents an hour.

A reduction of the work week from 43 to 42 hours with take-home pay maintained. This is a boost of 2.38 per cent of earnings, or, expressed in money terms, about four cents an hour.

(These money items add up to an 18-cent package for the workers.)

Three weeks vacation after 15 years of service.

Other contract changes.

Before the conciliation board was appointed management had made an eight-cent package offer. It included a four-cent general increase and a reduction of the work week from 43 to 42 hours. Also the three weeks vacation after 15 years.

The membership turned down this offer and a conciliation board consisting of Prof. Taylor, E. Macaulay Dillon, QC, and William Mahoney, was set up.

Members of the union's negotiating committee were president Fred Burrett, Lou Durkin, Max Chambers, Victor Minicola, and Gordon Lee.

The 1953 agreement will probably be signed Monday.

Charles Lamb Mayor By Three Votes

LINDSAY (ENS)—The election of Charles Lamb as mayor of Lindsay was confirmed in an official recount, completed here Thursday afternoon by Judge J. A. McGibbon.

The mayor's margin of victory, however, seven at the first counting, was reduced to three votes over Ald. Lloyd Burrows.

The final recount reported 28 spoiled ballots, 16 of them for Mayor Lamb and 12 for Ald. Burrows. The revised totals, after deduction of these spoiled ballots, was 1,616 for Mayor Lamb to 1,613 for Ald. Burrows. The candidates were not present when the recount opened Wednesday morning but Mayor Lamb was on hand when it was completed. The confirmation of his win returns Mayor Lamb to office for the twelfth time, but this was by far the closest race he ever entered. It was the first recount in local history, and gave Town Clerk Allely a chance to examine the work of his returning officers.

Salvage Outfit Ordered Off Erskine St.

The Lawrence Salvage Company will terminate its business of wrecking and salvage operations by June 1 at its present location on Erskine St., the police commission ruled Thursday.

In a letter to the commission the company said that it is erecting a board fence to conceal its wrecking and salvage operations from the public view, according to the civic bylaw.

But the bylaw requires the fence to be placed 200 feet back of the street and the company asked permission to place the fence only 150 feet back.

BEHIND BUILDINGS

The company explained that if the fence was placed back to the required 200 feet it would be at the rear of the building where the paper and metal presses are located and also the wrecking machines. Therefore the company's operations could not be concealed.

The salvage company received a licence in September to carry on salvage work; its second since buying the old Dixie Mills.

Mayor Hugh Waddell pointed out that the area is continually increasing in population and is becoming a residential area. He added that just across the street from the company there would be an outdoor skating rink this winter.

He added that probably the area wasn't as thickly populated when the licence was first issued the company, but felt that it was more a residential area now than then.

The commission moved that the company be informed that permission cannot be granted them to have the fence at 150 feet and that the company must terminate its business there by June 1.

Campaign Promises Fulfilled Claim Of Liberal Party, Harris Tells Achievements

A brighter picture of employment in 1953 was forecast Thursday night by Walter Harris, minister of citizenship and immigration, speaking at the Peterborough Liberal Association's nomination meeting. At the meeting, the local party chose ex-Mayor Max Swanston to represent them in the next federal election. Former candidate Dit Clapper refused a nomination. This winter, Mr. Harris predicted, would see far less unemployment than last winter, and the coming year would bring employment on the highest scale ever seen in Canada.

Mr. Harris did not support his prediction with evidence, but referred to the Liberal government's record. He remarked that Prime Minister St. Laurent had promised a high level of employment before the Liberal landslide in the 1949 election.

Since then the working force had increased from 5,000,000 to nearly 5,500,000, while the number of unemployed remained about the same.

A high level of employment was taken by the Liberal party to mean from 96 to 97 per cent. of the working force at work. In the spring of 1949, there were 145,000 unemployed; this spring, roughly the same number were out of work, although the number unemployed this winter has risen due to seasonal unemployment.

PARTY'S PLATFORM

Point by point, he dealt with the party's platform that was presented by Prime Minister St. Laurent before the last federal election. And, point by point, he refuted Progressive Conservative charges of arrogance, bureaucracy, smugness and self-satisfaction, lack of independence in government members, and a usurpation of discretionary powers by cabinet ministers.

After dealing with the question of employment, Mr. Harris continued with his argument that the party had succeeded in carrying out its campaign promises. He did admit default on a single plank—housing. The government's failure to get more houses built resulted, he said, from the United Nations intervention in Korea and the consequent diversion of materials that otherwise would have one to housing.

EXPANDING TRADE

On the government's campaign vow to continue to expand the export business of the nation, he referred to the comparative figures of 1949 and 1952. The export business of Canada in 1949 amounted to $3,500,000,000; this year it is expected to reach $4,500,000,000.

That, he said, was a campaign promise carried out.

Mr. St. Laurent had promised a trans-Canada highway. This was at present in various stages of development, but it was progressing. The government had failed to secure an agreement on the highway with only one province.

The Liberals had promised to continue to extend the steps toward nationhood. In 1949, the Supreme Court of Canada was made the final body of appeal, thus eliminating the Privy Council, which previously was the court of last resort. In 1950, the provinces had been approached and asked to discuss methods of amending the constitution.

SOCIAL SECURITY

A promise had been made to continue to offer more social security. This vow was made concrete in the old age pensions for all over 70 and in assistance to the provinces paying pensions to disabled persons under 70.

Social security, said Mr. Harris, was not altogether a matter of welfare. The government considered that floor prices and other such controls were a part of it, and he said he believed that farmers across the country endorsed the emergency action taken in

Courses Picked For City Police

Lectures in all phases of police work may be given members of the Peterborough police force shortly. The police commission Thursday decided to ask the OPP police college for instructors on police work and various laws.

A list of subjects was received from the college and from it the comission picked several which they preferred for instruction in Peterborough.

If instructors can be obtained from the college, the Peterborough police will be given lectures on the basic principles of law enforcement, the Highway Traffic Act, case preparation, presentation of briefs for Crown Counsel, the officer in the witness box, the Criminal Code of Canada, the Canada Evidence Act, fire-arm practice and the Liquor Control Act.

Refused To Fight Fire, Haliburton Man Fined

LINDSAY (ENS) — The third charge in Haliburton court history of refusing to give assistance in fighting a forest fire ended Thursday in a conviction.

Elwod Townsend of Haliburton was fined $25 and $17.50 costs or 30 days. The charge was laid June 28, and Townsend was located only this week.

Buildings Could Draw New Industry

Need Factory Space To Attract Firms Says Wm. Burnie

"If Peterborough had vacant industrial buildings or any other properties suitable for small industries, we would probably have had one or more new industries locate here this year," William Burnie, industrial commissioner, informed the Examiner today.

"To meet that need of factory space, immediately available, we have been concentrating on trying to interest local people in financing a building for that purpose. We may be able to report something definite in that respect before long."

Some of the inquiries which he has been negotiating since his appointment at the beginning of last summer have been from small industries, they might be called infant industries, Mr. Burnie said. "They wish to avoid tying up capital in real estate, and that is why they are seeking vacant buildings into which they can move at once on a rental basis. If we had that sort of accommodation, I feel sure we could have attracted at least two industries which might eventually have amounted to something."

A letter in the Examiner on Thursday, signed by "A. Metcalfe," a name that is not identified in any directory, began with this question: "Peterborough does not extend a welcome hand to new industry. Why?"

When Ald. J. A. Dewart was appointed chairman of the city council's industrial or manufacturers committee this year, one of the first things he desired to do was to engage an industrial commissioner. Industrial inquiries and negotiations had long been part of the duties of the city clerk, formerly by the late Simon R. Armstrong, and in succession to him by E. A. Outram.

FULL TIME JOB

With a background of years of industrial connections in the Montreal area, Mr. Burnie was appointed on a part-time basis, but he has been so interested in his work that he has virtually made it a full-time activity.

That is a factual answer to the "A. Metcalfe" asertion that Peterborough does not welcome new industries. Some intimation recently indicated that Mr. Burnie was preparing a review of his experience as industrial commissioner, a report to the council and to the manufacturers committee. It was to be presented in January. However, in view of the Metcalfe insinuations, the Examiner interviewed Mr. Burnie today on several of its main allegations.

"I have had to begin with establishing contacts with people who are engaged in industrial work and communications, such as railways, banks, industries, and so on.

"That was to build up a line of prospects. I have interviewed more than 75 people, and there are still outstanding possibilities on my file, several as recent as Wednesday of this week. Some of them have future plans for establishing plants in Canada.

"At least fourteen firms were looking for buildings which they could occupy at once. I have already mentioned them, and I am sure two of them would have come here, because they were in a hurry to get located.

WILLING TO HELP

"I have had most helpful support from Ald. Dewart and the members of his commitee. The established industries have been very friendly and co-operative. Without any exception I have found them interested and willing to help, and I consider them an asset in our efforts for the future.

"I might also say that we have advantages in Peterborough, but we also have disadvantages. Naturally I don't feel I should casually discuss that."

Mr. Burnie said his experience was that everybody he had met since coming to Peterborough was interested in industrial expansion, and he hoped that the public generally would do anything they could to assist him.

Prior to Mr. Burnie's engagement, Canada Bread Co. bought a property in Ashburnham for a $500,000 plant, but its building has been deferred until next year.

Negotiations with that company were carried on by City Clerk Outram, and early in the year, when the prospect was being considered by the council, some objection was raised by residents of Rogers Street in the vicinity of Hazlitt Street and Tivey Streets.

QUESTION STUDENTS

An Ontario fire marshal questioned pupils of Cobourg Collegiate today during an investigation into three fires which broke out in the school Thursday. The first blaze burned stage furniture and the curtain in the auditorium. While firemen were fighting this fire, others were started in the opposite end of the building.

Six New Men Requested By Police Chief

Six new policemen were requested by Chief John Thompson Thursday when he presented his list of proposals for 1953. Four of the new men will fill vacancies left by changes and promotions within the force while the two others will be extra strength which is required. Other highlights were the requested replacements for all police vehicles.

Chief Thompson asked for men to replace officers transferred to meter work and director of school safety patrols and to replace Constable Douglas Farthing and Sgt. Gordon Puffer transferred to the detective department.

ADVERTISE FOR MEN

He added that he will require an additional new man to replace another constable who will be moved up to strengthen the detective department. The sixth new man will be needed for the suggested annexation of land in Smith township.

The commission agreed that the force required additional men and moved to advertise for a number of men to act as policemen.

The commission also agreed to call for tenders for the replacement of the "black maria," a 1948 Dodge truck. Chief Thompson said that the truck, which has had no repairs since bought, would probably require a thorough over-all shortly. He suggested a replacement rather than repair work.

At the same time he suggested the usual annual replacement of police cars be made. The commission adopted a policy several years ago of replacing the police cars annually. Thursday they made the same agreement, the old cars and $500 each, with J. K. Hughes.

Chief Thompson also suggested that the 1940 and 1950 motorcycles be replaced and that a servi-car be purchased for school patrol work by Const. Donald Mackay.

BUY TWO MOTORCYCLES

The commission decided to place the side-car, now on the 1940 motorcycle, on the 1950 motorcycle and give it to Const. Mackay for his school patrol work rather than buy a used or new servi-car. In addition they decided to purchase two new motorcycles which will be used for traffic policing.

A complete new radio was also proposed by Chief Thompson to replace the present radio. No action was taken on this proposal.

The Department of Transport told the commission that the radio would have to be replaced because it was too near the television band and complaints had been received about TV interference. Since then the commission has received no word from the department.

A new radio would cost approximately $3,000 and the old radio would be useless; there is no way for the old radio to be changed over to another frequency band.

The last proposal was to equip a motorcycle with a radio hook-up with the station and the cars. Chief Thompson was asked to submit various prices at the next meeting.

Commission Promotes Five Officers

Three Detectives Elevated To New Positions

Basing its decisions on merit and long service, the police commission Thursday promoted three officers in the detective branch and two others on the regular force. All the detective positions, inspector of detectives, sergeant of detectives and detectives, are new positions in the Peterborough police force's detective branch.

Chief John Thompson recommended that Det.-Sgt. William (Bud) Clarke be promoted and placed in charge of the detective department; he suggested sergeant of detectives as the new position.

"I wish at this time to recommend some consideration be shown towards Det.-Sgt. Clarke for his good work in connection with the rounding up of the Metronitz gang from Jackson's Point," said the chief.

Chief Thompson added that "Clarke has shown himself to be a very capable officer and has been instrumental in cleaning up several cases in the city and vicinity of late."

He added that he did not hesitate in recommending Det.-Sgt. Clarke be promoted to rank of Sergeant of Detectives.

The commission agreed that sergeant of detectives could be confused with detective-sergeant and finally settled on the new position of Inspector of Detectives, placing Clarke in charge at a basic pay of $3,500. He has been with the force since 1937 with time out for Second World War service.

At the same time the commission decided to form another new position of Sergeant of Detectives which will be filled by Det.-Sgt. John Stevenson at his same pay. For the past year Const. Douglas Farthing has worked with the branch and the commission raised him to detective, also a new position, at basic pay of $2,975. He joined the force in 1946.

POLICE OFFICERS

On the regular force Chief Thompson recommended Patrol Sgt. Claire McGillen and Const. Andre Dalton for promotion. They were taken on the force in 1938 and 1942 respectively.

In recommending McGillen for desk sergeant, Chief Thompson said that he found "McGillen to be capable and fully believe that he will fill the position efficiently." He succeeds Sgt. Gordon Puffer who is now working in the detectives' branch.

Const. Dalton was recommended to fill Sgt. McGillen's position as patrol sergeant beginning December 14. He will serve a probationary period of six months and if satisfactory will be permanent.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Henry Sharpe Succeeds Vern Campbell as President of Peterborough Holstein Club . . . Zone 4 Conservation Association Annual At Kawartha Club Thursday, Dec. 18 . . . Bruce Graham of Westwood, Elected President of Peterborough Crop Improvement Association as Robert Armstrong Retires.

Henry Sharpe was elected president of Peterborough Holstein Breeders' Club at their annual meeting last Saturday. For 1953, Earl Doris is 1st vice-president, and Allan Davis is second v.-p.

The following directors were elected: Stewart Nelson, Charles Bolton, Stanley Wood, Howard Clark, Earl Doris, Walter Thorn, Allan Davis, Henry Sharpe, N. W. McConkey, C. E. Moore, Don Milburn and Burritt Jopling.

Mr. Sharpe succeeds Vern Campbell who remarked that it was time he relinquished the presidency. He requested that some other members be appointed in his place. The three officers were appointed by the new board.

Report reflected the reverse of last winter when an outbreak of foot and mouth disease was discovered in Saskatchewan. John Tamblyn, Orono, salesman, recalled that Holsteins valued at nearly $25,000 were ready for delivery to the United States when an embargo closed the border to Canadian livestock.

Some three weeks ago, Mr. Tamblyn said, he met a Quebec buyer who said he was in the market for 200 to 300 head a year.

George McLaughlin and James T. Brown of the Canadian Holstein-Friesian board were present.

Commenting that selective registrations were down this year, Mr. McLaughlin advised that the grading policy should be maintained. With barns full of cattle, buyers would be more discriminating, and willing to pay better prices "on animals they know something about. Grading will pay breeders because it is in their benefit".

THANKS TO PETERBOROUGH

"We appreciate Peterborough's work in setting up facilities for the district championship show," Mr. McLaughlin said. "For the breeders of Ontario county I am happy to say "thanks", and I know that is the sentiment of the other nine counties as well. You are holding up your end well, and doing more than any of the other counties."

Mr. McLaughlin urged farmers to pay more attention to their pasture programs. "Good pastures, more than anything else, will increase production and reduce its cost."

Mr. Brown said he brought greetings from Durham, and also from the national directors, and endorsed the tribute paid by Mr. McLaughlin to Peterborough Holstein Club for its preparations for the East Central Ontario championship show.

On the topic of selective registration, Norman McConkey said it used to take the inspector three days in his local work, but on his last trip he was through in less than a day. "If you have only one cow to grade, I think you should grade her", he said.

Mr. McConkey said it was alarming to see the number of herds that were not in ROP. He suggested that as an opportunity of advertising the Holstein cattle of this district, Peterborough should have large signs on its main approach roads announcing that it is the home of the Central Ontario Championship Show.

Mr. Tamblyn expressed conviction that the market would offer more money for ROP cattle. "The Quebec man said he was willing to pay $75 more for cows producing 13,000 to 15,000 pounds of milk at 3.6 to 3.75 per cent butter fat. As for blood-testing, all my buyers want cattle from listed herds."

YEAR WAS ACTIVE

Jerry Nelson, fieldman, reviewed the Black and White Days, twilight meetings and championship shows. Holstein breeders had maintained their interest in a year of unexpectedly adverse conditions. However, the removal of the U.S. embargo next March 1 was welcome news.

The number of exhibitors at the championship show was down from 66 in 1951 to 59 this year, "but of that 59 only five or six showed more than five head, and that's a good sign that our breeders are bringing out top animals".

Mr. Nelson endorsed the advice that ROP cows demanded a premium. "I recommend our breeders to get on ROP."

MENACE OF OILS

The meeting discussed the menace of vegetable oils to the entire dairy industry, resulting in a motion by Stewart Nelson that protection from that kind of competition be sough from the authorities, and that the Canadian Holstein Association be urged to use its influence.

G. A. Brethen congratulated the club "on what appears to me to be the largest attendance in my recollection". He invited the club to transfer its Black and White Day to Norwood Fair.

When Farm Income Falls

Farmers who attended the Peterborough Federation of Agriculture annual meeting at the Normal School heard V. S. Milburn's reference to the lay-offs a month ago at the Brantford plant manufacturing farm implements.

Mr. Milburn was asserting that decline in farm income was the major factor in that suspension of urban workers, and that city people would be affected by any continuation of rural reverses such as the loss of the U.S. livestock market, resulting from foot and mouth disease, and Britain's inability to finance import of Canada's farm food products. Mr. Milburn said farmers could not buy manufactured goods unless they were selling their own products at a fair profit.

Significant to Mr. Milburn's remark was this news item Thursday from Ottawa: "Four Cabinet ministers received on Wednesday a joint delegation of 12 representing two major unions in the farm implement industry. They were from locals in Woodstock, Brantford, Hamilton and Toronto plants of International Harvester and Massey-Harris, appealing to the federal government for short-term and long range assistance to alleviate unemployment."

A formal brief, citing the fact that 2,000 more implement workers were now idle in the four centres, asked specifically for government initiative in establishing a four-way implement council to guide the industry and gauge foreign and domestic markets.

Bruce Graham President

Bruce Graham of Westwood was elected president of Peterborough Crop Improvement Association at its meeting Thursday afternoon. He takes the place of Robert Armstrong of Cavan, president for the last three years, who pleaded that he already had his "hands full".

The other officers are:

1st vice-president, Eddie Kimball; 2nd vice-president, Carman Seymour; secretary-treasurer, F. C. Paterson.

Directors: Cavan, Fred McIndoo, Roger Hanbidge and Carman Seymour. North Monaghan: Clarence Johnston, Henry Batten. South Monaghan: Gerald Dawson, John Nurse. Douro: Stanley Wood, Vern Campbell. Asphodel: James Moore, Harold Van Volkenburg. Otonabee: Earl Petrie, W. Sutton, William Chambers, Alex Huston, Alan Eason. Ennismore: Leo Scollard. Emily: Harold Millen, Harry Jackson. Smith: Graham Eastwood, W. C. Mann, George McIlmoyl. Auditors: Wellington Sutton and William Chambers.

Delegates to the provincial convention: Bruce Graham and Carman Seymour with Ed Kimball alternate.

Some of the ideas in response to Mr. Paterson's request for guidance in planning the Central Ontario Spring Show were: Clarence Mann—"I think we can run a two-day program instead of the one day last year."

Carman Seymour: "The discussion panel was very good, but it seemed to be pressed for time. It might be better to allow for more time."

Arnold Stevenson and several other members were not quite in agreement on how the show might appeal to women's interests. "Women are interested in the practical side of farming, and the program of last year would help them to learn much about our problems."

Another suggestion was that some subject in Women's Institute work or home economics might be interesting, home layouts and "How best to remodel old homes".

Mr. Armstrong, president of the show, said the ideas would be submitted to its program committee.

Melville Johnston, County Weed Inspector, put in a persuasive word against noxious weeds, particularly Yellow Rocket to be pulled or sprayed about May 15, Goatsbeard, burdock, wild carrot and the shrubs, European barberry and buckthorn.

Cheques were distributed to the winners of the Association's 50 Bushels of Wheat Club.

Warning Dairy Farmers

Ruination of the dairy industry of Canada by the importation of vegetable oils was forecast by Gordon Greer, of Ottawa, president of the Ontario Milk Producers' League, at the annual meeting of the St. Thomas Whole Milk Producers. He was also speaker at the London district milk producers' annual meeting. Motions supported a Federation of Agriculture brief to the federal government asking for a ban on vegetable oils which might be used in imitating dairy products. In both areas, dairy farmers were advised to solicit the aid of their members of parliament.

Gilbert McMillan, of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, said at the Dominion-Provincial conference in Ottawa last week that the dairy industry could be "written off as a major industry in Canada" unless the competition from synthetic dairy products was curbed.

Some old line dairy companies in the U.S. were pushing the sale of these substitute products—they were cheaper and returned a greater profit. If the competition was given free rein, then there was little if any hope of obtaining better prices for genuine dairy products.

At Aylmer, Monday, Charles Milton, Toronto, secretary-manager of the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers, said there was need for alarm at the threat of imported vegetable oils.

"It is now proposed," he said, "to substitute oils for butterfat in making evaporated milk, custards and frozen desserts. If something isn't done to stop this, the future of the dairy industry is not bright as far as butterfat is concerned."

Better Cattle Prices

Oxford county Holstein Breeders on Tuesday elected J. A. McDowell president. John Powell of Brantford pointed up the effects of the restricted markets this year with reference to the decline in transfers. "Instead of having 42,000 this year, we had 27,000. We have good reasons to believe that sales next year should be at reasonably good prices." Retiring president, R. A. Dickout of Salford said: "Now is the time for breeders, both grade and pure bred, to strengthen and improve their herds."

Regrets Egg Vote

At the Victoria County Federation of Agriculture annual meeting, William Newman lamented the defeat of the egg-poultry marketing scheme as an opportunity that was neglected.

"A year ago our egg and poultry producers voted on a marketing plan costing one cent a dozen. It would be a goodly sum. It would be a power in the hands of their own elected and tried men to take care of the surplus. The producers voted themselves out of business, not only by not voting, but as well by voting against the scheme. Today I sold eggs at 39 cents a dozen, and I have no one in the business who cares what becomes either of my customer, who less than a month ago was paying more than was necessary, or of myself, who now is selling at a price which takes much of the joy out of life. The egg and poultry producers, who had a chance to build up protection for themselves, let it slip out of their hands, and have no one to appeal to, and will take what they get. It is little consolation that many of us fought hard to put the project across."

Odds and Ends

Harry Garnet and Louis Downer of Otonabee were winners of the door prize rugs at the Peterborough Holstein Club meeting. . . . John Hunter of Quaker Oats says the International Livestock Show at Chicago does not rate with the Royal Winter Fair. Its fat stock are outstanding, but otherwise there is not the wide range of classes the Royal presents. . . . V. S. Milburn, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, told the Holstein Club Saturday that he was greatly impressed by Vern Campbell in his review of Peterborough Co-op affairs at the local Federation meeting last Friday night at the Normal School. "I'd like to see Mr. Campbell with the Ontario Co-operative." . . . . . Walter Burns, an elder of the Peterborough Plowmen, said the other night he keeps the spirit of youth by associating with the junior members, and also with the other young farmers who compete in the local matches. . . .

4-H Club Rally

The 4-H Club leaders of Hastings county have plans for a rally at Stirling Monday Dec. 22. Those participating in the sessions, morning, afternoon and evening, will be the club members, and those boys and girls who are interested in joining 4-H Clubs in 1953. J. A. Francis, assistant agricultural representative, writes: "This is a new program, and the club leaders are doing considerable planning to make this an interesting and educational day."

Holsteins Average $300

Fifty Holsteins brought $12,316 at the Hays sale at Oakville on December 1 for an average of $300. Top ten females averaged $370. The highest price was $425 paid by Frank Symons, of Bowmanville, for a three-year-old heifer consigned by Harold Wilker, Tavistock. Second highest was $410 which Wm. J. Murphy, of Lindsay, received for his three-year-old Green Lawn Eve May from D. H. Hunter, of Unionville.

Stewart Hall Rink

Stewart Hall Forum engaged an R. A. Blyth bulldozer to excavate a pond in the field of W. W. Dawson's farm opposite his house. A committee is planning a skating rink, 120 ft. by 60 ft., for the young people of that section of Otonabee. Use of the pond next summer will be given later consideration. It is fed by springs inside the fence on the Dawson property, and is assured of a supply of water.

Easy On Treasury

At the Crop Improvement Association meeting Thursday, it was reported that Roy Sanderson turned back into the treasury the $14 prize money he won in the 50 bushel wheat club project, and Everett Elmhurst and William Mood, of Birdsall, delegates to the Ontario convention last winter, have not yet submitted expense accounts.

Many At Meetings

More than 800 attended Huron County 4-H Club achievement night program, and 300 Holstein Breeders in Dundas County assembled for their annual banquet.

Half Farmers Not Members Of Federation

Peterborough Federation members would probably subscribe to the statement of Robinson Thompson of Belmont, president of Middlesex Federation that "fewer than 50 per cent of the farm folk of Middlesex show any appreciable interest in the federation" which is popularly described as the "Voice of Agriculture". That, he said, was a situation close to home which should be investigated.

One resolution requested the Ontario Federation to petition the government of Ontario to provide arbitration boards, with farmer representation, "to consider claims where farm land is affected by new highways, towers, pipelines, etc."

This appeal was based on the deep concern of farmers about damage done to farms by utilities workers.

A resolution from Adelaide township was endorsed: "Whereas the price of fertilizer is found to be the same for all companies, be it therefore resolved that we request the Ontario Federation of Agriculture to investigate the price of fertilizer and take whatever action is deemed necessary."

Henry Blakely (right), a charter member of the Durham County 500 Bushel Potato Club, receiving a certificate of life membership from R. E. Goodin, assistant director of the Crops Branch, of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. He was one of the pioneer growers of certified seed potatoes during the time that F. C. Paterson was agricultural representative in Durham, and advanced to the 500 Bushel Club organized under the leadership of Ed Summers, present representative. Ontario production of potatoes today averages not more than 200 bushels to the acre. In one of his best years Mr. Blakely won a gold watch for high yield in the province of slightly under 700 bushels an acre. The Blakely farm east of Pontypool was latterly sold to a tobacco grower, and with that disposal Mr. Blakely retired from farming. Members of the Durham Club have put to profitable use the new ideas and methods of potato production, including fertilizers, spraying for blight and crop pests, and generally raising to government standards the quality of their new varieties of potatoes.

Farmers Asked To Co-operate

Each December the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa, in co-operation with the Provincial Department of Agriculture in Ontario, Toronto, conduct a survey of the number of livestock on farms, and the cost of hired labor. Forms for this survey are being mailed.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture hopes that all farmers will complete and return this schedule in the postage free envelope supplied because reliable statistics on the farm situation can only be compiled if there is a widespread response from all types of farmers throughout the province.

This survey is designed to provide answers to such questions as "How many cattle are there in Ontario? How many of these are dairy and how many are beef animals? How many hogs are there on farms now, and how many sows are going to farrow in the next six months?"

This survey is absolutely confidential and has no connection whatsoever with taxation. Individual reports are grouped together in the Statistics office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture where estimates of the required information are made on a county basis.

The Minister of Agriculture, Colonel the Honorable Thomas L. Kennedy, recently stated that these statistics on agricultural production were of very great help to him in determining the state of agriculture and in drawing up policies to improve and further the interests of farmers. He also stated that farm organizations, such as The Federation of Agriculture, made a great deal of use of these figures in the preparation of their briefs to both the Provincial and Dominion Governments on behalf of the farming population.

Farmers themselves need reliable basic data on livestock population in order to properly determine whether to expand or decrease their own scale of operations. Results of these surveys will be given wide publicity through the press and in the Monthly Crop Report of the Department early in the New Year.

Plowmen Elect Henry Batten

Peterborough Plowmen are suspending their county match in 1953 to lend a hand at the International Plowing Match at Cobourg next October.

Henry Batten was re-elected president at the annual meeting Wednesday night; Reg. Ferguson, first vice president, and Sam Killen, 2nd vice president. Frank C. Paterson is secretary-treasurer and Stuart Hall assistant. Senator J. J. Duffus and G. A. Gillespie are honorary presidents.

The following directors were appointed: Asphodel—William Thompson and Arnold Stevenson; Belmont—Orland Brown; Douro—Howard Quinn, Vern Campbell and Gordon Bradfield; Dummer—Alex Carlow and Joseph Watts.

Ennismore—Leo Scollard and Tom Harrington; Harvey—Andrew Irwin and Hugh Allen; North Monaghan — William Robson, Ernie Kelk and Clarence Laing; Otonabee—Alex Huston, Don McFarlane, Robert Jackson, Walter Thorn; Smith—Maurice Telford, Harry Grant, Robert McAdam and Henry Sharpe.

City and business: G. A. Gillespie, Stuart Hall, Harold Ball, V. Drury, Reuben Wilson, Cliff Curtis, Walter Burns, Hanlan Payne, Ted Elliott, Don McIntyre, Wm. Godson.

Hanlan Payne continues as chairman of the social committee. Nothing has been decided yet as to an association dinner, but it is likely that the committee will proceed with plans for a dance.

Cliff Curtis and Bob McAdam were appointed delegates to the provincial convention in Toronto; alternates are Reg. Ferguson and Arnold Stevenson.

Plans for the Local Day at the International Match will be elaborated at a meeting of county presidents and secretaries at Port Hope Jan. 12. At a recent meeting at Cobourg it was decided to invite the county associations of North and South Ontario, Victoria, Peterborough, Durham-Northumberland to participate in the local day competitions and to assist financially by each putting up $400 for prize money.

Probably some allowance will be made for the fact that there are two associations in Ontario county. Any unspent money will be distributed among the assisting counties in proportion to their grants.

There are no associations in Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox-Addington. However, if these counties contribute each $100, they will be permitted to enter competitors in the competition at Cobourg. These are details to be considered further at the Port Hope meeting.

Len Henderson of Cavan, representing the Cobourg organization, said that Peterborough's assistance would be greatly appreciated. It is likely that a call will be sent to Peterborough Junior Farmers to help in the sale of tickets.

Democracy Must Be 'Lived' Federation Leader Urges

"As we look upon the brighter side of life, we should be thankful for the bountiful harvest with which we have been blessed and the privilege of living in this free democratic country," said Henry Sharpe in his address as president at the annual meeting of Peterborough Federation of Agriculture.

"Let us not become indifferent to the value of democracy. If the threat of Communism is to be removed from the world today, every one of us must believe in democracy and above all live it."

Mr. Sharpe discussed the trend of the year in agriculture, and factors affecting the rural economy. The U.S. embargo on Canadian livestock was followed by the United Kingdom cutting her purchases of foodstuffs from Canada.

"The result is that in most of the major products we see surpluses building up, and prices being reduced at a time when other industries seem quite healthy. I am satisfied that farm organizations and particularly the Federation of Agriculture can rightfully claim at least some credit for influencing the government to establish floor prices on beef and pork.

While the prices set are by no means satisfactory to producers; they have had a stabilizing effect on the markets, and I think should be termed stop-loss prices rather than floor prices.

Producer groups are endeavoring to have the government abandon its plan to reduce the pork floor price. If weekly marketing shows signs of falling off before the first of the year, then there is a possibility that the floor prices will remain at the present level."

Mr. Sharpe paid the following tribute to Harold Lewis: "Your very capable and conscientious fieldman, Mr. Lewis, after much effort compiled a mailing list for the Rural Co-Operator, I know you will agree with me that he had done a fine job of promotion for the Federation through the Saturday radio program, through the work that he has done in forming new radio forums, and in his daily contact with you in his insurance business."

Shorthorn Sale

Thirty-two Shorthorns averaged $335 for a total of $10,715 at Clinton in Huron County. The average a year ago was $439. Top price a week ago was $465. R. H. Blake, Kackson, Mich., took seven animals for close to $2,000.

See Improved Recreational Facilities Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—Improvement of recreational facilities for Canadian troops in Europe may result from the visits of Defence Minister Claxton, informed quarters say.

Before leaving for Europe to attend the North Atlantic Treaty meetings, Mr. Claxton said he planned to go into the whole question of welfare of the army's 27th brigade and the Canadian airmen at North Luffenham, England, and Gros Tenquin, France.

Col. John Wallis, director of administration for the army and head of its welfare services, has visited the brigade twice, the last time in February and March. He plans to establish some Canadian counterpart to the U.K.'s NAAFI organization.

The Canadian Legion said Mr. Claxton has rejected a legion offer to provide welfare services to Canadian forces serving overseas.

Legion headquarters quoted a letter from Mr. Claxton expressing the opinion that existing welfare services are as good or better than in the Second World War.

Psychologically Bad

LONDON (CP)—A nursery school here imposed a ban on toy guns when some of the 80 pupils arrived at school with toy guns to play cowboys and Indians. An inspector said it was psychologically bad for kiddies to get the feel of toys that looked so much like the real thing.

Drop Engineers From Air To Build Bridge

By JIM PEACOCK

ALASKA HIGHWAY (CP)—A 20-man crew from Canada's only airborne engineering unit is building a bridge in an isolated corner of the Yukon wilderness using only natural resources as material.

Lieut. George Wells of Eploit, Nfld., says the bridge when completed could carry up to 15 tons.

Lieut. Wells and men from the No. 1 airborne troop of the Royal Canadian Engineers were given that assignment for exercise "Reluctant Beaver" in the Kloo Lake area 1,550 miles northwest of Edmonton.

The bridge is part of a four-mile access road to an ice airstrip being constructed on Kloo Lake by other members of the same troop in an exercise designed to test the engineering unit.

DROPPED BY PARACUHTE

The men were dropped by parachute on Kloo Lake nine days ago. They set up a tent camp near Mile 1034 of the Alaska Highway, several hundred yards from Jarvis creek, and set to work spanning the creek.

Men like Spr. E. L. Cuillerier of Kapuskasing, Ont., and Cpl. Arnold Krantz of Hyth, Alta., lived in five-man arctic tents, ate rations from a 30-pound five-man pack that contained everything from cigarets and chocolate bars to bacon, hardtack biscuits and raisins, and enjoyed it.

"It's a healthy life," Spr. Cuillerier said. "There's plenty of fresh air and you don't catch cold."

The tents, heated by small, gas-burning camp stoves, were warm enough for comfort in shirt-sleeves. Rations were dropped by parachute and each man took a turn at cooking for his tent mates.

Neither officers nor men bothered to shave. They said their beards helped keep them warm in the zero-to-30-below temperatures. Water for drinking and washing was obtained through a hole in the ice on Jarvis creek.

Every man had his job. Spr. R. Sayers of St. Catharines, Ont., helped chop logs in surrounding woods. Spr. J. R. Heal of Winnipeg dragged them to the bridge site by tractor. Among spike drivers after the logs had been set in place was Spr. E. Duerno of St. Catharines.

Lights For Safety

LONDON (CP)—Mounted police carried lights for the first time in regular service when they escorted the 2nd battalion Coldstream Guards on a recent march through the city. Use of such lights has increased since last year's accident at Chatham when 23 marching naval cadets were killed.

Recession Fears Fading Bank Letter Indicates

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

What will happen to business when defence expenditures pass their peak, and this big source of buying is reduced?

Some fear this will start a recession.

For those who think that way, the current monthly letter of the National Bank of New York has some reassuring words. The letter says:

"We have had experience with a previous and far-greater reduction in government purchases than anything now likely; namely, at the end of the Second World War.

"Even able and experienced economic analysts could not see, at that time, what could possibly come forward to fill the gap in demand. Predictions of unemployment (in the U.S.) ran as high as 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 people. They proved, of course, to be utterly without basis.

FAILED TO REALIZE WANTS

"In concentrating upon the gap, the prophets of this school failed to realize the extent of people's wants and the vigor and the ability with which the business organization would plunge into the task of satisfying those wants.

"In this experience there is a lesson for all time. During declared and undeclared war, when the influence of government purchases both actually and psychologically is at its peak, it is natural to think that business could not sustain a reduction in those purchases without depression. But this is not inherently or inescapably true.

"The question is whether private business, in its normal function of satisfying people's wants, will come forward to fill the gap."

What the national bank letter says of the post-war experience of the United States is, in full measure, also true of Canada.

GREATER DEMAND

Its comment adds point to the argument that the most basic fact in the world today is that there is more demand than can be met, and that the problem is not one of demand but of making sure that the wheels of commerce and distribution keep turning over.

The bank's letter gave a bright picture of present business conditions in the U.S., and this corresponds with current comment in Canada.

The postponement of recession, to which the bank letter refers, is a process that has been going on since the war.

RHEUMATIC PAIN

"This winter I had to quit work because of rheumatic pain," writes Mr. T. Glofcheskie, Wilno, Ont. "I became fearful of being laid up as on a previous occasion with rheumatic pain. WESTMINSTER ABBEY — Westminster Abbey is the scene of the coronation of the British kings and burial place of a host of soldiers, statesmen and writers. Its legendary history dates back to the seventh century when the first church is said to have been built by King Sebert. Through the centuries it has been enlarged until now it has an extreme length of 530 feet, is 220 feet wide and 105 feet high. The 18th century towers on the west front, shown here, are 225 feet high. Queen Elizabeth II will be crowned in the Abbey next June.

Elizabeth Lived In Early Years Like Child Of Country Gentleman

(As Queen Elizabeth prepares for the ordeal of the Coronation, she probably thinks wistfully of the time when few dreamed she would one day be sovereign. This story, one of a series, is about her happy childhood.)

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—"In the days of my childhood," young Elizabeth once said, "the sun seemed always to be shining."

Now, as she prepares for next summer's Coronation, the Queen must often think nostalgically of an upbringing modelled on her mother's ruling:

"We want Elizabeth and (her sister) Margaret to have a happy childhood, which they can always look back on."

The wish was fulfilled. Elizabeth Alexandra Mary Windsor, born April 21, 1926, in the Bruton street home of her maternal grandparents, the Earl and Countess of Strathmore, was reared in an intimate family atmosphere, in a household where doors were never slammed in anger.

THRONE FAR DISTANT

Though she was christened with the names of three queens—her mother, grandmother and great-grandmother—the throne seemed far away.

It was as the child of a country gentleman, rather than as a possible future monarch, that the daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York lived at Bruton street, at the Royal Lodge in Windsor, at 145 Piccadilly near Hyde Park, and finally at Windsor Castle during the Second World War.

Some of her happiest moments were spent in the tall house on Piccadilly, with its top-floor nurseries and the room with her "stable" of three dozen toy horses. There she and Margaret played and took lessons from Marion Crawford, a young woman from Edinburgh University who was their governess and companion for 17 years.

It was there she developed a passion for comic strips, numbering among early favorites "L'il Abner" and "Mutt and Jeff." Once a policeman guarding a royal train heard a peremptory tap at a window behind him. It was Lilibet, as Elizabeth was called then, holding out a shilling for comics from a nearby newsstand.

WEEKLY ALLOWANCE

In many ways her childhood was like any other youngster's. Her pocket money was a shilling a week. Though as a princess she had a large income, her private bank account was small. She thought it excitingly large. Her gifts at birthdays and Christmas were simple. When in doubt, donors were always safe in sending another horse for the top-floor stable.

Elizabeth loved horses and became a good rider. She frequently visited race courses. Once at a circus she surprised experts by her knowledge of breeds.

"If I am ever Queen," she said, "I shall make a law that there must be no riding on Sundays. Horses should have a rest, too. And I shan't let anyone dock their pony's tail!"

Another favorite toy was the Little House (Y Bwthyn Bach), a present from the people of Wales. It was complete in every detail from plumbing to a miniature package of headache powders. Elizabeth spent hours in it and, with characteristic care, always left it spick and span.

During the war, at Windsor Castle, she showed a flair for dramatics. She and Margaret organized annual Christmas pantomimes of near-professional calibre, spiced with sly jokes about royalty. One such production was called "Old Mother Red Riding Boots."

GRANDMA WAS STERN

Queen Mary had a powerful influence on the children. When the King and Queen were on the royal tour of Canada in 1939, she took the sisters on a series of public visits. Once, earlier, Queen Mary had put Elizabeth smartly in her place. When the Princess clamored to leave an event because people outside were "waiting to see me," Queen Mary hustled her out a back door with an attendant and sent her home by taxi.

In all, Elizabeth was a princess in the modern manner. Her early training and education were influenced by a 20th century concept that members of the Royal Family should enjoy some freedom and informality. Her studies covered a wide range, but as Louis Wulff wrote in "Queen of Tomorrow," she was "never forced precociously in a hothouse of royal learning, nor circumscribed in her studies and entertainment when she grew older."

Her favorite subjects were history, literature and languages. She disliked arithmetic and algebra. She never took a formal examination, although if the war had not intervened she might have been the first British princess to go into residence at a university.

QUEEN MARY—Queen Mary has lived to see the close of five reigns and her grand-daughter Queen Elizabeth II ascend the throne of Britain. Now 86, it has been announced she will not attend the lengthy coronation service next June 2 but probably will watch it on television. Born May 26, 1867, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Teck, she outlived her husband, King George V, to become one of the Commonwealth's three living queens.

Doctor Appeals 3-Month Term

KENORA (CP)—Dr. Peter Playfair, 33-year-old head of a medical clinic here, has appealed a three-month jail sentence imposed for fraud.

Dr. Playfair, formerly of Ottawa, was sentenced Monday when he pleaded guilty to five charges of obtaining money from a health scheme which should have been paid by patients. He was fined $500 on each charge in addition to the jail term.

Two other clinic members, Dr. Earl S. Bryngelson, 25, and Dr. Allan M. Torrie, 29, were fined $1,500 each.

W. F. B. Rogers, counsel for Dr. Playfair, said Thursday that the appeal had been entered and his client would be permitted bail. No date was set for a hearing.

Need More Wells To Record Water

TORONTO (CP)—More observation wells and long-term records of changes in water tables are needed before exact deductions as to what is happening to Ontario's subterranean supply can be made, says A. K. Watt, in charge of ground water records and investigation for the department of mines.

The 60th annual report of the department said nearly half the province's residents depend on wells or springs for their water supplies. In some cases where water is limited it may be necessary to establish a second well to return water to the aquifer, he said.

Greatest fluctuations have been recorded in the Thedford, Palmerston, Kitchener and Guelph areas where the level has changed as much as 14 feet.

NO 1952 FATALITIES

WOODSTOCK (CP) — Twenty days to go and Woodstock hasn't had a traffic fatality this year. Last year there were two.

QUEEN MOTHER — The Queen Mother, from the moment she ascended the throne May 12, 1937, as the consort of King George VI, has shown a sure touch in an exacting position. Largely through her influence the Royal Family served all Britain as a model of happy domesticity. Her gentle smile and the graceful wave of her hand have become known throughout the world as outward expressions of a personality that helped to put the British Crown and people in closer touch than ever before. She endeared herself to Canada during the Royal Tour of 1939.

Chiang's Chances Of Returning To China Better

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—On Dec. 10 three years ago, President Chiang Kai-shek quit the Chinese mainland for Formosa before the onrush of the conquering Communists.

Chiang vowed to return But to most people he was finished.

Since then, the wheel of fortune has turned. Fewer and fewer persons now deride Chiang's chances of making a comeback.

His armies on that day were beaten and scattered. Today he has possibly 600,000 soldiers on Formosa. While it is shy on equipment, it is getting more and more material help from the United States.

His air force and navy, with obsolescent and inadequate equipment, had preceded him to Formosa. Both forces still need equipment, but they have the promise of more modern tools of war from the United States. And the morale of both services is high.

DISMAL DAY

It was a cold, dismal day that Chiang left Chengtu, last Nationalist capital on the mainland, for the flight to Formosa.

Chengtu had been the capital for 10 brief days after Chiang had withdrawn from Chungking, the previous capital.

People waiting for the fateful hour of departure knew it was at hand when they saw a soldier carry the telephone switchboard from the commandant's house at central military academy, Chiang's headquarters.

A little later Chiang emerged, got into his car and left. He looked at the big bronze statue of himself on the academy grounds.

CONTINUE FIGHT

A few days before he had told this correspondent: "We shall continue the fight from Formosa."

On the way to the air field, Chiang saw the long lines of his soldiers passing in retreat southward.

A company or so of Nationalist soldiers at the field watched silently as Chiang's plane roared aloft. But no flags flew and no band blared.

In the four planes heading for Taipeh, more than one person in Chiang's party must have reflected that a country had been lost forever. Today, they are not so sure.

Looks Like Happy Christmas B.C. Youngster May Smile Again

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—It will be a happy Christmas for Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ottley.

The young couple's five-year-old daughter, Linda Lee, may smile again.

Linda has never been able to manage a full-face smile, but now, after many disappointments, there is hope.

An injury at birth left the child with deadened nerves and immovable muscles on the right side of her face.

Pretty, blonde Linda has the trace of a smile, but only a trace. Many doctors said "nothing can be done."

But a young Vancouver plastic surgeon has brought hope.

HAS OPERATION

Linda was taken to the Children's Hospital in Vancouver and there underwent a three-hour operation.

It was a muscle transplant, believed the first operation of its kind on a child in Canada. The child's drooping right lip was brought up and may eventually bring movement to the right side of her paralyzed face.

The surgeon, whose name was not disclosed, warned the parents it was an experiment, but he is hopeful of success. It will be some weeks, however, before success or failure is known.

Linda now is home from hospital, joyfully awaiting Santa's arrival, but the big Christmas present may come later—a big smile.

When a handwriting is vertical (as in this specimen) it usually denotes a reserved and controlled temperament.

This writer will show his true feelings and affections only on approval of his mind. This does not mean that he is as cool and indifferent as he may seem; but he will be hesitant to reveal his emotions and enthusiasms to others.

He is practical, creative and imaginative.

Outboard Marine To Produce Power Mower

Adding more diversity to their manufacturing line, Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. Ltd. are starting production in Canada of a rotary power mower.

Development of the mower started with another product, a two-cycle gasoline-powered, air-cooled engine. Purchase of a rotary mower firm in Missouri, U.S.A., advanced the company's plans by at least a year.

The mower is powered by this two-cycle Iron Horse engine, with a body of die cast aluminum. Total weight is 35 pounds. The wheels are not geared to the motor, thus providing a lawnmower, which, in the words of company president Clarence B. Neal, "doesn't pull the operator around." →

Known as the Lawn Boy, the mower will be brought on the market early next year. Features are: offset wheels to prevent scalping of the turf, a side trim feature for cutting close to trees and walls, and a side discharge opening which scatters clippings evenly over the lawn, eliminating windrows and raking.

To the city it will mean increased employment in time, although company officials at Outboard Marine are not prepared to say to what extent.

ADMIRING THE LATEST addition to the Outboard Marine's manufactured line—a power mower — are company president Clarence B. Neal (centre), merchandising vice-president Larry Tremblay (left), and Reg Reid, sales manager of industrial motors division. In the background are three outboard motors and several of the industrial motors the firm produces. The power mower will go on the market early next year.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Hands Oats Crop

VALLEYVIEW, Alta. (CP)—Farmer Henry Gavillan didn't lose any money even though he left his oats crop uncut this fall. An oil-hunting party, who were unable to move motor vehicles over the muskeg, brought 60 horses into the area and gave Gavillan a contract to winter-feed them in his oats field

United States May Send Envoy To Formosa

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomats speculated today that one of President-elect Eisenhower's early diplomatic moves will be to appoint an ambassador to the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa.

The United States has not had an ambassador there since the government fled to the island in 1949.

The White House announced Thursday night the resignation of China-born John Leighton Stuart, 76, who has held the post of ambassador to China since 1946 but has been inactive through illness since mid-1949.

In view of the oft-expressed Republican concern about U. S. relations with the government on Formosa, it is considered probable that the Eisenhower administration will send an ambassador there soon after taking office.

Nationalist China's hold on the mainland gave way under Communist military pressure late in 1949. The Truman administration then was against any quick recognition of Communist China and withdrawal of recognition from the Nationalists. But it did take the position that the Nationalist regime had been discredited throughout Asia and had lost the support of the people inside China.

However, the increasing stability of the Nationalists brought an improvement in relations with the U. S.

But Stuart's prolonged ill health made it impossible to consider his going to Taipeh and indications were that officials here were content to be represented there by a minister rather than an ambassador.

Many Republicans, meanwhile, criticized the administration attitude toward Chiang Kai-Shek's regime and urged that the U.S. do more for his government. After the Communist attack on South Korea in June, 1950, Truman declared the U. S. could not tolerate the possible loss of Formosa.

Dog-Eared Bible Retired By Court

WHITBY (CP) — A dog - eared Bible was retired at Ontario county court today after Crown Attorney Alex Hall pointed out labels identifying its ownership were incorrectly spelled.

Judge F. J. MacRae called for a new Bible after Mr. Hall said new Canadians who have to be able to read and spell in English before becoming citizens, take their oath of allegiance on the volume.

One label on the Bible read Whitby Kort, the other, Whitby Cort.

Opera Telecast Reception Poor

NEW YORK (AP) — The Metropolitan Opera's famed golden curtain went up and a silver screen audience coast to coast settled back to enjoy the telecast of Bizet's "Carmen."

More than 3,000 opera lovers at the Met itself were joined electronically Thursday night by thousands of other patrons of 31 theatres in 27 U. S. cities. Total seating capacity of the theatres was estimated at 60,000. Reports on attendance ranged from half full to capacity.

The closed circuit telecast—you couldn't see it on your home TV set—unanimously was pleasing to the ear. But the picture reproduction got few good notices.

The cross-country audience watched and listened to Rise Stevens in the title role and Richard Tucker as Don Jose.

Fading and fuzziness of the pictures was general, but the audience didn't seem to mind too much.

New Kind Of Aircraft Will Soon Be Ready For Use

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Aircraft which take off and land like helicopters but fly like airplanes are practical and ready for development, leaders in a new field of aviation said today.

Speakers at a "convertible aircraft congress" disclosed the hybrid "convertiplane" can make flying cheaper, faster—and much safer.

One of them, Dr. J.A.J. Bennett, an engineer with Hiller Helicopter Corp., Palo Alto, Calif., also proposed the use of short-haul jet-powered helicopters as aerial tugs.

Bennett said in a prepared paper that helicopters can be used to pick up airplanes from rooftops or ship decks and launch them, or to catch them as they come in and lower them to tiny landing areas, much as harbor tug-boats shepherd huge liners into port or out again.

Gerard P. Herrick, president of Convertoplane Corp., New York City, and builder 20 years ago of the first aircraft to "fly both ways" —like a helicopter and like an airplane—said in a prepared address the true convertiplane "will soon be a reality."

Models and design drawings of several convertiplane types were presented, but no actual craft was described or discussed.

Louis de Monge de Franeau of Flettner Aircraft Corp., Kew Gardens, N. Y., described a convertiplane design with wings which rotate to provide helicopter takeoffs and landings, then lock into wing position for airplane flight.

The roto-wing is driven by jet engines in its tips, he said. These same jets would provide forward motion, although for higher propelling thrust in airplane flight the craft could switch to jet exhaust nozzle in the centre of the wings, over the plane's nose.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Meat In Stuffing, Not Stuffed Meat

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Turnabout's fair practice any time, particularly in food. For instance next time the menu calls for meat pie, put the meat in the crust instead of using it as filling.

In the same fashion home economists recommend putting meat in the stuffing instead of stuffing the meat.

For instance: seasoned minced beef or hamburger may be mixed with sauteed onions to stuff vegetables such as onions, squash or cabbage.

The meat "pastry" goes something like this: line a pie-plate with the ground beef mixture and then fill with seasoned vegetables such as drained canned tomatoes and corn.

The ground beef "crust" could also be put into muffin-tins to make individual pies.

TURKEY 'N TRIMMINGS

Something new in dressing comes from the department of agriculture for the turkey this Christmas.

Cranberry stuffing: One cup cranberries; one-third cup sugar; two tablespoons fruit juice; four cups medium dry bread crumbs; 1½ teaspoons salt; one-half teaspoon marjoram or poultry seasoning; one-quarter cup diced celery; one tablespoon chopped parsley.

Cut cranberries in quarters. Mix with sugar and fruit juice and allow to stand until sugar is dissolved. Mix bread crumbs, salt, seasoning, celery and parsley, combine with cranberries, blending well. Yield: five cups dressing.

NEW LOOK

Tired of serving pork chops the same old way? Here's a new dress that will turn them into a special treat.

Salt and pepper six thick chops and put them flat in a baking-dish. On each chop put one tablespoon of the following: One small can of cream style corn; one well beaten egg; pieces of pimento.

Put in oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) and bake 45-40 minutes. Add a small amount of water if needed.

For soup: Crumble a little Canadian Cheddar or blue-veined roquefort-type cheese on hot cream of mushroom soup. It gives a distinctive flavor.

Mrs. H. Deyell Re-elected WA President

OMEMEE (ENS)—Trinity United Church WA closed year with a Christmas worship service and election of officers at a meeting held in the parsonage. President Mrs. H. Deyell expressed satisfaction in the year's work, saying it was the best of her six years in office. Interest and co-operation were all that could be desired, and there had been a sharp increase in membership.

Mrs. V. Lang opened the worship service with a Christmas message which dealt with spiritual values which should enter into Christmas anticipation. The account of the birth of Christ as revealed to the shepherds, as told in the gospel of St. Luke, was read by Mrs. Ross Rehill and a commentary by Mrs. L. Casey. Mrs. H. McKee led in prayer. Christmas meditations were presented by Mrs. H. Graham on "Bethlehem" and by Mrs. M. Lethangue on "Peace Among Men." Carols were sung in keeping with each theme. "Away in a Manger" was used as a prayer when sung softly by Mrs. Casey and Mrs. W. D. Weir. At the conclusion of the worship Mrs. Lang extended good wishes to all for a Christmas in which the commercial side would be forgotten and Christ would be the central figure.

The report of the nominating committee was accepted, and the following officers installed with a dedicatory prayer by Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt: President, Mrs. H. Deyell; first vice, Mrs. V. Lang; second vice, Mrs. G. Overholt; corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. E. Brooks; recording secretary, Mrs. S. D. Vaughan; treasurer, Mrs. A. Weir; pianist, Mrs. Moyer; assistant, Mrs. L. Christmas Party For Blind Possible Through "Giving"

Among the nicest of the Christmas dinner parties going on nightly these two weeks before Christmas is that of the Louis Braille Society. The sixth annual dinner and entertainment for the blind of the city and county of Peterborough was on Thursday evening and was again at the Legion Hall.

Quantities of turkey and dressing, with vegetables and condiments, followed by a delicious fruit dessert and coffee, were served by ladies of the Order of the Eastern Star to more than 100 persons. This organization has been doing this work each year and it would seem that the members enjoy it just as much as the blind and their sighted escorts and guests enjoy eating it. The Braille Society is assisted in providing the fowl by an annual donation from the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion and the Legion donates use of their hall.

Others in on the "giving" for this party are the entertainers. It is the giving of substance and service for people who are hindered from full enjoyment of life that makes the party outstanding. Those who do give seem to be filled with a desire to give more and more often — like the Kawartha Four Barbershop Quartet whose spokesman, Mr. Harold Coulson, said the society of quartets in Peterborough hopes to organize so it may be able to do more for the blind in the coming year.

The quartet harmonized a group of favorite songs commencing with "Hello To Everybody," "Susie Brown," "Wait Till the Sun Shines Nellie," and "Good Old Summer Ttime" and "Daisy and Annie Rooney." Mr. Maurice Leonard delighted with his renditions of "Silent Night" and "White Christmas" and by request another carol and then closed with "Irish Lullaby."

The McBride orchestra contributed the music for dancing after dinner and played for the singing of favorite old songs of the blind people, which was led by Mr. Tom Pritchard.

Guest speaker was Dr. E. C. McKee and he provided a very happy half-hour with a bit of sense and a bit more of laughable nonsense, mostly garnered from his office scrap book. The sense dwelt on the "vacant spaces" in many lives today — intolerance and thoughtlessness—and being a dentist, he drew the thought from the popular song of several years back, "All I Want for Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth."

Dr. McKee said tolerance should be practised in religious life, business life and family life. On thoughtlessness he said, "Resolve to be a little more kind, a little more generous and a little more sympathetic than you have been, and remember the privileges of this democratic way of living as compared with the life led by those behind the Iron Curtain today."

President Frank Simmons spoke in appreciation of persons and organizations which have aided and abetted the Louis Braille Society in all its activities. He said it is through this society that blind people have learned to take their own part in the social life of the city. Group meetings for men and women at members' homes were tried this year and progressed splendidly, he said.

Others who spoke were among the special guests, the Rev. Father O'Sullivan, Alderman T. D. Miller, Mr. Geddes Harper, president of the Lions' Club which has provided transportation to meetings for the blind people and is now planning more help, Mr. Lou Durkin, president of Branch 52, Canadian Legion, Mrs. Albert Mason, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Legion, Mr. Charles J. Ray, president of the Local Advisory Board, CNIB, and Mr. Walter Simmons, field secretary, CNIB.

The guest speaker was introduced by Mr. Ozzie Meagher and was thanked by Mr. Arthur O'Reilly. The entertainers were thanked by Mrs. Earl Schwanz.

Four prizes were donated by Mrs. Butcher and they were given out for birthdays on popular holidays of the year. Mr. Leahy had a Christmas Eve birthday, Mrs. McAuliffe a Valentine birthday, Mrs. Scott on Easter last year, and Mrs. Frank Simmons was nearest May 24. Each guest received a small gift of candy, a toy noisemaker and a paper hat. The tables were covered in white and decorated down the centre with fancy snowmen and greens, and bowls of fruit.

Seek To Promote Christian Reading

The Free Methodist WMS met Thursday evening in the church, with Mrs. Isaac McNutt, mission study secretary, in charge of the program, the purpose of which was to promote the reading of Christian literature.

A very informative article was read by Mrs. G. Bullied, "The Word In New Words," being the revised standard version of the Bible. Mrs. G. Reynolds, who led the devotions, read from the revised version. Mr. W. Dulmage offered prayer, especially for the missionaries at home and abroad.

The president, Mrs. J. W. Johnston, conducted a short business period in which the stewardship secretary, Mrs. G. Robinson, reported 37 missionary prayer partners, a 165-lb. bale sent to the Broadview Indian Mission, and concluded with the reading in part of a recent letter from Miss Pearl Reid, of Japan, one of the prayer partners.

The Mission Study chapter on the Transvaal and Southern Rhodesia mission fields was given in appealing dialogue form by Mrs. (Rev.) K. B. Bauder and Mrs. P. Graham. Strains of Christmas music were played by the pianist, Mrs. G. Robinson, at various times.

In conclusion, "The Book Fair," a Mission Study project, was officially opened by the president, who expressed appreciation for the assistance given in this venture by many of Peterborough and elsewhere; and invited members to stay as long as they wished to look over the display of more than 300 good Christian books. This they did and several orders were placed which will go to local Christian book sellers.

Mrs. Johnston also announced that the Book Fair will be open to the public Friday evening from 7.00-9.30, during which time anyone is welcome to drop in.

Barbara Adlam Is Bride Of George E. Lipsett

In a quiet ceremony, Barbara Anne Adlam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Adlam, of Peterborough, was married to George Elwood Lipsett, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Lipsett, of Peterborough. In the manse of Park St. Alliance Church, the Rev. F. Sauve performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a dress of winter white wool with a hat to match and a corsage of yellow Talisman roses. She was attended by her aunt, Mrs. Alphonse Hanrahan, of Peterborough, who wore a blue velvet dress and a hat of matching velvet, also a corsage of pink Delight roses.

Mr. Lipsett's best man was his uncle, Alphonse Hanrahan.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home where her mother received, wearing a dress of black and white nylon net over taffeta with black accessories and a corsage of red carnations. The groom's aunt also received, wearing a dress of blue crepe with brown accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The young couple will live at 508 Wolsely St.

SA Home League Christmas Party

Ladies and children of the Salvation Army Home League held their annual Christmas party, and a large number attended the gathering.

Mrs. Major H. Roberts enrolled some new members and gifts were exchanged. Mrs. Everitt welcomed the guests, dressed as Mrs. Santa Claus. The program was directed by Mrs. Mel Shadgett, who also sang a Christmas number. Readings and carols were sung by the children present. Mrs. Bill Greene and her helpers served a Christmas tea.

Full Skirts, Tight Waists Prominent At Style Show

LONDON (Reuters—A troupe of Paris models paraded a collection of Dior's tight bodices and billowing skirts Thursday, marking the opening of a cross channel deal under which Dior originals will be made in London.

Dior has linked up with the London wholesale firm of Lady in Black to make his exclusive models available to British women.

Dior himself was absent from the showing at the Savoy Hotel. The collection, comprising some 80 coats, costumes and dresses for all occasions, had a reception which would have warmed his heart.

Each model shown was prepared from master patterns under his own constant supervision in flying visits to London.

The collection had a distinct flavor of the New Look which Dior sprang upon the world soon after the Second World War and which he has presented in various forms ever since.

FULL SKIRTS

Full skirts, tight waists and fitted bodices predominated. Small rounded collars and round shoulders were features of smartly tailored costumes whose close-fitting jackets dipped slightly at the back. Many of the jackets had seven-eighths instead of full-length sleeves.

For day wear, black was the main color. Grey, dull blue, black-and-white Donegal tweed, and tones of beige were used to relieve the picture for country suits and travelling coats.

One trim, black, close-fitting suit with slim skirt which drew considerable applause had a small handkerchief in black organdie pinned at the waist by a sparkling diamante clasp.

For cocktails and evening wear, white, embroidered with a host of glitterings stone or gold paillettes, was a close runner-up to black.

Here, too, Dior introduced one or two striking color combinations. There was, for example, a strapless evening gown in emerald green organza printed with a small blue pattern. With this was worn a stole of the same material lined with blue.

Another evening model was in heavy satin in a vivid shade of blue. With this was worn a stole in an equally vivid shade of green.

Mrs. H. Hamley Elected Head Of Baby Band

Mrs. H. Hamley was elected president for 1953 of the Mark St. Baby Band at their meeting Wednesday evening, when the annual election of officers took place.

Other officers elected include: Secretary, Mrs. D. Miller; treasurer, Mrs. J. Southgate; sewing conveners, Mrs. W. Beggs and Mrs. M. Gordon; mite box conveners, Mrs. M. Green and Mrs. E. Toms; group leaders, Mrs. R. Russell, Mrs. D. Simpson, Mrs. E. Manley, Mrs. K. Kidd, Mrs. C. McIvor; corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. Dorsett; press secretary, Mrs. K. Brown; card convener, Mrs. A. Reid; visiting convener, Mrs. M. Ainger; pianist, Mrs. K. Kidd and librarian, Mrs. M. Poolman. The new slate was brought in by Mrs. S. Craig.

Prior to the meeting, the mothers enjoyed a pot luck supper. Mrs. H. Guppy, president, was in charge of the business session when each member brought a gift to be given to the children at the shelter. Plans were also made for the children's party to be held at the church on Wednesday afternoon at 3:30, December 17.

Mrs. W. Parnell was in charge of the devotional period and opened it with a poem "How Far To Bethlehem"; a scripture reading was given by Mrs. McFadden and Mrs. D. Simpson read a story "The Shepherd." Misses Marilyn and Gwen Pomeroy played a piano duet and Mrs. C. Ferguson read a poem "A Candlelight Service."

The guest speaker was the Rev. E. W. Rowland and his theme was "The Child In the Home."

Following the meeting, lunch was served by the group in charge.

Study Of Family Living Believed Vital In Education

TORONTO—Until both men and women realize that family living is the core of their existence and give this subject its proper place in the general education program, "we will never get on a sound basis in the improvement of home and community life," said Dr. Margaret McCready, principal of Macdonald Institute, Guelph, Thursday. She was one of several speakers at a conference of Women's Institute home economists in the extension field.

"Family living is the basis of life for every one of us, and, if we don't have success in this, little else matters," she said. "There are many evidences of the breakdown of this core of life, which gives us every reason for making it the centre of study, research and survery, because it is such a basic part of us and our country."

In academic fields, she said, there is a tendency to consider anything having to do with study of the home and family life as not fundamental research. Referring to the fact that one of the staff members, as her thesis for her master's degree, is making a survey of what women are using in their household cleaning equipment, she said, "this is not considered by some to be worthy of the work being put into it.

FUNJAMENTAL PROBLEM

"They prefer that postgraduate and research work should be put on what they call a fundamental problem. What is a fundamental problem if it is not family living?" she asked.

Signs that the public is becoming more aware of the importance of this subject include the fact that some U.S. universities are developing course work in family living for both men and women. She said, and that men, as well as women, are taking more and more interest in pre-natal clinics being held here and eleswhere.

Speaking of trends of work in Macdonald College, Dr. McCready said plans are under way for its 50th anniversary in June next.

Demand for home economists is greatly in excess of supply, said Mary A. Clarke, inspector in the home economics branch of the Ontario Department of Education, and president of the Canadian Home Economics Association and Allied Organizations.

Food Parcels Gifts Of WI

MARMORA (ENS)—The monthly meeting of Marmora Women's Institute was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. F. R. Wells. Mrs. H. P. Nayler presided. The meeting opened in the customary manner. In lieu of answering a roll call, members brought food parcels for distribution among needy families and gifts for exchange among themselves.

A letter of thanks was read from the Unitarian Relief Fund for a donation received. A letter also was read and a list studied of names submitted by the Canadian Legion joint committee for the dispensation of Christmas food gifts. Mrs. M. Kouri reported the dispatch of "get well" and sympathy cards. Mesdames E. C. Prentice, R. E. Neal and H. Labine were appointed as a committee to get a suitable new Lord Tweedsmuir scrap book.

A paper was given on the motto of the month "Keep thyself first in peace and then thou shalt be able to keep peace among others," by Mr. W. J. Cottrell. This was followed by a reading on the story of three Christmass carols by Mrs. H. Vanstone after which the three carols were featured in community singing. In a cooking contest, honors were shared by Mrs. H. P. Nayler and Mrs. E. Brady. The meeting closed with the national anthem after which the gifts were exchanged and the committee in charge served refreshments.

Readers' Friday Column

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: At last I have a reason to sit down and pass along a recipe which I believe one of your readers is asking about . . . would like to tell you how much I enjoy your column . . . I think too few of us say "thank you" for a job well done . . . I'm a working mother, pressed for time, but tonight's dishes are being neglected to get this bouquet off to you.

LEMON SQUARES (Contributed by C. G.)

Filling: 1 cup white sugar, 2 eggs slightly beaten, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 cup water, ¼ cup butter or margarine, 2 lemons, rind and juice. Cook until thick, set aside to cool.

Topping: 10 soda wafers, ½ cup butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup sifted flour, ½ teaspoon baking soda, 1 cup shredded cocoanut, etc.

Method: Crush biscuits finely. Mix with butter and sugar. Spread ¾ mixture in greased shallow pan, covering with filling. Finish by spreading remainder of mixture on top. Bake in moderate oven 30 min.

ANSWER: Thanks C.G. This is a splendid recipe and I am glad to have it for my own files. The bouquet sheds a lovely fragrance.

QUESTION . . . Pleased to report wonderful success with both your Streamlined cake recipes. Now two questions: (1) In the streamlined Chocolate Cake recipe what difference would milk make to the recipe instead of water? Could sour milk be used as well? (2) One day you mentioned offering a recipe for meringue. I have a satisfactory recipe but experience these difficulties with it: (a) removing them from the pan. Should I put wrapping paper on the bottom? (b) At what temperature should they be cooked and for how long? (c) How do you get them uniform size? Mrs. C. E. M.

ANSWER: I have to reply to you in terms of my own recipe for meringues (see below). All of your questions on meringues are answered in the course of the recipe.

MERINGUES

Sift sugar and measure 1½ cups. Place on a platter 7 egg whites which have been warmed to room temperature and add ⅛ teaspoon salt. Beat them with flat wire beater until they are very stiff. Add the sifted sugar very slowly, 1 teaspoon at a time, beating constantly. Continue to beat for 2 minutes after last sugar is added. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Fold in another ¾ cup sugar with a folding motion. To keep them of uniform size shape through pastry bag or tube. Cover baking sheet with moist sheet heavy brown paper and shape meringues directly onto it. If you do not have pastry tube drop from teaspoon. Bake at 225 deg. Fahr.—a very slow oven, from 45 to 60 minutes, then turn off heat and permit meringues to dry in the oven with oven door partly open for 10 minutes. If meringues are to be filled with whipped cream or ice cream or frozen fruit make them 3 inches in diameter, and crush tops with ball of thumb while they are warm. If to be put together with filling, crush bottoms with thumb while warm, and put filling in and press bottoms together.

As for the Streamlined Chocolate stick strictly to the recipe—the research done on these cakes was very painstaking and no changes may be made if you expect a perfect cake every time.

QUESTION: I need your help again . . . thanks for cake recipe and information about potted meats. Can you tell me the reason for watery custard pies? And also why my crust in same rises to top of filling? . . . thanking you, Mary S.

ANSWER: As usual I would like to give you my recipe for Custard Pie, then I know what ingredients are going into it and do not have to guess about what is going wrong.

CUSTARD PIE

Line pan with good pie pastry, building up fluted rim. Prick the crust at 2-inch intervals with tines of fork and bake for 10 minutes at 500 deg. Fahr. Pull oven rack out part way and carefully fill crust with—

Filling: Beat slightly 3 large eggs or 6 yolks (yolks make pie creamier), then add and stir well, ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups scalded milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla. When poured in shell prinkle top with about ¼ teaspoon cinnamon. Reduce heat to 325 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes or until custard is firm to touch.

Girl Broke Off With Boy Now Wants Have Him Back

Here are excerpts from two letters, giving minor facets of a major problem:

DEAR MISS DIX: Last week I broke up with a boy I dated for seven months. There was no reason except that I was in a fighting mood. He made no attempt to come back, which I was hoping he would, so I could explain. He goes out with several of my girl friends. This situation has upset me so that I am under doctor's care. How can I get him back? TESSIE.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I used to go with a boy two years older than I. After going steady for six months, I decided I was too young to be settled down with one boy. We broke up, though I now deeply regret it. He is going with someone else. I still see Jim occasionally, and am sure he still likes me. How can I win him back without hurting the girl he's dating now? FLOSSIE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Youth is not very stable—thank Heaven! and its decisions are quite fallible. The time from, roughly, 15 to 20 is the period of reaching a decision on matters romantic and the path to marriage has many twisting turns before it reaches the altar. There are many dates, many daters, and many broken romances and bitter tears during the journey. So don't think that your life is irrevocably ruined because Jim or Joe or Dick has wandered off to another girl. You'll find another boy yourself, and probably more than one, before your true love makes an appearance.

FIND NEW BEAU

There isn't much you can do to rekindle a boy's interest once he has strayed. Better put your efforts to work finding a new beau—a much more worthwhile pursuit, I assure you.

Dating of six or seven months is not enough to set a pattern of unwavering love, so, no matter how much you two girls may think your hearts are broken by the dereliction of your erstwhile sweethearts, 'tisn't so! Recovery will be soon, and complete.

Once you have broken with a boy—and both these girls readily assume blame for the breakup—it's most unfair to dog his steps when he finds another girl and seek to upset the new romantic setup. Clearly, you find the boy more desirable when another girl has him than you did when he was your own property.

When a boy has had his pride injured once, he is sure to be very wary of exposing himself to a like experience again. Therefore, it would take considerable effort to win him back — and require constant vigilance to keep him. Instead of going through all these motions — which may be wasted anyway—turn your attention in another direction. Of course, it's always possible that the boy will come back of his own accord—at which time you'll doubtless decide you don't want him anyway. What does the whole thing add up to? Feminine perversity, of course!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 19 and have a wonderful boy friend in service. We plan to marry either next year or when he gets out. I've met his family and they like me very much. What bothers me is this: I get an awful feeling that he won't call me, or won't show up to keep a date. I don't know why I feel that way. Perhaps you would call it "love sick." Is there any remedy for it? BETTY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Alas, no! But as almost any living adult will testify, it's curable by the balm of time. Practically everyone has lived through it at one time or another.

What you lack, Betty, is confidence in the boy. Your constant apprehension that he will fail to keep a commitment is tantamount to saying you don't believe in him. I'm sure you wouldn't care so much for him if he wasn't honorable and honest. Surely with those qualifications he can be trusted to be courteous and considerate, too. Stop worrying, and don't let him know that you mistrust him.

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been happily married for two years and have a very nice home. We have one complication. I have three children by a former marriage and my husband doesn't want his mother to know about them. My mother is caring for the youngsters. YVONNE.

ANSWER: How could you have let yourself to be talked into such a deception? Three children are rather difficult to conceal forever. At some time you're bound to be forced to acknowledge them. Better do it soon. I should think you would be much happier to have them with you, and surely thay should be with their mother. Breaking the news to your mother-in-law may be difficult, but perhaps she will be more understanding than you think. At any rate, acknowledge your children just as soon as possible.

ADAMSON—In loving memory of a dear dad and granddad, Pryice Adamson, who passed away December 12, 1951.

When one we loved was called away,
God took him home, it was His will;
Within our hearts he liveth still.
—Ever remembered by Marge, Bill and granddaughter Mary Lynne.

ADAMSON—In loving memory of a dear dad and granddad, Pryice Adamson, who passed away December 12, 1951.

ADAMSON—In loving memory of dad and granddad, Pryice Adamson, who passed away December 12, 1951.
Time speeds on, one year has passed
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will
His vacant place there is none can fill,
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.

Report Decline In Costs For Six Centres

OTTAWA (CP) — Living costs as reflected by the bureau of statistics' cost-of-living indexes declined during October in six regional centres and advanced in three others, the bureau reported today.

The indexes, based on August, 1939 prices equalling 100, dropped at Edmonton, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal and Saint John. The index for St. John's, based on June 1951 prices equalling 100, also declined. Rises were recorded in Halifax, Saskatoon and Vancouver.

Mixed changes in food prices were recorded in all centres. Higher prices for eggs and butter and lower prices for beef and lamb were general. Clothing indexes moved down in eight cities due mainly to lower prices for men's overcoats and women's hosiery. Fuel and light indexes were unchanged in six cities while coal prices were higher in Montreal and Saint John.

The indexes by cities at Nov. 1, with Oct. 1 figures in brackets, were: Vancouver 187.6 (187.3), Edmonton 176.7 (177.0), Saskatoon 182.1 (181.5), Winnipeg 177.2 (177.5), Toronto 181.4 (181.8), Montreal 189.6 (189.8), Saint John 182.4 (181.6), Halifax 174.7 (174.0), St. John's 102.5 (103.0).

The indexes indicate only price changes in each city and are not an indication whether it costs more to live in one city than another.

Swedish Flier Survives Battle

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A Swedish airman Thursday survived a grim, three - round battle with death waged in an accident-damaged jet fighter plane thousands of feet in the air.

Two air force jets, one piloted by Cpl. Jan Holmquist, 21, collided 8,000 feet over Stockholm during a routine exercise. One exploded seconds after the crash, its pilot parachuting safely.

Holmquist managed to keep his badly-damaged craft in the air and decided to head for a nearby military air field. But the rudders of his fighter failed and he had to jump.

He pushed the automatic release button which should have thrown him out of his seat. Then his overalls caught on a projective device. While he fought frantically to get out of the plane, it steadily lost altitude.

Holmquist finally succeeded in freeing himself when the fighter was only 1,300 feet off the ground. His parachute opened only 60 feet above the ground but brought him down safely a few seconds later.

The plane crashed and burned 100 yards from where Holmquist himself landed.

Quito Gov't Crushes Revolt

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — The three-month-old government of President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra said today it has crushed the first revolt against its authority and is holding a former ally of the president for leading the revolt.

Observers believed the arrested political leader—Carlos Guevara Moreno, mayor of the big port city of Quayaquil and leader of the Concentration of Popular Forces party — split with Velasco Ibarra because he failed to get an important post in the new government.

Guevara Moreno and other leaders of his party were arrested Thursday and the president told reporters Thursday night they planned to seize the big army air base at Guayaquil. Troops armed with machine-guns closed the highway to the air base and surrounded the city hall.

Reports indicated that the country remained calm. Conditions in Quito were normal.

Interior Minister Luis Antonio Penherrera said at least four other prominent figures in Guevara Moreno's party had been arrested and several other highly-placed officials had been put "at the disposition of the government"—an action restricting their movements without actual arrest — for alleged complicity in the abortive revolt.

Gunman Tips Hat After Shooting Man

MONTREAL (CP) — Ralph Solconi, 28, told police of a gunman who tipped his hat after shooting him in the leg early today.

Solconi said the man accosted him in the business section of Montreal and asked him if he had any money.

Solconi said he replied "No" and that the gunman said, "all right then," backed up a few paces, fired the shot, tipped his hat and then ran away.

The bullet was removed in hospital.

Renamed President

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru has been renamed president of the governing Congress party for a two-year term, the party office announced today. He was unopposed. The announcement said two other candidates had been nominated by state committees but both withdrew in Nehru's favor.

Set Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal, state and local governments had a record - breaking indebtedness of about $289,000,000,000 on June 30, the commerce department reported Thursday. This is about $1,838 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Campaign

setting floor prices on some farm products, notably cattle and hogs.

Seventh plank in the platform was a promise to seek to carry out the steps in the preservation of peace and of the security of the country. "Considerable money has been spent on defence," he said, and troops for Korea had been raised and sent there.

"If all this is so," said Mr. Harris, "I place before you a government capable of carrying out its promises."

INDEPENDENCE OF MP's

To the charge of lack of independence among MPs on the government side of the house, he answered that this was not altogether true, and if true, was not altogether remarkable.

If it were true, it would not be remarkable since the government platform was endorsed by the people, and the members of Parliament were elected to carry out that platform. But, said Mr. Harris, in post-election incidents not covered by the platform, there had certainly been a fair amount of independence shown.

The charges of usurpation of discretionary powers by cabinet ministers were not founded. The opposition found this out themselves, the minister said.

After urging the removal of controls and the boards which administered them, the opposition then took the stand that independent boards should be set up to guide certain departments of government. Then they realized that, in such an organization, they were giving away from Parliament the powers they claimed belonged to Parliament alone.

Speaking of his own department—citizenship and immigration—Mr. Harris said that its policy was to bring in selected immigrants and teach them Canadian ways. Of the 770,000 brought to Canada since the end of the war, only a tiny percentage had to be deported.

30 MILLION PEOPLE

Within 25 to 30 years, he expected the population would reach 25 or 30 million. Canada was the choice of many immigrants, said Mr. Harris, because of its reputation for lack of discrimination and unselfishness. Even the United States was envious of that reputation.

Turning to politics, he concluded by warning that if the Progressive Conservatives were elected "you'll have a one-man show just as the Tories had in 1930 to 35. Now, you have a Tory opposition divided among itself against a consistent Liberal government.

"Peterborough doesn't need to have the luxury of having a member on the wrong side of the house."

Mr. Harris was introduced by Alex Elliott, QC, and thanked by Ald. J. A. Dewart.

Dr. Fred Robertson, Liberal MP for Northumberland, spoke briefly, referring to Mr. Swanston's days as a catcher for the Peterborough baseball team in the COBL. "He put all he had into it. I know he will do the same for Liberalism in this county."

Senator William Fraser of Trenton paid tribute to all the party workers in the city and county who had enabled the city to get its post office. "I'm satisfied that if Max gets good co-operation he will be elected."

Must Assess Family Life

TORONTO (CP)—Until family living is recognized as the core of existence and the subject is given its proper place in educational programs, we will never have a soound basis for improvement of home and community life, Dr. Margaret McCready says.

At a conference of Women's Institute home economists, the principal of Macdonald Institute, Guelph, said Thursday:

"There are many evidences of the breakdown of this core of life, which gives us every reason for making it the centre of study, research and survey. . ."

She said United States universities are developing courses in family living for men and women.

4 In Family Die As House Burns

CANONSBURG, Pa. (CP)—All four members of a family burned to death today in a pre-dawn fire which destroyed their home. The dead included Gus Kappotus, 58, who escaped from the burning home after the fire was discovered but later broke away from spectators who held him and dashed back into the house to his death in a futile attempt to save his wife and two children.

Other victims of the fire, cause of which was undetermined, were his wife, Victoria, 32, and their children, Agnes, 14, and Despina, 8.

Gossiping Drivers Hold Up Traffic

TORONTO (CP) — Two truck drivers who drove beside each other exchanging conversation slowed rush-hour traffic for five miles on the Queen Elizabeth highway today, police said.

They said the two truck drivers ignored scores of tooting automobile horns as they crawled along at 35 miles an hour.

No Cause For Alarm

BREST, France (AP)—The 7,210-ton American freighter Columbia trader, drifting in mid-Atlantic after losing a propeller, radioed Thursday everything was going well aboard and there was no cause for alarm. When it radioed for help it gave its position as about 800 miles west of Brest.

Freighter Docks But Crew Keeps Silent

By JOHN MOSHER

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — The Israeli freighter Abraham Graetz docked here early today, but nobody was allowed aboard and crew members were forbidden to disembark.

Reporters who questioned the first officer, F. Wennet, from the dockside about recent controversial events aboard the 5,686-ton ship learned he had been told to "remain silent."

The officer took command after the captain, 24 - year - old Adam Graetz, left the ship in a tug 16 miles off Halifax Wednesday night.

Reports from Tel Aviv said the captain—holding the wireless operator at pistol - point — had threatened to sink the vessel if his father was not appointed communications minister in the Israeli cabinet.

TAKEN TO MONTREAL

Thursday Graetz was whisked by air from Halifax to Montreal, where he emphatically denied the reports and blamed the whole story of scuttling and gunplay on a Tel Aviv newspaper.

The Abraham Graetz, named after the captain's grandfather, has started loading pitprops for Turkey and was expected to sail tonight for Halifax.

David Brodie, vice - president of M. Dizengoff and Company, owners of the ships, left New York by air for Saint John but airport officials said his plane was grounded at Montreal.

Mr. Brodie said in New York yesterday that there had been a dispute aboard the ship but it ended when the young captain left on the tug for Halifax.

He said he knew of no friction when the ship left New York "otherwise she would not have been allowed to sail."

Officials in Tel Aviv confirmed radio messages in which Graetz said he would sink the ship unless his father was named to the Israeli cabinet.

Badman Bill Executed

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Badman William E. Cook was executed today at San Quentin prison, for the slaying of a Seattle man. He showed no emotion.

Hockey Star Dies In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Larry Aurie, former Detroit Red Wing hockey star, died at Mt. Carmel Mercy hospital today after suffering a stroke.

Aurie, 47, suffered the stroke while driving his car late Thursday. His car went out of control and collided with another car. Aurie was on his way home at the time.

One of the greats of champion Red Wings of another day, Aurie played 11 years for Detroit, from 1927 through 1938.

He served on the famous forward line composed of himself, Marty Barry and Herbie Lewis. This combination helped the Red Wings to titles in 1935-36 and 1936-37.

Queen Of Canada For First Time As Titles Changed

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada, for the first time in her history, will have a "Queen of Canada." That was made known on Friday night in announcements from Ottawa and London which said Queen Elizabeth has approved a flexible title formula for Commonwealth countries. Canada will recommend adoption of the Canadian form of her title, which was decided at the prime ministers' conference in London. Previously the sovereign has been Queen of "the British dominions beyond the seas," a title which followed that for King George VI. Now Canada will be specifically named.

The new Canadian form of title:

Elizabeth the Second, by the grace of God of the United Kingdom, Canada and her other realms and territories Queen, head of the Commonwealth, Defender of the Faith.

The present form reads:

Her most excellent Majesty Elizabeth the Second by the grace of God, of Great Britain, Ireland and the British dominions beyond the seas Queen, Defender of the Faith."

The Ottawa announcement said the Commonwealth countries concerned agreed to take early action to obtain constitutional approval for the changes.

In Canada this will involve an amendment to legislation passed in 1947 when India became a republic but stayed within the Commonwealth.

It is then expected that royal proclamations will be issued simultaneously in all Commonwealth countries giving effect to the changes.

DROP WORD DOMINION

The new form drops the term "dominion," following a recent practice in Canada where all official government documents use the simple designation "Canada." It also refers to the mother country as "the United Kingdom" instead of "Great Britain."

The main Commonwealth powers settled on forms varying among themselves, but all agreed to recognize Elizabeth as "head of the Commonwealth." India, as a republic, recognizes her only as that and not as Queen.

Britain, Canada, Australia and New Zealand will retain the traditional religious references in the title, which say she is Queen "by the grace of God" and "Defender of the Faith," a phrase adopted when Protestantism became the national religion of Britain under King Henry VIII.

India, Pakistan, Ceylon and South Africa, however, drop these references.

In Britain, the Queen's new title will be:

Elizabeth the Second, by the grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and of her other realms and territories, Queen, head of the Commonwealth, Defender of the Faith.

Can't Afford Train Trip For Investiture

SUDBURY — "It's too much to pay for a medal."

Thursday Korean War hero Cpl. Ken McOrmond took his mother to the railway station here to buy tickets to Toronto. They planned to attend an investiture at Queen's Park Friday, where Cpl. McOrmond was to receive the Military Medal. He was one of eight Korean veterans who were to receive decorations.

But train fare for the two of them was $44.95.

"We walked along the station platform and talked it over," said Mrs. McOrmond. "We decided we couldn't afford it. We haven't any friends in Toronto, and by the time we paid for hotel rooms it would be just too much."

Cpl. McOrmond didn't appear perturbed about missing the investiture. He supposed the medal would be forwarded by mail.

"It seemed too much like just buying the medal to lay out all that money to go down there," he said.

COST MONEY TO JOIN

"It cost me money to get into the army," he added. "I took five guys at my own expense to enlist in North Bay. Then we were sent to Toronto and had to buy our own meals all the way."

He thinks he'll be quite happy with or without a Military Medal.

The 20-year-old corporal received his award for "exceptional ability to think fast and clearly in the heat of battle."

On March 19, 1952, he was in charge of one section of a patrol sent out to destroy an enemy machine-gun post. The patrol stumbled into a heavy enemy concentration and the sergeant in charge was wounded.

Cpl. McOrmond took over and it was entirely due to his efforts that the patrol was able to fight its way clear without losing any men. Continually during the battle, McOrmond subjected himself to enemy fire while he moved from one group of his men to the other.

Hold Up Bank Steal $5,200

OKA, Que. (CP)—Two armed men held up a branch of the Banque Provinciale du Canada here and escaped with $5,200. Oka is about 30 miles west of Montreal.

Manager Francois Harbour said the two men walked in Friday while he was waiting on another customer. One was described as being dark with a black mustache and the other blond. Both were English-speaking.

The darker man handed Mr. Harbour two $20 bills and demanded $100 in exchange. When Mr. Harbour argued with the gunman, the other man jumped on top of his desk, pointed the gun at his stomach and fired. The gun was loaded with a blank cartridge and the manager was unhurt.

While one man held Mr Harbour at gun point, his partner took $4,000 in bank funds, $1,000 in municipality funds and $200 belonging to the Bell Telephone Company branch. They escaped by automobile.

Penitentiary Paper Urges Parole System

KINGSTON (CP) — The C. B. Diamond, inmate magazine at Collins Bay penitentiary, suggests Canada put into effect a system of parole similar to the one in the United States.

In its Christmas issue the magazine suggests the move as a "dignified tribute to the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II." The article terms it strange that Canada has no parole system in her "new prison deal."

(Canada uses the ticket-of-leave system whereby an inmate or a relative or interested person may apply for a ticket-of-leave to the remission service of the department of justice. The article refers to the United States probationary system where officers are retained in all major cities.)

The magazine says American statistics show 85 out of every 100 prisoners released on parole stay out of prison for good. "Common sense indicates that it is a lot cheaper to keep a man in prison only as long as it is necessary to fit him for a return to society . . ." the article says.

A-Workers Evacuated From Plant

Break In Reactor Looses Particles Around Chalk River

CHALK RIVER (CP)—Dangerous radiation escaping from a pin-point break in Canada's atomic reactor forced evacuation of the atomic energy plant here Friday, Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, president of Atomic Energy of Canada, said today.

Dr. Mackenzie said he fears the atomic pile may be out of operation for two or three weeks.

The break, combined with peculiar atmosphere conditions around the $40,000,000 plant 140 miles north west of Ottawa, touched off 100 alarm bells in the plant. Some 350 workers were evacuated.

Today decontamination squads, equipped with goggles, rubber gloves, lead-soled shoes and rubberized clothing, moved in to clear the plant of radiation.

Mackenzie said similar breaks have occurred before, but the heavy overcast and humidity didn't give it a chance to move away from the plant as formerly.

Workers returned to the job on construction of a new reactor which was quickly decontaminated.

"We have had infrequent breaks in the pile before," Dr. Mackenzie said. "The break is a small hole, no larger than a pin point, through which comes radiation.

"It was swept up the escape stack but instead of dissipating into the atmosphere, swept back down in a down-draft over the plant site."

The atomic particles are capable of a instant and deadly penetration of and absorption by the

Choir Girls Faint In Groups

WARREN, O. (AP)—Girls in the Harding high school choir have been fainting—in groups as high as seven—in the middle of their song.

Just a "fad," said School Superintendent Paul A. Miller today. The first girl swoons, he said, and the others follow suit.

Seven girls fainted Tuesday, singing for the Exchange Club. Wednesday six swooned at the Rotary luncheon. The Kiwanians were startled Thursday to see five pass out.

Friday, singing before the school assembly, all the girls stayed on their feet.

Doctors checked the girls after each fainting spell, but failed to find anything wrong.

Truman's Latest Blast Kills Co-operation

HONOLULU (AP) — A reliable source today said President Truman's "demagoguery" statement cut President - elect Eisenhower deeply and just about killed any chance of friendly relations between the two in the future.

This reaction was disclosed a short time before Eisenhower was to leave Hawaii for New York by plane — just two weeks after he left secretly for Korea.

The once-friendly relationship between Eisenhower and Truman, it was said, had been badly strained by accusations made during the heat of the presidential campaign—but the new incident points to a coldly formal relationship in the future.

"This looks like the finish of any informal across-the-desk meetings between the two," this source said. "If there is another meeting it probably will be a cold affair."

Fire On Freighter

LISBON, Portugal (Reuters)—Fire blazed aboard the U. S. freighter Flying Spray near boxes of ammunition for three hours Friday before being brought under control. Firemen said the fire was started by spontaneous combustion soon after the ship docked with 500 jeeps for the Portuguese Army.

Wanted—Donor Save Chimp

GUELPH (CP)—Wanted urgently—a chimpanzee blood donor to save the life of a performing colleague lying critically ill at the Ontario Veterinary College.

The sick chimp, Oscar by name, was badly burned during a fire in Simcoe Friday.

His owner, Kenneth Hill, who runs an animal show, brought the chimp here and put him under the care of Dr. James Archibald, head of the small animal clinic at OVC.

Oscar, seven-years old, rides bicycles, smokes cigars and roller skates, his owner said.

Dr. Archibald said Oscar has a 50-50 chance of survival.

Sues Surgeon For $100,000 After Wrong Operation

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Stella Rozowski, 35, sued a surgeon for $100,000 damages claiming that he removed her gall bladder when he was supposed only to repair her injured hand.

The suit was filed against Dr. Russell E. Lynch of St. Clair Shores.

Mrs. Rozowski said she suffered a hand injury April 17 while working a punch press in a factory and was taken to hospital.

The woman's lawyer, John J. Fish, said she had never suffered from gall bladder trouble. Since its removal, he added, she has had to take medicine daily and go on a rigid diet.

Dr. Lynch gave this explanation:

"I was scheduled to perform a gall bladder operation that morning on a woman referred to me by another doctor. She was not my patient although I had examined her once previously.

"Through an error, hospital attendants brought in the right chart but the wrong patient.

"The operation was half completed before the error was discovered. There was no turning back then, so I completed the operation, with the consultation of two other surgeons who had discovered the error, then repaired the injured hand."

INCREDIBLE ISN'T IT, but Christmas is less than two weeks away! Children are counting the days until Santa Claus will be climbing down their chimneys with all sorts of toys. Meanwhile they're trying to be content to see the dolls, trucks and other toys in store toylands. The electric trains, practically every boy's first wish (and every father's, too) are the best attraction. Margaret Elliott, Fred Greer, with son Joe, Robert Leeson and sister, Mary, watch the electric trains wind their way around toyland.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Million Dollar Fire Sweeps Maryland Town

ROCKLAND, Me. (AP) — Two hotels and 16 other business establishments were wiped out in a $1,000,000 fire at this old seaport Friday night.

The spectacular, wind - driven blaze destroyed 10 wooden buildings. Four others, housing eight more businesses, were damaged.

A dozen families, living in apartments over some of the stores, were left homeless.

Six men were injured battling the flames. They were part of a fire force mobilized from 13 communities. They came from as far away as Bangor, 50 miles north of here.

A southeast wind that blew up to 40 miles an hour spread the flames quickly. Embers flew a mile through the air, but were doused by rain.

"If it hadn't been for the rain," said city council chairman Carl Stilphen, "a much larger area might have gone."

The razed hotels were the Rockland, with 53 rooms, and the 10-room Bayview.

Nearly 75 persons escaped safely from the 3½-storey Rockland. Manager Daniel Harris credited night clerk Frank Bridges with getting them out safely. Bridges sounded the hotel alarm, telephoned every room, then personally checked them as they escaped.

Mild Resolution Over Tunisia

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) The United Nations put the explosive situation in French-ruled Morocco to an examination today, only a few hours after winding up a tense debate on Tunisia — another French North African protectorate.

Rushing to finish as much of its business as possible before the Christmas holidays, the general assembly's 60 - country political committee took only a half day rest before opening discussion on violence-torn Morocco.

The committee completed its debate on Tunisia Friday night with the adoption of a mildly-worded Latin-American resolution which merely asked France to negotiate on Tunisian demands for independence. The vote was 45-3 with 10 abstentions, including the Soviet bloc and Britain. Canada and the United States supported the resolution.

Earlier the committee had voted down 27-24 a tougher Arab-Asian resolution which called for French-Tunisian negotiations under a three-man UN good offices commission. Seven countries abstained on that ballot. Britain, Canada and the US opposed it.

France was absent from the Tunisian debate and has given advance notice she will not attend the discussions on Morocco. She maintains her relations with the two protectorates are an internal matter.

S. Koreans Storm Back To Hilltop

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean troops today stormed to the top of frozen Little Nori hill in their 10th counter-attack, drove off Communist remnants, then stuck there stubbornly under pounding from Red guns and infantry assaults. Other Republic of Korea soldiers attacked the Communists on Big Nori, some 300 yards to the north. Both western front hills, gateposts of the traditional northern invasion route to this old capital, were grabbed by Communists in swift attacks early Thursday. They are on the Imjin river about 40 miles north of Seoul.

The Nori fighting has cost the Reds an estimated 1,100 dead, wounded and captured.

The weary RoKs reached the crest of Little Nori about 10 a.m. today behind a savage Allied air and artillery pounding. Their first act was to kick off the remnants of Reds who had rolled them back down the hill nine times previously.

A U. S. military adviser to the RoKs called them "the toughest little soldiers in the world."

Reds renewed their assaults within a few hours after the wiry South Koreans reached Little Nori's crest.

The rest of the snow-spotted battle front was relatively quiet.

The U.S. Fifth Air Force said its planes destroyed 120 Red trucks moving toward the front Friday night—most of them on roads south of Pyongyang, north Korean Red capital.

Louiseville Citizens Have Uneasy Peace

LOUISEVILLE, Que. (CP)—The residents of this industrial centre 70 miles east of Montreal awaited uneasily today the outcome of Thursday's clashes between police and strikers that resulted in the reading of the Riot Act and arrest of 25 men.

Some quarters feared a renewal of violence in the near future while others believed the situation would return to normal and that restrictions imposed by the Riot Act would be lifted shortly.

There was talk of a possible province-wide strike by members of the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor. The situation was to be threshed out today when the full executive of the CCCL meets in Montreal.

Car Hits Pole, Upsets 1 Dead, 2 Injured

HAMILTON (CP) — Clarence Sedore, 27, of Toronto, was killed early today when the truck he was driving left No. 2 highway just outside the city limits, struck a telephone pole and overturned. Two passengers were severely injured.

Ordinary Seaman Bruno Oberski, 22, on his way home to Brantford on leave, was brought to hospital here in critical condition.

The other passenger, a woman not immediately identified, also was admitted to hospital.

Snow Blitzes Northern States

NEW YORK (AP) — Northern New York and New England struggled today to dig out from under heavy snowstorms which cost 10 lives and cut off power and telephone service in many communities.

It still was snowing early today in upstate New York, where state police said it was two feet high in places. Telephone service was reported "hit or miss," with secondary roads clogged and crews battling to keep main highways open.

New England, with most of the 10 reported fatalities due to highway accidents, had a foot of snow Friday in northern Vermont while 3.96 inches of rain deluged south and central Maine and northern New Hampshire.

The weather bureau predicted clear and cold for southern New England today, with snow flurries and cold in the northern section.

Heavy rains added woes to upper New York's Salmon river and Black river lowlands. The Salmon river was reported early today at high flood level even though it had receded five feet. The Black river flooded five crossings between Carthage and Lyons Falls alone.

See Trees Lighted

NEW YORK (AP) — A country-wide audience Friday watched the lighting of the Rockefeller Centre Christmas tree, one of New York city's most spectacular emblems of the holiday season. NBC televised singer Kate Smith pressing a button to illuminate the 5,000 lights on the 85-foot tall tree.

St. Laurent Hints Conference Eases Restrictions

OTTAWA (CP) — Commonwealth import restrictions against Canadian goods may be lifted gradually in 1953. A broad hint that a change in Commonwealth sterling-area trade policy was in sight was given by Prime Minister St. Laurent and an official in the Canadian party returning from the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London. Mr. St. Laurent, accompanied by part of the Canadian delegation, returned home Friday night after two weeks of discussions among nine Commonwealth countries to draft a plan for progressive elimination of sterling-area restrictions and decontrol of the pound.

"The conference was very successful," Mr. St. Laurent told reporters at suburban Rockcliffe airport as he left the RCAF luxury plane that took him across the Atlantic and back.

"It certainly was as favorable to Canadian interests as it was for other members of the Commonwealth."

WON'T BE SPECIFIC

But the prime minister couldn't be pinned down as to when U.K. and other import restrictions will be lifted and Canada may again find a ready market for her agricultural and manufactured goods in the Commonwealth.

"You can't remove restrictions at a trade conference. All you can do is work toward the removal, but I am sure we can hope for something within a measurable time," he said.

Another member of the delegation said removal of some of the restrictions can be expected in 1953.

The official communique said the Commonwealth's trade plan envisaged "positive" international action for progressive removal of the import restrictions "as circumstances permit."

MUST CONSULT CABINET

The prime minister also observed in reply to reporters' questions:

1. He will have to confer with cabinet colleagues as to whether the conference decisions will require new legislation at Parliament's current session. He gave no indication what legislation he had in mind.

2. The international monetary fund, the world organization for stabilizing national currencies, "has not been too successful in the past," but he hoped it would be "more successful in the future."

The reference to the fund was in reply to a question as to the possibility that Canada may contribute funds to aid progressive convertibility of the pound with the dollar.

Mr. St. Laurent's reply indicated that the Commonwealth may strive to make the fund workable for the convertibility purpose before seeking other means.

Air Marshal Has Emergency Operation

OTTAWA (CP) — Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, 59-year-old chief of air staff, underwent an emergency abdominal operation at the RAF hospital at Uxbridge, England, air force headquarters said.

Air Marshal Curtis of Toronto and Ottawa, retiring as chief of the air staff at the end of January, accompanied Defence Minister Claxton overseas last week to take part in the handing over ceremonies of the RCAF base at Gros Tenquin, France, to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Word received at RCAF headquarters from officials in London said the operation Thursday was performed by Air Commodore A.C. Dickson, consultant in surgery to the RAF. The condition of Air Marshal Curtis was described as good and he was transferred to the Middlesex hospital in London.

Catch Tourist Carrying Thousands Secret Files

BERLIN (AP) — A former U.S. Army intelligence agent in Europe as a tourist has been caught with thousands of top secret files, an American official announced today.

The spokesman identified the man as Martin W. Rothkrug, 45. He has been in the Berlin army stockade since Aug. 2.

Rothkrug, a naturalized American born in Belgium, was an army lieutenant during the war and later a civilian attached to military intelligence in Berlin. He left the service in Berlin early this year as a tourist and settled down as a partner in a German textile firm.

U. S. officials told this story:

Army agents checking Rothkrug's continued presence in Berlin visited the offices of his textile firm Aug. 1. They found a full case of army intelligence files, including a long list of "informers." He was arrested and arraigned on a charge of failing to turn back all secret documents in his possession at the time he left the military investigation division.

The long lag since then resulted from army indecision as to how to bring the case to trial without being forced to disclose the contents of the top secret files in court. The state department agreed to handle the case and the U. S. high commission district attorney now is preparing it.

Abbott Says Conference Has Great Results

LONDON (CP) — The London economic conference just concluded was described Friday night by Douglas C. Abbott, Canada's finance minister, as an example of the great contribution the Commonwealth can make to the welfare and prosperity of all its people and the free world generally.

Speaking as guest of honor at a Canada Club dinner, the minister said the conference deliberations had resulted in a wide measure of agreement in the search for lasting solution of the sterling area's economic difficulties.

"We have agreed to work together, in concert with other friendly countries, to promote the expansion of world production and trade," Abbott said. "Our initiative in this great purpose has again demonstrated the abiding value of that voluntary association of free peoples which we call the commonwealth."

DESCRIBES CHALLENGE

Abbott, who with Prime Minister St. Laurent represented Canada at the conference, told his audience an absorbing story of his country's challenge against economic adversity attending the turbulent post-war period.

In the 85 years of Canadian history since Confederation, he said, there had been no period of growth comparable to the last 13 years. It was growth and development spread over all industries and felt in all parts of the country.

During that period the country's population had increased at a rate of about three per cent a year. The index of industrial production nearly doubled the 1939 level. Savings had been maintained at approximately 10 per cent of personal income and some $25,000,000,000 had been set aside for new development.

The inflow of capital from other countries for direct investment had been on a substantial scale, but since the war Canada had lent or invested abroad more than had been brought in.

"In effect, if we take into account what we have lent abroad since the war," Abbott said, "we have provided enough capital out of our own savings to finance the whole of our development."

Storm Grounds Santa Claus

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—A snowstorm grounded Santa Claus.

Santa left his North Pole workshop on Whiteface mountain in the nearby Adirondacks Friday and came to Plattsburgh, but he got no further.

Snow made visibility too poor for the takeoff of two planes that were to have carried Santa through the skies with Christmas toys for needy girls and boys.

"Operation Toylift" will take in a number of cities along a 24,000-mile route.

About 23,000 toys will be distributed in Montreal, Quebec City, communities in New England, New York city, Pittsburgh and Cleveland.

The toys will be given to children by local organizations.

Arrest Man, Father In Mass Slaying

OAKLAND, Calif. (CP) — A man and his father were arrested today in connection with the mass slaying of four persons near Chester, Calif. Oct. 10.

Police said they picked up Travis Hall, also known as Al Foley, and also arrested his father, Wendell Hall.

The arrest followed a tip last week from an informer who told police a man named "Al Foley" was one of the persons who talked to him about robbing a man named Young.

Gard Young, two of his children, and a neighbor boy were slain near Chester two months ago after Young was apparently robbed of several thousand dollars.

ARROW OF DEATH, symbolized by twigs, is held by witch doctor before he passes it through "Stone of Death" in ceremony to cleanse Kenya tribesmen of the oath of the terrorist Mau Mau.

STONE OF DEATH, the vertebrae of an ancient elephant, is held by its keeper, the witch doctor's assistant. For anyone else to touch the sacred stone means death. Like the witch doctor, keeper is painted half white with chalk from the bed of a sacred river.

Witch Doctor Best Weapon Against Mau Mau Terrorists

By DUDLEY A. HAWKINS

NAIROBI, Kenya (NEA)—I saw the oath against the Mau Mau.

I am one of the few Europeans privileged to have seen such a ceremony. Even though the native witch doctors now have government blessing as a weapon against the dread terrorists, they still jealously guard the secret of their ancient art.

They are a mere handful of wizened old men, loyal to Elizabeth, their Great White Queen Over the Water, who conjure up the spirits of the dead to wipe out the dread oath of the Mau Mau.

For months, British infantry, local police and the British settlers themselves have been battling the Mau Maus, a fanatical secret society of natives sworn to oust the Europeans. But the greatest success against the Mau Mau oath—an oath of blood sworn on the entrails of a sheep, confirmed by seven sips of animal or even human blood—is being scored by the witch doctors.

• • •

SACRED RELIC

Their oath, which wipes out the Mau Mau curse, is sworn on the most sacred relic of the Kikuyu tribe, the Thenge Stone, a generations-old vertebrae of an elephant that wandered in the African bushland nearly 200 years ago.

The ceremony is begun mildly enough by one of the tribunal elders, often an educated man in European-style clothes, who explains what is going to take place. Scowling natives in dirty blankets or ragged shirts ring the arena. Some may be Mau Mau, some just curious. The eerie African quiet is in the air.

But when the tribunal elder stands down, the last vestige of Europe disappears. This is the Africa of the primitive, where the good witch doctor pits his skill against the bad, pits the power of the Thenge Stone—the stone of death—against the oath of the Mau Mau.

Then into the arena comes the witch doctor and his assistant, a giant Caliban of a man with monstrous biceps and a fist that could fell an ox. One-half of him is black, the other smeared white with chalk from the bed of a sacred river.

• • •

GASP OF HORROR

In his hand he cluches an ordinary-looking basket of woven grass, and at the sight of it the crowd gasps a long "aieeeee, aieeeee." It is a gasp of horror and expectation, for in the bag is the Thenge Stone.

Only one man in the tribe can touch that stone and live. He is the man who carries it. His father was keeper of the stone before him, and his father before that.

Squatting on his haunches, the keeper fixes the stone in a framework of twigs, and the witch doctor screams: "Now we will start, and all of you with Mau Mau deep in your hearts will suffer!"

In the back rows of the crowd, a group of men and boys break away, running for the shelter of the forest. The braver ones stay, although there may be Mau Mau spies in the throng.

• • •

Holding seven thin wands of wood in his hand, the witch doctor shrieks the first oath. It is a curse on men who disobey their parents, for the Mau Mau demands obedience only to its leaders.

Even the monkeys chattering in the tall mvuli trees are silenced by the witch doctor's high-pitched scream as he passes a stick through the hole in the stone and cries:

"If any man disobey this oath, then let him fall to the ground and dieeeeeeee!"

Passing the stick through the stone signifies an arrow set in flight, an arrow the Kikuyu believe will keep soaring in search of the heart of any man who disobeys—wherever he may be, today, tomorrow, or in 20 years.

Seven is the Kikuyu sacred number, and seven times the oath is repeated. Seven times the witch doctor's shriek echoes over the jungle where elephants browsed and leopards stirred from their siesta.

• • •

VARIOUS OATHS

There are oaths to prevent the telling of lies, against attacking police, and finally against contact with Mau Mau, "the evil animal in our midst."

Now the giant Caliban takes up the shout: "May Mau Mau fall to the ground like this from this curse." And he dashes the sticks away from him in a scattering confusion.

That long "aieeeee, aieeeee, aieeeeee" roses from the crowd again, and then silence. The oath is over.

On this afternoon, the Mau Mau has been expunged from the hearts of 300 Africans. There are 300 more now willing to help sway the battle a little on the side of law and order.

But there are also 300 uneasy minds who know the Mau Mau will seek revenge, striking in the night with razor-sharp pangas, and that at least six will meet death in the next few weeks as a lesson to others who may face the Thenge Stone to defy the Mau Mau.

Pilot Boat Met 3,500 Vessels

FATHER POINT, Que. (CP)—The busiest vessel on the St. Lawrence river is probably the transport department's pilot boat Citadelle, which will have met almost 3,500 ocean ships when the navigation season ends about Dec. 15.

The busiest man on the river is probably the cutter's skipper, Capt. Eudore Vezina, 40, who spent six years on minesweepers and on convoy escort duty on the North Atlantic during the Second World War.

Every night and every day, Capt. Vezina and his 22-man crew put out from Father Point on the river, 27 miles wide here, to meet all ships.

The Citadelle scuttles back and forth, taking off and putting aboard pilots charged with guiding the vessels through the tricky 180-mile channel from here to Quebec City.

From April 10 until Dec. 15, Capt. Vezina works seven days a week. Not until the river starts to freeze up and the shipping season ends, does he pack up and head for a winter berth in Quebec.

The skipper has come to consider himself lucky if he can get more than three hours' sleep at one time when the season is at its height.

"Sure, it's a trying life," he said. "But I get lots of sleep in the winter."

human body. A series of detectors cover the plant area and detected the abnormal radiation instantly, touching off alarms in all the atomic plant's 100 buildings

The alarms, set to go off when radiation is at a comparatively low strength, are the key to protection. Radiation can't be felt, seen or smelled.

"While not remotely comparable in effect, the radiation acted in much the same manner as the mushroom cloud of an atomic bomb," Dr. Mackenzie said.

The radiation was the largest "spill" of atomic particles since the reactor began operation several years ago. There were no casualties and no serious damage, other than the delay in the construction program and use of the reactor.

Of the 350 workers evacuated only a few knew why the sirens sounded and the complete plant was evacuated. The evacuation was quick and orderly.

Mr. Mackenzie said that when the invisible atomic cloud swept down from the 200-foot-high escape stacks, what followed was just like a fire drill. The alarms sounded and evacuation began. Workers were taken by bus the seven miles to their homes in the town of Chalk River, the community area built to house plant employees.

"Decontaminating radioactive areas is like a surgeon sterilizing his hands," Dr. Mackenzie said. "A complete and thorough washing of the entire surface is necessary."

An eight-foot-thick concrete wall and another lead wall confines the atomic reactor which looks something like a big boiler set on its end.

Behind these walls, the most efficient heavy-water atomic pile in the world releases enough energy to heat a small city. The reactor stands 34 feet high and 34 feet in diameter. This tub-like structure contains tons of heavy-water worth $5,000,000 by which the atomic reaction is controlled or stopped.

Betrays Native U.S. Man To Be Executed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tomoya Kawakita will be executed for betraying his native United States unless the President grants him clemency.

U. S. Judge William C. Mathes Friday denied the plea of the California-born Japanese for modification of the death sentence, which the U. S. Supreme Court already has upheld.

Shortly before the Second World War, Kawakita, now 30, went to Japan. He became an interpreter at a prison camp. After the war he came back to the United States and was recognized by one of his former prisoners, in a local department store.

US May Build Own Seaway

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army engineers have told the federal power commission that any licence it might issue for United States participation in the St. Lawrence power project should contain "adequate" conditions for possible construction of the seaway. The recommendation was presented Friday at the FPC's hearing on the New York state power authority's application to join the province of Ontario in construction of the estimated $520,000,000 power project.

Canada also has announced plans to construct the seaway herself, on the Canadian side of the St. Lawrence.

The seaway is intended to open a deep-water channel through which ocean-going ships could travel from the Atlantic to the tip of the Great Lakes.

MUST BE PREPARED

Although Congress has declined to authorize U. S. participation in the seaway phase, the army engineers told the FPC in a letter:

"While it is contemplated. . . that Canada will build the seaway . . .construction of seaway facilities on the United States side (of the river) has not been foreclosed.

"Accordingly any licence now issued by the power commission should include adequate and equitable conditions with respect to possible seaway construction on the United States side either in the early or distant future."

The hearing on the New York authority's application for the power licence is in recess during the week-end, and may be concluded Monday.

The Public Power and Water Corp. of Trenton, N. J., also has applied for FPC approval to build an identical power project, plus a toll-free seaway on the American side of the river.

The FPC Friday ordered this application to be consolidated with the New York application, with the probable effect of expediting a decision in both cases.

Gunmen Get $35,000

DETROIT (CP)—Two gunmen held up the Standard Federal Savings and Loan Association Bank in northwest Detroit and escaped with $35,000 Friday. Police said the two, wearing dark glasses and with handkerchiefs tied across their faces, entered the bank through a rear entrance and herded employees into a vault. They then ordered one employee, Mrs. Elizabeth Beauchamp, 23, to get money from the vault and to empty the teller cash drawers.

Rejection Of Peace Plan Fails To Alienate India

By STANLEY JOHNSON

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Communist rejection of India's Korean peace plan has failed to alienate Prime Minister Nehru's government. Western hopes on that score have not been realized, judging by all the evidence available today.

It is even possible that the Soviet foreign minister, Andrei Vishinsky, has proved a shrewder judge of how to deal with India than have State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States or Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain.

The Kremlin diplomat rejected India's Korea peace plan in unbridled language two weeks ago and made a personal attack on its author, V. K. Krishna Menon. Vishinsky said the Chinese Communists felt the same way and the Peiping regime later confirmed this.

Some diplomats sneered at Vishinsky for what they called a monumental blunder. Spokesmen for Acheson and Eden predicted that the Russian tactics could alienate India, disillusion Nehru's government in its efforts to act as honest broker in the East - West cold war and weaken the ties of friendship between Peiping and New Delhi.

NOTHING HAPPENED

During the first stages of the Indian resolution's progress through the UN's 60-country political committee, it is understood, Britain urged these secondary advantages on the U.S. as a special reason for supporting the plan. The main reason, of course, was that it might possibly bring peace to Korea.

None of this has happened.

Instead, Nehru has restated his determination to remain neutral; Menon has stressed that his country continues on friendly terms with Peiping, will redouble its efforts to get the Chinese Reds seated in the UN and, in its efforts to settle the Korean war, will try to find out what terms are acceptable to Peiping.

Since his plan was rejected Menon has not spoken a word in public that could be considered critical of the Chinese or Russian Reds. As far as can be learned he has maintained this same attitude in private, too. He has told all who ask that he is convinced the Reds sincerely want peace in Korea. He says he is not angry or discouraged at their attitude.

ANGRY AT REPORTERS

Menon has turned his wrath against correspondents who ask if his continued defence of the Chinese Reds can be interpreted as criticism of the united command and the United Nations.

Early this week, Menon astounded diplomats here by publicly stating that bombing of the Yalu river power plants by the U. S. Air Force last spring wrecked the truce talks.

He then called a press conference to explain the statement, made in the course of a television interview, but insisted that everything he said at the conference must be off the record. His explanations and replies to queries stirred several correspondents to anger and exploded in bitter exchanges with some of them.

Minister Criticizes Queen's Gift To Son

LONDON (Reuters)—A clergyman criticized the Queen for giving Prince Charles a gun to play with.

The four-year-old Prince was recently given the pistol which, according to legend, belonged to Bonnie Prince Charlie, pretender to the throne who died in 1788.

Rev. D. Oliver, minister of a suburban Congregational church, Friday called the present "deplorable."

In his parish magazine he wrote: "Let us avoid giving weapons of violence to children, despite the deplorable example from high society recently publicized." He admitted he was referring to the gift to Charles.

SITUATED ON THE OLD canoe express route of fur trading days, Minaki is a delightful holiday spot with many beautiful lakes and rivers nearby. Many travellers spend part of their vacation in this lovely holiday spot and then go on to Winnipeg, gateway to the west, which is not too distant. Minaki On Old Indian Battle Ground One Of Ontario's Loveliest Scenic Spots

Minaki, sparkling like a small jewel in its lovely surroundings, well deserved its Indian name "beautiful country." To see this charming, rustic resort one would never guess it is the same spot where the Sioux and Ojibway Indians fought many bloody battles for supremacy.

In exploring around Minaki, the visitor can follow in a canoe the old "canoe express route" of the fur traders. La Verendrye, searching for the western sea, established posts along these shores. Although the Indian colony has almost disappeared, every piece of land in the area could tell an interesting story.

Minaki in Ontario on the Winnipeg River, adjacent to Granite and Big and Little Sand Lakes, is about 40 miles from Kenora. Actually the Winnipeg river forms part of the watershed into the general Lake of the Woods area. This lovely spot can be reached by train on the main C.N.R. line and is about a 30-hour trip.

ADAPTED TO LANDSCAPE

In keeping with the rugged terrain, Minaki is built of stone and timber. The main building which is the centre of social life is in ranch style, built of logs and with massive stone ornaments. A beautiful lake sparkles at the front doorstep.

Beside the usual resort pastimes and fishing, this C.N.R. hotel offers some attractive short boat trips. There are two trips scheduled daily between Minaki and Kenora — leaving Minaki at 8:30 and 10:30 a.m. and returning from Kenora at 3 and 5 p.m. Other boat trips are available by arrangement and cover that general area. Lunches can be taken for fishing and scenic trips.

Two interesting points popular with travellers are the Dalles and White Dog Falls. The Dalles is passed en route to Kenora but White Dog Falls is in the other direction. Since there are no docking facilities for large launches, the latter trip is made with outboard motor boat. From where the boats tie up, it is a 2½-mile jaunt to the fast water.

GO ON TO WINNIPEG

The best time of year to go is during July and August. Exploring its lovely islands and shoreline is an ever-thrilling experience. Another of its fine features is that there is no hay fever suffered here.

An interesting holiday combination would be to spend one week at Minaki and then take a three-hour train ride and spend some days exploring Winnipeg, the gateway to the West.

Licence Suspended Driving, Man Fined

BANCROFT (ENS)—A conviction of driving while his licence was under suspension and one of driving while the permit for his truck was under suspension resulted in a fine of $25 and costs against Cecil Barker, Bancroft, in magistrate's court here on Wednesday.

Magistrate Jackson had heard the case two weeks ago and reserved judgment at that time. He ordered Barker's truck confiscated in addition to the fine.

Barker was involved in a collision with another truck on Highway 62 last month. His licence was under suspension at the time from a previous conviction and he had ignored the order of suspension from the Department of Highways.

A charge of careless driving against Arthur Breach, Belleville, was remanded to December 17 at the request of the Crown.

Donald Welsh, Maple Leaf, was convicted of causing a disturbance at a dance and was fined $10 and costs on his plea of guilty.

Four other persons paid fines of $10 and costs for minor infractions of Provincial Acts.

The court docket, which included two cases of a serious nature, necessitated a sitting which lasted until midnight.

Child Drowned

BRANTFORD (CP)—Rain-swollen waters of the Grand river Friday took the life of three-year-old Susan Turton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turton, whose home is approximately 100 yards from the river in West Brantford. Susan and her brother, Stephen, 5, were making mud pies beside the river when the little girl slipped into the high muddy water. The body has not been recovered.

Found Guilty In Fatal Crash Driver Fined

BANCROFT (ENS) — Thomas Mitchell, 41, of Toronto, was convicted of dangerous driving in magistrate's court here on Wednesday and fined $25 and costs of $165.10 as a result of an accident on September 18 on Highway 62 south of the village, in which Grant Boyd, Toronto car dealer and former paratroop officer, was killed.

A charge of drunk driving was dismissed by Magistrate R. C. Jackson after Dr. M. L. Mador testified that he had used ether in connection with the taking of a blood sample from the defendant following the accident.

Dr. Ward Smith, of the Attorney General laboratory, testified that an ananlysis of the blood sample in question showed 1.7 parts per thousand of alcohol, but it was meaningless if the doctor taking the sample had used ether in sterilization. It would tend to raise the alcohol content of the blood to a degree relative to the quantity used.

Mitchell told the court that he had had only a small amount of whiskey and beer some hours prior to the accident.

In a lengthy hearing of the dangerous driving charge, evidence was introduced to show that the car, driven by Mitchell and owned by the deceased, had left the highway on a curve and hill, crossed a ditch, climbed two rock cuts, travelled through the air for some sixty feet before knocking over a pole and landing some feet below the rock cut on its roof. Boyd was thrown from the car and found at the top of a rock cut lying across the broken pole. Provincial police officers testified that Mitchell had admitted driving the car but told them he could remember no details of the accident. Nine Crown witnesses were heard.

The magistrate, in giving judgment, was of the opinion that the evidence should leave no doubt and was only consistent with terrific speed and a degree of negligence. He also advised defence counsel Gordon Tinker that he was imposing a moderate fine because of the high court costs. Mitchell's driving licence was suspended for one month. A further charge of careless driving was withdrawn by the Crown.

Request Room To Issue Permits

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Kenneth Slater and Ralph Beavis, as representatives of the Lakefield Chamber of Commerse, were a deputation to this week's meeting of the village council, with the request that the Chamber be granted the use of a room in Memorial Hall to issue motor vehicle permits and licences. On motion of Councillors J. L. Fraser and K. W. Morris they will be given the use of the council chamber. Reeve E. H. Northey presided at the meeting with Councillors J. L. Fraser, J. R. Hull and K. W. Morris present.

Another person to address the council was H. I. McCauley regarding the obtaining of the garbage and sanitary work in the village. The council informed Mr. McCauley as to the requirements before tendering for the contract and that it was a matter for the 1953 council to look after.

Friday, December 26, Boxing Day, was declared a civic holiday in the village.

Norman A. Moore was appointed to the Lakefield district high school board, of which he has been a member, for the years of 1953 and 1954.

Leslie R. Foster, who replaced Garnet Samis as police chief for the village early this year, was present and a discussion of the contract as laid down in the Police Act of Ontario between the village of Lakefield and Mr. Foster took place.

After considerable discussion it was moved by Councillor Morris and seconded by Councillor Hull, that the following changes be made in the contract or agreement (1) That the words "caretaker of the Memorial Hall and weed inspector be added to Section I of the agreement between L. R. Foster and the village of Lakefield. (2) That the words "and shall provide $100 deductible, collision and public liability and property damage coverage in respect of this vehicle," be deleted from Clause 8 of the said contract.

A bylaw to authorize the reeve and clerk on behalf of the village of Lakefield to sign the agreement between the village and Chief Leslie Foster, received its several readings and the reeve and clerk were authorized to sign and seal the same.

The finance committee authorized the payment of accounts totalling $2,646.14.

Organ And Piano Recital On Sunday

A special recital by organ and piano is being planned for St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening commencing at 6:45. Christopher Gledhill will be at the organ and Gwen Craw at the piano. Mr. Gledhill and Mrs. Craw have during the past three years been heard in a number of short recitals and their work has always received much favorable comment.

The evening service following the recital will be choral with two junior choirs, boys and girls, of more than 60 voices leading in the service of song.

Bancroft Couple Wed 50 Years Spent In District

BANCROFT (ENS)—A happy family group gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Sarginson here on Sunday to celebrate the couple's golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Sarginson, lifelong residents of the district, will have been married 50 years on December 24. The gathering was a surprise party and was held last Sunday in advance of the anniversary date so that out-of-town members of the family would be able to attend.

Mrs. Sarginson was born near London, Ont., in 1884 and came here with her parents when she was one year old. She grew up in the Bancroft district and was married to Mr. Sarginson in 1902 at the Bancroft United Church. The village was then in its infancy.

Mr. Sarginson, who was born in 1877 in Cardiff township, likes to recall memories of the past half century in the village and surrounding district, and the times he drove his oxen to the old grist mill on the York River to have wheat ground for flour used in the family baking. They have seven children living and twenty-six grandchildren. Two children died a number of years ago.

Thirty-one members of the immediate family were present and presented the happy couple with a beautiful mantel clock, a floor lamp and a table lamp. A three-tier anniversary cake was also presented to them.

Family members present were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sarginson and family, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Sarginson and family, Marmora; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sarginson and family, Bethany; Mr. and Mrs. William Sarginson and family, Haliburton; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nicoll and family, Kenise Lake; Mr. and Mrs. George Kellar and family, Bancroft; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sarginson and family, Bancroft; Mrs. Lulu Plumley, Bancroft, and Mrs. Anne Evans, Madoc.

An Open Letter To The Times

To: The Times
Printing House Square
LONDON

Dear Times:

Thank you for the copy of your Weekly Review which contained your Survey of the Province of Ontario; we liked it and are recommending it. But you will not think us vain, will you, if we confine our remarks in this letter to the short piece called "Local Newspapers" which appeared on page xvii of the Survey? You said some things there which interested us, but with which we cannot wholly agree.

We do not refer, of course, to your comment that the reporting of local news in such a paper as this "scores fairly high for accuracy and rather low for literacy", although we are rather stung by it. You know, surely, how difficult it is to get newspaper writing to a high level, and keep it there. That you have had struggles of your own in this respect is amply proven by the number of blunders from your columns which the Fowler brothers have used as illustrations in their books on English usage. We shall continue our gropings toward a literacy as complete as your own. Nor are we put out by your judgement that "Ontario papers may be dull but they are decent". The coruscation of such columns as yours would not be appreciated by our readers; they look to the Aurora Borealis for that sort of flashy fun.

No, it is with your suggestion that we are neglectful of world news that we take issue. We Ontario papers are rather proud of the quantity and quality of the world news we print; we are far more heedful of our duty in this matter than all but a few of the largest and finest papers in the U.S.A., and we do not think that we need fear comparison with the papers of Great Britain. Certainly we do a better job with world news than the papers of our sister dominion of Australia. May we suggest—without attempting any permanent breach of the indivisible editorial godhead of The Times— that whoever wrote the piece on Ontario papers for you really meant that we do not publish enough English news to suit him? For with the best will in the world we cannot escape an impression that when an Englishman in Canada talks about "world news" he really means news from home.

For many years we were ourself a resident of England, dear Times, and we read you and the Telegraph every morning with care, and three of your evening contemporaries each night. We were struck by the fact that your Canadian news was, upon the whole, scanty, late and often so rigorously edited that it had lost its meaning. This was before the war, when you had plenty of paper. But it never occurred to us that you were not interested in world news; we assumed, more modestly, that you printed what was of greatest interest to your readers. And while we are on this touchy theme, dear Times, may we ask if it was really in your columns that the famous headline appeared "Fog in Channel; Continent Isolated"?

We know how busy you are advising ministries, admonishing Foreign Powers, and speaking with the organ-voice of England, but may we suggest that when you have a spare moment, you might look again at the Ontario provincial papers, and you will find that they do quite a good job with world news.

Respectfully, we beg to remain your imperfectly literate admirer,

THE PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

A Needle In The Incredible Canadian's Full-Blown Prose

Really, Canadians are beginning to look like a people with imaginations and wits. Mr. Bruce Hutchison titillates the imagination—and gives a good dose of it himself—in his account of Mackenzie King The Incredible Canadian, raising Canadian biography and Canadians from the flat, stale, unprofitable waste of words in which so many Canadians and things Canadian have been entombed by other pens. In fact, Mr. Hutchison flies so high with his prose vision that another able observer of Canadians and the Canadian scene, Mr. Eugene Forsey, has climbed up another ladder which we are also glad to see on the horizon—satiric verse—and leaned across the empyrean to give Mr. Hutchison's high-flown, full-blown prose one of the neatest punctures a sly pen has administered in Canada during all Mackenzie King's decades. Mr. Forsey, a man of brains who is research director of the Canadian Congress of Labour, is also a man of wit.

Mr. Forsey wrote some verses to the Ottawa Journal, prefacing to the lines a couple of sentences from page 17 of Bruce Hutchison's book, referring to Sir John A. Macdonald and King. We pass the fun along.

"Old Tomorrow, neck-deep in the congenial conspiracies and huge constructive labors of Ottawa and often deep in liquor; the commonplace and unknown youth in Berlin: the founder of Canada; the future custodian of his handiwork—there was a chancy combination of circumstance worth pause and pondering. Some commonplace youth in an unknown corner of Canada today, King's heir, would be worth pondering also if we could identify him."

John A. Macdonald, at sixty-three,
Had climbed to the very top of the tree.
William Lyon Mackenzie King,
At four years old, didn't mean a thing.
There's a contact "worth pause and pondering",
"Combination" to set you wondering!
"Old Tomorrow", the statesman and sinner;
King, the "commonplace" infant Berliner,
The future trustee of Macdonald's work:
A thought to bring you up with a jerk!
This is biography, this is history,
This, dear friends, a Hutchison "mystery".
But here's another, still more exciting,
Conjured by magic of Bruce's writing:
Somewhere, today, between ocean and ocean
(Where it may be, we haven't a notion),
King's youthful "heir", unidentified,
Waits, all unknowing, for Fortune's tide;
Never suspecting a Destiny sinister
'S planning already to make him Prime Minister!
Could we but find him, here, there or yonder,
He, too, would be a fit subject to "ponder".
But, as we can't, we must leave him unsung,
Of a later Muse, theme for the harp and the tongue.

EUGENE FORSEY.

87.31 Percent. British

Canada is a land of many races. The census takers last year, as in previous censuses, asked people what their racial extraction was, and were not satisfied with the answer "Canadian". There is a Canadian nationality but, it seems, not yet a Canadian race.

The figures for Peterborough county show that the people of this city and county too are predominately of British stock; in fact 87.31 per cent. of the county's population can trace their paternal ancestry to England, Ireland, Scotland or Wales. Thus Peterborough county is one of the most purely Anglo-Saxon-Celtic in the Province. (In Ontario generally, only 67 percent. is British.) In 1941, the Peterborough population was 90.9 percent. of British Isles origin. Thus, despite the growing industrialization of the district, the large increase in population, and the number of immigrants who have come into the area, Peterborough county and city remains homogeneously almost nine-tenths British stock.

It is an interesting fact that in this Anglo-Saxon community the next strongest racial strain is French; 3.72 per cent. or 2,259 persons claim French origin through their paternal ancestry.

More than sixteen racial strains are represented in the county's population but none of them bulks large in comparison with the British-Celtic lineage. The total population has increased 28.26 per cent. during the decade 1941-51, and all the racial elements found here in 1941 have increased with it. The British stock increased 22.91 per cent., French 53.04 per cent. (not as a result of immigration), the Dutch 40.84 per cent. (there are now 1,245 persons in Peterborough county who came, or whose male ancestor came, from The Netherlands).

The race which increased least in Peterborough city and county during the decade was the Jewish race. There were 189 persons of Jewish origin here in 1941; there are only 26 more now—an increase of only 13.76 per cent.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The Vancouver News-Herald thinks that city "should quit apologizing for their rain, and boast about it." That will be the day California re-names itself The Earthquake State.

Queen Mary, who is 86, is of the opinion at present that she will not attend the long Coronation ceremony. Many of us will spare her an admiring thought on that day, however.

The birth of a baby was recently the chief attraction on a nation-wide television hook-up in the U.S. Undoubtedly somebody's deathbed will be the next big attraction.

Fifty-four per cent. of all the girls married in Ontario in 1950 were under 23, and over 3,000 of them were under 18. A lot could be said about this, but we are content to remark that it strengthens their chances of celebrating a Golden Wedding.

Under the heading "Dramatic-Musical Talent Wanted" in the Toronto Telegram recently appeared this notice: "WELL-AGED, rotted manure, bushel load or yard. Immediate delivery. Gerrard 1976." As a comment on Canadian talent we think this goes too far.

We read of the purchase of 24,000 gallons of Hereford cider by a single broker in England, and once again we wonder: why does a country which produces such fine apples as Canada produce no cider? It is a good drink for the temperate user and we would be glad to see some of it.

The Journal of Samuel Marchbanks

SUNDAY: Passed a happy day, though occasionally I was tormented by a suspicion that my conduct was reprehensible, for I never removed my bedroom slippers from rising until bedtime. When I was an impressionable tot my schoolnurse, Miss Toxaemia Dogsbody, Reg. N., laid it down as a point of doctrine that one should get some fresh air every day. She made it plain that fresh air could only be found out of doors. As I never visited her home, I do not know what the air in the Dogsbody house was like, but I suspect that it was a compound of cooking smells and carbolic, for that was the aroma she carried about with her. But the air in the Towers suits me very well, being warm, dusty and familiar; it is much fresher than the nasty compound of gasoline fumes and soft-coal smoke which I breathe when I am outside. So I fought down my misgivings and stayed indoors all day long, and when night came I felt wonderfully rested and healthy.

✧ ✧ ✧

MONDAY: Experienced the delicious thrill of Good Citizenship which comes to me every year at this time, when I vote in the local municipal elections. It is not often that I feel like a pillar of my community, so I make the most of this occasion, grinning smugly and tossing a cheery word here, and a sage political judgement there, as I go to my poll. This is always in a school, and for me local government is inextricably associated with midget desks, chalk portraits of Santa Claus on the blackboard, and that mingling of floor-oil, overshoes, heating coils and chalk which is the unmistakeable bouquet of primary education. A teacher on duty, poorly disguised as a poll-clerk, sent me to the cloakroom, which is where I used to be sent as a boy, cloakrooms being school equivalent for jails. But instead of sulking, and mixing up everybody's rubbers, and stuffing people's hats up other people's sleeves, I marked the handful of ballots I had received, and chatted amicably with another voter, who was separated from me by nothing larger or more substantial than a map of Ontario. I swaggered out of the poll with my head high, as befits a man who has exercised a hard-won democratic right. Later I learned that I had lost most of my votes, owing to the pitiful lack of discernment shown by the other voters.

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: What causes words to go out of fashion, I wonder? Today I was chatting with an aged, but sporty, character who employed many an old-fashioned term in his ordinary speech, and even resurrected such palsied slang as "Yessirree bob!" from time to time. But when he left me he said that he was going to the station to catch a train, and I was jarred by the falsity of this remark; such a man should not have said "station" but "depot"—of course pronounced "deepo", or perhaps "deppo". When I was a lad, and this man in his saucy youth, nobody with any pretention to smartness ever called a station anything but a "deepo", and I think that to most of them it implied something fancier than a station. A station was a frame building, painted the colour of dried blood and heated with a pot-bellied stove, where rubes and jays waited for the train. The deepo served such dudes as themselves, and usually had a marble floor, a drinking fountain (out of order) and an echo. In a deepo there was a Ladies' Waiting Room, to protect unaccompanied females from the vile attention of lubricious males. In a mere station women had to take their chance, and were usually heavily armed with hatpins.

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: Briefly encountered one of my nieces, who was full of chat about a performance of Shakespeare's Julius Caesar which had recently been given at her school; she had been deeply impressed by the ghost of Caesar, and regarded Brutus and Anthony as minor characters in comparison with this apparition. Was pleased about this, for as a child I was taken with Caesar's ghost in a similar production. There was a plaster bust of Caesar in the art room, and the boy who played the ghost wrapped himself in a sheet and carried the bust on his head, giving the impression that in life Caesar had been seven feet tall and extremely lumpy about the chest. Modern drama is pitifully short of ghosts. This cannot be because people no longer believe in them, for a more savage superstitious, credulous, half-baked age than this has rarely appeared in history. Anyway, I believe in ghosts myself, whatever may be true of the general public. But a play with a good ghost in it is a rarity, and when one considers how useful a ghost is for pepping up the action of a play, or giving the plot a useful shove forward, this is strange.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: To see an excellent movie, "The African Queen", which I missed when it first appeared, and was impressed by two things: (a) that Katherine Hepburn's costumes had been supervised by Doris Langley Moore, one of the really great experts on women's costume in our time, and that they contrived to be at the same time hideous and yet alluring, and (b) that Humphrey Bogart, whom I have never before seen in anything except wooden-faced tough-guy parts, has a notable gift for comedy . . . A really intelligent film restores one's faith in human nature, and if many like "The African Queen" were to appear I should lose all my churlishness and begin to dote upon my fellow men.

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: Bruce Hutchinson, whose love-affair with the Canadian nation takes many a strange turn, writes this of Sir John A. Macdonald who gave us, he says, "our first portrait of a Canadian". Here, it appears, is the portrait: "In that strange old man with the wine-red face and fantastic nose, in all the queer clutter, contradiction, comedy and tragedy of his life, we can see ourselves as in a mirror" . . . Can we, indeed. I look eagerly at my fellow-Canadians, and not a wine-red face do I behold, except in early spring, when the sun-bathing mania claims its first victims. Fantasic noses, likewise, are all too few. Clutter, contradiction, comedy and tragedy are, I confess, to be met with on every hand, but they are not exclusive to Canadians . . . No, I cannot think that Sir John A. was much like a Canadian, or like anything else, except his excellent self. As well say that Laurier was a mirror of Canadians. If any statesman really epitomized the Canadian character and appearance, it was probably Sir Oliver Mowat. I do not hold with pretending that our exceptional and great men are made in our image. We honour and follow them for the very reason that they are not.

✧ ✧ ✧

SATURDAY: Had to take a bag of potatoes into the cellar of the Towers, this afternoon, and as I heaved and struggled with the formless monster I reflected that this year is the 500th since the birth of Leonardo da Vinci who, if he had been asked to take a sack of potatoes downstairs, would undoubtedly have rigged up some ingenious machine to do so for him. Although we know him chiefly as a painter of that pie-faced woman called Mona Lisa, Leonardo was one of the great engineers of all time, and never lifted anything personally, because he knew all about hoists and levers. No doubt (I reflected as my arms were dragged from their sockets and my heart was moved four inches to the left) this was why he lived to be 67 in an age when most people thought they had done well if they hung on till 40. I think it is shameful that boys are not taught a little elementary engineering at school — enough to teach them how to get a bag of potatoes into a cellar, for instance. When at last the task was done I prepared a restorative cordial and drank it, and remembered that Leonardo was a teetotaller. But then, he never lifted anything; we toiling peasants have some justification for our vices.

An American Opinion: "JINGLE BELLS, JINGLE BELLS . . ."

Edmonton vs. Calgary

(LETHBRIDGE HERALD)

OUT of the $166,000,000 of new industries being built in Alberta this year, according to a survey by the Alberta Economic Affairs department, $99,000,000 worth are being built in Edmonton and environs, with oil and waste gas entering largely into the picture. Edmonton is fast becoming the petro-chemical capital of Alberta.

The other day a Calgary alderman rather peevishly pointed out that, whereas Edmonton is getting $99,000,000 in industries this year, Calgary is lagging along with a mere $10,000,000. And the Calgary Herald, taking note of the discrepancy between the two rival cities, wants to know "how to win friends and develop industries." Casting eyes northward the Calgary paper sees that Edmonton is attracting industries about ten times as fast as Calgary, and remarks:

"As everyone knows, the fact that Edmonton has been so overrun with industry hasn't made it any better metropolis; it's possibly just noisier . . . Edmonton has had all kinds of serviced land available and naturally the city has captured the cream of the industrial invaders. In addition, of course, Edmonton has maintained an active and down-to-earth industrial commission . . . When is Calgary going to wake up? When the boom is over?"

While that may sound a bit like sour grapes, it is evidence that Calgary is really alarmed over the manner in which Edmonton has drawn away from it in point of population and industrial expansion. The feuding today, so long a spot of colour in Alberta's expansion picture, is all on the side of Calgary which whistles the tune, "Calgary, Oil Capital of Alberta," to keep up the courage.

Letters To The Editor

STREETS BROKEN AND UNSAFE

Sir: The other afternoon, Tuesday to be correct, a young man was sweeping the water from a place in the pavement on Charlotte St. when a man came along and remarked, "Why we have better streets in Omemee".

Maybe a good idea would be that the Mayor and men in the Council would take a walking tour around the city and take note of all the numerous such places and have them filled in. There are also many broken sides, in the pavements on various streets.

These places could easily cause a very serious accident. Who then would be held responsible? A stitch in time saves nine. There are still lots of people who have to use their own natural transportation.

Don't let our fair city be a laughing stock. It would be money well spent and make walking safe and better.

REBUKES PREMIER DOUGLAS

Sir: Mr. Douglas, premier of Saskatchewan, while speaking in Toronto on November 11 on the life of J. S. Woodsworth, tried to leave the impression that the leader of the C.C.F. was responsible for all the social legislation we have in Canada. That statement is not true—if you, Tom Douglas, will forget your narrow views and read that book written by Mackenzie King called "Industry and Humanity", you will readily understand that Mackenzie King was working on that Social Legislature before he became Leader of the Liberal Party in August 1919.

From the time he became Premier of Canada, he was putting that social legislature into operation as he could find money to pay it. He didn't do as your outfit did in Saskatchewan, when you went into power the pension was $28.00 per month; you paid a bonus of $5.00. But when the King government increased the pension to $30.00 per month, you cancelled the $5.00 bonus. The reason you did this, was that the hospitalization was costing more per person than you were charging. So you took it off the Old Age Pensioners to pay the difference. Put that in your pipe and smoke it.

IS COIN VALUABLE?

Sir: I would like to ask if anyone would know if a 25-cent piece with Queen Victoria 1898, which is now 50 years old, is valuable. I have one put away for a long time and sometimes I wonder if it's worth anything. Would some reader answer my question? I will watch for it in the paper.

Deadly Toy

(Charlottetown Guardian)

A Prince county youth received a suspended sentence recently for wounding another young man with a .22 rifle. That is a lesson to the individual concerned but it is the responsibility of parents and elders to educate young people in the proper handling of firearms. To a boy a .22 may seem just a toy but it is in fact a deadly weapon and must be treated as such.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I am the Lord: that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images. Behold, the former things are come to pass, and new things do I declare: before they spring forth I tell you of them. (Isa. 42: 8, 9.)

✧ ✧ ✧

The works of the Lord are great, sought out of all them that have pleasure therein . . . The works of his hands are verity and judgement; all his commandments are sure. They stand fast for ever and ever, and are done in truth and uprightness. (Ps. 111: 2, 7, 8.)

✧ ✧ ✧

We are of God: he that knoweth God heareth us; he that is not of God heareth not us. Hereby know we the spirit of truth, and the spirit of error . . . He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love . . .

There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear: because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love. (I John 4: 6, 8, 18.)

The fear of man bringeth a snare: but whoso putteth his trust in the Lord shall be safe. (Prov. 29: 25.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flieth by day; nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness; nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday. A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand but it shall not come nigh thee. (Ps. 91:5-7.)

Unconsidered Trifles

He was a believer in the uplifting effect of the drama, and now that he had met his twin soul, what could be more natural than that he should take her to "Othello" to be similarly inspired? And she was. The scene of Desdemona's death beneath the pillow moved her profoundly, as he had expected.

"That reminds me!" she exclaimed. "I must get some loose covers for the cushions in my sitting-room."

(Ottawa Journal)

The St. Thomas Times-Journal is being published now from a new building that gives it double the floor space of the structure which has been its home since 1883.

This stage in the growth and progress of the Times-Journal reminds us how much Ontario owes to the newspapers of its medium and smaller cities, to the papers which are owned within their communities and are operated and managed by outstanding local people with a deep regard for the public interest.

In the classification of cities of medium size come such papers as the Windsor Star, the London Free Press, and the Kingston Whig-Standard. The smaller cities give us the Brantford Expositor, the Times-Journal of St. Thomas, the Stratford Beacon-Herald, the St. Catharines Standard, the Kitchener-Waterloo Record, the Peterborough Examiner, the Cornwall Standard-Freeholder.

Without exception these are fine, well-edited, independent newspapers, each of them a credit to its community, its standing high in influence and prestige and contributing in a large way (through The Canadian Press and other news services and features) to the cause of public education on which a sound public opinion is based.

There is no substitute for a good newspaper —no substitute for honest reporting, for intelligent arrangement and presentation of news, for the interpretation and guidance of an honest and well-balanced editorial page, for the amusement and entertainment that are part of the modern daily.

Ontario is admirably served in this respect, as we realize every day when we read and enjoy such dailies as those we have mentioned here.

Early Otonabee Settler Carr Wrote To The Newspapers Left Good Written Record

By E. C. GUILLET

Thomas Carr, who was born in Scotland, spent ten years of his youth in the West Indies, but was forced to return to Scotland to undergo an operation on his knee. It proved necessary to amputate the leg, and so handicapped, Carr, with his brother Andrew, emigrated to Canada in 1819. In the following year they were among the first settlers in the wilds of Otonabee Township, Peterborough County, where they were the original owners of the entire site of the present village of Keene, on the Indian River. Shortly afterwards Andrew Carr was killed by the fall of a large tree.

From the start Thomas Carr was prominent in municipal life. He was a district councillor of the Colborne District (subsequently divided into the counties of Peterborough and Victoria) in 1842-43, a road commissioner for Otonabee 1830-1840, and long a justice of the peace; and it was perhaps to be expected that he would be first postmaster of Keene.

When the Cobourg Star was established in 1831 we find Carr among the earliest contributors to its columns. Letters, prose essays, and verse appear in that year, and they show him to be, as Dr. Poole put it in his History of Peterborough, "of a cultivated and observing mind." His verse, though not without defects, is certainly of at least average merit.

The first of his poems in the Star was called forth by the sixteenth anniversary of Waterloo, in which he may have participated. It appeared, with the following introduction, in the issue of August 16, 1831:

The following song, written on the anniversary of the memorable battle of Waterloo, and never before published, may excite in British bosoms the glorious recollection of old times.—T.C.

Here are two sample verses:

Revolving time has brought the day,
That beams with glory's brightest ray
In hist'ry's page or poet's lay—
The day of Waterloo.
Each British heart with ardour burns,
As this resplendent day returns;
While humbl'd France in secret mourns
The day of Waterloo.
Then lift the brimful goblet high
While rapture beams in ev'ry eye;
Let shouts of triumph rend the sky,
The toast is "Waterloo!"

A few weeks later appeared an Elegy in eighteenth-century style on the death of a friend who had committeed suicide. It was printed in the Star of November 15th under the title:

ELEGY

On the lamented death of ——, who fell by his own hand.

Why didst thou stop the vital stream?
Oh! say, what pang thy bosom tore?
Had life's fair prospects ceased to beam?
Or cherish'd friends didst thou deplore?
Did love his golden shafts employ,
And in thy bosom leave a dart,
To pierce thy hopes of earthly joy,
And rankle in thy bleeding heart?

There are eight more verses; the last two are:

Let not the senseless bigot's doom
Disturb thee in thy early grave;
May friendship's tears bedew thy tomb,
And sweetest flow'rets o'er thee wave.

A few short years shall pass away,
And life's vain tumults all shall cease;
I too shall hail my latest day,
And sleep, like thee, at last in peace.

About the same time Thomas Carr had sent a number of prose compositions to the Cobourg Star. Most of them relate to animals and adventures among them, but the first, a long letter which appeared on February 15th and 22nd, is a detailed account of his visit to the Mud (Chemong) Lake Indian settlement, together with a plea for a continuance of the recent improvement which he found characterized the white man's treatment of the natives.

CHEMONG LAKE

The journey from Peterborough comprised four miles over the "Communication Road", which he found very bad because of stones and decayed stumps, two miles through the woods to the lake, then six miles over the ice northeasterly to the Indian Village. He gives this description of the lake:

"Destitute of islands and deep bays, it presents a deep and joyless uniformity. Its shores are composed alternately of ridges covered with pines, which advance a little into the Lake, and of hollows which recede in proportion. The cedars that in many places skirt the margin of the water are intermingled with a few white poplars."

Carr gives an interesting description of the Indian method of spearing fish through the ice. They used a wooden decoy fish resembling a perch, with a piece of lead inserted to make it sink about three or four feet deep. Over the hole was a tent-like structure of blankets, and the Indians were highly successful in attracting and spearing fish by this means.

The Indian reservation totalled 1,760 acres, shared by twenty-six families totalling over one hundred people. Sixteen log houses, 25 feet by 20, had already been erected, and two acres of cleared land surrounded each, with more clearing in process. The houses' logs were slightly squared inside and out, and each home had a cellar and a stone chimney. The furnishings varied with the individuals in the houses.

30 PUPILS

In the rear of the homes was a schoolhouse. There were thirty pupils "learning the elements of English reading" and described as "docile". In charge of the development of both the Mud Lake and Rice Lake villages was the Reverend Mr. Scott, the agent of an English benevolent society.

The chiefs of the Mud Lake settlement were John Iron, aided by Jacob Crane of "Scugag". The Indians were much the poorer as a result of the recent raid by thirteen lawless hunters from the United States, who had killed innumerable beavers in their hunting-grounds to the north, without respect to any of the ordinary rules of hunting and trapping.

"In reflecting seriously upon this settlement", concludes Carr, "in viewing these Indians, formerly poor houseless wanderers, comfortably situated upon good land, with an inexhaustible fishery in their front and hunting grounds in their rear, we could not help regretting that thousands in Great Britain and Ireland, who at this moment have little bread to eat, had not an offer of the like advantage. Much has been done for the Indians, and we trust that they will be sensible of the benefits conferred upon them, and endeavour to deserve by improving them."

Three contributions on the natures of essays show Carr's tenderness for animals. The first, sent from "Gilchrist's Mills, Otonabee. 3rd October, 1831", is entitled "The Stranger". It is in part indignant at the shooting in Rice Lake by an Indian, Joe Soper, of a huge deer, which they called Auteek and was apparently either an elk or a reindeer from the Canadian northwest.

It was immediately cut up and hauled to the Indian Village, but Carr and a party of white men hastened there and made careful measurements of the horns and other parts of the body, as well as minute particulars of hair. The general result reminded Carr of the report of a large moose in 1827:

"The track of a moose deer, of which the species has, for a length of time, been considered as extinct in this part of Upper Canada, was, about four years ago, seen by the Youngs, upon the snow of Stony Lake, crossing towards the south. This information was communicated to an Indian, who tracked it through Douro but failed to obtain a sight of it."

LYNX SHOT

On December 13th the Star carried "The American Lynx", a detailed description of one shot in the vicinity. He gives minute details of the animal, which was about the size of a dog, and recounts various legends about the species; but after hearing "wonderful stories about the 'Cat o'-mount' in Canada" he decides to leave "such fables to amuse old women and children", and hopes "that the preceding account will be found rational and correct".

Three weeks later, on January 3, 1832, appeared "A Modern Hercules", gratifying the fad for reminiscences by "The Reminiscences of Elliot, the Bear Destroyer" Elliot was a "gallant veteran" of the wars in Portugal, Spain and France, and emigrated to the "township of C in this District"

Elliot attacked a large bear, expecting to kill the animal with his musket; but the bullet was deflected by matted hair, and the bear quickly tore the weapon from his grasp. Elliot tried to get hold of his knife, but the bear closed his jaws over the hand and Elliot was reduced to the extremity of attempting to strangle his assailant by thrusting his hand into the bear's throat and seizing its tongue. Finding that the bear relaxed its hold, Elliot drew out his hand and left the scene badly mauled and cut. Later men and dogs returned and found the bear dead. "If this remarkable action be, as it is stated, a fact", concludes Thomas Carr, "it deserves to be recorded among other memorabilia of far less interest and importance, in honor of the man who, on this trying occasion, so bravely and successfully hazarded his life in an unequal contest."

Civic Hospital Kitchens Satisfy

Many hospital patients worry needlessly about the food that is served them. They may feel that servings are not substantial or that quantities are inadequate. Little do they realize that proper diet, together with drugs and medical skill, is a very important part of healing processes.

At any time of the day or night at Peterborough Civic Hospital any of the 75 doctors who use the institution complete a patient's diagnosis by examining a comprehensive manual that lists varieties and combinations of diets aplicable to any given case.

Twenty-five per cent. of all patients who go to Civic require special therapeutic diets.

Let us suppose that Dr. Blank's patient—a diabetic— has been admitted to one of the semi-private wards on the third floor and has been visited by him. The doctor chooses a diet type from the manual; high in carbohydrates, high in protein and low in fat. He writes on the telautograph.

C-350 P-80 F-60

His terse message appears automatically in the receiving machine in the business office of dietician-in-chief, Aileen Morgan. Her secretary, Muriel Dickson, passes the instruction to the therapeutic dietician on duty in the kitchen.

With the patient's name and room number and diet type before her she plots quantities of food that will contain three times, or, one day's meals of food made up of C-350, P-80, F-60.

The dietician personally weighs out the required foods on attractive trays on a special serving table equipped with scales. The trays are placed on the endless belt with those containing standard foods.

Meanwhile, standard meals of the day are coming to the endless belt from all directions of the kitchen in assembly-line fashion One hundred and fifty to 180 trays are made up each meal time three times a day, by 40 people on duty over the 24-hour period. No more than five people, however, are preparing food at one time.

1,000 MEALS DAILY

Altogther—including food prepared for the staff dining room and patients—1,000 to 1,250 meals are served daily. And the modern well-planned kitchen, containing $75,000 worth of equipment, hums with well-trained help in the storage rooms and refrigerating sections, at ranges and cooking kettles and pastry baking boards.

Food flows to trays, trays to serving belt and upstairs to various floors on a mechanical dumb waiter. On each floor orderlies fill wagons and distribute trays to the patients with silent efficiency.

No food of any kind is prepared on the nursing floors. Drinks of fruit juice, milk and so forth originate in the kitchen.

From nine to 15 trays of special food are prepared daily for the pedriatric ward—small children. Such items as pablum, strained vegetables, fruits and meats constitute these special menus.

Infant feeding formulas are prepared by the dietetic department on the fifth floor of the hospital and are directed to the little patients.

More than half the new babies are bottle fed and although Mother Nature provides for the others, even she is at all times under the eagle eye of the dieticians.

A-F-I-E-L-D with NICK NICKELS

In spring, summer and fall in this Kawartha country of ours we fish, and talk about it. And in the winter there ain't no fishin'. The next best thing is to watch the screening of good fishing movies and no matter what country is used for the locale we enjoy them because we understand something about the sport.

On Thursday night I was called to the flying bridge of the Outboard Mariners at their annual banquet to see three epics on the subject of fishing that were out of this world. Following is a brief rundown of each:

* * * *

Teamwork With Tuna

Fighting tuna in the Gulf of Mexico is a brute-force thing, man against monsters that are not considered worth keeping unless they weigh more than 400 pounds.

The first half of the film is actionion a standard 35-foot outrigger fishing boat with swivel chair, Bunyan-size rods and a salvage crew. This is followed by a small outboard-powered skiff showing power of motor against power of fish. It has many ticklish moments when it seemed that fishermen would be pulled overboard to mix with tuna and attacking sharks. Very exciting and powerful but the overall film was pulled down by weak commentary by an announcer whose "fighting" adjectives became tiresome.

* * * *

Trout a la Shoshone

A professional type fishing travelogue in the wilds of Wyoming where two American war buddies have the time of their lives catching rainbows. Breath-taking scenery, smooth shooting sequences and commentary that was just right. Of course, the fishermen were outboard-powered and in swift rapids that ol' motor bumped and ground over the rocks, got rocks in its prop blades and churned away without shearing a pin. Marvellous. How rugged can kickers get? The fishing was out of this world, even by Kawartha standards. This film was excellent.

* * * *

Fabulous Fishing in South America

The third and best film was made jointly by Pan-American Airways, South Bend Bait and Johnson Motors, a flying-fishing trip that pretty well covered the best spots in South America. Chile, Peru and Uruguay all provided thrill-packed sport, sword and marlin on the West Coast and fighting golden dorados at an 8,000-foot lake in the Andes. These leapers did nothing but series of six-foot jumps and so did the rainbows—imported as fingerlings from France 40 years ago. This show had everyone on the edge of his chair. A 5-horse Johnson on a native punt provided the advertising punch.

All three films had their premier Canadian showing in Peterborough on Thursday evening.

* * * *

Our drive-in theatre on the Lakefield Highway has been depressingly dark for some time now. The marquee, if you can read it in the dark while passing by, says "SEE YOU IN THE SPRING."

Out West folks are made of sterner stuff. I read an advertisement in a Calgary paper for a drive-in show that offers portable hot-air heaters for patrons. The show, apparently, keeps going all winter and, Baby, is it cold out there! No doubt patrons wear their ten-gallon Stetsons, too.

* * * *

? ? ?? ?. . . .

Intrigued by press stories of that uncanny horse "Lady Wonder" of Richmond, Va., and her oat bin readings, I sneaked over to the private stable of one, W. C. Grant of Lakefield, who owns a very intelligent animal, he says.

Because Bill is running again for village reeveship I thought I might pump the nag for a preview of results of Monday's election.

I was disillusioned to find on opening the stable door that the hay burner wore a big white bib with the word 'YES' across it.

Monday will tell whether or not this horse shall be called "Lady Wonder II."

Christmas Roses Require Moist Sheltered Position

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

If the gardener actually cares for quality plants he should indulge in three or more Christmas Roses, delightful plants rich are in bloom now. The Christmas rose, helleborus niger altifolius, a native of southern Europe and western Asia, begins to bloom about the first of November and continues throughout the winter when the air is warm and the soil is not frozen hard.

Strange to relate, the Christmas Rose is not a rose but a member of the buttercup family which includes such worthwhile perennials as the anemone, hepatica, clematis and monkshood. It has excellent bright-colored, divided foliage and large, attractive white flowers with prominent yellow stamens resembling wild roses, thus explaining in part the name.

The flowers, often three inches across and on eight to 10-inch stems, last surprisingly well when cut. Outdoors the plants will flower off and on for the next six to eight weeks. However, we do not use their foliage, cutting instead that of the pachysandra which it closely resembles.

At present our plants are full of buds with a scattering in partial bloom. For best results Christmas Roses should be placed where they can be observed from a commonly used window or house entrance.

A nurseryman specializing in Christmas Roses says that a moist and sheltered position is best. As for culture, the Christmas Rose is not hard to please. Like most broad-leaved evergreens, it does not like hot afternoon sun in summer nor searing wind in winter.

An east or north exposure in average, near neutral, good garden soil is fine. Mix a little superphosphate with the soil when you transplant and transplant in fall. Mulch after planting with peat moss.

Although it likes plentiful moisture while growing — in spring when leaves are made and in fall when flowers and new roots appear—it is absolutely essential to select a spot with good drainage. Nor should one over-water during the summer when the plant is dormant and resting. Do not cultivate and cut off the spreading rootstalks.

Manure, water or commercial fertilizer in solution can be used when fertilizing is necessary. When you have selected the proper site and the plants are doing well, leave them alone and each year they will become more and more beautiful.

Someone wrote last year of a seven-year-old plant that had 250 blossoms. What a dividend from one plant that expects so little from us in return! When much of Nature goes to sleep in the fall, we can indeed take heart and be greatly cheered by the flowers of the Christmas Rose.

Christmas roses bloom throughout the winter when air turns warmer and soil is not frozen.

Gardening Questions

Q—How often should house plants be given an application of fertilizer?

A—Most house plants require monthly feeding when they are in active growth. A treatment once a month with a liquid complete fertilizer is recommended.

* * *

Q—What berried shrubs can be planted in the average back yard to attract birds?

A—The Flowering Dogwood and its close relations, the Shrub Dogwoods, provide excellent berries for 93 kinds of birds. Other suitable shrubs are the different varieties of Viburnum, Honeysuckle, Shadbush and Hawthorn.

GERANIUM

Everything is handsome about the geranium, not excepting its name.

LOGIC

Logic is founded upon suppositions which do not correspond to anything in the actual world—for example, the supposition of the equality of things, and that of the identity of the same thing at different times.

THREE OF THE STALWARTS—The Petes earned an 8-6 senior hockey win over Belleville here last night, and the three shown above had a lot to do with it. Ted Collins (at left) scored two and helped on another; Dean Wasson (centre) turned in a fine defensive game and also aided on two markers; while Chum Fryia (at right) led the local attack with three fine counters.

Petes Down The Glens, 8-6 In Rugged Senior Scrap To Move Up In OHA Standing

Flashing back to form here last night, the Petes pulled out an 8-6 OHA senior "B" victory over Belleville Glens to hurdle over Orillia in the standing and creep to within a game of the fourth-place Quinte crew. The homesters led 4-1 in the first period but were only in front 6-5 going into the close third chukker of a speedy, rugged joust. Belleville drew eight of the 15 penalties handed out by Referee Larry Heffering of Whitby, who kept the tussle under control. Jud Semark of Glens and Don Floyd of Petes drew misconduct penalties for uncomplimentary remarks to his nibs. Nearly a thousand fans viewed the lively struggle. Kingston plays Petes here Monday.

A FINE FRAY

It was a crowd-pleasing fray all the way. Belleville were minus Red Doran, who had a dinner engagement, while the Petes missed Curley Mason and Fred Garvey—out through illness. The Ellis outfit were minus Keith Montgomery, also, for most of the second period when he was cut on the jaw in a collision by the boards with big Vern Goyer. He returned in the third but is having an X-ray today to check on a possible fracture. Both sides turned on the steam from start to finish, played good hockey and didn't spare the bodychecks.

Jim Ellis showed four newcomers to the home crowd, Buck Legrow and Keith Montgomery going well on defence, and Lorne Eakins and Doug Hunter hustling plenty up front. The team turned in a neat display, but after the first period had to really battle against a strong Belleville bunch, who kept fighting back and nearly sewed it up several times.

LED ATTACK

Outstanding on the attack for the winners were Chum Fryia with three tallies and Ted Collins with two goals and an assist. Lorne Eakins and Toodie Greenlaw each had a goal and an assist in neat going, while Junior West, Dean Wasson and Buck Legrow had two assists each. Ray Harding turned in another good effort in the home cage.

Ted DeGray shone for the losers with three goals and an assist. Single markers were notched by Keith MacDonald, Jerry Desjardins and Peter Jones. An assist each went to Sam Mulholland, Doug Day, Brian Mulvihill and Jackie Wardhaugh. Goalie Tony Parisi stopped plenty of rubber in a good showing. The Glens got two goals with Petes a man short, and the winners notched one with a Belleville player in the sin bin. One Peterborough goal was called back for a man in the crease, and another was scored against them when batted in off a Petes' defenceman in front of the net.

Belleville: Goal, Parisi; defence, Schreider and Goyer; centre, Wardhaugh; wings, MacDonald and Mulvihill; alts., Bastedo, Semark, Jones, Mulholland, Green, Day, Desjardins and DeGray.

Plan New Golf Tournament With Big Prizes In Canada

MONTREAL (CP) — Establishment of a new golf tournament, carrying third largest prize money in the world at $25,000, is announced.

The announcement was made Friday by spokesmen for Labatt Brewery. The 72-hole tournament—the Labatt open—will have its inaugural at the Montreal Summerlea course next Aug. 20-23 Present plans call for the tournament to alternate each year between Montreal and Toronto.

Proceeds will go to charities in the city where it is played. Three trustees will determine the charity recipients.

Top prize is expected to be between $4,000 and $4,500 and special prize-money awards will go to low-scoring Canadian pros. A cup will go to the low-scoring amateur.

The United States Professional Golfers Association will help determine division of prize money.

The tournament is co-sponsored by the Canadian PGA, which will get a guaranteed amount to go toward development of golf in Canada.

GOING UP

The new tournament will rank, in total prize money, next to the Tam O'Shanter World and All-American tournaments in Chicago, with total prizes of $100,000, and the U. S. PGA tournament, worth about $35,000.

The present big-money tournament in Canada is the Canadian open—a $15,000 show with $3,000 top money. It is sponsored by Seagram's distillery, which also donates the Seagram Cup.

CRITICIZES TOURNEY

In Toronto, Dick Young a governor of the Royal Canadian Golf Association and past president of the Ontario Golf Association, criticized the new tournament because it conflicts with the Canadian amateur champions in Montreal.

"It will put a crimp in our amateur finals because this tournament will conclude on the same Saturday that our amateurs start play for the Willingdon Cup. It's unfortunate that the RCGA wasn't approached about it all," he said.

E. Harold Banks, assistant secretary of the RCGA, termed the new tournament "a great thing for golf."

In London, Ont., Ross (Sandy) Somerville, the only Canadian to win the United tates amateur competition, was enthused with the project.

"It's terrific," he said

DICK RAINES, above, who, with his partner Lou Plummer will meet the combination of Bobo Brazil and Pat Flanagan at the Brock next Wednesday in a tag team match. The speedy and clever Flanagan and koko-knocker Brazil should prove the right twosome to end the victory string of the Texas champions, who have been riding roughshod over all opposition.

The semi-final bout features the return of Sky-Hi Lee from Europe. Lee will take on popular Johnny Barend.

Brenner Quits Ring In Disgust

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bill Brenner, promising middleweight fighter, quit the professional ring because he was "disgusted" with a report of bribery in pro ranks.

He was joined in the walkout Friday by his manager, Tony Paonessa, who said: "From now on we'll stick to amateur boxing."

Sonny Jones, a 20-year-old Vancouver middleweight, claimed Thursday night he had a bribe offer—$3,000 "Christmas money"—if he took a dive in the first round.

Jones said the offer was made Nov. 27 when he was training to meet Brenner. Brenner, however, was forced to withdraw because of an injured hand and Blackie Vanderveer of Aberdeen, Wash., was brought in as a substitute. In the fight Thursday night, Jones took a six-round decision.

The Vancouver athletic commission and police investigators are checking Jones' claim.

Paonessa said he knew nothing about the alleged bribe offer.

CALM OVER CRITICISM

NEW YORK (AP)—Referee Red Storey says he will take "in stride" criticism levelled against him by the owner of the American Hockey League's Syracuse club.

"It's all part of the game. I don't worry about somebody popping off," Storey told a reporter Friday. "I'll take it in stride."

Eddie Shore, executive vice-president of the AHL as well as owner of Syracuse Warriors, called Storey's handling of the Syracuse-Pittsburgh game Wednesday night "the worst I have seen in years."

Shore said Thursday night he plans to present his criticism to league officials at a meeting in Cleveland today.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Just yesterday we were discussing insurance for minor puckists here, and then we learn of a lad, Ron Jones, suffering a broken leg in a game. It certainly points up the need of such insurance. Hockey has its share of injuries—mostly of a minor nature, fortunately—as the game is a speedy, rugged one played extensively in Canada from peewee age up to men well along in their 30s. Despite good conditioning and plenty of pads, fellows do get hurt in hockey from time to time. They do in almost any sport, pro or amateur, and we figure the games which result in most injuries are boxing, rugby football and hockey, in the order. Insurance does help out.

* * * * * *

Looking over an OMHA bulletin on proposed insurance for the younger hockeyists, we ran across a grim item headed "Funeral Expenses"—of all things! It said: "If bodily injury for which indemnity is payable under the policy is suffered by the member and the said injury results in death, the policy, in addition to other benefits enumerated herein, will contribute toward the expenses of having the remains removed from the place where the accident occurred to the place of burial, and will in addition contribute to the cost of funeral expenses, but in no case shall the total under this section of the policy exceed the sum of $125." Golly, what a horrible thought! But we can't ever recall hearing of a death resulting from a puck injury.

* * * * * *

Selke Says His Piece

Along this line, we note where NHL managers are yelling loudly lately of injuries suffered by players because of poor refereing. Frank Selke of Canadiens is reported by Baz O'Meara as saying: "As I see it now everybody is kicking against the officials. Conny Smythe is doing it openly and getting away with it. Detroit and Chicago owners are doing it all the time. The officials are so nervous they are bending over backwards to protect the protestants, if I may coin a phrase—and I don't mean in a religious sense." Reminded that he was liable to a fine of $1,000 for protesting against NHL official decisions, Selke snorted: "So what? Smythe hasn't been fined, Adams hasn't been fined, nobody has been fined. Something has to be done as well as said about the situation." Those poor refs . . .

* * * * * *

Just finished reading over a booklet called "How to Watch and Enjoy Hockey", written by Nels Stewart. The former NHL ace—generally referred to as "Ole Poison" because he was deadly around an enemy net—has a lot of good pointers in there, as well as diagrams, not to mention other odds and ends of interest to the keen hockey fan. Deals with penalties in detail. Nels scored a record 324 goals in his 15 seasons up there in the National League, a record that no one but Maurice Richard will beat for a long time to come. He also won the Hart Trophy as most valuable player twice during his career. His booklet may be obtained free.

Petes Hit True Form

Petes looked good in downing Belleville 8-6 here last eve. Best crowd yet, and they liked newcomers Buck Legrow, Keith Montgomery, Lorne Eakins and Doug Hunter. Also the rest of the Ellis outfit, all going well in this fray. Took an early lead, but had to really step to hold it 'gainst the battling Glens. We liked the work of the defence pairs, Army and Monty first, and then Buck and Dean Wasson. Latter has a fine poke check, and he also aided on two goals. Chum Fryia was flying to snare three markers and Ted Collins as steady as ever to flip in a pair and help on another. Toodie Greenlaw got in fast for a nice one and he aided on one more, while Junior West and big Buck Legrow each earned a pair of assists. Ted DeGray was high man on the Quinte totem pole, and they all fought hard. The Monday night melee here between Kingston and Petes should be a humdinger.

Without a smidgin of a doubt a nurse often would like to tell a doctor to go jump in a lake, preferably a deep one. It is but natural when working together in life-and-death duties. Well, the nurses of Civic (the basketball-playing ones, that is) have a fat chance to humble a number of medicos Monday night when an exhibition cage contest will be staged at seven in the Collegiate gym betwixt Nurses and Doctors. Lots of room available, so you don't need to call up and make an appointment for this. The joust is followed by a loop tilt betwixt Collis and Black's. Some of the MDs expected to be in action for the game with Civic are: Drs. Rodger Chenoweth, J. Gasple, R. Bell, W. R. Arnup, R. E. Pow, Don Aitken, R. M. Matthews, L. J. Calvert, J. T. Stewart, W. J. Gamble, M. F. Clarkson, J. H. Fraser and maybe a few others.

Pint-Sized Hockey Star Aurie Delighted Detroit Fans

DETROIT (AP) — One-time hockey star Larry Aurie, the pint-sized guy with a big fighting heart, is dead.

The former Detroit Red Wing forward died at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital Friday after suffering a stroke at the wheel of his car Thursday night. He was 47 years old.

Aurie, a midget in comparison to some of the rink aces of his era, played on the Detroit National Hockey League championship teams of 1936 and 1937.

He was right wing of the sensational power line of Aurie, Marty Barry and Herbie Lewis and was a terror of the league despite a weight which ranged only from 139 to 145 pounds.

Since retiring from hockey in 1943 after managing Pittsburgh in the hockey minors. Aurie had worked in Detroit.

BORN IN SUDBURY

He was born in Sudbury, Ont. Surviving are the widow, Ivy; his father, Harry Aurie of Sudbury; a brother, Joseph, of Sudbury, and a sister, Mrs. Ermine McDonald, of Pembroke, Ont.

Requiem high mass will be sung Monday at St. Mary of Redford Roman Catholic church for Aurie. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre cemetery here.

Aurie played big league hockey in the era of big Ching Johnson, Nelson Stewart, Eddie Shore and other gents of their girth. A small man like Aurie was badly handicapped.

However, Larry gave ice to nobody.

The Red Wings' general manager, Jack Adams, who was Aurie's coach, called Larry the "most courageous player pound for pound in hockey."

In 1938 when Aurie left the Red Wings, his number "6" was retired from the Detroit roster on orders of Jim Norris, the Wings' late owner.

Never before or since was this done for a Detroit player.

Aurie, of French-Irish parentage came up to Detroit in 1927 to start a 12-year career in the majors. The team then was known as Detroit Cougars, later the Falcons, and finally the Red Wings.

Aurie and Adams came to the Detroit club the same year.

The fans here adored Aurie for the way in which he would willingly mix it with bigger foes. He was also terrific at ragging the puck and could keep the house at Olympia on its feet for minutes at a time in sheer delight with him.

HEATS DIVIDED

TORONTO (CP)—Coming Day and Early Rose each accounted for a heat in the featured trotting race at Dufferin Park Friday.

In the first heat, Coming Day, owned by Ed Jones of Oswego, N.Y., and driven by Alfred Day, edged Schuyler Hall in a photo finish.

Early Rose outlasted Coming Day in the photo finish of the second heat. All Expense, owned and driven by Art Harrison of Orangeville, scored a double heat victory in the secondary feature.

RIDES FOUR WINNERS

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—Apprentice Willie Lester continued to be the hottest rider at Bowie Friday, reeling off four straight winners to tie for the lead in the race for saddle honors. He missed a fifth in a picture finish. Lester's quartet brought his total of winners at the meeting to 20, even with the veteran Nick Shuk.

Caccavella Leads

M. Caccavella rolled high single of 365 as M. Anthony took top triple of 801 this week in the Men's City Bowling League. Team high single of 1323 was taken by Madill & Post, as Clapper's led in pinnage with 3570. The latter took six points from Empress, as 4-2 wins went to Royal York, IUE-CIO, Payne and Madill & Post over Sunocos, Shockey's, Monumental and McGillis.

Good triples were: W. Crary 730, D. Abraham 700, H. Gordon 766, F. O'Hearn 792, V. Ferguson 763, M. Akers 702, G. MacDonald 769, J. Hanes 780, T. Walton 706, J. Playford 782, M. Caccavella 738 and A. Mattucci 758. Neat singles included: M. Anthony 313, F. O'Hearn 351, H. Gordon 285, H. Davis 307, J. Hanes 286, T. Walton 282 and A. Mattucci 288.

Italian Team Staggers To Victory

By GAYLE TALBOT

BRISBANE (AP)—Italy's Davis Cup tennis team staggered through to victory over a sorely-handicapped Indian team today, but showed nothing to indicate it might give the United States a hard time in the interzone final at Sydney next week-end.

It appears doubtful, in fact, that either of the Italian singles players, Fausto Gardini or Roberto Del Bello, can give Tony Trabert the sort of tightening competition the young sailor needs before meeting the Australians in the challenge round at Adelaide, Dec. 29, 30, 31.

Gardini gave his team victory by defeating tall Sumant Misra of India 8-6, 8-6, 1-6, 6-4 in the first of today's concluding singles matches. Then, with all pressure off, little Naresh Kumar of India wound up the series by spanking Rolando Del Bello 6-2, 8-6, 4-6, 6-3.

That made the final count 3-2 in Italy's favor and represented a surprisingly strong stand by two Indian players who were virtually unknown to Western tennis fans until they came here.

BOTH PROMINENT

Both are prominent wealthy business men and play virtually no competitive tennis in their own country. Yet, with a few breaks such as Misra not straining his innards, they might easily have found themselves facing the Americans next week.

Although he was playing on nerve alone Misra put up a surprising stand against Italy's 22-year-old ace.

Misra's middle was tightly bandaged to hold in a hernia which sprang loose in Friday's doubles. He was unable to employ his booming service with any real effect and was in severe pain throughout.

Gardini won out in the end only because his strange and weak backhand improved under steady pounding as the match progressed. The lanky youngster hit an especially hot streak after Misra took a 3-1 lead in the fourth set. He won the next four games, two of them at love, to sew up the decision.

Sees No Chance Vancouver Entry

VANCOUVER (CP)—Sports columnist Eric Whitehead says that any Vancouver pro football officials who feel that Vancouver's new civic stadium will automatically guarantee entry into the Western Football Conference "are barking up the wrong theory."

Writing in the Vancouver Province, Whitehead said Friday that at least one club, Saskatchewan Roughriders, "will fight a Vancouver entry to the bitter death."

"The measured, bitter opposition of that one organization with at least calculated moral support from Winnipeg, could well make the best-laid plans of Vancouver grid executives go astray."

Vancouver ratepayers Wednesday approved a $750,000 by-law for construction of a 32,000-seat sports stadium, to be used primarily for the British Empire Games here in 1954. The games committee will put up another $500,000.

Gridmen here welcomed passage of the by-law as a potent weapon in their fight to gain admittance to the western conference. Their first application was turned down a year ago.

Whitehead suggests that Vancouver would do better to seek an interlocking east-west schedule which would produce a national football league. Vancouver, he says might have a better chance to enter such a national circuit than the western conference.

De Spirito Escapes Further Punishment

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jockey Tony DeSpirito, suspended until Christmas Eve for faulty riding, escaped further punishment for another foul.

Tropical Park stewards, who set down the country's leading rider Thursday for 10 racing days, Friday held the 17-year-old DeSpirito blameless for allowing his mount to lug in during the sixth race on Thursday's program.

Jockeys Joe Culmone and Sammy Boulmettis testified they had warned DeSpirito before the race that his mount, Nightown, was a bad lugger.

The stewards said evidence showed the horse bolted so sharply towards the rail that it took DeSpirito by surprise. They said the horse and not the rider was at fault.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

There has been so much controversy, lately, about the different ways to deliver a curling stone that we intend, bit by bit, to point the five main points of granite delivery, as set forth by a veteran of the game.

DELIVERING A ROCK

1. The Grip—Grasp the handle of the rock with the fingers only—thumb placed lightly on top of the handle.

Do not grasp lightly with the fist because it encourages a push delivery.

When swinging the rock back and up on the ice, let it hang from your fingers.

The palm of the hand should not touch the handle at any time during delivery.

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock we have the ever popular mixed rink bonspiel.

Nurses Earn Cage Win Over Lindsay

Nurses took a 16-14 girls' basketball victory over Lindsay in a neat tussle last evening at the YMCA. It was 5-4 in the first half for Nurses on baskets by Bev Dawe and Jean Bell, plus a free thrown by Betty Jaquith. Ruth Gilson of Lindsay was good for three points and Shirley Algar one in this session, Ruth looping in three free ones as they were awarded seven tries to five for the Nurses.

Ruth Gilson of the Scugog squad hooped three baskets, and Helen Robertson and Donna Copp one two-pointer each. Lindsay had a dozen free tries in that half to four for Nurses. Teams:

Kitchener Gets Surprise Win Over St. Mike's

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Latest performances in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League seem to prove the old maxim, "a change is as good as a rest."

Bill Harrington, whose showing last season with Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts earned him the titles of most valuable player in the league, most valuable player on his team and best goal tender in the league played his first game for Barrie Flyers Friday night and scored a shutout.

Harrington and Orv Tessier were principals in a trade that sent three Barrie players to Kitchener. Tessier, in his second game for the Flyers, scored three goals as Barrie downed Galt Black Hawks 6-0.

SURPRISE WIN

Kitchener, now in the cellar with Windsor Spitfires, scored a surprise 6-3 win over the third-place Toronto St. Michael's. The Greenshirts proved they didn't get the short end of the Barrie deal as Ken Collins scored twice and Gil Boisvert performed brilliantly in goal. Ivan Tennant was the third player involved.

Guelph Biltmores continued their skid toward the cellar as St. Catharines Teepees trimmed them 5-3. The Bilts, already player-starved, missed centre Chick Chalmers who suffered a fractured skull and other injuries in Barrie Wednesday.

Barrie took over second place with the victory. Besides Tessier's efforts Doug Mohns scored two and Tony Poeta, product of another trade, notched the other.

Real Mongeon, Bob McCord, Glen Cressman and Buddy Horne added goals to Collins' two for Kitchener. Bill Dineen, Jim Caffery and Jim Logan scored for St. Mike's.

The Teepees scored five in the first period to establish a margin that Guelph couldn't overcome. Chuck Marshall rapped in two with others by Teepee marksmen Eddy Mateka, Ed Schinkel and Hughie Barlow. Ron Murphy accounted for two Guelph goals. Bill McCreary scored the other.

In junior action tonight, Kitchener visits St. Catharines, Windsor plays at Oshawa, Guelph travels to Galt and Toronto Marlboros continue their Quebec tour with a game at Three Rivers.

Sunday the Marlboros get into action against Montreal Royals while Windsor is at St. Michael's and Montreal Canadiens play Quebec Citadelles in Quebec.

Kennedy Puts Redmen Up In 4th Place

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sam Kennedy has hoisted Brantford Redmen into fourth place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A race practically single-handed.

Kennedy's latest victims were Hamilton Tigers whom he personally forced into their 20th straight loss Friday night by scoring all the Brantford goals in a 3-2 win. It brought his three-game total to nine.

The Brantford victory at home moved them one point up on Chatham Maroons and Sarnia Sailors who share fifth spot.

Stratford Indians made Sarnia the victims of a 4-1 loss in Stratford as they stretched their league lead to six points. Chatham Maroons and Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmep fought into overtime before Kitchener clinched the 4-3 victory on a goal by Don Rope.

ON SCORING SPREE

Sudbury Wolves went on a scoring spree in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior southern group as they blasted the league-leading Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds 10-5.

South Porcupine Porkies scored a 7-5 win over Timmins-Schumacher Flyers in the Porcupine Mines Senior loop to move within one point of the second-place Flyers. Bill Durnan's Rouyn Flashes top the league.

The Flashes' ace forward, Norman Connelly, leads the scoring race with 22 points. Bill Scott of Kirkland Lake Tecks is second with 20 points.

Opposing Sam Kennedy's efforts for Brantford were Sam Divinski and Al Ritchie who scored for Hamilton.

SCORES TWO

George Aitken scored two for Stratford. Lloyd Ferguson and Billy Flick added the other two. Harry O'Connor ruined Jerry Hesse's bid for his first shutout of the season.

Besides Rope's winning tally, Jack MacKenzie scored two for Kitchener and Doug Verity notched the other. George Edwards turned in a fine effort for Chatham as he slipped three goals in the Kitchener net in less than five minutes.

Tatter McClelland topped Sudbury's scoring with two. Others were by Yacker Flynn, Johnny Mestan, Marty Burton, Andy Milne, Red McCarthy, Roly McLanaghan, Mauno Kauppi and Gord Heale. Roy Heximer fired two goals and Ronnie Lay, Jim Johnston and Terry Biocchi one each for the Greyhounds.

Lio Del Monte and Eddie Kulik sparked the Porkies with two goals each. Terry Talentiono, Billy Adamo and Norme MacKay clicked for the others. Dennie Morello potted two for the Flyers. Others were scored by Brian Robinson, Ken Trevenna and Johnny Kennedy.

Believe Stewart May Bring Montreal Canadiens Luck

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Frank Selke says Gaye Stewart, veteran National Hockey Leaguer bought this week by Montreal Canadiens from New York Rangers "may be . . . a luck bringer." This weekend should tell. The Habs meet the two top teams—Chicago Black Hawks at home tonight and the league-leading Detroit Red Wings in the Motor City on Sunday night.

So far it would appear Stewart is bringing the Canadiens luck. Currently in the lower regions of the league, the Habs have won both games since Gaye joined them at Toronto Wednesday. The whole team seemed to come to life.

A couple of wins would give the fourth-place Canadiens a terrific boost. Currently they are one point behind Boston Bruins, and one ahead of the Toronto Maple Leafs.

HAWKS LIKE VICTORY

But the taste of victory is still sweet in the mouths of Sid Abel's Black Hawks.

The Windy City boys have 30 points, two behind the Red Wings, and a victory for them plus a loss for the Wings at Toronto tonight, would hoist them to the top of the heap again. And another win over Boston Bruins Sunday night could help the cause tremendously.

In the Maple Leaf Gardens game, a pair of rival captains are shooting for that select 200-goal club. Ted Lindsay, Detroit captain, needs only one. Toronto's Ted Kennedy has to get four.

If the Leafs clear tonight's hurdle they should have an easy jump Sunday night when they meet the luckless New York Rangers.

Frank Boucher's crew, plagued with one misfortune after another, received another blow—indirectly—Friday.

From Port Arthur came word that veteran Edgar Laprade, called back into service by the Rangers, is flying to his Lakehead home for Christmas Dec. 19 and probably will remain there for the balance of the season.

Ford Holding 1-Stroke Lead

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Deadpan Doug Ford, standing off a great first-place bid by handsome Jack Burke, holds a one stroke lead in the $10,000 Miami open golf tournament with a 36-hole six-under-par score of 134.

Ford, a youthful Harrison, N.Y., player who ranks eighth among the golf money-winners in his fourth year as a professional, fired his second straight 67 Friday over the 7,010-yard Miami Springs municipal course.

Only one of three Canadians in the tournament qualified for the third round. Stan Horne of Montreal shot a 71-74—145.

Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon shot a 76-74—150 and Stan Leonard of Vancouver a 75-73—148.

Burke's total was 135.

Buffalo Bisons Edge Syracuse 4-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Russ Lowe's goal with 43 seconds left to play gave Buffalo Bisons a 4-3 victory over Syracuse Warriors in an American Hockey League game.

The Warriors fought back Friday night from a 3-1 deficit to tie the score early in the third period. Then Lowe pounced on a rebound for the winning tally.

Maiser, Calum MacKay and Bob McLeod counted the other Buffalo goals. Eric Pogue fired two for Syracuse and Armand Lemieux added the other.

Disciples' Fear Result Of Deep Sense Of Guilt

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

"Perfect love casteth out fear."

What was the fear in the hearts of the Christian disciples to whom the Apostle wrote? Why did he find it necessary to calm their fears? And what explanation did he make of how perfect love casts out fear? His words are contained in I John, 4:18.

We cannot with any complete realism reconstruct the scene and environment of those early Christians, but apparently they had plenty to fear. In our present-day world of confusion, uncertainty and danger, we can well understand what must have been the fear of most men in that time of cruel and intriguing rulers, with poverty always a menace, and war and violence ever present or threatening.

I doubt, however, whether it was such a fear that John had in mind. The "fear of the Lord" has much emphasis in both Old and New Testament religion. It was associated with a sense of God's greatness, His austere majesty, the awesomeness of His righteousness and His judgement.

Was it not this that John had emphasized in the very beginning of his Epistle? "Truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with His Son, Jesus Christ" (I John 1: 3).

But it may not have been even this that John meant. "Fear," he says, "hath torment" and this suggests a fear of God's judgement upon sin.

Were there early Christians who brought over into their new faith and fellowship, a deep sense of guilt concerning their past lives or concerning specific sins they had committed?

We know from much observation and from many spiritual biographies, how deep the sense of guilt can be, and with what difficulty many have overcome it. It is not easy for some who feel deeply to become convinced of, and to appropriate, the full pardoning grace of God.

It was to all who so felt and to all who so feel, that John expresses his profound assurance. To love God perfectly is to feel perfectly the reality and power of His love. Torment can no longer harass the soul to whom that love has become real.

Yet I beleive that there is a genuine calm and serenity for those to whom God is a profound reality, whose faith is the Christain version of the profound faith of the man who wrote the forty-sixth Psalm.

"God is our refuge and strength, therefore will we not fear though the earth be removed." That Psalmist lived in a small nation beset by surrounding warring empires. It was a scene of constant danger, but he had the courage of faith. Faith and love can cast out fear.

Brampton Pair Killed

TORONTO (CP)—Two Brampton residents were killed Friday night when their car was struck by a Canadian National Railways train in suburban Weston. Dead are Albert Wilcox, 43, and his wife, Kate, 41.

Police said the car was carried 360 feet along the rails from the point of impact.

Plane Crash Kills 5

PRIVAS, France (Reuters)—A French Navy twin-engined Amphibian plane crashed into a mountainside Friday, killing five men aboard. Rescuers made a three-hour climb up the fog-bound mountain at Saint Bauzille, five miles from here. They found three charred bodies in the wreckage. It was feared two other men also died in the crash.

Special Nomination To Find Two Members For Lakefield School Board Turns Up Three

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—A special nomination meeting Friday night to fill two vacancies in the Lakefield School Board, left empty at the regular nomination meeting Dec. 1 produced four candidates.

One, Mrs. Marjorne Wilford, just completing a term on the board, said that she would withdraw if at least two of the others qualified by 9 p.m. today. All three men nominated said they would qualify.

The three are: Dr. Reginald Campbell, who is just completing a two-year term, and two newcomers, Stanley Millage and Fred A. Dainton.

Dr. Campbell said at the first nominating meeting that he was withdrawing from the school board to run for village council, but then did not qualify. Friday night he changed his mind and said he would run for the school board.

He said, if elected he would suggest that the school board adopt a three or five-year plan for needed school improvements to ease the load on the taxpayers.

The other two men briefly accepted nomination.

Only member to be nominated and qualify at the original meeting was Mrs. Reginald Doubt who was returned to the school board by acclamation as a result.

Woman Awarded $5,235 In 2-In-One Court Action

Judgement was given Friday in Supreme Court on a complicated motor accident case that involved three car drivers and two passengers. The Hon. Mr. Justice Danis was presiding at the non-jury sittings that ended their first week Friday afternoon. The case was really two civil actions tried at once.

The first was between Wallace Shearer of 246-B Antrim St., and Mrs. Rose Galvin of 181 Hazlitt St., plaintiffs, and the drivers of two other cars—Benjamin Caldwell of Bridgenorth, and Gerald Willis, 19, of 400 Wolsley St., both defendants.

Then in the second action Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell sued Willis.

As the evidence would be largely repetitive all parties decided to join the actions in the one trial.

Shearer, Caldwell and Willis were the drivers of three cars that were in an accident at Wolsley St. and the Chemong Rd., 7:50 p.m. on Dec. 1, 1951.

Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell and Mrs. Galvin were all taken to hospital for their injuries and Shearer got outpatient treatment.

STOPPED TWICE

Evidence indicated that Caldwell was driving south on Highway 7, just inside the city limits, coming downtown. About half a block away from Wolsley St. he saw Willis drive out of Wolsley and start south. Caldwell applied his brakes and followed close behind Willis who stopped twice.

After the second stop Caldwell's car struck the rear fender of Willis' vehicle and then veered across the highway into Shearer's northbound car.

Mr. Justice Danis said that as a result of Willis stopping suddenly Caldwell was confronted by an emergency. However it was dangerous for him to be driving along the highway only four or five feet behind Willis.

He found Caldwell 70 per cent. to blame and Willis 30 per cent.

To Mrs. Rose Galvin, a passenger in the Shearer car, he awarded damages totalling $5,235.50. She was the most seriously injured.

Shearer was awarded $1,413.14.

In the action between Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell and Willis the latter was liable for 30 per cent. of their damages, amounting to $196.80 for Mr. Caldwell and $269.70 for Mrs. Caldwell.

Willis' damages were $105.50 and Mr. Caldwell was liable for 70 per cent. of them.

W. J. Arthur Fair, QC, was counsel for Shearer and Mrs. Galvin. T. J. Carley and Robert Carley were counsel for the Caldwells; and W. G. Gray of Toronto was counsel for Willis.

Civil Suit Begun On Behalf Of Child, 2

A civil suit, entered in the name of an infant, is proceeding at the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court with Melville Wood, 22, of Water St., the defendant.

Wood has admitted that he is liable for the death in a car accident of 21-year-old Lorne Russell of Oshawa, alleged to be the father of the infant.

The fatal accident was on the June 6, 1951, on the northern outskirts of Peterborough. Russell had just got off a bus and was walking north on the edge of Highway 28 when he was struck from behind by Wood's northbound car that had swung wide to pass another car.

Russell was tossed about 20 feet onto the driveway of the McNaughton and Sugden Service Station. He later died in hospital.

Wood was convicted on a charge of dangerous driving.

The sequel to the accident came Friday in Supreme Court where a claim for damages on behalf of the infant, 28-month-old Lawrence Russell, was started. The infant claims a dependency on the dead man and the suit was entered under the provisions of a section of the Fatal Accidents Act.

The child now lives with his mother, Mrs. Lily Symons, 18, of Water St. N.

W. J. Arthur Fair QC, is counsel for the plaintiff and T. J. Carley, QC, for Wood.

The case which is being heard before the Hon. Mr. Justice Danis adjourned early Friday afternoon and will be resumed Monday afternoon.

Truck Hit Store, May Lay Charge

Charles of dangerous driving, and driving with only one set of brakes, may be laid against Walter Zachariah of Billings Bridge, after an accident on Charlotte Street Friday.

Zachariah was driving west on Charlotte Street, still in second gear after leaving a parking place, when his truck pulled to the right and hit the corner of Cecil Lapp's store at Charlotte and Rubidge Streets.

The truck bounced off the store and crashed into the verandah of 312 Charlotte Street, just west of the store.

Impact of the crash knocked a large brick pillar flat and threw the wooden verandah out of line. A large crowd gathered within minutes and stayed until the truck was removed.

Constable William G. Scott, who investigated, tested the vehicle's brakes and found the emergency brakes were not working. About $250 damage was done to the front of the truck.

Further investigation, through the Provincial Police, revealed that the licence of the truck had been suspended by the Department of Highways.

County People 87 Per Cent British Stock

Peterborough county is 87.31 per cent. British stock. This has been determined from the census taken last year. Figures released this week by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that of the total population of 60,789 in Peterborough county, 53,074 have racial origins in England, Ireland, Scotland or Wales. This is one of the highest percentages of British strains in any county in the Province. Throughout Ontario as a whole, only 67 per cent. of the population is of British origin.

The next most numerous racial group in Peterborough county is French, 2,259 persons, or 3.72 per cent. of the county's population traces its ancestry to France.

NOW DETERMINED

The way the census-takers determined the racial origins of the people was this: They asked the language spoken by the person, or by his paternal ancestor, when he first came to this continent. A person's origin was traced through the father's lineage. For example, if a person's father is German and his mother Norwegian, the origin was entered as "German".

There are more than sixteen different races represented in Peterborough county. The most numerous after those of French origin are Dutch; 1,245 people are Dutch or their ancestors came from the Netherlands. Next most numerous are of German origin (706), followed closely by Italian (704). No other racial strains come up to one per cent. of the total population of the country.

Only 0.17 per cent. of Peterborough county's population has Asiatic origins, all told 108 persons. Of these 81 are Chinese; one is of Japanese descent. Nine of the Chinese are females, 72 males.

LITTLE CHANGE

In view of the growth of Peterborough city and county and the number of immigrants who have arrived in the last ten years, these 1951 census figures do not show a great shift in the balance of races in county. For instance, in 1941 people of French origin were the second most numerous group.

Here is a tabulation of the population in 1951, and as shown by the 1941 census. Shown are the percentage of the total which each racial strain forms, the 1951 figures, the 1941 figures, and the increase during the decade. In no instance has there been a decrease.

Sixteen races are named in the tabulation. There are more, but these have been too slight to enumerate. The "others" at the bottom of the tabulation include other racial strains not specified, and people who had no knowledge at all of what their racial origin was.

NETHERLANDS JEWELLERY craftsman Joe Overvliet of 172 Brock St., does custom repair for all retail stores in the city. Working from his neat third-floor apartment he and his wife Wilhelmina find life pleasant in Peterborough. They arrived here from the Old Country in the summer of '51, are well established and happy. — (Examiner Staff Photos)

Young Couple From Holland Rapidly Become Canadians

Joe and Wilhelmina Overvliet of 172 Brock St., came to Peterborough a little more than a year ago from their native Netherlands. One feels after a short visit with them in their neat third-floor apartment that the term "New Canadian" does not apply in their case.

They seem to have had their tendrils in Canadian soil for a long time as they talk in admiration for their adopted country and for Peterborough in particular.

Joe is a jewellery repair craftsman, a trade that he studied and practised for some years in the Old Country. Even now he is only 27 years of age.

In his native city, The Hague, he learned toolmaking for three years at a government trade school from which, on graduation, he held a licence to ply his trade anywhere in Holland. Those were dark days, in 1941, but he found work in a jewellery factory that employed him for a year before Nazi conquerors closed it down.

Rather than be transferred to Nazi factories as forced labor he became a "diver," or, went underground, to work in hiding at his home. He fashioned jewellery there from gold coins showing the Queen's portrait that sold readily as souvenirs to the Nazis.

Following the Allied liberation, Joe went back to his old factory that, like all the others, had neither electricity nor gas. Fumes from benzine-powered motors almost ruined his health and forced him to seek other work. But Dutch army conscription on his 21st birthday saved him from such a step and took him out of civilian circulation for three years.

TO INDONESIA

Joe was posted to Indonesia in the army's Red Cross section, where he not only survived tropical diseases while treating afflicted patients, but picked up valuable medical knowledge during his stint.

Back in Holland, Joe was taken back to his old factory job, left shortly after that to work for a private jeweller, but became sceptical about his future in Holland, perhaps, because he had become engaged to attractive stenographer Wilhelmina Vaneck 24.

Her sister, a Dutch war bride, was married to Harold Hood, a Canadian soldier from Peterborough. Her tales of the new land prompted the young people to come here and she sponsored them. They were on their way in three weeks' time.

Joe got a job a few days after arrival with a city jewellery firm doing repair work. His trade was so much in demand that he decided to do custom work for them all at his home. He now has as much work as he can cope with.

The Overvliets were married at St. Paul's in December, 1951, and are now members of that church. They have developed a solid social life with friends of their own age in the city, enjoy reading, the radio, and, above all, the vacation life in the Kawartha summer playground. To sum it all up they said:

"Life in our country (Canada) is wonderful."

Didn't See Stop Sign Collide At Corner

Extensive damage was done to two cars Friday afternoon when they collided at Sherbrooke and Stewart Sts.

Donald R. Peirson, RR 7, hit the side of a car driven by John H. Clements, Carnduff, Sask., after Clements had driven through the stop sign on Stewart St.

Clements, a visitor from the west, told police he thought he was eastbound on a through street. He said he didn't see the stop sign. Peirson, who was driving east on a through street, said he saw the Clements car too late and couldn't stop in time.

Constable W. A Scott investigated.

Police Charge Student, 15 With Setting Three Cobourg School Fires

Arrest Follows Investigation By Officer From Fire Marshal's Office; Boy Appears Monday In Juvenile Court

COBOURG (ENS) — A 15-year-old student of Cobourg District Collegiate has been charged with juvenile delinquency in connection with setting three fires Thursday at the school. His arrest Friday afternoon followed an investigation by J. W. Richardson of the fire marshal's department. Cobourg fire chief Ken Baird earlier diagnosed the fires as of incendiary origin and asked for an investigation. The boy will appear Monday morning before Magistrate R. B. Baxter, judge of juvenile court. A fire in the auditorium destroyed stage hangings and charred furniture, and two others were discovered later in the school basement.

Not long after discovery of the fires on Thursday morning between 8:30 and 9 o'clock, Fire Chief Baird said that a student was suspected of setting them.

The first fire was found by pupils on the stage of the auditorium in the new section of the building. Someone had started a blaze among the furniture set out on the stage for a collegiate play which was to have taken place Thursday night. The play was postponed.

As members of the Cobourg fire department were gathering up their gear after dousing the blaze, two more fires were located. One was in a corner of the old gymnasium and on the opposite side of the same wall, a pile of burning papers was found under the boys' stairs leading from the basement to the first floor.

Firemen put out these fires quickly. It is believed that there is no connection between Thursday's trio of fires and the blaze that last spring damaged the roof of the school building. Hot ashes forced up through the chimney were blamed for that.

The boy came to Cobourg with his parents about a year ago and is in Grade 9.

Show Directors Hold Meeting

Directors of the Central Ontario Spring Show were here Friday from all the counties that comprise its area of interest and representation.

The meeting in the office of Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, filled the place and showed more enthusiasm than ever. Robert Armstrong of Cavan presided. Directors came from as far east as Frontenac county and on the west from Ontario county, and all the others in between including Peterborough and Victoria.

This is the show which decided to quit the road and settle down in Peterborough. It used to make the rounds of the counties, setting up in a different place every year. That itinerant method wasn't consistently paying off, although there were some successful stands at Lindsay and Peterborough. Finally, when it appeared that the old Quinte District Seed Fair was on the way to folding up, the directors thought of a permanent stand in one place. Peterborough was the most central spot with satisfactory accommodation at Morrow Park. Directors are now planning to reach out beyond the success of last year.

If the liveliness that has been shown since the annual re-organization at which Mr. Armstrong was elected the first president, carries through winter, the show in March should have a lot of interest for farmers—and directors might be looking around for a bigger building at Morrow Park, such as the Memorial Community Centre which is still only in blueprint lines.

Round Bottles Still Accepted But Fading Out

Milk bottlers and distributors in Peterborough are gradually switching from round to square bottles. In time, they say, the round bottle will disappear from this city's dairies.

However, they haven't yet reached the position of Toronto dairies, which are refusing to accept round bottles for exchange or deposit.

As one dealer put it: "We still have too many round bottles in stock. We couldn't afford to forget about them now."

Most of the city dairies are filling no round bottles. They have changed over to square ones because of the space saved in refrigeration, and the ease in handling.

After Dec. 19, Toronto dairies will accept no more round bottles. Kingston dairies are in much the same position as Peterborough firms. They are switching to square bottles, but still accept round ones.

Learn How To Conceal Wallboard Joints

Not since frontier times have American men been as active as they are in these pinch-penny days in doing work on their own homes, both in new construction and improvements.

Do-it-yourself building products, designed for easy installation, have accelerated the trend. One such product is gypsum wallboard.

The relative ease of installation of gypsum wallboard, which is, in effect, prefabricated plaster, has marked it for extensive usage in expansion attics. It offers an interior wall that is crack-resistant, highly fire-resistant and which takes any type of decoration — paint, wallpaper, fabric, etc.

However, gypsum wallboard interior walls are only as good as the taping job which conceals the joints of the board. Any home handyman can do a good joint-concealment job if he pays strict attention to the wallboard manufacturer's instructions and uses materials recommended by the maker for the purpose.

The first step in joint concealment, is to spread the special adhesive with a broad knife into the channel formed by the recessed edges of the adjoining boards. Completely cover the channel to a depth of about 1/16 of an inch.

Perforated reinforcing tape is then embedded in the adhesive the full length of the channel. The tape is embedded under moderate pressure. A thin coat of cement should separate the tape from the wallboard. Smooth down cement forced through the perforations with a putty knife. Wipe the joint clean to remove excess cement.

Allow the embedded tape to dry approximately 24 hours. Then apply a second coat of adhesive, feathering it out to the width of the broad knife on both sides of the joint. This coat completely conceals the recess. Leave the surface as smooth as possible and avoid knife marks in the adhesive. Feather the edges out smooth and allow at least 24 hours for drying.

Next, apply a very thin coating of cement with the broad knife to cover an area from two to four inches wider than the second coat. If sanding is required to attain a smooth surface, use fine sandpaper wrapped on a block. Sand lightly.

The last step is to spackle nail-head "dimples" with the special adhesive and sand them smooth, if necessary.

Next to decorating the walls, this is the last step in attic expansion, of course. One of the first steps is to insulate.

Insulation has been simplified so that anyone with the skill to use a hammer can install it. For example, blanket insulation is available that can be applied readily in spaces between framing. It is made in widths to fit standard spaces snugly. Some types have borders or flanges through which to staple or nail the blankets to studs.

Another step in the expansion is to provide a vapor barrier between insulation and wallboard. Some wallboards and insulations have this reflective barrier built in to stop damaging condensation.

When this is done, you must ventilate the space between attic and roof. One square foot of louvre area to 300 square feet of ceiling is recommended procedure.

GYPSUM WALLBOARD interior walls are only as good as the taping job that conceals the joints between sections of wallboard.

Apsley Centre Almost Finished

The Burleigh and Anstruther Community Centre will be ready for use in about a week—if the weather is cold enough to make ice.

Reeve Norman Wilson reported that work is being done to complete the two dressing rooms, ticket office and refreshment booth.

However, the official opening will not likely be until sometime in January when a big affair is planned.

In the meantime, the three hockey teams of Apsley, senior, midget and bantam, will be practising and playing. It is expected that hockey will get a big boost from having the indoor ice surface which is 70 by 172 feet.

Much of the work was done voluntarily by men of the district under overseer Roland Payne of Warsaw.

The centre, of corrugated aluminum sides and roof, is similar in construction to the Warsaw arena.

Timber for the building was obtained by leasing timber rights from the Department of Lands and Forests and the men going out and cutting the trees.

The centre was thought to be a large undertaking by the citizens of the district, but they decided to tackle it and are now anxiously awaiting the completion.

Liberal MP Says Barnacles World's Problem

OTTAWA (CP)—The trouble with Parliament says is barnacles, including the barnacle of taxation

A. C. Murray (L—Oxford), a Woodstock, Ont., druggist, told the Commons Friday night there are barnacles everywhere, "tiny nonsensical things that cling with tenacity."

They clung to the "glorious ship of matrimony" and wrecked marriages when a little understanding and a little smile would prevent divorce. They were "one of the greatest obstacles in the road of progress" in the shape of taxation.

SHOULD BE CUT

If national defence permits, he told the cabinet, the barnacles of corporation and personal income tax should be cut.

There were barnacles that kept people from voting, barnacles in the opposition party which kept calling for tax cuts and for greater government spending at the same time, barnacles in the shape of the means test on pensions for the blind.

There was a barnacle in the hazardous traffic tieups that occurred in the highway-rail crossing in Ingersoll, Ont., and in the unsatisfactory condition of the railway station at Woodstock

"Sometimes," Mr. Murray said, "it pays to take the hull of the ship on to the set of the ways, to clean off the barnacles and to set it sailing again, ship-shape and clean and on a voyage to a happy harbor."

Dutchwoman Tells WMS Of Christmas

DARTFORD (ENS)—December meeting of the Dartford Women's Missionary Society was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Stuart Atkinson with 14 adults and two children present. Mrs. Ward, president, led the meeting. The Christmas story was read in parts by Mrs. McCracken, Mrs. Coggins, Mrs. H. Atkinson and Mrs. C. Honey. Mrs. De Jong offered her home for the January meeting. Mrs. P. Honey, Mrs. H. Coffee and Mrs. A. Ward are the conveners.

The Rev. A. L Sisco presided for the election of officers: President, Mrs. A. Ward; vice-president, Mrs. P. Honey; secretary, Mrs. Charlie Honey; treasurer, Mrs. H. Atkinson; program and lunch convener, Mrs. McCracken; pianist, Mrs. S. Atkinson; Mission Band leaders, Mrs. Coggins and Mrs. P. Honey; friendship conveners, Mrs. W. Sykes and Mrs. E. Nelson; temperance, Muriel Darling; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Nelson; Christian stewardship, Mrs. McCrackin; missionary monthly, Mrs. P. Honey

Christmas readings were given by Mrs. Coggins and Mrs. W. Atkinson. Mrs. De Jong told of Christian customs in Holland where Santa Claus comes on the night of December 5 to little children. She feels that in this country more thought is given to Santa at Christmas time than to Christ whose birthday it is. In Holland instead of buying for the big dinner as we do they have a few cookies as extra, but give the money for missionary work. Christmas there is a day for going to church, which is held both morning and afternoon, not a day for feasting and parties.

Buckhorn WI Holds Christmas Meeting

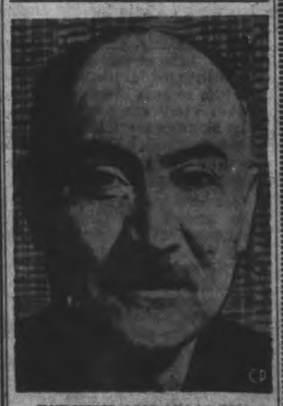
BUCKHORN — The December meeting of the Women's Institute of Buckhorn was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Evelyn McPhee, with a large number present.

During the business period Mrs. B. Hall gave a report of the meeting she attended in Peterborough of the Cancer Society. Mrs. H. Shearer also gave a report of the convention held in Toronto recently to which she was a delegate.

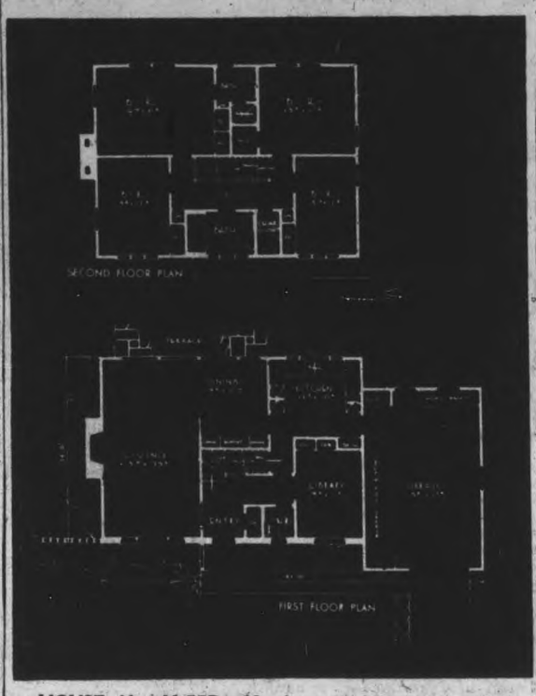
The program consisted of the singing of Christmas carols, with Miss M. Nicholls at the piano, a vocal solo by Sandra Moore, a piano solo by Frances McPhee, a recitation by Mrs. Stanfield, readings by Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. Fulton and Mrs. MacKenty.

Mr. Kenneth Stewart was the guest speaker and brought the ladies a very fine Christmas message.

An exchange of gifts and the serving of refreshments by the committee in charge brought the meeting to a close.



TURKISH AMBASSADOR — Cavat Ustun is the new Turkish ambassador to Canada. He presented his credentials to Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret, deputy governor-general, at a ceremony in the Supreme Court building.



HOUSE No. H-77D—Here's a fine home, containing 23,710 cubic feet! Among its many features are: four bedrooms; a first floor den, which could serve as a professional man's consultation room, near entry, or as a fifth bedroom; a welcome fireplace; basement stairs leading directly to the activities room, and near both the front entry and the kitchen; a glass wall for the living-dining area to make the beautiful outdoors seem like a part of the house. There is good traffic circulation too, which permits travel to any part of the house without going through any other rooms, but the hall. Mufti Of Egypt Calls For Holy War

CAIRO (AP) — The independent Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said today the Mufti of Egypt, one of the highest religious authorities of the Moslem world, has called on all Islamic peoples to wage holy war against France.

The newspaper said the Mufti, Sheikh Hassanein Mohammed Makhlouf, issued his appeal for a "jihad" because of alleged French atrocities in Morocco and Tunisia.

Meanwhile, three powerful Egyptian political groups — the Moslem Brotherhood, the Socialist party, the Fellah party and the Arab liberation committee — called a protest meeting tonight to "condemn French policy in North Africa."

Margaret Aitken To Be Candidate For York-Humber

TORONTO (CP) — Margaret Aitken, Toronto newspaper columnist, said Friday she plans to be a Progressive Conservative candidate in the next federal election.

Miss Aitken, for 10 years the writer of the Between You and Me column in The Telegram, said in an interview she hopes to be chosen next month candidate for the new York-Humber riding in Toronto's western suburbs.

She is a niece of Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born publisher of the London Daily Express, and a sister of William Aitken, Conservative member of the British Parliament.

As a reporter and feature writer she has covered important events in Canada and abroad. One of her outstanding assignments took her to Israel to report the birth of that new state.

Lack Of Demand For Unskilled Blamed For Immigrant Decline

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The number of immigrants admitted to Canada this year is expected to total 165,000, approximately 30,000 fewer than in 1951.

Final official figures for the year will not be available for several months, but estimates indicate they will be below last year.

A total of 194,391 immigrants were admitted last year, the largest for any year since 1913 when approximately 500,000 new citizens came to Canada.

790,000 SINCE WAR

Entries this year will boost to approximately 790,000 the number entering Canada since the end of the Second World War.

A total of 71,719 were admitted in 1946; 64,127 in 1947; 125,414 in 1948; 95,217 in 1949; 73,912 in 1950 and 194,491 in 1951.

The drop this year was believed to be due to the lack of demand for unskilled and certain other types of workers. The government announced it would not encourage certain categories of immigrants, such as textile workers, to come to Canada because there already is a surplus of textile help.

An assisted-passage program, inaugurated in 1951, was curtailed in 1952. Toward the end of the year only farmers and domestics could obtain government assistance to come to Canada.

Under the plan, the immigrant was loaned the money to pay his passage to Canada. He was allowed to repay the loan out of his earnings after reaching this country.

WINTER RESTRICTION

The government also decided to limit the entry of immigrants during the winter months when unemployment is at a peak.

Highlight of 1952 was an increase in the immigrants from the United Kingdom.

In the first 10 months of the year—the latest figures available—36,637 were admitted from the United Kingdom compared with 25,038 in 1951, an increase of 46 per cent.

Since the end of the last war, Canada has admitted approximately 240,000 immigrants from the United Kingdom; 59,469 from the United States; 191,000 from North European countries and 280,000 from other countries.

Police Clerk Fired

MONTREAL (CP)—A clerk in the Montreal police traffic department has been dismissed for selling a sweepstake ticket to a police lieutenant who won $46,000, it was announced Friday. The unidentified clerk sold a winning ticket on the Army-Navy Sweepstakes to Lieut. Lucien Charbonneau, who collected for Summer Rain's victory in the Manchester November Handicap.

Broadway Fare Spiced With International Flavor In '52

By GLADYS LENNON

NEW YORK (CP)—Broadway fare was spiced with an international flavor in 1952, with British, French and Greek visiting companies providing some of the top entertainment.

Canada was in there, too, Toronto born Beatrice Lillie playing to sold-out houses in her series of sketches titled "An Evening with Beatrice Lillie."

The Renaud-Barrault Company of Paris and the National Theatre of Greece, starring Katina Paxinou and Alexis Minotis, played successful limited engagements toward the year-end; the former in a repertory ranging from Moliere comedies to Andre Gide's translation of "Hamlet," and the latter in two Sophocles tragedies in modern Greek.

Early 1952 saw Sir Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh on Broadway in their Festival of Britain productions, Shakespeare's "Antony and Cleopatra" and Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra."

New York critics generally rated the theatrical season which ended last May 31 as one of the poorest since the turn of the century. But in the 1952 portion of it were several offerings worthy of note.

SECOND HIT

Foremost is the Pulitzer Prize winner, "The Shrike," a first play by Joseph Kramm which ended a successful Broadway run in June owing to film commitments of its producer-director-star, Jose Ferfer. Judith Evelyn, formerly of Moose Jaw, Sask., gave an "extraordinarily effective" performance as his wife who has her erring husband committed to an insane asylum rather than lose him to another woman.

High in popularity is Mary Chase's Fantasy, "Mrs. McThing," about a witch with unique methods of punishing persons who are unkind to her adopted daughter. Helen Hayes stars as one of the witch's victims. Mrs. Chase made a second hit in the fall with her "Bernardine," a comedy dealing with teen-age boys.

Another spring highlight was Christopher Fry's comedy about an amateur astronomer, "Venus Observed," with Rex Harrison and Lilli Palmer, chosen by critics as the best foreign play of the season.

Among fall openings Arthur Laurents' "The Time of the Cuckoo" won applause both for the play and for star Shirley Booth's portrayal of an American spinster in Rome seeking romance and finding disillusionment.

Two others, Shaw's "The Millionairess" and "The Deep Blue Sea" by Terence Rattigan, owe much of their success to the talents of the respective stars, Katherine Hepburn and Margaret Sullavan

BRITISH THRILLER

Maurice Evans was universally acclaimed in a thriller from London, "Dial M for Murder," about a man who plans the murder of his rich wife.

"My Darlin' Aida," the current season's musical based on the Verdi opera, with Elaine Malbin and Dorothy Sarnoff, was well received.

October saw the first appearance of a new Gilbert and Sullivan company formed by S. M. Chartock, its cast headed by Martyn Green, famed comedian from the D'Oyly Carte company. Reviewers grew enthusiastic as the four-opera series prressed.

In the long-run department are the musicals "Guys and Dolls," "The King and I," with Constance Carpenter replacing the late Gertrude Lawrence, and "South Pacific," and two comedies, "The Moon Is Blue," with Janet Riley of Simcoe, Ont., now playing the lead, and "The Four-Poster."

The Metropolitan Opera Company broke new ground at the year's end with a television broadcast of "Carmen" direct from the stage, carried on a closed circuit to theatres across the country.

Justice Threatens Put Limit On Argument

OTTAWA (CP)—Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret of the Supreme Court of Canada threatened to place a limit on argument after he and other members of the court had criticized the time being taken by counsel for Witnesses of Jehovah.

The counsel, W. Glen How of Toronto, also was told Friday by the chief justice to leave out references to the Roman Catholics, the Anglicans, the Baptists and the Presbyterians in presenting argument to the court.

"We haven't got other religions before us; we are dealing with yours," said the chief justice.

At one point Mr. How said that the Roman Catholics, the Anglicans and the Jews all place divine law above civil law.

The chief justice replied that if the Witnesses of Jehovah were wrong and other religious did the same thing "it does not mean you are right."

Mr. How is asking for a declaration that the Witnesses of Jehovah form a religious denomination, entitled to the same freedoms as other denominations.

The case stems from a Quebec City bylaw prohibiting distribution of pamphlets without written permission of the chief of police. Mr. How contends the by-law is invalid.

The hearing will enter its fifth day Monday.

Labor Party Grows Worried Works For Unity In Party

LONDON (Reuters)—The British Labor party, stung by the increasing popularity of Winston Churchill's Conservatives, is moving to unite its right and left wings.

The party's policy-making executive board this week-end will draft a new foreign and domestic program on which Labor could fight the next general election.

The big problem is to work out a platform acceptable to both the right-wing moderates under Clement Attlee and the dissident left-wing minority under Aneurin Bevan.

Labor party unity will be helped by one fact—firm opposition to Conservative government moves to denationalize the steel and freight trucking industries, brought under public ownership when the Socialists were in power.

But this will not be enough to smother the long-simmering Attlee-Bevan feud unless more attention is paid to the views of the vocal left-wingers.

Bevan pulled out of the Labor cabinet 20 months ago, disagreeing with the official Labor stand on rearmament and "free" health service payments.

Seven Veterans Get Decorations

TORONTO (CP)—Seven veterans of the Korean war were decorated by Lieutenant-Governor Louis Breithaupt in a special investiture at Queen's Park.

Less than two dozen persons watched the lieutenant - governor make the presentations Friday in the drawing room of his suite. Cpl. R. V. McOrmond, Royal Canadian Regiment, of Sudbury was unable to attend to receive his military medal.

Others decorated: Lieut. E. J. Mastronardi, Royal Canadian Infantry Corps, Military Cross; Pte. R. E. Bauer, Royal Canadian Regiment, Distinguished Conduct Medal; Cpl. E. W. Poole, Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, Distinguished Conduct Medal; Squadron Quartermaster Sgt. D.F. Eveleigh, Royal Canadian Armored Corps, British Empire Medal; Ptes. W. D. Pugh, D. W. Carley and J. A. Sargeant, Royal Canadian Regiment, Military Cross.

Goldwyn Raps Publicity From Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Sam Goldwyn made another speech this week. An when Sam opens his mouth, he usually says something controversial.

The event was the annual panhandle dinner of the Screen Publicists Guild. That's the one night of the year when press agents put the newspaper people on the pan and give them a frying.

Goldwyn, commenting on the quality of news and publicity from Hollywood, said:

"Hollywood is one of the most important places in the world. There is no excuse for the mess of phony news that comes out of Hollywood. It is hard to blame the public for skepticism over the stories from here."

He called on the press agents to "restrain some of the fancier flights of imagination that bring scorn and ridicule on the motion picture industry."

"Hollywood needs good public relations just as it needs good pictures," he continued, calling for a "return to decency and honesty" in publicity.

Goldwyn's remarks bring up an ancient issue in the movie business. Actually, Hollywood is a split personality. Half of it wants to be respectable and honored in national community. The other half is wedded to the circus and thrives on the ballyhoo that goes with it.

Whenever business gets bad, Hollywood blames it on public relations. It launches campaigns with slogans like "motion pictures are your best entertainment" or "movies are better than ever."

But eventually the town concludes that public relations doesn't sell movies. Publicity does the selling job.

Return Open Verdict In Farmer's Death

STRAFFORDVILLE (CP) — An open verdict was returned by a coroner's jury Friday night which inquired into the death of Isaac Taylor, 64-year-old Bayham township farmer, found dead in the road opposite his home Nov. 16.

Dr. W. F. Luney of London, provincial pathologist who conducted a post-mortem, said Taylor's injuries were so extensive it was his impression they did not occur at one time. He said the injuries were consistant with being run over by an automobile more than once.

Englishman Will Have His Cup Of Tea

Tea Put Back On Shelves No Ration Coupons Required

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—For the first time in more than 10 years of rationing, a welcome stranger has returned to Britain's gift shelves this Christmas. Tea, unrationed since October, is back to old-time popularity in gift chests and fancy caskets.

The end of tea rationing, one of the most unpopular measures since food control started in January, 1940, contributes to the seasonal brightness of Britain's lightest-rationed Christmas since the end of the Second World War.

Controls still govern such things as meat, eggs, butter, cheese and sweets—but counters groan with a variety of goodies that more than covers the gaps.

There are crystalized fruits, marron glace, iced cakes, sweet biscuits and despite threat of shortage referred to by the food ministry early this year, canned goods are still plentiful.

CHEAPER TURKEYS

Turkeys and other poultry are in better supply than last year—and less expensive. Home-killed turkeys sell at seven shillings and under, geese, ducks, chickens and Irish turkeys average 5s 6d.

A variety of unrationed food is available. Included are cooked gammon (bacon) at less than 10 shillings a pound and many unrationed cheeses, such as English stilton.

Shops display the most attractive variety of gifts at reasonable prices seen since the war.

Toys cover almost every taste. A delta-wing jet plane that flies on solid-non-inflammable "fuel" costs just over £1, and there's a stylish motor car that runs for 2½ hours on three small electric batteries.

CORONATION SCENE

Youngsters with a love for lead soldiers go for the toy Coronation scene comprising a gold state coach drawn by eight horses and escorted by "soldiers of the Queen."

Well-dressed dolls, cute animal caricatures and a large variety of mechanical toys range in price from £1 to £2. There are also radio-controlled cars and jeeps, engineering sets, electric trains, cowboy outfits with "shootin' irons" and spaceman get-ups with sonic beam guns.

This is the first Christmas since 1939 stores have been opened for evening shopping, and business has been brisk. Gifts are more attractively assembled.

The chief lack is in full-fashioned nylon stockings. But there is a generous supply of nylon undies with deep insets of lace that make attractive gifts and cost less than £3.

Another welcome return to the gift shelves is delicately-patterned china, not marked as "export reject."

Receptionist Gets Job In England Becomes Editor

LONDON (CP)—In the summer of 1914 a young University of Toronto graduate, working as receptionist at the old Queen's Hotel in Toronto, helped make comfortable an important visitor named Sir Max Aitken.

Later the U. of T. man went to work in a London army office. The officer in charge was Sir Max Aitken, now a colonel.

Today the ex-receptionist, known on Fleet street as E. J. Robertson or simply "E. J.," is right-hand man on the powerful Express chain of newspapers to Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook, formerly Sir Max Aitken.

The story is told by the weekly newspaper the Recorder.

The Recorder says Lord Beaverbrook has a condensed version of how he became acquainted with Robertson. This is that Beaverbrook was so impressed with the way Robertson carried his bags that he offered him a job on the spot.

"Only a born editor like Lord Beaverbrook could compress the facts to this degree, and still improve upon the story," says the Recorder.

HELP YOU PASS—Truck drivers from 160 companies from coast to coast are launching a new courtesy campaign based on their slogan: "I'll Help You Pass." The campaign is sponsored by the Canadian Automotive Transport Association. President G. M. Parke (left), of Toronto, watches as driver Michael Holman, of Mimico, Ont., points to the placard on the back of his truck.

Canadian Truck Drivers To Improve Driving Manners

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's truckers are going to improve their driving manners.

At least drivers for some 160 companies sporting the Canadian Automotive Transport Association's red, gold and black "I'll Help You Pass" placards will try.

The association's courtesy campaign, officially launched at the association's annual meeting in Montreal recently by President G. M. Parke of Toronto, extends from coast to coast and covers trucks ranging from lumbering tractor-trailers to light delivery vans.

In Quebec it is known by the somewhat more elegant title "Je Vous Aiderai a Depasser."

CAMPAIGN RULES

The campaign, aimed at combatting what the association considers a growing feeling by motorists that trucks are monopolizing the highways, has four rules for its participants.

The truck driver is required to maintain sufficient distance between his vehicle and the one ahead to allow faster vehicles to pass. He will slow down and drop back to a safe distance whenever he attempts to pass and finds the way not clear. He will permit traffic to pass on long grades. He will permit any delayed traffic to pass after reaching the top of a long grade.

Company officials are required to sign a pledge to see these rules are carried out.

One familiar road courtesy that will be eliminated, however, is the practice of the truck driver blinking his lights or giving a hand signal to indicate the road ahead is clear to pass. It's considered too dangerous.

But how is the average motorist to know he can count on these courtesies?

The association has two answers for that. The placards, 15 inches by nine inches, (15 by 11 in Quebec) will be mounted conspicuously at the rear of the truck. The driver will also have a notice posted in the cab reminding him his truck is carrying the courtesy placard. He is also required to sign a pledge to honor the campaign.

Have New Plan For Printing U.K. Newspaper

MANCHESTER, Eng. (Reuters)—The Manchester Guardian informed its staff in a circular that it plans to print a London edition by a revolutionary publishing method utilizing photographic transmission.

It will enable almost perfect copies of the 131-year-old newspaper, which is seeking a higher national circulation, to appear in London without setting up a separate, costly printing plant. Present delivery methods mean some subscribers in southern England get the paper a day later.

Three or four years will elapse before the plan goes into effect because of delays in obtaining equipment.

Friday's message was written by the Guardian's 42-year-old chairman and managing director, Laurence P. Scott. The circular says the paper will go to press in Manchester in the usual way. A proof of each page will be photographically transmitted to London, 182 miles away.

The film of the page there will be turned into a plate for lithographic printing.

Christmas Tree Supply Plentiful And Inexpensive

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sometime in the next 12 days, thousands of Canadians will turn woodsmen-for-a-day. Others less ambitious will just pick up a telephone. But they're all after the same thing—a Christmas tree.

This traditional evergreen symbol of Yuletime cheer is one of the most sought-after items in the country at this time of year. While the old custom of a family expedition to the country for a tree will still have plenty of followers, a Canadian Press survey today shows, most of the trees will be supplied by a $20,000,000 industry which mass-produces trees the way Detroit makes automobiles.

However they're obtained, through a small operator or from a big jobber, there's good news for the buyer. There is a plentiful supply at prices little changed from last year. The only scarcity reported was in Edmonton.

The average for a six-foot "family" tree is from $2.50 to $3. This price will prevail across the country. Other prices range from 75 cents for table-size seedlings to $5 and up for 12-footers for outdoor display. One firm in Nova Scotia is putting out boxed trees for table ornamentation.

Spruce and Balsam still will be the popular varieties, with one significant newcomer, scotch pine.

Marketing of trees still is an uncertain business, although efforts are being made to standardize methods.

Most of the tree farms are in southern Ontario, where light sandy soil favors rapid growth.

J. Harry Sherin Buried In Lakefield

LAKEFIELD (ENS)— Following a private service at the family residence, the body of J. Harry Sherin, who died in hospital on Tuesday, was borne to the Lakefield United Church, which he has attended since it was built, for public service.

The service was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Tonge and the address given by the Rev. George F. Kelly of Woodbridge a former minister of the church.

In paying tribute to Mr. Sherin, Mr. Kelly recalled that many times, during his ministry at the church, he was able to give help to the needy through the generosity of Mr. Sherin, who always made his gifts anonymous.

"He was a kind and generous man," said Mr. Kelly. "His family will miss him, this church will miss him and this community will miss him. He was ever ready to lend a hand and gave generously of his time and money."

Honorary pallbearers were J. McKercher, O. A. Langley, QC, George H. Spence, Theo. Crawford, L. Quackenbush and J. W. Ridpath.

Asks Investigation Of Tax Department

TILLSONBURG (CP)—Raymond E. Anderson, liberal member of Parliament for Norfolk, suggests the federal taxation department should be investigated by a royal commission.

Mr. Anderson defended the taxation of cigarettes and tobacco in a speech Friday night to 1,500 tobacco growers of this district but, in an aside after delivering his prepared address, suggested that a royal commission to investigate the tobacco industry as a whole might also look into the workings of the federal taxation department. He did not amplify his remark.

Charles D. Coyle, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Elgin, said the consumers were paying $70,000,000 a year more for cigarettes than if the price was 30 cents a package. He said consumption would jump 70 per cent if the price were 30 cents.

Liberals Propose Separate Parliaments

LONDON (Reuters) — Separate Parliaments for Scotland and Wales were proposed in the House of Commons by the Liberal party.

The idea would be to give the two old kingdoms control of domestic affairs while leaving foreign policy and other national matters to the Commons here.

Chances of anything coming of the proposal advanced Friday are slim since the Liberals hold only six of Parliament's 625 seats and the House may be too busy this session to get around to dealing with the plan.

Parliament now finds it "impossible to deal adequately with grave and important public matters" affecting Scotland and Wales, the motion asserted.

Seabrooke us they brought tokens of Faith, Love, Hope, service to others, representing gold, frankincense and myrrh, of the Wise Men. A prayer composed by Kagawa of Japan, was by Mrs. Brown, followed by the reading of the story of Ben David of Jerusalem. Business was conducted by Mrs. Turner. Miss Ruth Pitchford played two beautiful piano solos and a reading "The Littlest Angel" was given by Mrs. Alex. Aikenhead. A social hour followed, in charge of Mrs. A. White and Mrs. G. Harris and their committee with an exchange of gifts from a tree, beautifully trimmed by Mrs. W. G. Downer.

HOW SAFE your child will be this Christmas season depends a lot on the kind of toys you purchase. If he is small, you should see there are no removable parts which he might put in his mouth and should he be one of those who continually puts everything into his mouth that he gets his hands on, then there should be no lead in the paint. Lead can be poisonous.

FOR PARENTS ONLY:

How Safe Is Your Child This Christmas

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Here's to a safe as well as a happy holiday!" is a good wish for the Christmas season. How safe is your child this December? The answer to this may well depend on your choice of toys for him, on your precautions with the Christmas tree and on your good sense as you travel on the highway.

When you are buying a toy, what type of plaything may be dangerous to small children?

MAY BE SERIOUS

If your youngster is very small, and still puts things in his mouth, be very sure that paint on a toy is non-injurious. Lead poisoning on a cheap toy by a little-known manufacturer may be serious. Sharp edges or points must be avoided. Highly inflammable fabrics and celluloid toys, if used near a fire are dangerous. Small removeable parts, such as tiny wheels or button eyes, which a child might choke on, are a possible threat to his safety.

Choose toys for the tiny tot which are washable and sturdy. Playthings which will not splinter and are not too heavy or unwieldy are a good idea.

Electric toy irons for girls and electric trains for small boys (and big boys too!) are very popular. But do make sure the train or iron is in good running order. Watch out for frayed cords or loose connections. Instruct a girl or boy in safety procedure in using electric equipment.

SAFETY LIGHTS

Electricly in Christmas tree decorations makes a dazzling display. But it must not be used without safety precautions, or it is an even greater hazard than a child's iron or train. Check on the electric wiring and the wall plugs for the tree's string of lights. Make sure all is right. Fortunately real candles, on trees, which caused many fires, are a thing of the past. But tissue touching a hot bulb can start a blaze — so be careful with your trimmings!

Lights on a tree should not be turned on for long periods. Form the habit of snapping off the electricity when you leave the room. Never lock the front door and go off with the tree lights ablaze and no one in the house. If a fire should start—who would put it out?

Never forget that Christmas trees, when they are dried out can be a fearful fire hazard. Use a freshly cut tree. Keep it in the cold until you are going to use it and let its trunk stand in a pail of water. It is a good plan to place the tree in damp sand, (and keep it damp all through the holidays!)

No one wants to be a wet blanket about holiday festivities but any careful parent knows that the drunken driver on the road presents a terrible threat to himself and to other motorists.

CAN BE A RISK

If the slogan "Don't Drink Before You Drive!" was faithfully followed, many smash-ups would be avoided. Even a little liquor, before getting behind the wheel is a risk.

Driving conditions in December, with ice on the roads, possible poor visibility from snow or sleet, are far from ideal. The driver and the car should both be in A-1 condition. The careful head of a family has a thorough car check-up before motoring on the highway to visit friends or relatives.

Toys, the Tree, and Travel — here are three "T's" which, if looked after carefully, spell a safe Christmas. Will your child start the New Year well and free from harm? To a great extent this depends on your safety precautions this Christmas with his playthings, his Christmas tree and his car rides. His safety is in your hands!

Guild Burns Church Note At St. George's

Election of officers, burning of a church debt note, gifts of money, reports and the annual exchange of Christmas gifts were highlights Thursday when the St. George's Afternoon Guild held its last meeting for this year in the new church hall.

A favorable report on the fall tea and bazaar was given by treasurer, Mrs. Albert Howarth, who said both "were a great success."

A substantial gift of money was given to the secretary-treasurer of the choir, Mrs. Howarth, to allow them to finish paying for a piano. This money was raised by each member having a travelling apron to collect money throughout the year.

The Guild cleared the debt on the church by making up the balance of the note; they gave the money to the wardens. The Rev. H. J. Scuse burned the note during the meeting; he expressed his appreciation to the members for the gift.

The election of officers followed the regular business. Mr. Scuse received the nominations which were voted on. The officers for the coming year will be:

Honorary president, Mrs. Scuse; president, Mrs. Fred Dorrell; vice-president, Mrs. Albert Howarth; secretary, Miss Geraldine Perks; treasurer, Mrs. S. H. Perks; phone convener, Mrs. Wallace Pakenham; kitchen conveners, Mrs. Samuel Robertson, Mrs. S. Parkes; advisory council, Mrs. E. M. McIlwain; press reporter, Miss Geraldine Perks.

The annual Christmas party and the exchange of gifts was held at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Lennox Warren was Santa Claus and Jingle Bells was played before the gifts were given out.

MR. AND MRS. ALFRED NICHOLSON

Pull Together Advice Of Couple Wed 62 Years

Probably the city's oldest married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Nicholson, 263 Townsend St., celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary Friday.

They were married in 1890 in Havelock United Church, and lived there most of their lives, while Mr. Nicholson was employed as a laborer on farms and in the bush.

Several times they moved to Peterborough, only to return to their Havelock home after a short time. Six years ago they moved to the city for good, and have been living with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Martin.

Their wedding day was a white one; Mrs. Nicholson recalls coming from her Methuen township home 16 miles by sleigh to Havelock. Her parents were the late Allen Munroe and Elizabeth Woods.

Mr. Nicholson was raised by his grandparents, Chester and Elizabeth Nicholson, and was born in Lake township near Marmora.

For a long and successful marriage, they believe a young couple should seldom disagree, always work hard and "pull on the same end of the string".

The Nicholsons have six children living of a family of 10. There are four girls: Mrs. George Fader (Elizabeth) of Haliburton, Mrs. Edward Chandler (Rose) of Niagara Falls, Mrs. James Garrett (Clara) of Toronto and Mrs. Martin (Etta). There are two sons, Pierce of Peterborough and William of Maple Lake, and a number of grandchildren.

Bible Class Turkey Dinner

The Ever-Awake Bible Class of St. James United Church Thursday held its Christmas meeting in the church. About 50 members and guests enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner.

The meeting opened with the singing of Christmas carols. President Mrs. H. Rolufs welcomed the guests. Mrs. G. Towns read the scriptures and Mrs. Aikenhead, one of the guests, read "The Littlest Angel'. Col. Harold C. Ritchie of the Salvation Army spoke on "Gifts and Giving," which was the theme of the Christmas meeting.

Mrs. C. Jones moved a vote of thanks to the speakers.

The Rev. Hueston D. McCormack spoke a few words to the class and Mrs. Roy Heard, Sunday School superintendent, also spoke.

The roll call was answered with a verse of scripture containing the words gift or giving. A distribution of gifts took place.

DOROTHY DIX

Teen-Ager Would go Steady And Have Other Dates, Too

DEAR MISS DIX: At 17, I am just beginning to date. At present I am going with a fine boy who says he wants to marry me when I finish school. I like him, but I feel I should have more of a teen-age life for a while. I'd like to date other boys occasionally, yet go steady with my present beau. He says it isn't done. Is he right?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The naivete of youth. You want to have your cake, eat it, and save enough crumbs for brea pudding. It can't be done, my dear. What you propose is a contradiction in terms. "Going steady" definitely implies no other dating, so either you continue going steady with Andy, or date other boys—you can't do both at the same time.

✧ ✧ ✧

SECOND MARRIAGE PROBLEM

DEAR MISS DIX: I have recently remarried after a very unhappy first marriage. I have a six-year-old son whom my present husband wishes to adopt. However, I feel that the financial support contributed by the boy's father will enable my son to have opportunities we could not otherwise afford. I would appreciate your advice.

SUSAN T.

ANSWER: There are probably as many "pros" as "cons" to this question; perhaps some of my readers will give their opinions on it.

For the sake of family unity, and the future security of your son, the course of adoption seems to me wiser. His present position as the son of a father, he sees but seldom, presents many problems in adjustment. Acquiring, as legal parent, the father who wields the paternal authority in his life, would probably have advantages far out-weighing the financial assistance that would be sacrificed.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Several months ago I met a boy of 20 and we became very fond of each other. On the last day of his leave, I promised to meet him at a dance but went with someone else instead. I know I was wrong and would like to explain to him. Should I write, or wait until he comes home?

TROUBLED.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Even at 16 you should realize that a promise is not to be lightly given, but once given should not be broken. You were guilty of extreme discourtesy as well as heartlessness in your treatment of the boy. You might write, but don't be surprised if your overture is rejected; it should be.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Rob and I are very much in love with each other. We've been going together for three years and hope to become engaged soon. However, he has become hesitant about marriage because of a hereditary ailment in my family. Should that make any difference if we love each other?

ELSIE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you and Rob take yourselves to a doctor and have a frank talk with him, I'm sure he will allay all your fears. One reliable source of information will offset a world of hearsay, and the hereditary factors of disease are not as tragic as was once supposed.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been going with a boy for two months and we have just become engaged. I am 18, he is 28. We have much in common, including similar backgrounds and personalities. He is settled, and successful in business. However, my parents object to the age difference. Do you think it's so important?

W.D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: In itself, the age factor in marriage is relatively unimportant. More important, in your particular case, is the short time you have known the man. A friendship of two months is not enough to give the assurance of compatibility that you apparently have. Postpone your engagement for another year and you'll be in a much better position to judge the man's qualifications as a husband.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband gives me a personal allowance of ten dollars a week. Should this cover doctor bills and medicine? I don't think it should, since I pay for my clothes and other incidentals.

MRS. C. H. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The answer to your question depends upon your family's financial status. Assuming that your husband can afford to pay for medical expenses in addition to giving you the allowance, he should do so.

What's Right?

Your husband says, "Here, let me do that" when you start to move a heavy chair, or set up a card table.

WRONG: Insist that you can do it yourself — since you do such things when he isn't around.

RIGHT: Let him show you the courtesies men should extend to women.

QUESTION: Have you a recipe for making about 150 8-oz. cups coffee, and one for barbecued or roasted pigtails. Mrs. E. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I have mailed you recipe for Coffee for 150;

BARBECUED PIGS' TAILS

Wash well 2 lbs. pigs' tails, drain, place in roaster with tight cover, roast uncovered at 500 deg. Fahr., for 10 minutes, add ¾ cup hot water, cover, reduce heat to 300 deg. Fahr., bake for 3 hours or until tails are very tender. Then Pour over Barbecue Sauce: Saute until brown ¼ cup chopped onions in 2 tablespoons fat, then add and simmer for 20 minutes: ½ cup water, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, ¼ cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 cup chili sauce, ½ teaspoon each salt and paprika. Bake at low heat for ½ or ¾ hour longer, basting twice with the sauce.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: . . . you advised a reader to use bread flour for bread making . . . I believe bread flour would make better bread than all-purpose or cake flour . . . would you be good enough to advise me what company makes this type of flour and where I could purchase it . . . if it is not sold through stores maybe I could buy a sack or two direct from the company. Mrs. William M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Lake of the Woods Milling Co. Ltd. makes bread flour and have offices in Winnipeg, Toronto and Montreal. From your district you should write direct to their Winnipeg office. Tell them I referred you to them. They are a most satisfactory company to deal with.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: . . . knew a lady who made a cookie on the order of meringue puffs except that she used the whole egg and brown sugar. What I recall of the proportions are about 2 eggs to 2 cups brown sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla. I have tried making cookies with the above proportions but ended up with a sort of candy. I'm quite sure she didn't use flour. Can one convert a powder or a seed to an extract? What substitutions could one make in a recipe calling for an extract where one has only the powder, such as anise. Do you have a recipe for a real banana-y cookie? May I please have a recipe for pickling tongue or making corned beef? Is a calf tongue preferable to a beef tongue? Which cut of beef would make the tenderest corned beef? How much time should one allow for a pot roast per pound for rare, medium or well done? Evelyn G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The closest I can come to your meringue puffs is—

GOLDEN SURPRISES

(Maybe some of our readers will know of a meringue cookie using both yolk and white of eggs, brown sugar and no flour. If so, I hope they will send it to me through this paper.)

Beat 2 eggs until as fluffy as possible and doubled in size, slowly add 1 cup brown sugar, and when stiff add 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3½ cups of any crisp dry cereal (corn flakes, bran flakes, puffed rice or wheat) and 1 teaspoon soda. Barely mix and drop on buttered cookie sheet. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. about 8 to 10 minutes.

To substitute powder for extract use ¼ of the amount of powder. To substitute seeds, grind them in finest knife of grinder and use ¼ the amount. The outer husk of some seeds are extremely strong so do not follow this rule with hot spices like peppers.

BANANA COOKIES

One-half cup each butter, brown sugar, white sugar, 1 egg, 1½ cups sifted flour, ½ cup fine oatmeal, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ cup mashed banana pulp (or ½ cup crushed drained pineapple), 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup chopped nuts. Cream together shortening and sugar well, then beat in egg and flavoring. Sift and measure flour and sift it again with salt, soda and baking powder. Add oatmeal to it and stir them into the first mixture, with nuts. Drop by teaspoons onto sheet about 3 inches apart and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. about 10 or 12 minutes.

In this day and age of expert butchers you do not need to go to the trouble of corning beef or tongue. It may easily be bought already corned more expertly than it can be done at home, Buy corned thick end of brisket beef or beef tongue. There is no rare or medium for pot roast—they are always well done. They are usually cut from the "eye of the beef"—which is top or bottom of round and require from 3 to 4 hours pot roasting.

Protestant Churchmen Prepare Document On Modern Problems

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Representatives of 147,000 churches have issued an unprecedented document aimed at sketching a Christian approach to the problems of our times.

The "letter to the Christian people of America," adopted by the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., calls on churches to "sensitize the conscience of the nation."

It urges unflagging support of the United Nations, patience in solving world disputes, a halt to character assassination, a stronger religious context in education.

It asks the religious faithful to seek public office, even at personal sacrifice, condemns continuing racial discrimination, and appeals for a "pioneer spirit" in fortifying Christianity.

GREATER UNITY

Dr. John MacKay, president of Princeton theological seminary and head of a committee that drafted the message, said Christian churches as a group had never before joined in a pronouncement of such scope.

It was adopted unanimously at the final session Friday of the general assembly of the council, which includes 30 denominations with about 35,600,000 members.

The message warned that "our culture is in danger of becoming pagan," and said "religion must be placed at the height of higher stronger "religious influence" in public schools.

The assembly also elected a new president, Methodist Bishop William C. Martin of Dallas, Tex., to succeed Episcopal Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill of Greenwich, Conn.

The council also approved resolutions reaffirming its opposition to the appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican.

Severe Competition Seen After Seaway

MONTREAL (CP) — Vice-Admiral Lydon Spencer, president of the Lake Carriers Association, says Great Lakes traffic can expect severe competition from "outside North America, if and when the St. Lawrence seaway is built."

Admiral Spencer, a former United States naval officer, addressed a gathering Friday of the Association of Marine Officials and representatives of allied industries and said that the foreign ships that spend most of the summer plying between the Unitd States and Canada may be the "forerunner of the future."

He urged serious consideration be given to increasing international lake traffic by "our own" ships.

Between acts vocal solos were sung by Mrs. George Maskell, and vocal duets by Mrs. Arthur Turpin and Mrs. Maskell. Pianist was Mrs. Donald Quinn.

Stock Market Confusing Many Canadian Investors

By HARRY KINGDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

"What shall I do with my money?" was a queqstion troubling Toronto investors and speculators this week.

Would it be more profitable to put money into safe, preferred stocks with relatively low dividends or into speculative issues which might rise in price and give a better return?

Recent market uncertainties and downward prices on the Toronto stock exchange appear to have given the edge to safe investment. But the picture may be changing.

The New York stock exchange, which normally handles more "investment" issues than Toronto, has been rising for nore than a month now, reaching highs for the year. The Toronto market, handling more speculative, low-priced issues has been fluctuating only slightly above its lows for the year.

MAY BE LOWER

Frank S. Leslie of Frank S. Leslie and Company, Toronto, wrote recently: "We believe that over the longer term, prices will double or triple but that in the intermediate period, 1953 and 1954, averages may work lower and that most speculative stocks should be sold this year end or during the first quarter of 1953 and, for the time being, the proceeds reinvested in high-grade stocks or convertible bonds."

E. S. Miles of Burns and Company, Toronto, wrote: "Canadian stock markets in recent months have been witnessing a perceptible shift in investment funds from second grade and speculative issues to better grade common stocks and to fixed income securities . ."

On the Toronto exchange this week, however, western oils started to rise about mid-week. The oils group contains a number of speculative issues and was one of the hardest-hit in the September decline.

Toronto started the week mixed while Montreal moved slightly ahead. Tuesday saw a weaker Toronto market and mixed prices in Montreal. The same pattern was repeated Wednesday except for Toronto's oil rise. Montreal gained Thursday while Toronto was mixed, but Toronto rose Friday while Montreal slipped.

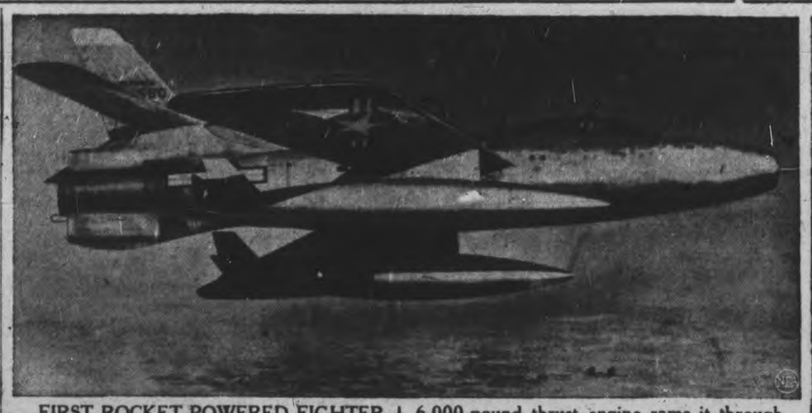
SLOW IN NEW YORK

On the New York market, prices rose Monday and Tuesday, slowed Wednesday and Thursday and rose again Friday.

From Friday to Friday, the Toronto exchange's indices showed industrials up .41 at 318.31, golds down 2.20 at 83.36, base metals down .43 at 172.63 and western oils up 3.62 at 115.38.

In the Montreal averages, banks were up .02 at 31.56, utilities down .3 at 90.5, industrials up 1.0 at 204.9, combined up .6 at 166.8, papers up .70 at 708.87 and golds down .10 at 64.58.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks on the New York market was up $1.50 at $113.90.



FIRST ROCKET-POWERED FIGHTER PIERCES SONIC BARRIER—The Republic XF-91, recently made the first supersonic, rocket-powered flight ever to be flown by a U.S. combat-type experimental fighter. A 5,200-pound thrust turbojet boosts the plane to a speed approaching that of sound, and a 6,000-pound thrust engine rams it through the barrier. The plane was developed to provide the Air Force with a high-altitude interceptor capable of downing any high-speed bomber a potential enemy might construct. At right is Russell M. Roth, of Edwards Air Base, Calif., who made the pioneering flight.

Find Comma Complication In New Title For Queen

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will recommend a new title for the Queen — but a , (comma) seems to be bouncing around.

The existing version as recorded in the Parliamentary Guide reads: "Her most excellent Majesty Elizabeth the Second (no comma) by the grace of God, (comma) of Great Britain, Ireland and the British dominions beyond the seas Queen, Defender of the Faith."

The new one as suggested at the prime ministers' conference at London would read: "Elizabeth the Second, (comma) by the grace of God (no comma) of the United Kingdom, Canada and her other realms and territories Queen, head of the Commonwealth, Defender of the Faith."

However, The Canadian Press asked a parliamentary official to give his version of the current title and he provided this memo: "Confirmation, title of the Queen:"

"Elizabeth the second, (comma) by the grace of God, (comma) of Great Britain, Ireland and the British dominions beyond the seas Queen, Defender of the Faith."

FRENCH VERSION

A French version of a release issued from the prime minister's office on the recommended new style said:

"Elizabeth Deux, (comma) par la grace de Dieu, (comma) Reine du Royaume-Uni, du Canada et de ses autres royaumes et territoires, chef du Commonwealth, Defenseur de la Foi."

It's pretty difficult from this evidence to decide where the comma should be placed

Prime Minister St. Laurent was asked Friday night about the comma when he arrived in Ottawa from the conference He said he was not prepared to discuss that detail at the moment.

To sum it up: pay your money and take your choice:

All But One Re-elected As WMS Officers

HAVELOCK (ENS)—The home of Mrs. L. Colquhoun was seasonably decorated for the December meeting of the WMS of Knox Presbyterian Church when the guest speaker was Mrs. R. Bonney, who took as her subject, "What Does Christmas Mean?"

Mrs. Bonney stressed the fact that because we are spiritual beings, we should think of spiritual things, because the things of earth pass away but spiritual things are realities.

Christ left his home in glory, but no one would have recognized the Babe of Bethlehem as the Saviour of the world except for the angels' announcement and the star.

In closing, Mrs. Bonney made the Christmas message as a personal appeal to each member by asking, "What think ye of Christ, and what does He mean to you?"

The president, Mrs. J. W. Ketchen, presided for the meeting. The first part of the Christmas program, interpersed with Christmas carols, was presented by the following: Miss Mary Buchanan, Mrs. A. Graham, Mrs. S. Barlow.

A very successful year was reported. The 1952 officers, with the exception of the recording secretary, were re-instated, and Miss Mary Buchanan was appointed to that office. Those who were re-elected are: President, Mrs. J. W. Ketchen; vice-president, Mrs. W. Martin; treasurer, Mrs. S. Barlow; Glad Tidings secretary, Mrs. W. Hitchins.

At the close of the meeting a lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. A. Graham, with Mrs. J. W. Ketchen pouring tea.

Liberal Tells House Danger In Gov't Expansionism

OTTAWA (CP)—A Liberal member of Parliament has spoken out about the dangers he sees in the growing scope of government activities.

The warning came Friday in the Commons from Sam Balcom, 64-year-old member for Halifax and owner of a drug-store chain. He said "there is a very real danger" that the expansionist trend of government "will go too far."

The more activity brought under government control, he said, "the nearer we approach a socialist form of control."

He felt the expansion was a sign of the times. But over-zealous public servants might undertake things better performed elsewhere—in the field of research, for instance, where he felt universities rather than government agencies could do much good work through foundations.

He also criticized centralization of industry in central Canada and Canadian car manufacturers enjoying tariff protection who showed their "gratitude" by shipping cars through United States ports. He thought, too, there should not be so much difference in Canadian and American prices on consumer goods.

Mr. Balcom said there should be tariff cuts on television sets so they can be widely distributed for Canadian use.

Mr. Balcom's speech in the throne speech debate followed a flurry between two British Columbia members over Commonwealth trade. E. D. Fulton (PC—Kamloops) said the reported success of the London prime ministers' conference indicated it should have been called three years ago, as urged by his party.

Fisheries Minister Sinclair countered Mr. Fulton's arguments. As far as the success of the London conference is concerned, he said, he will wait until Monday when Prime Minister St. Laurent is expected to make a report on it to the Commons.

CHARGES CONTEMPT

Earlier in the day George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, accused the defence department of being in contempt of Parliament because it has not produced the Currie report on army handling of stores, promised as an early return.

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) urged immediate repeal of a law by which the provinces seek refunds from the estates of old age pensioners who have collected the pensions between the ages of 65 and 70.

The House also heard a sermon on Social Credit from Rev. E. G. Hansell, (SC—McLeod) who engineered the Social Credit election victory in British Columbia.

Mr. Hansell, an adherent of the Christian Church, said Social Crediters had been using biblical phrases and hymns at their meetings for years and no one was going to "scare" them out of doing so now. They did not claim a monopoly on religion, but Social Credit beliefs were based on Christianity.

In the trade scrap Mr. Fulton said the apparent success of the prime ministers' conference in London contrasts with cabinet statements about the usefulness of such a meeting. As late as last June Finance Minister Abbott had belittled the possible value of such a conference which the Progressive Conservatives advocated.

Mr. Sinclair, formerly parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, said Canada didn't place roadblocks in the way of Commonwealth trade. The "Tory calamity chorus" had been forecasting a gloomy trade picture for years, but the facts were that Canadian trade now is worth $8,000,000,000 a year, six times what it was when the Conservatives were in power.

LINDSAY (ENS) — Lindsay juniors upset Oshawa 6-2 here Friday night in a fine OHA fixture before 600 fans. It was Oshawa's first loss in four starts.

Lindsay led 2-0 in the first, McDonald and Wadinski scored for Oshawa early in the second to sew it up, but McGill and Truax tallied later in the heat for a 4-2 lead. Strong Emotional Stimulus With Britain's Monarchy

Can a woman lead Britain back to greatness? This story, last of a series, describes the British reaction to the succession of Elizabeth II, marking the opening of a new Elizabethan era in the Old Country.

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Most Canadians are only dimly aware of the strong emotional stimulus of Britain's constitutional monarchy.

Those who count themselves lucky to see royalty once in a lifetime would have been surprised at the upsurge of feeling which followed Queen Elizabeth's succession. As though snapping fingers at their difficulties, Britons looked buoyantly forward to a new Elizabethan era.

They recalled that Britain three times reached greatness with a woman on the throne—under Elizabeth I, Anne and Victoria.

PARLIAMENT OPENING

The depth of feeling was illustrated when the 26-year-old Queen, slim and lovely, presided at the state opening of Parliament Nov. 4. She was the central figure in one of the oldest rituals of state When it was over a peer of the realm exclaimed:

"I could hardly keep from leaping up and shouting: 'Long live the Queen!' "

Newspaper reaction was similarly jubilant. The Sunday Times spoke of being "inspired by a young sovereign whose queenliness refreshes on each new occasion the love and loyalty that her subjects bear her."

John Connell of the Evening News wrote glowingly:

"Today's ceremony. . . must be forever unique, something to cherish in memory till the heart is cold and silent. It was enchantment beyond expectation. And the Queen it was who made it so, by some radiant gift of the spirit which shone through all the pageantry and panoply of a great and formidable state occasion."

DIFFICULT DAYS

But the way will be hard. When Elizabeth succeeded her father on the throne last February, she fell heir to a shrinking kingdom. Since 1939, the peoples under direct rule from London have dwindled from 500,000,000 to 100,000,000. The country faces economic and political problems unknown in more spacious days.

In the first year of Elizabeth's reign, Britain's arms bill will be at least six times as much as before the war. The country has had three financial crises since 1945 A shift in the terms of trade, now favorable, would provoke another crisis.

Apart from domestic and international difficulties, the Queen faces problems in the mere fact of being the first Queen since Victoria. For instance, the King used to receive ambassadors and their wives separately. The Queen receives them together but some new routine will have to be worked out.

There will have to be new stamps new coinage, new patents. The King's colors will be replaced by the Queen's colors. These and many other day-to-day matters will come to the Queen's desk for decision.

NO DRASTIC CHANGES

Court circles do not expect Elizabeth to wield a strong new broom as some sources have hinted.

"I think there will be few really drastic changes," a court spokesman said. "Certainly there is unlikely to be any alteration in matters affecting the constitution."

The Queen's husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, may bring a lighter touch to Buckingham Palace. He has far greater freedom than the Queen and can help bring the crown to the people. He will also be well placed to advise the Queen of sentiment in the country. He has already carried out a number of public engagements alone.

How will the Queen respond to her responsibilities? Few British observers have any doubts.

"The thing that impresses me most of all about the Queen," says Cyril Hankinson, editor of Debrett's Peerage, "is that she doesn't seem to allow the burdens of monarchy to overwhelm her.

"She has not lost a whit of her old energy and vivacity. She looks so young and appealing on all occasions, and unfaltering. While maintaining an essential dignity, she still seems wonderfully fitted to be a leader of youth.

"Like Queen Victoria, she seems to have been endowed overnight with the qualities of queenship."

What Elizabeth herself feels can never be known. But in her accession declaration, she said:

"I shall always work, as my father did throughout his reign, to uphold the constitutional government and to advance the prosperity and happiness of my peoples, spread as they are all the world over."

Bring Stock Salesman To Face Charges

TORONTO (CP) — Ian Mackenzie, 34-year-old Toronto stock salesman, was brought here from Texas Friday to face charges of theft of $15,000 in stocks.

Police said Mackenzie, a customers' man, sold for his own use securities entrusted to him by customers.

A married man with two children, he was employed six years by the firm before he flew to New York Oct. 4. He was arrested in Houston, Texas, when he tried to sell 10 shares of oils and gas stock valued at about $5.50 a share. Police said he had $2,000 in securities when arrested.

Send Two Men To Police School

Two officers from the Peterborough police force will attend the Ontario Provincial Police's college in Toronto, beginning January 5. The police commission Thursday received the offer from the Provincial Police and instructed Police Chief John Thompson to choose two men for the course.

OPP Deputy Commissioner Arthur Moss, Toronto, in presenting the offer by letter, said that the course will last six weeks, running Monday through Friday. The college will provide board and room without charge, the only expense to the commission being transportation.

Chief Thompson said that two of the younger members of the force will likely be sent. He felt the course would benefit a younger policeman more than a man with several years' experience.

SERIOUS COLLAPSE IN SECURITY-REPORT

82 Killed In Revolt At PoW Camp

120 Others Injured Before Guards Put End To Uprising

PUSAN, Korea — (AP) — Eighty-two North Korean civilian internees were killed and 120 wounded Sunday in a mutinous uprising on the island of Pongam, the Allied prisoner-of-war command reported today.

The internees, reclassified prisoners of war, injured two United States soldiers and two South Korean soldiers. An official announcement said U.S. and South Korean troops quelled the uprising.

The announcement said the uprising probably was a part of recently intercepted Communist plans indicating preparations for a mass breakout.

It said the uprising occurred in camp No. 1C on Pongam, a small island west of Koje off the southern tip of Korea.

MADE SMALLER

About 3,600 of the camp's 9,000 internees participated in the simultaneous uprising in six separate compounds.

The Allied command said many of the mutineers were former inmates of notorious Compound 62 on Koje, where bloody rioting broke out last Feb. 18. Canadian and British troops were sent in as guards after the riots were quelled.

Allied PoW camps have been the scene of bloody incidents for more than a year. Riot and mutinies were sparked by die - hard Communists determined to gain absolute control. Several hundred PoWs were killed or injured.

Last May 7, Reds seized the Koje camp commander, Brig. - Gen. Francis T. Dodd, and held him 78 hours. Concessions then won exchange for his release later were described by Gen. Mark Clark, Far East commander, as having "no validity whatsoever."

3,600 TAKE PART

The large compounds on Koje were broken into smaller ones by Dodd's successor, Brig.-Gen. Hayden L. Boatner, but incidents persisted.

The PoW command announcement said:

One of the occupants, 21-year-old Alyre Cyr of Burleigh Falls was thrown clear of the wreck and was knocked unconscious; the driver was slightly injured. Horses Put On Payroll As Laborers

$3,000 Dam Built Without Orders, Other Irregularities

OTTAWA (CP) — The full and vivid story of the looting of Camp Petawawa was bared today for the first time in the Currie report and it even included horses who got on the army's payrolls as "non-existent laborers."

The report, tabled in Parliament, summarizes a series of irregularities which have already provoked more than half a dozen prosecutions and it indicates that there may be more court cases yet.

It found that a boat and washing machines were obtained through false orders, two freight loads of pulpwood stolen, soldiers used to make boats, a rocking horse and other things for private use, a $3,000 dam built without authorization, a railway spur line owned by the CNR ripped up to replace a spur line looted from the CPR.

The case of the fraudulent horses was linked with a contract for the clearing of an area known as "Camp X." It covered the clearing of 206 acres though only 106 were cleared "and that not satisfactorily."

"In this as in other cases cited, the contract called for the company to use its own equipment. During the clearing of the area horses were hired by army personnel and placed on the payroll under the names of non-existent laborers."

"In each case, army personnel were involved and in most cases . . . army goods have been recovered by the police which is fairly successful proof that army goods were widely spread in places where, under the regulations, they had no business to be. In a substantial number of cases, army personnel have signed statements admitting the correctness of the facts stated.

"A series of transactions concerned the disposal of scrap metal. In one case, a proper contract was let for the disposal of 30 tons, in another, of 15 tons. It seems that some 550 tons were shipped out of the camp area, and that the proceeds from the bulk of the sale were pocketed by army personnel. Some of the metal thus shipped was not scrap at all. It consisted of serviceable material such as kitchen ranges, cannon heaters, shower-stalls, sinks and the like. Most of this material was recovered.

"In one striking instance, a large quantity of rails belonging to the Canadian Pacific Railway was removed. When this loss was noted by the CPR and questions raised, a spur line of the Canadian National running into the ordnance depot was taken up and the rails used to replace the missing CPR track. Another case involved the collection of lead from rifle butts and its private sale. . ."

Petawawa Inquiry Shows Breakdown In Army Branch

OTTAWA (CP)—The Currie report, a sweeping document that is bound to provoke hot political controversy, said today there has been a general breakdown in control over one of the army's branches and "a serious collapse in security" in that branch. The 74-page 15,000-word report recorded a series of fabulous irregularities at Camp Petawawa, including the listing of horses as people on the army payroll, the ripping up of government-owned railway lines to cover up looting and the building of an artificial lake without authority.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, in tabling the document in the Commons, said he hopes its "severe

OTTAWA (CP) — The CCF charged today that changes were made in the controversial Currie report before it was presented to Parliament and demanded a full explanation of how and why they came about.

and sweeping statements" will not be taken out of context and used to smear the army or its engineering works services as a whole.

The report, by the accounting firm of George S. Currie, former deputy defence minister, climaxed seven months of investigation touched off by the Camp Petawawa thefts.

OPEN FOR MORE

Mr. Currie said the way was open for a lot more irregularities and that the whole works service—the branch under investigation—should not be branded "because of the sins of a handful of crooks."

The report makes 44 recommendations for a new supervisory setup, for the posting of a Mountie to each army camp, strengthening of the Provost Corps and a general tightening and toughening of security arrangements.

It regrets that the army, with all its "regulations and supervisory personnel," had to rely on an anonymous letter to get started on the Petawawa investigations which have led to more than half a dozen prosecutions. It reports that the situation at Petawawa was so chaotic no one will ever know how much was looted there.

KNEW ABOUT CONDITIONS

Mr. Currie said the army knew about unsatisfactory conditions for some time through its own reports but nothing adequate was done about them. However, the investigation at Petawawa and elsewhere had started reforms which, for one example led to "remarkable" changes at Halifax in a couple of months.

The report's conclusion on the army works services said:

"While there has been a general breakdown in the system of administration, supervision and ac-

Cabinet Refuses To Interfere With Hanging

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet has decided there is no reason to interfere with the scheduled hangings of convicted murderers Leonard Jackson and Steve Suchan, a government spokesman said today.

The two are scheduled to be hanged at 12:01 a.m. EST Tuesday.

The government has been flooded with telegrams, mostly from people in Toronto, pleading that the two men, convicted of slaying Toronto detective Edmund Tong, be shown mercy.

Tong was shot down when he attempted to question the two men on a Toronto street.

Suchan and Jackson were sentenced to be hanged by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer. They appealed the verdict to the Ontario Supreme Court, but the plea was rejected. Their request to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada was refused.

APPEAL TO QUEEN

Mrs. Anne Jackson, who married Leonard after he escaped from the Don jail with two other members of the gang in November, 1951, has sent a cable to the Queen asking her to intervene, and another to Governor-General Vincent Massey.

Both defence counsel have appealed to Justice Minister Garson for clemency.

The official hangman arrived from Montreal Sunday night and will be in charge of arrangements. A Roman Catholic priest and a Protestant minister will attend.

It will be the second double execution in Don jail history. In 1921, William McFadden and Ray Hotrum were executed for the murder of a druggist during a holdup.

Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Joseph Lesso, Suchan's mother, visit the condemned men for the last time today.

Mrs. Jackson said she has made arrangements for her husband's body to be buried in a private cemetery in Toronto. Mrs. Lesso will claim the body of her son.

Storm Slows Traffic Across Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — A widespread storm slowed traffic in southern Ontario Sunday night as roads became snow-packed and icy.

The Niagara Peninsula was the hardest hit area where seven inches of snow was reported. Traffic in that district was almost stopped by a driving snow storm. Bus schedules were disrupted in the Fort Erie, Niagara Falls, Welland, Port Colborne area.

In the Lake Huron and Georgian Bay areas winds of 25 to 30 miles an hour whipped the eight to 10-inch snow fall making vision for motorists poor and in some places roads icy.

ICY ROADS

In the Hamilton area a light snow fall followed by a quick drop in temperatures glazed roads with ice.

Roads in the Parry Sound, Ottawa and Owen Sound districts were snow-covered and a one-foot fall was reported in the Georgian Bay port area.

North of Toronto roads were slippery and some accidents were reported. A bus skidded off a highway, about 65 miles north of here, snapped off a telephone pole and plunged down a 20-foot embankment, burying its nose in the Severn river. The driver and 30 passengers escaped with a shaking up.

In the Kingston area of eastern Ontario scores of automobiles were packed bumper-to-bumper for several hours on Highway No. 2 east and west of the city. The snow was reported to have drifted to a depth of two feet in some places in that district.

An expectant mother at Cataraqui, near Kingston, had to be carried through the snow from her husband's stalled car to a police cruiser to get to hospital.

3 Children Perish In Fire

CORNWALL (CP) — Three small children were burned to death early Sunday when they were trapped in a fire which swept through their home at Green Valley Station, 25 miles north of here. The youngsters were Gerald, 4, Denise, 3 and Monique, eight months, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Proulx. The 1½-storey frame home adjoins the CPR station. Mr. Proulx told investigating provincial police officers that he awoke about 1:30 a.m. to find the whole downstairs a mass of flames. He had only time to throw his wife out an upper storey window and follow her to the ground.

Police believe the blaze was a result of an overheated wood stove.

"I don't know how my wife got burned, but I fought with her for five minutes before I got her out of the window," Mr. Proulx said.

"I was hanging by my hands from the window and I could hear the children crying. I tried to get back in, but I couldn't. Pretty soon there was no crying in the house."

Only a twisted metal bed, a melted lump of metal that was a stove, a fire-blackened washing machine and crumpled baby carriage were all that was recognizable in the ruins

Mr. Proulx said that when he and his wife went to bed about 11 p.m. there were only two or three sticks of wood in the stove downstairs.

"I awoke and smelled smoke," he said. "I hardly remember what happened."

Proulx, a carpenter by trade, said he had built a play table for his daughter Denise who was to have had a birthday party Sunday.

Sees Expensive Loss

WASHINGTON (AP)— An engineer for the Aluminum Company of America estimated today New York State's plan to develop St. Lawrence river power could, unless revised, mean a loss to an Alcoa subsidiary of up to $18,000,000 a year. B. J. Fletcher, chief hydraulic engineer for Alcoa, made the estimate at a power commission hearing on New York's application for a licence to join with Canada in constructing the big St. Lawrence project.

Hurled From Car Man Shot To Death

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — A 32-year-old Brooklyn, N. Y., man, who police said has had several brushes with the law, was hurled from a car Sunday night and shot to death in gangland fashion.

Four bullets were pumped into Paul Panepinto, whose body was found sprawled in the gutter by a watchman.

The watchman, Dymitri Makar, 66, told police he saw the victim flung from the black convertible coupe in a dimly-lighted section around the corner from the third precinct police station. The car, he said, bore New York licence plates.

Lieut. Leon Neidorf of the prosecutor's office said Panepinto had a long police record in New Jersey and New York.

Hear Gov't Ready To Force Settlement

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto paper in a dispatch from Louiseville today quotes the parish priest of that strike-torn Quebec town as saying that the Quebec government is preparing to force a compulsory settlement of the textile strike which has led to disorders.

The newspaper quotes Msgr. Donat Baril as saying in an interview that his superior, Bishop Georges-Leon Pelletier of Three Rivers, had told him Labor Minister Antonio Barrette "was preparing to call the parties together this week and that he would enforce a settlement by law."

The plant of Associated Textiles Limited, chief industry in Louiseville, has been closed since March 10 as the result of a strike. Last Thursday one man was wounded and four others were injured in a clash with police; 25 persons were arrested.

Find Skvortsov Was In Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Nikolai Skvortsov, a staff member of the United Nations secretariat who has been barred from re-entry into the United States on suspicion of spying, formerly worked in Canada, a check of external affairs department files disclosed today.

Skvortsov, personal assistant of the highest-ranking Russian in the UN secretariat and political affairs officer of the security council department, was in Ottawa from April 1947 to July, 1949.

The external affairs department said he was listed in their files as a clerk in the office of the Russian commercial counsellor. They had no further record.

Superintendent G. B. McClellan, head of the RCMP special branch, said the RCMP is aware that Skvortsov was here but declined to say whether he is suspected of spying while in Canada.

It was recalled that two years before Skvortsov was here, Russia had a commercial counsellor, Pavlov, whose name figured in Canada's espionage trials in 1946. The royal commission report on espionage named Pavlov as Canadian head of the NKVD, or Russian secret police. It is believed Pavlov was the brains of a Red spy network.

Streamlined Hearing On Freight Rates

OTTAWA (CP)—A streamlined hearing on a railway application for a general nine-per-cent increase in freight rates opened today before the board of transport commissioners.

In two hours after the start, the Canadian Pacific Railway had completed its evidence. The Canadian National Railways was expected to open and finish its evidence at the afternoon session, with the case concluding Tuesday at the latest.

In submissions today, the railways estimated the nine-per-cent rate increase would gross them an estimated $43,451,000 a year—$24,966,000 for the CNR and $18,485,000 for the CPR.

This increase is in addition to another one for nine-per-cent filed with the board several months ago and due for a hearing in January. In that case, the application is based on the claim that the CPR —used by the board as the "yardstick" line on rates—should have a specified rate of return on its railway investment.

Fear 49 Miners Dead As River Rampages

MANILA — (AP) — Forty-nine miners were trapped and presumed killed today when a river broke through a gold-mine shaft and engulfed them in a thundering wall of water.

It was the worst mine disaster on record in the Philippines.

The water rushed into a 400-foot-deep tunnel of the United Paracale Mining Co. on southeastern Luzon.

J. V. Stapler, company spokesman, said:

"The whole mine is reported flooded. There isn't a chance that they survived."

Car In Lake, Driver Drowns

WHEATLEY (CP)—Trapped in a car which hurtled off an embankment, flew nearly 90 feet and landed in Lake Erie, 20-year-old John Henry Drummelsmith Jr., of Wheatley district, was drowned Saturday night.

Three other young people—two girls and a boy—climbed out of the windows of the submerged car and swam to shore despite severe injuries.

Provincial police said the four were driving on a gravel sideroad 2½ miles southeast of here leading from No. 3 Highway south to the beach. Apparently the driver, Herbert Gordon Edward, 21, of Wheatley, saw too late that the unbarricaded road led to the edge of a 13-foot vertical embankment.

The car hurtled out into space, flew over a 45-foot-wide beach without touching it and landed about 45 feet out in water six or seven feet deep.

Edwards and the girls, Aida May Drummond, 21, of nearby Coatsworth, and Doris Mary Dundas, 19, of Wheatley, managed to crawl out of the car windows and get ashore.

Drummelsmith, who suffered a gash in the head and lost consciousness in the submerged car, was drowned before help arrived.

Two Cruisers Ditched In Chase

PORT CREDIT (CP)—An 80-mile-an-hour chase Sunday, in which three shots were fired and two police cruisers ditched, ended with the arrest of Maurice Richardson, 26, of New Toronto. He was charged with dangerous driving.

The chase started in nearby Long Branch when police in a cruiser became suspicious of a car tailing them. When the auto passed, they gave chase.

At Port Credit, the car doubled back. Five other cruisers joined in the chase. Two tried to edge the car into the curb, but were forced into the ditch themselves.

Chinese Reds Seize South Korean Outpost

SEOUL (AP) — Chinese Communists struck through rain and snow today at three heights on the central Korean front, wresting one outpost from hard-fighting South Koreans.

The Chinese hit Pinpoint hill, Rocky point and outpost positions on the lower slopes of Triangle hill. They overran two South Korean outposts in pitched battles, but counter-attacking Koreans recaptured the larger one.

The most intense fighting was on the southeastern slopes of Triangle hill, where some 80 Chinese in padded uniforms charged out of the freezing night.

The attack started before midnight and lasted until dawn. The first wave swept over a minor outpost. The charge finally carried through the main outpost, but South Koreans pushed the Chinese back just before daybreak.

Believe Russians Prepare New Squeeze On Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Allied informants said today they see mounting evidence of a creeping squeeze on Berlin, perhaps a new type of blockade.

British officers who have been analyzing a series of recent Russian-zone moves said the East seems to be gearing itself for a new all-out drive to isolate West Berlin.

U.S. authorities agreed, and added they believe the blow being prepared is to be timed with Bonn's ratification of the Western European defence treaty.

The Communist moves have been spread out so that any single day's developments are likely to be ignored or minimized. But this is what they have been doing in the last month:

1. Erecting a series of stone and concrete abutments at each crossing point between West Berlin and the surrounding Russian zone.

2. Imprisoning or forcibly ejecting "lukewarm" or suspected anti-Communist people from border villages.

3. Forcing West Berlin cars which enter the Russian sector to undergo stringent inspection and risk confiscation. Compelling East Berlin automobiles to obtain special permits to drive into the West sectors.

4. Vastly increasing the size of the Communist police forces spread along the Soviet sector border, as well as those on the zonal frontier.

Disarms Bomb Saves His Crew

TOKYO (AP) — The United States Air Force said today an iron-nerved airman saved the lives of a B-29 crew by disarming a live bomb stuck in a bomb rack while its 60-second time fuse ticked away.

The daring feat was accomplished in 40-below-zero temperature as the Superfort with a crew of 13 started home to Okinawa from a bombing mission over North Korea.

Gunner Ernest P. Gooris of Glassport, Pa., crawled into the windswept bomb bay. The lives of the crew hung on his speed and skill.

"I found that a flash bomb used for night strike photos had fallen on a couple of 100-pounders that didn't drop," Gooris said.

Fighting against numbing cold, he went to work on the fuse. If the bomb went off it would have torn the plane apart.

Gooris defused the bomb in just 28 seconds.

Army Of Parents Erases Community Death Pond

LEVITTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — An army of parents, with shovels and bulldozers for weapons and the lives of their children for a spur, early today erased "Death Pond" from their community's back yard.

For 16 hours they had toiled. Their muscles ached and their hands were sore. But they plodded wearily home with fear no longer gnawing at their hearts.

They first felt fear last Monday when a landslide at a rain-filled excavation smothered a seven-year-old boy. Fear was intensified Friday after a four-year-old boy was drowned in the same pit.

Levittown parents Sunday grabbed shovels and marched on the pit, just across this Long Island community's boundary in Hicksville, N.Y. The pit, used to catch rainwater, was part of a housing development construction job.

Men and 'teen-agers took the shovels and attacked the 30-foot sand pile while a small pump was installed to drain the hole, 14 feet deep and 72 feet square.

Soon someone spotted two bulldozers nearby on the construction job. A parent said he could operate the big machine. Then another driver was found and the bulldozers were "borrowed."

A watchman on the construction job watched and said nothing. Neither did his employers. Police, too, kept away.

However, the owner of one bulldozer showed up in the afternoon and took it away, saying he had not authorized its use.

It grew dark. The Levittown fire department sent a truck with floodlights. Other townspeople parked their automobiles around the pit and trained car lights on the excavation.

Shortly after midnight the work was done. The pit they called "Death Pond" was no more.

New Economic Policy Approved

LONDON (Reuters)—British Socialist leaders Sunday night ended a secret policy-making parley without saying whether the feud between Bevanites and right-wingers was finally healed.

But the Labor party secretary, Morgan Phillips, announced that the 27-member party executive had agreed unanimously on the need for a new economic policy.

The executive spent the weekend debating a new Labor platform designed to win votes away from Winston Churchill's Conservative government and also to placate the dissident rebels under fiery left-winger Aneurin Bevan.

15 Dockers Remain On Battered Tanker

TORONTO (CP)—Fifteen dockworkers who Sunday boarded the oil tanker Imperial Midland at Port Weller for the 90-minute run to Port Dalhousie were still on board today. Harbor officials said they probably will be on board until early tonight when the vessel is expected to reach its destination.

The Imperial Midland was one of two vessels which left Port Weller Sunday to joust with 18-mile-an-hour winds and 10-foot waves on Lake Ontario. The Coastal Cliff, another oil tanker, broke her steering-gear in mid-lake and was pulled into Toronto harbor today.

Dock-workers boarded the Midland at Port Weller for the trip to Port Dalhousie where the ship will be converted to a bulk carrier. However, when a tow-line broke on the tug Jalobert which was towing her the Midland was forced to anchor off Port Weller for the night.

High waves kept other ships from taking food to the stranded men until today.

Two tugs have left Toronto to help the Jalobert tow the vessel to Port Dalhousie.

Italy Asks Propaganda NATO Drive

Asked To Approve $428,000,000 Military Budget

PARIS (AP) — Premier Alcide de Gasperi of Italy today asked top ministers of the 14-country Atlantic alliance today to stage a united propaganda campaign against the Communists.

Russia is doing just that against the Western democracies, he said at the opening meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's top council.

Preceding De Gasperi, the council chairman, Foreign Minister Ole Bjorn Kraft of Denmark, told the ministers "we are now approaching the stage at which we feel safe from outward aggression." He warned, however, that "the picture may change very suddenly" and that the NATO goal of a "balance (with the Soviet bloc) has not yet been created."

Chief item before the current council meeting is a request for approval of a $428,000,000 program of military construction in Europe during 1953.

COUNTERACT ATTEMPTS

In recommending the propaganda campaign, De Gasperi said it would "counteract outside attempts at sowing discord and division among us."

"I am concerned," the Italian said, "about the interior front, the policy of erosion and penetration which the Communists practice systematically. . .The first line of attack is formed by the Communist parties in our own countries. . ."

The French foreign minister, Robert Schuman, welcomed the gathering to Paris. He said the Atlantic alliance is succeeding only because of "our conviction that our association has a strictly defensive character."

The building program and the naming of a new Mediterranean naval command were expected to be the only major decisions of the 14-country North Atlantic Council of foreign, finance and defence ministers during their four-day meeting today.

With Britain pushing for his appointment, Admiral Earl Mountbatten, commander of Britain's naval forces in the Mediterranean, is scheduled to be assigned the post.

The program today included a public meeting reserved mainly for welcoming speeches, followed by a business session behind closed doors.

DON'T WANT TO WAIT

NATO military leaders plan to advise the ministers to make their decision on the construction program at this meeting and not wait until March or April.

A highly-placed United States informant said the military committee had trimmed its original construction estimate from $453,000,000. The program calls for the building of between 31 and 35 air bases, as well as naval construction and other military installations.

An American source said:

"Some ministers want to know first how much money will be spent in their countries before they will be willing to chip in. The U. S. will try to get the building program passed even against this opposition."

(Indications were that Canada's defence budget would not be affected. This year's military estimate was $2,175,000 but the government will not actually spend it all. Actual spending of the budget estimate, however, might be higher next year.)

The ministers will hear reports on the progress of the European defence build-up, but they probably will be somewhat less rosy than those handed out Sunday by NATO officials.

Robert Barnes, American chairman of the council's review board, told a press conference that the organization's goal of 50 divisions ready this year had been "substantially met." He admitted a few reserve divisions were "not quite up to standard in training."

Army Band Leads FNC Carol Fest

A privilege each Christmas season to the people of Peterborough is to sing their favorite carols accompanied by the Salvation Army Band, and to hear the band and its members in special Christmas selections.

Friday Night Club of the YMCA, which originated carol services in Peterborough and also in other Ys, has held them here continuously for more than 20 years. Sunday evening their service was enjoyed by about 750 persons, a smaller crowd than most years which did not quite fill the Collegiate auditorium.

The club has made the carol service their project to raise funds for world service. Collection taken last night will be sent to aid in children's work in Israel, Iraq, Japan, Korea and other countries in need. Some work that has been done was described by president Charlie Bain.

The carol singing was again led by Quirt McKinney who has been assisting the past six years. The words and accompanying color pictures are projected on a screen and Charlton McBride takes pleasure in giving this service. Mrs. Ben Smith accompanied at the piano for a new carol unfamiliar to the band.

Of exceedingly high calibre were the numbers played by the band under direction of Bandmaster Gerald Routley. Few brass bands in the country would attempt "Gems from the Messiah" which they played beautifully. This arrangement includes the opening of the symphony, arias "Comfort Ye My People" and "O Come Unto Me All Ye That Labor," and the finale is "Lift Up Your Heads O Ye Gates."

The band also played Gounod's "Nazareth" and Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus." Their opening march was composed by a Salvation Army bandmaster of New Zealand and called "Petone Citadel."

A male voice party of brandsmen sang two numbers, "Holy Babe", by Holtz and a Negro spiritual, "Can't You Hear Me Moaning Lord?" which they first sang just two weeks ago. They were directed by Ben Smith and Mrs. Smith played accompaniment.

Benediction was said by the Rev. N. D. McCormick.

Papers and banks weakened in the industrials list and most other groups were mixed. Agricultures, foods and manufacturing companies showed strength.

Nesbitt-Labine attracted most interest among base metals, gaining about 20 cents in a turnover of 30,000 shares. United Abestos, Steep Rock and Mindamar also gained but East Sullivan, Hudson Bay and Quebec Manitou slipped.

Senior golds and junior producers weakened in a series of small losses but prospects gained. Gunnar added pennies active trading and Conwest gained. Holding companies were mixed.

U.S. Ships Driven Aground In Harbor

LEGHORN, Italy (AP) — Gale-whipped seas today drove the 3,800-ton United States Navy ship Grommet Reefer aground in Leghorn harbor and split it in halves.

The 40-man crew was reported safe aboard the stern half of the ship, firmly lodged on rocks about 100 yards offshore. The bow half drifted about the harbor for several hours and then smashed on nearby rocks.

Huge waves, driven by winds estimated at about 50 miles an hour, continued to pound both sections of the ship and hindered attempts to bring the crew ashore.

The rescue crews managed to get two cables aboard and hoped to remove the crew members on a breeches buoy.

Workers Returning To Chalk River

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP)—Workers return to their jobs today at Canada's atomic energy plant here, three days after excessive radiation forced their evacuation. Dr. David A. Keys, chairman of the project co-ordinating committee, said Sunday that all employees could return following a weekend clean-up of radiation which leaked through a pin-point hole in the big atomic pile. The radio-active particles escaped up the 200-foot-high stack which carries off radiation, but they were held close by a heavy overcast and a downdraft of air carried them down on the site of the $40,000,000 plant, 140 miles northwest of Ottawa.

Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, president of the crown-owned Atomic Energy of Canada, said the atomic reactor, source of the radiation, may be out of operation for some time. Considered the most efficient heavy water reactor in the world, it is a vat-like structure 34 feet high and 34 feet in diameter encased in lead with concrete walls seven feet thick.

WORKERS EVACUATED

Dr. Keys said none of the workers—about 350—was in any physical danger Friday, but they were evacuated when 100 alarm sirens warned that automatic instruments had found an over-concentration of radiation.

The chief worry, he said, was that employees might spread the radio-active particles to some of the delicate scientific instruments.

Decontamination squads cleaned up the area during the week-end, scrubbing exposed areas. Contaminated materials were put in safe containers for their radio-activity to die away. A heavy snowfall Sunday was welcomed by officials, who said it would help confine contamination to the ground while it dissipates.

Dr. Keys said that any gases carried beyond the tract would be harmless and negligible.

MORE ABOUT—

Petawawa Inquiry

counting, it was only at Petawawa that extensive irregularities over a prolonged period of time took place." There a combination of "lax" control, poor discipline and the presence of dishonest personnel. . .proved disastrous."

Mr. Currie said he pointed this out to praise personnel at other depots "for not walking through a door which a fundamentally loose situation had opened before them."

Mr. St. Laurent said the report confirms there have been offences in one small branch of the army —the works services—but added the hope that "no one in a matter of this kind would feel that any political advantage could be gained by taking broad general statements out of their context in any way which would reflect in a wholesale manner on the great majority of loyal officers and men in the armed forces."

COULDN'T COPE

Mr. St. Laurent said the report indicates that the post-Korea expansion had placed a load on the works services which they were inadequate to cope with.

The report will be sent to the defence spending committee of the Commons next session.

Mr. St. Laurent read a memo from Lt.-Gen. G. G. Simonds, chief of the general staff, saying it would be "most damaging" to the army if Currie's comments on one small branch were misconstrued by the public as hitting at the entire army.

The memo from Gen. Simonds said it is not clear whether some of Mr. Currie's damaging statements refer to the Army as a whole or to the engineering works services. If, he said, they refer to the whole Army, he feels Mr. Currie should provide publicly the facts on which he bases his findings.

DETAILED REPORT

The report said:

1. The Petawawa crimes were uncovered not by the Army "with its full complement of regulations and supervisory personnel" but by an anonymous letter telling what was going on.

2. Petawawa's accounting arrangements were so chaotic it will never be possible to tell how many irregularities there were.

3. In addition there was "a serious collapse in security" of which he takes a serious view.

4. The unsatisfactory accounting conditions had been reported to Army headquarters time and again by its own auditor but no adequate action was taken.

BLAME DEPARTMENT

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, spoke briefly after the report was tabled and said his party laid "full responsibility" for any irregularities on the national defence department. They had not criticized the armed forces.

He said also he would later question the "propriety" of comments by the chief of the general staff "at this time" before members of the Commons had seen the report.

Mr. Currie said in the report:

"My investigation of the problems, difficulties and shortcomings of the Army works services suggest that they have been caused for the most part — but by no means altogether — by the tremendous and sudden expansion of its activities brought about by the Korean war and by the large-scale defence program involved in carrying out our NATO activities.

"The establishment approved for the Army works services after the Second World War did not envisage the sudden expansion which was to take place in 1950. It was designed to carry out a purely peacetime role of planning, development and construction on an annual expenditure of approximately $20,000,000. . .

"In September, 1950, the program was increased to about $80,000,000. In the following April, it was increased to about $200,000,000. The program envisaged in the 1952 - 53 fiscal year aggregates about $250,000,000. . . .

COULDN'T REORGANIZE

"In the circumstances of sudden rearmament, the Army works services of necessity was not permitted time to reorganize itself for this tremendous expansion, particularly since, it will be recalled, no one knew then whether the Communist aggression in Korea was not the beginning of concerted Sino-Russian attacks in all available theatres of war. Many sections of the services became completely overwhelmed with work.

"The situation was complicated by still another factor. The department of national defence (including the Army works services) was largely staffed and manned by men whose military training had been received in wartime. Its tive practices reflected more clearly the urgent needs and exigencies of war, when speed is everything and costs count not at all.

"The carry - forward of this war psychology must be coupled with inadequate training and resultant ignorance on the part of personnel of their administrative duties and responsibilities.

TOO MUCH INDIFFERENCE

"There was, in addition, indifference and reluctance on the part of military personnel to concentrate on administration to the degree required. . . .

"But, if this spirit permeated the lowef echelons of the Army, it is more difficult to condone the same attitudes higher up. There, a higher degree both of intelligence and responsibility is essential. It was not always present in the degree required."

The report recommends sweeping changes in the works setup and greatly tightened security arrangements, including the posting of a Mountie in each army camp and a strengthened Provost Corps.

The leading paragraph on the recommendation section says "the over-all situation is, however, by no means discouraging because of the fact that the cure for what has gone wrong in the past can be and, in fact, is being applied."

REMARKABLE CHANGES

Mr. Currie cited the situation at Halifax where he had found unsatisfactory conditions in September, made recommendations which led to shifts and some firing of personnel and found on a second visit that "remarkable" changes had been made.

His recommendations include a new organization at army HQ to supervise the works service; creation of a staff agency there to supervise enforcement of established policies; more frequent inspections and audits; revision of the "inadequate" wage scales; improved accounting methods; strict control of the handling of scrap; increased camp patrols and radio equipment for the Provost.

Churchill Wins Aussie Support

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill made it clear today he has won the support of Australia and New Zealand for his demand that Britain be given a voice in the two countries' Pacific defence pact with the United States.

A brief communique from Churchill's office said:

"The prime ministers of the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand took the opportunity provided by the Commonwealth economic conference to discuss the situation, in the Pacific and the problems of southeast Asia.

"They reached complete understanding with regard to certain fundamental propositions which will, in due course, be the subject of friendly discussion with their allies, the United States."

Complete exclusion of Britain from Anzus — the 1951 three-country Pacific pact — has been a sore spot with Britain. Until now Australia and New Zealand had gone along with the U. S. view that to expand the pact to exclude Britain would invite demands for admission from such other Pacific countries as the Philippines and Japan.

prisoners of war) mutinied in a UNC camp on the island of Pongam at 1 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 14. United Nations soldiers of the U.S. and Republic of Korea armies quelled the uprising and maintained uncontested control of the situation. Eighty-two prisoners died and 120 were wounded in the abortive uprising which probably was a part of recently-intercepted Communist plans indicating preparations for a mass breakout. Since the discovery of these plans, UN guards have been alerted for any such contingency. . .

DEFIED ORDERS

"The action started when prisoners in the six compounds. . .organized and continued military drills and demonstrations in each compound in defiance of lawful orders. . .

"Orders, warning shots and riot guns had no effect on the organized mob and when three waves of fanatical Communists advanced on the guards, individual weapons were brought to bear when their power became necessary to prevent the entire mass from breaking out. . ."

Leaves In Chains

HONG KONG)—The Rev. Sicard Daniel of Colombia crossed the border into Hong Kong Sunday in chains. He was expelled by the Chinese Communists after a public trial on charges of beating a Chinese man. Father Daniel said he spent 13 months in jail, handcuffed in an effort to prevent him from praying before meals.

The Young Women's Christian Association, patterned on the YMCA, was formed in 1855.

Narrow Escape As Gas Tanker In Collision

DETROIT (AP) — A gasoline-laden tanker and a freighter collided in the Rouge river Saturday, spilling 60,000 gallons of the highly-inflammable fluid into the river in what could have been a disaster, but wasn't.

Both ships were heavily damaged, but no one was injured.

As the cascading gasoline spread a fire hazard over the river, fire boats and truck companies converged on the scene. They tried to flush the gasoline downstream into open water at first, then finally blanketed the river with foam-ite.

The tanker is the Blue Comet, owned by the McWilliams Blue Line, Inc., of New York, and carrying 250,000 gallons of gasoline. The freighter is the Carl W. Meyers, owned by the Browning Steamship Co., of Detroit. It was empty.

CREATED PERIL

The collision occurred near River Rouge, Mich., in suburban Detroit. The gasoline created a peril not only to the ships and their crews, but the highly-industrialized waterfront.

The vessels were jammed together in the collision and drifted slowly downstream. Tugs finally parted them and pulled the tanker into dock.

A gaping hole was torn in the tanker, hit slightly forward on the starboard side.

Its gasoline coating dissipated, the Rouge River was reopened Sunday to ship traffic, as the Coast Guard announced a board of inquiry would be called.

Buffalo Gets Foot Of Snow

BUFFALO N.Y. (AP)—A local storm heaped a foot of snow on most of Erie county Sunday while flurries and later week-end snowfalls hit the rest of New York state, causing at least two deaths.

The Erie county storm, the U.S. weather bureau said, was caused by a cold front moving in off the eastern tip of Lake Erie.

In Massena Sunday Anthony Vittorio, 57, a New York Central Railroad employee, was killed when he was struck by a backing train as he was clearing snow from the tracks in a rail yard.

Alfred G. Nord, 77, died of a heart attack Saturday after he finished cleaning snow from the sidewalk in front of his home.

The airport at Buffalo was closed. All incoming flights were sent to Niagara Falls airport.

The link that had to come

The two main roads to the solution of life's problems, divergent though they may have seemed to be, are the way of Science and the way of Religion.

These two paths converge in Christian Science. Today the rational thinker finds logic, supported by proof, in the religious thinker's deep conviction of a primal cause, or intelligence, called God.

• Science and religion can now agree, for through the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, the actual Science of Christianity has been revealed.

This great book shows, through reason and revelation, the solution to problems of health, supply, or of any other kind. It may be read or obtained at all Christian Science Reading Rooms. The coupon is also for your use.

UN Officials Silent About Firing

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —United Nations officials maintained silence today about a former Russian employee, fired after the United States barred him from the country on a charge he was trying to spy for Russia in the U.S. under cover of his confidential UN post.

The UN secretary - general, Trygve Lie, barred publishing a file on Nikolai Skvortsov, one-time czar of the Soviet state farm system and since August 1950 confidential secretary to the highest-ranking Russian in the UN secretariat.

With his boss, assistant secretary-general Constantin E. Zinchenko, Skvortsov handled security council affairs dealing with political aspects of atomic, military and world security measures often discussed by council members at closed meetings.

VIOLATED U.S. LAW

The state department said Skvortsov was barred from the U.S. because he "violated a U.S. law." American sources here said he had been carrying on espionage activities for more than a year. These, they added, took place outside the UN and did not involve his work with the international organization.

All the UN would say officially was that Skvortsov's job was "terminated" because he could not return from Russia on a home leave he took last June.

It was learned that the firing took place in November, about four months after the U.S. state department instructed the U.S. embassy in Moscow to refuse a visa to Skvortsov if he sought one.

Police Report Gang Operates Across Border

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Police on both sides of the border today investigated what they called a loose tie-up of hoodlums and hold-up men operating back and forth across the border.

Detective Chief William T. Fitzgibbons said this picture emerged as the hunt was pressed for the third Canadian wanted in the holdup-slaying of a Buffalo jeweler last Friday.

Ralph J. Grubisisch, 28, of Windsor, Ont., still was at large while two Hamilton, Ont., men were held in Hamilton pending extradition on charges of killing Donald F. Hurd.

INFORMAL RING

Fitzgibbons said an informal ring of Canadians, many of them with police records, was responsible for a number of hold-ups, burglaries and safe jobs in Buffalo.

He suggested confederates on the U. S. side of the border had been lining up the jobs and planning getaway routes.

Employees of the Paramount theatre Saturday identified a photograph of Maurice (Digger) O'Dell as the man who robbed the theatre Nov. 23 of $3,000. O'Dell and Walter F. Griffins, 26, were held on charges of vagrancy pending extradition hearings on charges of killing Hurd and robbing the store of an estimated $50,000 worth of gems and jewelry.

Most of the loot has been recovered, along with a pistol allegedly used in the hold-up.

Expect Eisenhower Asked Revise Atom Secrecy Bars

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower seems certain to receive early in his administration a proposal for revision of atomic secrecy bars so that the United States may provide information on atomic weapons to its North Atlantic treaty allies.

The state and defence departments and atomic energy commission are reported to have agreed at least informally that the Atomic Energy Act of 1946 should be modified to that extent. Officials of these agencies are understood to have sounded out members of the joint atomic energy committee of Congress on the idea and found a generally favorable attitude.

Some responsible informants say it is obvious that no step along this line will be taken in the future unless the incoming President feels that the proposal is sound and should be presented to Congress for action.

The present feeling of a number of military and civilian authorities is that, if Congress agrees, the NATO allies of the U. S. should be given information on:

1. The power of atomic weapons.
2. Methods of getting the weapons to a target (by air, artillery or guided missiles).
3. The available supply as expressed in very general terms (whether the United States would be able to use hundreds or thousands of A-weapons in Western European defence).

Won't Nominate Any Candidates

NEW YORK (AP)—The national executive committee of the Socialist party has voted not to run any more candidates for national office in the United States.

Norman Thomas, confirming the action, said today the Socialists and other minor parties don't have much chance now to elect national officers.

Thomas ran for president on the Socialist ticket six times from 1928 through 1948. He did not run this year. He noted today that Darlington Hoopes, of Reading, Pa., the 1952 presidential candidate, got only about 20,000 votes compared with 140,000 for Thomas in 1948.

Seven Perish In Burning Home At Winamac

WINAMAC, Ind. (AP) — Two young mothers and five children died early today in a burning, smoke-filled home.

The victims were trapped in the two-storey home when an oil burner burst into flames and filled the rooms with dense smoke.

The only person to escape was the owner, Albert Crissinger, who jumped from a second-floor window.

Crissinger's wife, Margaret, 24, and their three children, Patty, 4; Danny Lee, 3, and Jackie, 13 13 months, died along with Crissinger's two sisters and a nephew. The latter three were Mrs. Jane Hanson, 23, and her son, Albert, 6; and Dorothy May Crissinger, 10.

Campbellford Legion Holds Christmas Party

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Hundreds of veterans' children filled the Legion Hall to overflowing Friday evening when they turned out to see Santa Claus at the annual Christmas tree held by the branch.

A committee of four members: Len Beggs, Jack Storie, Ken Hazell and Gerald West, organized the affair, with the help of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the branch, who packed hundreds of bags of candy, nuts and fruit which Santa distributed to the children.

Each year, branch 103 sets aside a sum of money for the purchase of treats for the children at the annual Christmas tree, and children of any veteran, whether a member of the branch or not, are invited to attend.

Santa Parades At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Santa Claus officially arrived in Campbellford on Saturday afternoon, when children and adults of the district turned out to welcome him at the annual Santa Claus parade, sponsored by various organizations in the town.

Hundreds of dollars are spent each year on costumes and decorative material to construct floats for the big event which attracts people from the entire district.

Nursery rhyme characters, clowns and comic strip characters were featured in the parade, with St. Nick himself bringing up the rear.

After the parade was over, Santa's big float parked beside the Community Centre where he distributed bags of candy to hundreds of children.

The expenses entailed in putting on the parade are met by local business men and service clubs, many of whom decorate floats at their own expense as well. A committee headed by Wm. R. Nicholas this year organized the big affair, and spectators were loud in their praise of the committee for the excellent job they had done in getting the affair together, and making it run smoothly.

Three bands were in attendance through the route of march. The RCAF band from Trenton gave the parade a military air and drew rounds of applause from the spectators for their precision. The Havelock Kiltie Band, along with the Campbellford Citizens' Band, also drew the applause of the spectators.

Car Skids Off Road, Two Slightly Hurt

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—Two Campbellford district men, Albert MacDonald and Morley Grills, were slightly injured Friday when their car left the highway on the Campbellford-Stirling road, a few miles southeast of this town.

Albert MacDonald, driver of the auto, suffered cuts to his face, while his passenger, Morley Grills, suffered face and head cuts. Both were treated in Campbellford by Dr. W. W. Baker. Provincial Constable George Rose investigated.

Our Freedom Is Your Freedom

In an advertisement elsewhere in today's issue of The Examiner we call your attention to the fact that this newspaper now has a circulation of more than 16,600 every day; this is by far the highest it has ever been and a source of pride to us. We take it as a sign that your are reasonably well-satisfied with The Examiner, although of course you abuse it a good deal in conversation. But that is as it should be; a newspaper which is popular with everybody at all times is in an unhealthy state of grace, and is probably suffering from eunuchism.

* * *

Because you, the subscribers, are a vital part of this newspaper we would like to explain to you something of the relationship which exists between you and The Examiner. It is not simply your local daily paper; it is a part of your democratic freedom. It is daily evidence of the right you have to know what is going on abroad and at home; if we do not publish the news you want, you can get it somewhere else; we know that, and we try to give you everything that a responsible and decent paper can print.

* * *

The phrase, "the freedom of the press" is too often misunderstood; it does not mean that the press is free to do as it likes; it means that you are free to have the information you want, whether you get it in a newspaper, or in pamphlets, or books or other products of the press. We are complimented that so many of you find that you want The Examiner every day, for our circulation figures show that you think of us as an important element in your freedom of the press. You can put us out of business any time you choose, by the simple procedure of cancelling your subscriptions. That also is part of your freedom. Our share in this press freedom is that we may exercise our experience in the complex business of getting out a daily paper without interference from any government or other powerful body, so long as we do not break the laws which relate to our work. But our share in the freedom of the press is, all things considered, much smaller than yours, and we are content that it should be so. Given some skill in our work, and a democracy to work in, we have nothing to fear.

The Question Of Titles

The deputy high commissioner in Canada for the United Kingdom, Mr. James Thomson, recently remarked in a public gathering that the U.K. government felt some regret that titles were "banned" in Canada, and referred to the Mackenzie King government as having banned them. We do not see anything very dreadful in this, although Mr. Thomson was wrong in supposing that it was a King government which made that decision. As the Toronto Star points out, it was under a Conservative government that hereditary titles were discouraged in Canada, and in 1918 it was a Conservative, Mr. William Nickle of Kingston who introduced a resolution which denied titles to Canadians altogether; the vote in the Commons was not on party lines and anti-title members on both sides carried the resolution. Mr. King was not an M.P. at that time, though there is some reason to think that he did not approve of titles for Canadians. But there is no "ban"; the Canadian parliament can hardly "ban" the Queen from doing something about Canadian titles if she chooses. In 1934 Lord Bennett set aside the resolution and some knighthoods were conferred upon distinguished Canadians. We cannot agree with the Star that this was a "factor in the defeat of Bennett in the 1935 election". The titles bestowed under the Bennett administration were all well deserved, and we have never heard a whisper of criticism of one of them.

We should be strongly opposed to the creation of hereditary titles in Canada; this is neither the time nor the place for them. But titles to recognize distinguished work, held by the recipient for his lifetime, appear to us to be an entirely different thing, and we do not see why Canada should remove itself from the custom of the rest of the Commonwealth in this respect.

Such titles do not make men distinguished; they are given to distinguished men. Often such a title is the principal tangible reward which a man of character and intelligence gets for a lifetime of work which benefits all of his fellow-citizens. Titles may be abused, but we see no evidence that they would be abused in Canada if the 1918 resolution were forgotten.

Champions Of The Parties

As surely as 1953, follows 1952, there will be a general election in Canada. It must be held before June 27th, 1954, and is likely to take place in 1953, since no Government hoping to be re-elected likes to stay the full statutary course. Some constituencies are already preparing and candidates have been nominated. Last Thursday the Liberals of Peterborough West chose their champion. He is Mr. Max Swanston.

It is a good choice. Mr. Swanston is well-known in the city of Peterborough which he served as alderman for eight years and Mayor for three (1949-51). He is also well known in the County through his business, sporting and club affiliations, and because his personality attracts friends to him wherever he goes in the riding. Mr. Swanston's administrative record, unusual ability to resolve conflicting issues and compose restive personalities, and his public service and sense of public responsibility, will serve him well as he campaigns for the Peterborough West seat in Parliament.

The Conservatives have not yet met to choose a candidate. Mr. Gordon K. Fraser, the sitting member, is their logical choice and it is well known that the Conservatives would like Mr. Fraser to run again, and are pressing him to do so. Mr. Fraser has not said that he chooses to run. He has contested the last three elections, winning the seat each time, and therefore has sat in Parliament continuously since 1940. He may well feel that he has done his duty by the riding and Party, and may seek to retire in the interests of his health and of deserved leisure which has been denied him for the past twelve years. The Conservatives of Peterborough are not bankrupt of good prospective candidates. While the popular Mr. Fraser's candidacy would be welcomed again, even by his political opponents, the times are not so crucial nor the Conservatives so hard-pressed in Peterborough, that Mr. and Mrs. Fraser's devotion to duty, and party and riding should be strained beyond reason.

MacArthur's Olive Branch

It will undoubtedly seem strange to many people that General Douglas MacArthur has suddenly indicated that he believes he possesses the solution of the Korean problem. General MacArthur, perhaps understandably, has refused to divuylge any details of this solution. He has merely said that he is ready to offer it to President-elect Eisenhower, presumably if, as, or when the latter wishes to entertain it.

With full respect for the magnificent record of General MacArthur as a soldier, and for his knowledge and experience of the Pacific area, it is difficult to reconcile his present offer with the character of a man who is to be considered devoted to the welfare of his fellow citizens. We cannot believe that this solution came to General MacArthur over night.. The only logical conclusion is that he has had for some time what he considers the solution of the problem. It is, of course, possible that he has urged this solution upon those presently in authority, and that these persons have rejected it. There have been no reports, however, to that effect and in the absence of reports it may be concluded that he withheld this solution for personal reasons.

The career of General MacArthur since his startling resignation has led, regrettably, to a general feeling that he is not above utilizing the course of events to gain the maximum in personal publicity. His most recent announcement does nothing to diminish that suspicion.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The year is drawing to a close, and any girl who hasn't done her Leap Year shopping is reminded that there are comparatively few leaping-days left.

As a jest, the highly-paid wag of the Ottawa Citizen suggests that pumpkin pie might be made from sweet potatoes. Better be careful, or some woman's magazine will take that up in all seriousness!

In recent civic elections in an Ohio town 109 per cent. of the population appeared at the polls. That must have included a remarkably large cemetery vote.

It is reported that there are mice scurrying about the House of Commons, but if a mouse can put up a good show at the polls we don't see how this is to be prevented.

"Don't work when you don't feel like it," advises a physician. That would be fine if we could just get over our habit of eating when we feel like it. The two won't combine.

We read that in 1931 there were 18,000 valets in Britain and now there are only 7,000. With our keen statistical mind this informs us that there are now 11,000 men who have ceased not to be heroes to their valets.

A Frenchwoman was apprehended by British Customs for trying to smuggle 268 watches into the country under her girdle. She was unmasked, we understand, by a Customs man who wanted to find out what made her tick.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

FOR all lovers of hymns an interesting and significant development is taking place. A committee composed of Presbyterians from all parts of the English-speaking world is starting work on the compilation of a new hymnary to be adopted as their official hymn book. The work is bound to take a considerable time—two or three years at least, I should imagine—and one of the chief difficulties will be to decide what to exclude in order to keep the book within manageable proportions. The wealth of potential material is so great and the tastes of Scots, Americans, English and Canadians so widely different that there is a real danger of the new book being too cumbrous. The committee will have to be very hard-hearted! Nevertheless there is every possibility that with firm and wise direction they may be able to produce a book that may serve as a model to compilers of future hymn books. The time has long past sinces the musical diet of Presbyterians was restricted to the metrical psalms; for some time they have ranged at will over the vast literature of hymnody from the earliest time to the present day.

✧ ✧ ✧

HOWEVER it is not my purpose to examine in detail the problems of the new book. Let us instead glance at some of the main sources of our hymns. Our first and possibly most important source is the Psalms. These have formed the basis of innumerable metrical translations, but as the original music is a matter of conjecture I will leave them for the moment and speak on this subject from a musical angle.

Our earliest hymn tunes are the Ambrosian and Gregorian melodies. Although these are heard most frequently in Roman Catholic and "high" Anglican churches many have found their way into hymn books of other persuasions. They were written before the invention of harmony and it is most correct to sing them without any accompaniment. This may sound rather stark and austere to modern ears, and most hymn books have accompaniments written in as a concession to present-day taste. Personally I find the single flexible line of plainsong very satisfying; any accompaniment, however well done, is pointless and irrelevant. Plainsong has an "otherworldliness' that renders it specially suitable for Church use. Though some plainsong melodies are florid and comparatively difficult the bulk of them are quite simple and quite within the scope of the musically uneducated. To my mind it is a pity that this great heritage of Christian song should not be the common property of all denominations.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE REFORMATION, and in particular the Lutheran reformation provided an enormously important impulse to hymn singing. It was a happy accident that Luther himself was an accomplished musician and attached great importance to the musical side of worship, thus creating conditions favourable to the development of church music and culminating in the imperishable achievements of J. S. Bach. Though Luther was by no means hostile to the use of a trained choir he emphasized the role of congregational singing. He took a number of popular songs and set sacred words to them. He also adapted plainsong melodies to German words and is even supposed to have written the music of a few hymns himself, though this is by no means certain. An interesting example of the adaptation of a folksong, though not by Luther himself, is the tune "Innsbruck," often sung in English to the words "The duteous day now closeth". The original version, set by Isaak in about 1497, commences with the words "Innsbruck, I now must leave thee". A hundred years later the words were changed slightly to "O world, I now must leave thee", and it became one of the best loved hymns, not only in the Lutheran church, but also later in the English-speaking world.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE CALVINIST reformation produced a vast number of metrical versions of the psalms together with melodies of a simple type, admirably suited for congregational singing. Starting in Geneva with the work Bourgeois and in France with Goudimel the movement spread to Scotland and England. Some of the finest tunes come from this period—tunes such as "Old Hundredth", "St. Anne" and "Dundee".

✧ ✧ ✧

A NEW impulse to hymn singing came during the eighteenth century with the Methodist revival. Anglicans and Presbyterians alike of that period would allow the singing of metrical psalms only, though in the great cathedrals of England anthems were sung by choirs; but these were invariably settings of words from the Bible or the Book of Common Prayer. The new hymns, with their emphasis on personal experience, elicited some lovely and graceful melodies, many of them in triple time, such as "Wiltshire, "Richmond" and "Wareham". They lack the elemental strength of the older tunes, but they brought a new sentiment, a new elegance to the art of the hymn.

✧ ✧ ✧

AFTER SOME initial opposition the new Methodist hymns spread to the Church of England, and in due course Anglicans started writing hymns. The "Oxford Movement" resulted in a renewal of interest in the ancient hymns of the Church, and translations of these were sung to the original plainsong melodies or in some case to hymn tunes written by Victorian composers. Anglican musicians such as Dykes, Stainer and S. S. Wesley (not to be confused with the Wesley brothers of the previous century) wrote a large number of tunes. Some of these are rather "sugary", but they are all singable and a surprising proportion have kept their hold on the affections of congregations. It was during the nineteenth century too that most of the grand Welsh hymn tunes were written. A less desirable development was the so-called "Gospel hymns", consisting of catchy but essentially trivial melodies. These effusions rapidly spread to all parts of the English-speaking world and still enjoy a good measure of popularity in spite of their inappropriateness.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE PRESENT age may be said to be more fruitful in rediscovery than in new hymn tunes, though a few such as Dr. Vaughan Williams' "Sine Nomine" (to the words "For all the Saints") have already proved their worth and have come to stay. A good hymn tune is notoriously difficult to write, and even established composers who have ventured in this field may register several misses for one hit. Consequently editors of new hymnals are shy of asking for specially composed tunes. Yet if a tune fails to get into a hymnal its chances nowadays of becoming known are slim indeed. Even when they do secure admittance to the pages of a hymnal they have to contend with the ingrained conservatism of congregations. It is a vicious circle, and there is no single easy way of breaking it. Perhaps the time is not ripe for new hymn tunes: each important new accession has come in on the wave of a new religious movement, which argues the truth of the old maxim of music being the handmaid of religion. If this is so we must wait awhile patiently and content ourselves with the "old favourites".

Beef Bows To Rabbit

By SUSAN STRANGE

THE PROSPECT that by next summer the Conservative Government will have pretty well demolished Britain's twelve-year-old system of food rationing is now being widely discussed here.

Tea rationing—long a thorn in the British flesh—has already gone, and eggs are to follow off the ration in the spring. Supplies—and prices—are such that it would not be surprising if the Government soon decided to free bacon, sugar, sweets, margarine, cooking fat and even butter, as well.

One thing, however, is certain: Britain's days as a country of prodigious meat-eaters are over, and the last of all the rations to go will be the meat ration.

The meat ration now stands at 1s. 8d. worth of meat per person per week, and though it is liable to fluctuate up or down, according to the state of supplies at any time, it is unlikely ever to go as high as 2s. 6d. The question for the Government to decide sooner or later, therefore, is whether people here have got used, not only to eating less meat but also to eating more different kinds of meat, including poultry, rabbit, mutton, lamb and pork, as well as the traditional beef.

For the great difference between derationing eggs, for instance, and derationing meat is that while there are more eggs being eaten here than before the war, there is—and, as far as can be seen, always will be—a great deal less meat.

A recent report from the Commonwealth Economic Committee (a permanent group of Commonwealth officials, not the current top-level conference) on meat supplies pointed out that, although world production of meat had increased slightly by 1951, compared with 1938, the amount of it being offered for sale on world markets was considerably less.

These are the figures: total world production of cattle, sheep and pigs for meat was nineteen and a half million tons in 1938; twenty-two and a half million tons in 1951. World exports, however, fell from 1.7 (one point seven) millions tons, to 1.3 (one point three) millions tons. And since the latter figures included a sharp increase in exports of tinned meat, the decline in carcass meat was even greater.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN THE CIRCUMSTANCES, it is unavoidable that Britain, much the largest meat importer in the world and the only country still to maintain its meat ration, should feel the change most sharply.

The reason for it is plain: it is quite simply that the producer countries, especially those in the Southern Hemisphere, are eating a great deal more themselves. Australia, for example, had only forty-two thousand tons of beef and veal for export in 1951, against one hundred and twenty-one thousand tons in 1938. This did not mean that Australians themselves were being greedier, for although total consumption went up, this was due to rising population. Consumption per head of beef in Australia actually was less than it had been pre-war.

The same was not true of Argentina, formerly Britain's main source of imported beef. Consumption per head in 1951, was actually three times larger than that in America: two hundred lbs. a year, compared with sixty-three lbs. in the U.S.A. and thirty-three lbs. in Britain. Supplies reaching Britain from Argentina are consequently less than a seventh of what they were before the war.

The result is that Britain is not only rationed for meat, but now has to provide eighty per cent. of her beef from home-killed supplies, against fifty per cent. in 1938. And to a lesser extent, the same changes have been taking place in supplies of mutton and lamb.

Prices, inevitably, have risen—but not so much in Britain as in the world outside. The price of meat to the British consumer is cushioned, first, by the food subsidies. Taking meat and bacon together, these still, even after the recent cuts in the subsidies, cost the Government nearly fifty million pounds a year. Then, British home producers of meat are also indirectly subsidised, so that home prices, though they have risen sharply, have still risen a lot less than world prices. Home prices for beef, for example, were sixty-nine per cent. up on 1940 last year, while imported prices averaged one hundred and forty-five per cent. above 1940.

The conclusion seems to be that without subsidy, meat rationing in Britain might not be necessary. Considering that the poorest families do not even now take up their full meat ration, because of the cost, demand might even be expected to fall below its present level if prices were allowed to reflect the true cost of breeding and killing animals for food.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Moses spake in the ears of all the congregation of Israel the words of this song, until they were ended. (Deut. 31: 30.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Give ear, O ye heavens, and I will speak; and hear, O earth, the words of my mouth . . . Because I will publish the name of the Lord: ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect . . .

When the Most High divided to the nations their inheritance, when he separated the sons of Adam, he set the bounds of the people according to the number of the children of Israel. For the Lord's portion is his people; Jacob is the lot of his inheritance. He found him in a desert land, and in the waste howling wilderness; he led him about, he instructed him, he kept him as the apple of his eye. (Deut. 32: 1, 3, 4, 8-10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? the Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid? . . . One thing have I desired of the Lord, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to enquire in his temple. For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his pavilion: in the secret of his tabernacle shall he hide me; he shall set me up upon a rock. (Ps. 27: 1, 4, 5.)

Letters To The Editor

WILL PETERBOROUGH HELP?

Sir: During the war I entertained some of your Peterborough boys who were serving with the forces. Indeed two in particular used to spend all their leaves with my husband, family and myself. I have always felt I had a link with Peterborough, although our young friends seemed to forget us once they reached Canada.

I am now the convener of an "Old Peoples' Club" and would like if some of the citizens of your town could perhaps send some little things to help in making the lives of these old folks a little happier.

Wishing the town of which I heard such great things all Christmas and New Year happiness.

Very sincerely yours,
(MRS.) W. MURA C. ROSS,
Convener of "Croftfoot Evergreen Club."

PLUMPING IN DUMMER

Sir: With regard to the letter signed from earlier Dummer voter respecting Plumping at the election for School Trustees at the Warsaw Poll, I would like to observe several things that should show why this situation occurred.

The School area of Dummer is some 30 miles from South to North with a width of 12 miles, commencing in the Township of Asphodel, passing through Dummer around the head of Stony Lake into Burleigh, ending at the Nepheline mines: composed of 9 sections with 10 teachers, a board of five trustees, located at present—two south on the nineth line, one South Dummer, one at Cottesloe, and one at the North Dummer section.

At the nominstion a new man was nominated to represent the centre part of the area; as only two could be elected, the ratepayers voted for the new man and did not wish to make a choice between the two trustees running for re-election, causing what appeared to be plumping. This I believe was not intended.

Yours,
A. ROSE, Secretary of the Board.

German Girl Becomes Male

DELMENHORST, Germany (AP) The story came out today about a young German girl whose sexual conversion to male was disclosed in a medical examination for Olympic trial competition.

Officials were reluctant to discuss it, but they agreed th 17-year-old girl they identif Helga Cordes had apparently changed sex over a period of years.

And they said the girl's birth records have been changed to conform.

"Helga," is now listed only as "Mr. Cordes," they said, and is living in seclusion with a relative somewhere in Bremen.

Unlike the case of Christine Jorgenson of New York, Helga's conversion apparently was a slow and natural development. Christine Jorgenson was converted from male to female after nedical treatment and a series of operations.

Helga, townsmen said, was an outstanding athlete and had Olympic hopes. She competed in various sports and had a striking, masculine physique.

But, they said, Helga, was also noted for her shy, feminine character.

City officials said Helga's mother who apparently had brooded for years over her husky "daughter," committed suicide some time ago.

But townspeople who knew Helga said no one had ever regarded her as anything but a girl, and all had hoped she would win a berth on the 1952 women's Olympic squad. She seemed a solid candidate until the medical examination last spring.

Helga was born one of triplets, records show. There were two girls and a boy. One girl died several years ago.

Resume Production At Oshawa Plant

OSHAWA (CP)—Full production at the Alger Press Limited plant was to resume today when 27 workers who walked out a week ago return to work.

Seven of the workers, members of local 12, Amalgamated Lithographers of America (CIO-CCL), returned to work Saturday.

The strike started because of layoffs and alleged union discrimination by management.

Union official William Kennedy said ill feeling and misunderstanding of the men, caused by poor labor relations, had been cleared up.

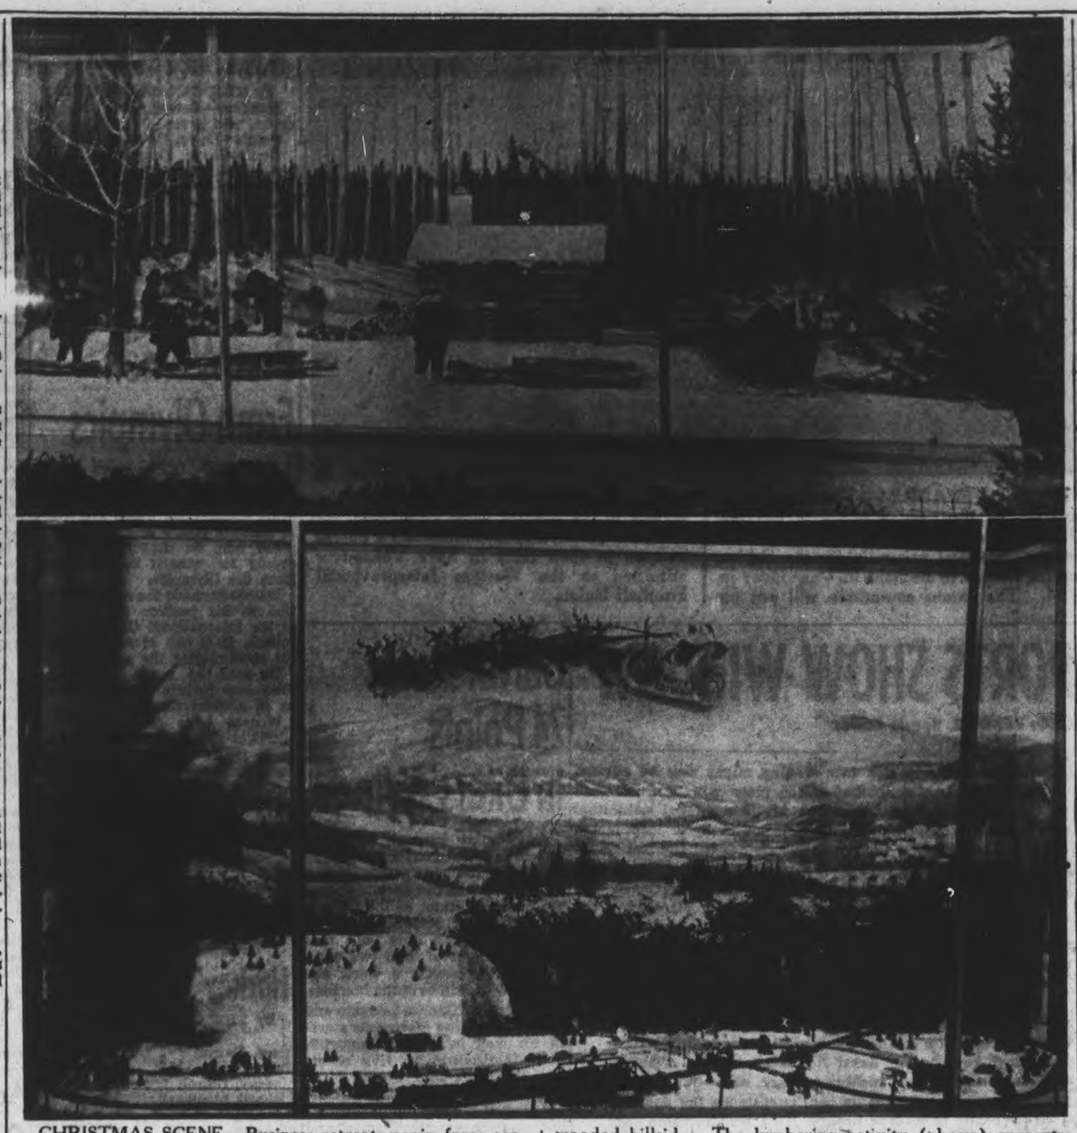
Claxton Has Plans To Raise Squadrons

HANNOVER, Germany (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton of Canada discussed plans for bringing Canadian air strength in Europe up to 12 fighter squadrons by the end of 1953.

Claxton, who inspected the 27th Canadian infantry brigade here in a one-day visit, held a press conference Friday shortly before leaving by air for Paris.

He said the Canadian air units will be sufficient to give "tactical support to a full army."

In addition to a jet wing already established at Metz, France, another would be set up in Zweibruecken, Germany, within the next four months.



CHRISTMAS SCENE—Business retreats again from sentiment and the spirit of Christmas, planned particularly for children, in the broad display windows of the Peterborough Lumber Co., Monaghan Road, north of Lansdowne St. Scenic countryside (below) depicts familiar rural details of farm land, barns and livestock on a stage of community life animated by an electric train and its circling route over bridge and through tunnel, with telegraph poles and wires, station, level crossings with traffic lights, and beyond the wooded hillside. The lumbering activity (above) presents the gnomes who help Santa Claus. The mechanics of their operations are back stage consisting of electric motor, main drive shaft, reduction gear, pulleys and eccentrics. The gnomes appear to sing Christmas carols and a medley of songs from a long playing disc. Hundreds of children have already seen these tableaux which will be continued daily except Sunday until after New Year's Day.—(Parks Studio Photos).

Gnomes Called To Perform Christmas Lumbering Scene

The broad display widows of Peterborough Lumber Company on Monaghan Road have been converted for the Christmas season into separate stages for scenes from Toy Land which have already entranced hundreds of children.

In the few intervening weeks until the spell of Santa Claus and the sleighbells of his reindeer are fading over the hills of another new year, thousands of little ones accompanied by their parents will have thrilled to the spectacle in make-believe that has been especially prepared for them.

The panorama in one window a year ago has been amplified in details of landscape featuring an electric train that travels a long and winding course past station and through tunnel and over level crossings with never a colliding crash into truck or automobile on the Queen's Highway.

They say at the plant that this clearing of business from the display window for the pleasure of children, not excepting the fathers who remember their dreams of such opulence in the magic of Christmas morning, was conceived by Gordon H. Munro, vice-president of the company, and president of the Ontario Lumber Dealers Association.

At any rate, the response was so rearding win the laughter and glee of bright-eyed tots, that it was decided to put on another act in the adjoining window (make it bigger and better), this Christmas. So, the gnomes who work in the shops of Santa Claus were called upon to supply the cast of performers in a lumber scene, turning out the finished materials of which so many toys are made.

GNOMIC BUSHMEN

Behind the artist's backdrop of trees, is the carefully planned mechanics of the action out in front. An electric motor operates a main drive shaft, and its reduction gear, eccentrics and pulleys precisely activate the gnomic bushmen.

They are a jolly and decorative company in their green jackets, red pants and toques, and yellow scarves and sashes, bending to the job of sawing trees, cutting them into log lengths, skidding them with a jammer and directing them to the jack-ladder that conveys them into the sawmill. From the opposite end of the mill comes the sawn planks down a lumber chute.

All this performance, you might imagine, is soundtracked, as they say in the movie business, to choral music sounding into the street and ranging from Christmas carols to Whistle While You Work, Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer, and an extensive medley from a long-playing disc indoors.

It doesn't take the children long to spot the gnome who supplies comic effect, popping his green-toqued head up out of the chimney of the sawmill. He gets the laughter as the children discover him and point him out. Another gnome can be seen through the mill window, but not so clearly in the dim interior.

Both scenes are heavily wintered with deep snow in the bush and blanketing the landscape. But, the roads in the opposite show window have been well plowed, and the ice of the pond is frozen. Profuse details are inset even to the barnyard and silo and nearby cattle declining to venture from their stalls.

All that spread and depth of snow is typical of a Canadian winter, and of a white Christmas when the weather has settled down in earnest and reality.

The company's staff has been deeply interested in the present transformation of their office windows. The two tableaux will be offered to the public daily, except Sundays, and continuing until 10:30 p.m. The time schedule includes Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, and also New Year's Eve and Day. It is recommended as an extraordinary attraction for the children and adults too, of the city and district.

Intangible dividends have already been received at the office from parents who have telephoned their appreciation. And then, there was the letter from the children of Grade 2, May's School. Their teacher had telephoned that they wished to go over in a group, and the whole performance was put on for them the other day.

Their letter of gratitude was delivered to the manager by mail: "Grade II, May's School—Dear Sir: We went over to see your windows. Thank you for letting us see the train and the little men."

Middlesex Man Has Best Yield

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A Middlesex county farmer, Gillies DePutter of Appin, has taken top spot in the high yield soybean contest for Ontario. This is the first time a representative of this county has won the competition, sponsored annually by two leading Canadian companies in co-operation with the Ontario Soil and Crop improveprovement Association and the crops seeds and weeds branch, Ontario department of agriculture.

Mr. DePutter's yield was 49.15 bushels an acre, just .08 more than his nearest opponent, N. W. Adams of Fletcher. Total score on the Middlesex entry was 221.4, however, as compared with 211.8 on the Kent entry.

Alex M. Stewart and Son of Ailsa Craig placed first in the zone three section of the contest, which includes most of Middlesex and the southern part of counties adjacent to Lake Ontario as far east as Kingston. Mr. DePutter was in zone 2, which comprises part of Kent, most of Elgin, Lambton and West Middlesex. Essex and the rest of Kent are in zone 1.

Oddfellows Earn A Win Over Cobourg Jays In Lively Junior Game

Doug Mortimer's junior Oddfellows playe d up to their better form in Cobourg Saturday night, defeating the Jays 9-5 in a fast, clean hockey match before a fair-sized crowd o lakeshore fans. It was the fourth triumph of the young season for Link's; Cobourg's third defeat, and it enables the winners to hold second slot in the derby. Scoring honors in the game were fairly evenly shared by the team as a whole, with the Kearns, Smith, Robinson line leading point-getters, three goals and six assists. The flashy trio of McCracken, Doris and Gardner snared two markers and three assists; while Twist, Coyle and Ferguson, veterans of last year's squad, potted three and garnered one assist, as a unit.

Colorful Leo Sullivan, defence stalwart, snared two points with a dazzling end to end rush, to pot late in the second on a whistling drive; also a hand in Doris' marker in the third. On defence, Gord Snape, Jerry Frizzelle and Murray Byrne with Sully, all worked well.

LED THE LOSERS

On the losers' sheet, Frank McIvor and Dan Boswell of the starting line proved most effective, with a goal and assist apiece, while Jimmy Dawe and Rollie Campbell scored with Neil Cove aiding on one tally.

Play started fast and open and big Bill Twist stretched his mighty legs to beat Stu Lingard in a matter of seconds on a close drive. Brian (Red) Robinson combined with Kearns, whose stick-handling wizardry featured throughout, to put Links two up as he gave a neat back-flip on a clever passing play well in and the sorrel-top made sure picking.

Jays roared back with determination to come to even terms with the visitors, within one minute of play as Boswell and McIvor engineered brilliant plays to beat Delahaye and give Jays new spark, as play reached a lively tempo. Oddfellows steadied down nicely, however, played clever combination and regained ascendency as McCracken, Gardner and Doris; then Robinson, Kearns and Smith worked together to give Oddfellows a 4-2 edge on the period.

JAYS GO WELL

The mid-frame proved a triumph for Jays as they gave their best exhibition of fighting play, holding their rivals even on goals. Good work by Delahaye proved a positive factor for the winners in the second against this offensive by Jays; Lingard too, toiled hard in the mesh. Single tallies by Dawe and Sullivan were the only counters.

The final chapter saw Oddfellows go all out to overshadow their game but tired, and slightly weaker opponents. Four sparkling tallies from the sticks of Roger Smith, who played nicely, Paul Doris, Clare Ferguson and ace-sharpshooter Gord Coyle, told the tale after Campbell had scored early in the frame to give Jays new hope. Superior power both ways told in the final minutes as the Mortimer lads showed clever team play and cohesion.

PCVS Cagers Divide Two In Weekend Exhibitions

An offensive and defensive lapse late in the third quarter by PCVS Garnet and Greys enabled St. Catharines' Stars to edge the Collegians 53-49 Saturday night in the season's double header. In the first game, the junior Garnet and Greys eked out a 34-32 win over Johnny Lynch's St. Peter's High Saints.

The senior Garnet and Greys held slim two and three point leads on the OABA Stars until midway through the third. Then their shooting was off the mark and they weren't getting the rebounds at either end. The Stars quickly too advantage of this lapse and took the lead. These few minutes cost PCVS the game.

A NARROW LEAD

Starting off with a five-point lead, the Garnet and Greys maintained a two-point edge throughout the remainder of the first quarter, leading 11-9. They held that for most of the second quarter, relinquishing it momentarily 17-15, but they came back to lead 20-18 at the half.

This lead was held by the Garnet and Greys until the last four minutes of the third. Then the Stars took control of the game with their effective rebounding and scoring by Labatte and Deumo on long shots. The edge then shifted to the Stars 39-36 at the three-quarter mark.

The Garnet and Grey's shooting was off in the fourth quarter as they again took control of the play. But they couldn't put the ball through the basket. The result was that the Stars managed to hold their slim lead.

Stars led the scoring as Majcher got 13, Deumo 12 and Dennis 10, Don Griffin 11, and newcomer Chuck Geale were PCVS' best with nine while Dave Langhorne had eight.

A CLOSE GAME

The PCVS juniors, led by Bob Keating and Terry Roberts, jumped to a 9-7 score in the first quarter of the junior exhibition with St. Peter's High. But the Saints came back in the second on the strength of points by Ron Board to take the lead 15-10 at the half.

Foul shots helped the PCVS get closer to the Saints in the third quarter, but the Saints still held the lead, 24-21, at the three-quarter mark. But in the fourth the Collegian's Bob Keating broke loose numerous times for a 10-point barrage to give the Garnet and Grey the winning margin of two points.

PCVS' Keating and St. Peter's Board shared scoring honors with 14 points each.

SOX SELL LEO THOMAS

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago White Sox Saturday sold third-sacker Leo Thomas to Seattle of the Pacific Coast League for an undisclosed sum. The Sox also signed southpaw pitcher Tommy Byrnie. Byrne was obtained last fall from St. Louis Browns, for whom he had a 1952 record of 7-14.

PROPOSE STADIUM—Vancouver ratepayers have approved a bylaw to provide $750,000 for construction of a 36,200-ceat stadium, intended primarily for the British Empire Games to be held in Vancouver in 1954. The games committee will put up another $500,000. The stadium will be the biggest in the country when completed. It will give the city's football interests a potent weapon in their fight to have Vancouver admitted to the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Folks taken suddenly sick this evening might well be advised to call the Collegiate. On account of the place will be thick with doctors and nurses during the course of their annual exhibition basketball game. A seven p.m. touch, followed by a loop match betwixt Collis and Black's. League then subsides till the last "Auld Lang Syne" has been sung over New Year's. Dr. Rodger Chenoweth has lined up a dozen or more medicos with hoop experience, and they think they can put the Civic nurses in their places, but the cage colleens know that they are in better shape—if we may use the word—than the MDs. Sounds like an evening of whoops, hoops and oops.

Our 10-year-old lad the other day said he'd like to be a hockey goalie, and the shock almost killed father. Heavens, said we, don't be a schmoe—you want to be a sitting duck all through your hockey days? No, nothing doing. A bumping defenceman, okay, a rushing forward, sure—but a goalie, ixnay. The way play piles up continuously on the doorstep of either goalie in modern hockey, it's a wonder these cage custodians (well-padded as they are) haven't hides full of hemstitching. However, some chaps like the job and turn in a fine chore guarding the twine tepee. But it's not for us, and we trust the offspring changes his mind ere he gets into organized hockey.

Are K's Too Confident?

Kingston Goodyears have won two of their last three games over the Petes, and every tilt has been a 5-2 one. In the senior "B" clash here tonight, the improving Ellis outfit should down the K's if they (the Petes) click up to form. But the Limestone Citizens are strong this semester, adding a number of new players and using some of their re-instated talent of a year ago. Kingston figure Oshawa or Stouffville as their only threat to a group title. We think they will underestimate the rebuilding Petes as they've done in other years as playoff time approaches later in the campaign. Remember last spring, and the one before? But the teams should dish up a dandy duel tonight.

* * * * * *

Local puck fans could be wrong, but many of 'em think Jim Ellis has a pretty fair crew lined up now. Especially that defence of Ray Harding in goal, Roy Armstrong and Keith Montgomery as one blue-line pair, and Buck Legrow and Dean Wasson he other defending duo. Gus Leonard will produce again now that he's up front where he belongs, and newcomers Lorne Eakins and Doug Hunter show plenty of promise. The other forwards are starting to shake down into a unit, also. Toodie Greenlaw, Chum Fryia and Ted Collins were hot against Belleville last start, and the rest were hustling. Petes could use a couple of good players yet, but they're starting to roll in a strong group race. No rival team should sell 'em short so early in the campaign.

Juniors Take Another

Junior Oddfellows swept to a 9-5 victory in Cobourg on Saturday to keep up around the top of the pack in a good "B" race. Cobourg Jays fought hard and may be a factor yet ere the chips are all counted up, but Doug Mortimer's young men played hurry-up hockey to earn this decision handily. Gary Kearns, Rog Smith and Red Robinson formed the most potent Peterborough line, but the whole club clicked in nifty form, and their defence work was okay. Chunky Leo Sullivan is going nicely now, too. The IOOF-ers know they have a rocky road ahead in this good grouping, but they're getting set for it. Team treks to Lindsay on the morrow, are at home to Lindsay Wednesday and play here again Friday for a busy week.

Canuck team grappling title was taken in Toronto last week by those toughies from Texas, Lou Plummer and Dick Raines, over Whipper Watson and Pat Flanagan. So what? So, the Texans come here Wednesday night for a team match against Pat Flanagan and Bobo Brazil in the main scrap of a three-bout card in the Brock. Two fast huskies (Bobo and Pat) in against two hardrocks should produce a hot mat battle. Towering Hi Lee returns from a European tour to mix it with Johnny Barend in the semi-final, while the prelim sees Jim Coffield in against Man Mountain Dean Jr., making his debut in a local ring.

Galvin Scores 24 Points In Oilers' Win

A 24-point barrage by Doug Galvin in the highest scoring night so far in the men's city league basketball, was the deciding margin Saturday night as the Oilmen trounced the Merchants 75-58. Dibben's Oilmen now hold first place by virtue of their two wins, opening the season a week ago with a 68-51 win over the Marines.

Sparked by George Ludgate and Al Northcott, the Merchants started off well in the first quarter. Ludgate dropped in five points and Northcott four as the Merchants went ahead 14-7. But Galvin started his scoring in the second quarter for the Oilmen and they crept ahead.

Galvin scored seven points and Gord Burns five in that second quarter which saw all the Oilmen count as they netted 20 points. Meanwhile they kept the Merchants' scoring power down to take the half lead 27-25.

SURGED AHEAD

Galvin continued his marches on the basket in the third quarter and the Oilmen kept surging ahead. Again he matched teammate Burns point for point as the Oilmen sank 20 points.

But the Merchants, led by captain Al Northcott with 10 points, kept within six as they rapped in 16 points, being down only 47-41 at the three-quarter mark.

The last quarter spelled doom for Merchants. A. Ryan took over this time for the Oilmen, along with another point barrage by Galvin. They pushed the quarter score up to 28. The merchants had another good quarter, thanks to Harold Grafstein and Ab Stewart, but the 17 points weren't enough to close the gap.

Galvin sank 11 field baskets and two foul shots for a game total of 24 points to easily lead the scorers. Al Northcott and Ab Stewart, with 18 and 16 points respectively, were the best for the Merchants.

Lineups:

Merchants (58)—H. Grafstein 9, Ludgate 8, Northcott 18, Jamieson 7, A. Stewart 16.

Oilmen (75) — MacPherson 7, Dibben 12, Butcher 6, Burns 13, Galvin 24, Ryan 13.

Today we deal with the second main point in stone delivery:

THE STANCE

Place the ball of your right foot squarely on the back of the hack, then sit down on your right heel with your left foot flat on the ice just beside your right; Keep your body upright with head and chin up and eyes looking straight ahead. Grasp your rock lightly with fingers and extend right arm as far forward as it can comfortambly go without changing the position of the body.

Be sure you have your broom in your left hand, which should be extended to the side (like a tight-rope walker) to help maintain balance. Keep that right knee off the ice. No preliminary waggling or jerking or swaying forward. Just start the backswing slowly from the position described.

Winning skips in Saturday's afternoon bonspiel: T. Ryan, C. Mowry, and B. Jeffries.

In the evening mixed rink bonspiel, R. Bastable and G. Gabel were the winning skips.

Brundage Wants Ban Women From Olympics

CHICAGO (CP)—Avery Brundage, watchdog of Olympic amateurism, came up Saturday with some suggestions which are likely to produce plenty of argument.

For one, he suggested that all events for women be eliminated from the Olympics.

Brundage made the recommendation in his position as president of the international Olympic committee. It is one of several ideas for streamlining the games.

He said the women can have their own private Olympic Games as in ancient times.

Women have often stolen the spotlight at the Olympics. They include figure-skater Barbara Ann Scott and sprinter Fanny Blankers-Koen.

Other recommendations in Brundage's report:

1. Eliminate some of the optional sports entirely.
2. Transfer some sports to the winter games.
3. Eliminate all team sports.
4. Use regional games as elimination events for the Olympics.

Woman Of 25 Becomes Red Wings Head

DETROIT (AP)—Marguerite Ann Norris, who has never seen the Detroit Red Wings play in Olympia Stadium here, Saturday became president of both the Red Wings and Olympia Stadium.

The 25-year-old Miss Norris succeeds her late father, James D. Norris, as head of the Detroit National Hockey League empire. The youngest of four Norris children, she was chosen at a meeting of the heirs in Chicago.

Two brothers, James and Bruce, are executives of the Chicago Black Hawks, also of the NHL, and James also is president of the International Boxing Club. The fourth heir is Mrs. Eleanor Kneibler.

General Manager Jack Adams of the Red Wings announced Miss Norris' selection. He said: "Marguerite Ann was selected to follow the prescribed wishes of her father."

HAS SEEN THEM PLAY

Adams said that Miss Norris often had seen the Red Wings in action in New York's Madison Square Garden and in the Chicago Stadium, but never had seen them play in Olympia. Miss Norris is a sports enthusiast who plays golf and tennis and is a yachtswoman.

Miss Norris intends to make her permanent home in Detroit and is to make her public debut as president of the Stanley Cup champion Red Wings at a press reception today.

She now lives in Lake Forest, Ill.

Adams himself was voted a new title by the Norris heirs meeting Saturday in Chicago. He was made Detroit representative of the board of governors of the NHL.

Norris died of a heart ailment in Chicago Dec. 4.

Miss Norris becomes the first woman executive in the NHL.

Kingston Crushes Orillia Team 15-5

KINGSTON — Kingston Goodyears, now rolling in high gear, crushed Orillia Pontiacs, 15-5, before 2,438 fans in the community memorial centre Saturday night and forced a second place deadlock with the Oshawa Truckers in the OHA Senior "B" group race.

The goal deluge began late in the opening period after the visitors had erected a 2 to 1 lead and before the Pontiacs struck their third blow at 9:07 in the final session the locals scored 11 consecutive coutners.

Bob Maracle led the point-getters with three goals and as many assists. Don Murray got a goal and three assists while Clint Tinkess checked in with three counters and two assists. Ken Partis, most effective playmaker in the scoring storm, got one goal and five assists.

Belleville Roys Edge Clippers

BELLEVILLE—Belleville Roys tightened the OHA senior "B" race considerably here Saturday by edging Stouffville Clippers 2-1. As the result of the games, only three points separate the first four teams in the standing.

Saturday night's fixture, played before 1,372 paying customers, was one of the most exciting games witnessed on local ice in many years with sustained action for the full 60 minutes.

The rival netminders, Tony Parisi of Glen Roys and Blake Eatough of the Clippers, were the outstanding stars of the game as time and time again they thwarted the attackers with sensational stops.

The locals took a 1-0 lead with the only goal of the first period only to have the Clippers tie it up midway through the middle period. Just four minutes later, however, Jud Semark scored what proved to be the winning marker when he blazed a slap shot into the Stouffville rigging after taking a pass from Jack Wardhaugh.

HAMILTON (CP) — Tillsonburg Livingstons, Canada's basketball representatives at last summer's Olympic Games, trounced McMaster University Marauders 80-60 Saturday night. Tom Gibbons paced the Livies with 21 points. Bill Pataky scored 16.

Ties Quite Style As NHL Teams Scores Deadlocked

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Goalies Terry Sawchuk and Gerry McNeil, one-two in the National Hockey League netminders' race, shared a rare double shutout in one of three tie games Sunday night. Montreal and Detroit played to a scoreless draw while Boston and Chicago and Toronto and New York tied 2-2 in both games. Saturday night Detroit defeated Toronto 3-1 and Montreal blanked the skidding Black Hawks 3-1. Detroit showing the form during the last few weeks which produced four straight league championships, gained two points on the rest of the pack as a result of the weekend play.

The Wings now are four points ahead of Montreal and Chicago, tied for second with 31 points. One point behind is Boston with the slumping Toronto Maple Leafs fifth with 28 points. Far in the cellar is New York, with three wins and nine ties for 15 points.

Statistically, the Detroit-Montreal game was the first scoreless game in the league in 11 months and also the first time Detroit has been blanked at home in 54 starts.

PLAY WIDE OPEN

Both McNeil, who shut out Detroit the last time, and Sawchuk worked hard as most of the play was wide open. Sawchuk made 30 saves to McNeil's 28. It was the fourth shutout of the season for both, Montreal's goalie maintaining his one-goal edge over Sawchuk in the Vesina Trophy race.

At New York, Toronto scored twice in the third period to save the tie. Ranger defenceman Leo Reise was responsible for both Toronto goals. Rookie Ron Stewart passed to Sid Smith whose shot bounced off the Ranger's stick into the net. About three minutes later Smith circled the goal and passed to Ted Kennedy who shot the puck across the goal mouth where it struck Reise's skate and bounced in to tie the score.

Rookie Dean Prentice and Wally Hergesheimer scored for New York. It was Hergesheimer's first goal in nine games.

Joe Klukay scored on a short backhander in the third period at Boston to give the Bruins the draw. Real Chevrefils scored the other Boston marker.

OPENS SCORING

George Gee opened the scoring for Chicago after he took a pass from playing-coach Sid Abel in the first period. Abel drew Sugar Jim Henry out of the nets and then fed the puck to Gee, who slipped it into the open goal. Gus Mortson scored on a 40-foot shot.

At Toronto Saturday night Detroit scored two goals in the first period on shots by Alex Delvecchio and Gordie Howe. In the second period Ron Stewart scored Toronto's tally. Red Kelly scored Detroit's third goal unassisted after he took the puck from a scramble.

McNeil's third shutout of the campaign Saturday night in Montreal received a lift from Bernard Geoffrion who scored two of Montreal's three goals. Floyd Curry was the other Montreal player who beat Chicago goalie Al Rollins.

Marlies Set Hot Pace, Edge Royals 4-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Marlboros set a hot pace on their trip through Quebec in the interlocking schedule.

The Marlies met and vanquished three Quebec junior teams including the league-leading Montreal Canadiens. They were tripped up by the Quebec Citadelles on the second game of the tour.

Sunday night the Dukes nosed out Montreal Royals 4-3 before starting home. The win gave them a seven-point lead in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A standings.

Montreal Canadiens broke a first-place tie with Quebec Sunday night as they scored three in the final period to take the contest 5-2.

Saturday the Marlboros swamped Three Rivers Reds 9-3. In Ontario Saturday Galt Black Hawks whipped Guelph Biltmores 6-3 in a nice clean game in Galt while St. Catharines Teepees knocked off Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts 4-0. Windsor Spitfires won from Oshawa Generals 3-1 Saturday to tie the Gens for seventh place, then dropped a 2-1 decision to Toronto St. Michael's on Sunday in Toronto.

Parker MacDonald, Gerry James Eric Nesterenko and Wally Maxwell scored Marlboro goals Sunday night. Kenny Naylor, Stan Rodeck and Robert Landry scored for Montreal. Saturday Marlie scorers were Nesterenko with three, Louis Bendo with two, Maxwell, Jack Bionda, Bill Harris and Parker MacDonald. New York saw its first professional hockey game 27 years ago tonight and had 18,000 pop-eyed Gothamites in attendance. Montreal Canadiens, one of the National Hockey League originals, made the "green" New York crowd gasp with their speed and won with a clear-cut 3-1 decision over the Americans.

Mulloy Now Listed Top U.S. Tennis Man

NEW YORK (CP)—Gardnar Mulloy of Miami was listed Saturday as the No. 1 tennis player in the United States for 1952. Mulloy will replace Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, the Davis Cup team captain, as the top-ranking player.

The association said the rankings are only tentative and that results of competition in Australia, including Davis Cup play, may result in changes.

For the second successive year, teen-aged Maureen Connolly of San Diego was awarded the top ranking among U.S. women tennis players.

Cleveland Wins Most Honors For Batting

CHICAGO (AP)—Cleveland Indians, whose bid for the 1952 pennant folded in the last month of the campaign, won most of the blue chips in batting, according to official American League statistics released Saturday.

Ferris Fain, Philadelphia Athletics' 30-year-old first baseman, was certified as the 1952 batting champion with .327. He won the crown in 1951 with .344.

Fain also topped the circuit in doubles with 43.

FIVE PLAYERS SHINE

Five Cleveland players shone. Dale Mitchell placed second to Fain with .323; Bobby Avila led in triples with 11; Larry Doby took the home-run title with 32 and also scored the most runs, 104, edging out teammates Avila with 102 and Al Rosen with 101.

Luke Easter, the huge first-sacker slammed 31 homers to press Doby for the crown. Third-baseman Rosen was tops in runs-batted-in with 105 and first in total bases with 297.

The league's leading hit-maker was Nellie Fox, Chicago's second baseman, with 192 safeties

FAST CLIP FOR MILE

SYDNEY (AP)—John Landry, Australia's 22-year-old Olympic runner, ran a mile in 4:02.1 on a heavy track Saturday.

Landry, who was sixth in the 1,500-metre run at the Helsinki Olympics last summer, won in an inter-club meet at Melbourne in the fastest mile ever run in Australia. The world record is Gunder Haegg's 4:01.4 set in 1945.

SAVES FELLOW JOCKEY

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—Little Willie Lester, 20-year-old apprentice jockey, was credited Saturday with saving a fellow jockey from falling under thundering hoofs during the fourth race at Bowie. Bernie Hewitt was about to fall from his mount in a jam at the clubhouse turn. Lester, riding It's No Use alongside him, reached over and pulled Hewitt back in the saddle.

Second Attempt To Bribe Boxers

VANCOUVER (CP)—A second attempt to bribe Vancouver boxers was reported here Saturday by Dave Brown, coach of the Police Mutual Benevolent Association Boxing Club.

He told reporters he was recently offered $100 in a telephone call if three of his amateur fighters would lose in bouts against Washington Athletic Club boxers here Dec. 4.

He said he hadn't reported to the Vancouver Boxing Commission "because I treated it just as a joke."

Sonny Jones, 20-year-old Vancouver professional middleweight, said Thursday he received a bribe offer—$300 ("Christmas money")—if he took a dive in the first round of his fight with Blackie Vanderveer of Aberdeen, Wash. He ignored it

Burke Captures Miami Playoff

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jack Burke sank a 10-foot putt Sunday to defeat youthful Dick Mayer in a "sudden-death" playoff for the championship of the $70,000 Miami Open golf tournament. The decision came on the fifth hole of the playoff.

Burke, 29, and Mayer, 27, a newcomer to the golf circuit from St. Petersburg, Fla., completed the 72-hole tournament in a first-place deadlock with 273s, seven under par.

Jim Ferrier of San Francisco was third with 274. Doug Ford, who led in three consecutive rounds and Tommy Bolt, tied for fourth with 275s.

Stan Horne of Montreal Saturday carded 71-74-71-72—288 to wind up out of the money.

HEADS TROTTING BODY

GODERICH (CP)—Ben Goldthorpe was elected president of the Goderich Racing and Trotting Association at its annual meeting. The association decided to hold its spring meet June 2, date of Queen Elizabeth's Coronation. Tentative dates for other meetings are Dominion Day and Labor Day.

BROWNS SIGN KOKOS

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dick Kokos, 24-year-old outfielder released from the army last week, Saturday signed a 1953 contract with St. Louis Browns. The Browns plan to use Kokos in left field. He was the Browns' regular right fielder in 1950, before he went into the service.

PISTON PUSHIN MAMA . . . Mrs. [illegible] 29-year-old twins Jimmy, left, and Billy, and holding Joey, two, Maxine Elmer, of Los Angeles, was a picture of poise and patience awaiting her turn to qualify for a big sports car road race at Torry Pines, Calif.

Baffled U.K. Sportswriters Think U.S. Football Wonderful

LONDON (AP)—Baffled British sportswriters couldn't figure it all out, but they agreed this American football is wonderful stuff.

"It's Moider!" headlined the Sunday Graphic. "Mayhem, Hula and Bands," exclaimed Reynolds News. "Murder In Midfield," said the Sunday Express. But everyone agreed it was fun.

All the excitement was centred about London's view of a full-scale American football game with all the trimmings—brass bands, pretty cheerleaders in short skirts, a fist-fight in the stands and a couple of dogs chasing around the field.

It was the final of the United States Air Force's European football championships Saturday at the big Wembley Stadium and some 25,000 had gathered to watch the Fursty Eagles from Germany beat the Burtonwood (England) Bullets 26-7.

TRY TO EXPLAIN

British sports writers, to whom football used to mean the comparatively gentleman-like game of rugby or just soccer, sat in on the proceedings and tried to explain it all to their readers.

"Twenty-two mastodons in leather shoulders and nylon knees crouched facing each other in what looked like 'the dance of the chuckers-out,'" said the Sunday Graphic.

"At some secret signal, utterly ignoring the ball, the 22 leaped at each other's throats. A whistle blew and the debris was removed."

Stretcher-bearers kept carting off the bodies and the score apparently depended on a coroner's report, the Graphic explained.

"Then the final whistle blew, and we all gave three hearty cheers to the ambulance which had won a fine game," the Graphic added.

But what impressed Britons most imply:

"Pretty girls leaped up and down in Maori war dances to stir up the crowd, shouting: 'How do you like your oysters — raw! raw! raw!'"

LIKE ZULUS

The Graphic described the cheerleaders as "six dainty American girls in red and green skirts circling the ground, occasionally doing the splits and emitting tribal noises reminiscent of a Zulu with acute stomach trouble."

The consensus was that American football was a darned good game. The Express said it liked "its red-bloodedness, its high color and enthusiasm." A Sunday Times sportswriter concluded it was "a far better game than ever he gave it credit for."

Flyers Defeat Cleveland 4-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Louis Flyers defeated the league-leading Cleveland Barons 4-3 in an American Hockey League game Sunday night. In other Sunday games Buffalo Bisons edged Pittsburgh Hornets 6-5 and Syracuse Warriors downed Providence Reds 5-2.

Saturday the Barons shaded Providence 1-0, Hershey Bears defeated Syracuse 7-3 and Pittsburgh overwhelmed St. Louis 8-3.

The Flyers built up a 4-1 lead in the first period Sunday night, then held off determined Baron drives.

Lorne Davis scored four goals as the Bisons scored their third straight victory. Bob Solinger scored three goals for the Hornets.

Syracuse struck for three quick goals against Providence late in the second period, overcoming a 2-1 deficit, and were never headed after that.

Gerry McNeil, Montreal Canadiens goalie, who earned his third and fourth shutouts of the National Hockey League season, as his team blanked Chicago Black Hawks 3-0 Saturday and played to a 0-0 tie with Detroit Red Wings Sunday.

Gordie Howe, who scored the winning goal Saturday as the Red Wings downed Toronto Maple Leafs 3-1.

Governors Reinstate Egan

CLEVELAND (AP)—American Hockey League governors Saturday reinstated Martin (Pat) Egan, Providence defenceman and captain who had been suspended for the rest of the season.

The governors voted unanimously to permit Egan to rejoin his team Jan. 7, reducing the suspension to 60 days.

Egan was suspended after a fight during a game in Cleveland Nov. 1 in which he hit linesman Patsy Callighen.

The governors also voted:

To let a club dress 15 players, including the goaltender, instead of 14.

To let a club carry as many players on its roster as it wants.

They decided to allow National Hockey League clubs to recall two men yearly from the AHL. But if illness or injury prevents an NHL team from dressing five defencemen, 10 forwards or one goaltender, the major circuit can call up additional men from the AHL.

All playoffs for the Calder Cup will be on a best-of-seven games basis. The first four teams will qualify, first and third meeting in one first-round series, second and fourth in the other. The survivors will play off for the trophy.

Home from Europe where he was an observer of the recent NATO exercises over the North Sea, Neil A. Macdougall, Toronto, told the Examiner Saturday that he found tremendous enthusiasm and pride among the Canadians of the RCAF and RCN — the Air Force and the Navy.

"We like to feel that Canada is doing a good job as one of the fourteen nations comorising NATO—North Atlantic Treaty Organization," Mr. Macdougall said. "I saw nothing of the 27th Brigade in Germany, but I was six weeks in Europe, particularly in Great Britain and France, and I feel that I can testify to the fine spirit and morale of our men of the two services to which I was attached.

"I was impressed with the evidence of deep national spirit indicating pride and affection for their homeland, as if, perhaps, they discovered across the Atlantic a greater significance for them in the word Canada. I recall the French-Canadian sailor I met on a cutter returning from leave to our aircraft carrier, the Magnificent. He touched his shoulder badge, and smiling said to me: 'It's great to be a Canadian.' I felt that his gesture brought us very close together out there off the Rutland coast."

Mr. Macdougall said he was abroad on a news assignment for the Toronto Telegram and also for the British publication "The Aeroplane," covering the series of NATO exercises.

The most important was known as Mainbrace, which assembled 160 ships and 80,000 men. It was followed by Ardent, a big air defence operation in which Mr. Macdougall flew in a jet fighter plane. And after Ardent, the exercises known as Fire Bird, began the next day.

"I also found that the men feel they have good equipment, especially in the RCAF, and that with their Sabres made by Canadair they are the only aircraft on the continent capable of meeting Russian MiG's. For that reason, they know they are in the vanguard of NATO air forces, particularly No. 2 Fighter Wing, based at Gros Tenquin in France.

"I believe that same spirit applies to the Navy. Recently Canada bought war surplus Avengers from the United States. They are anti-submarine aircraft. They are old, but the fact is that we have an engineering staff in the RCN that did a conversion job that turned them into an amazingly effective weapon. They are first-class. During Mainbrace, the aircraft from the Magnificent were credited with sinking more subs than any other NATO carrier. The United States and Britain had ten big carriers in that exercise. Our planes were so successful that the British had a chap observing them."

The Mainbrace operations lasted two weeks, Mr. Macdougall said. "Taking part were troops, aircraft and ships of eight nations of the so-called North Atlantic community. The exercises extended over the North Sea and North Atlantic and into the Kattegat and Skagerak. One exciting incident was the appearance of a Russian submarine, which, of course, had a right to be in those waters. One of my experiences was flying with crews of aircraft from the Magnificent over Denmark to watch amphibious landings.

The 80,000 men who took part are in number the equivalent of the population of two cities the size of Peterborough. Opinion was that there2was thorough co-ordination, but it was said that a lot of lessons were learned."

Mr. Macdougall said that it was from the privilege of his observations he felt that he could testify to the morale of Canada's airmen and sailors alike.

"One of the aircraft in our convoy was the British ship Theseus, just back from Korea and now in the Mediterranean."

On the other side of the Macdougall observations appeared to be a spirit in France wishing to forget or ignore the possibility of war, which meant the menace of Russia to Western Europe's freedom.

Some Americans rub the French the wrong way, and there was evidence of friction from two different national customs and manners. "My stay in France was comparatively short, so I cannot estimate the extent of it. And I know that it is consistently exploited from sources that would like to cause a breach in Franco-American relations."

Asked his own reaction to the impressions he did gain, Mr. Macdougall said: "I thought it was tragic."

"When the concierge at the place I was staying heard that I had come from Canada she said something like: "Not more occupation troops!"

"Our RCAF are aware of that difficulty, and are going out of their way to try to smooth things over. We have in our force French-speaking officers from Canada, and when the French Air Minister and his party greeted the Canadians our reply to them was in French."

"Incidentally I met two Peterborough men with our No. 2 Fighting Wing at Gros Tenquin. One was FO Arden Clements, who told me he hoped to find time to see something of France, and LAC Harold Webb, an instrument mechanic, who was never out of Canada before, and would like to visit Paris. There are three squadrons with No. 2. They are equipped with Sabre jets made in Canada."

Mr. Macdougall also found trace of local irritation in the vicinity of air bases in Britain.

"The British people are very conscious of what the United States has done, and I know there is a strong bond between Britain and Canada, and an appreciation and understanding of the future potential of this country and its opportunities.

"Too many of the Americans and some of our own service men show an immature attitude toward the traditions and the character of the British people. There are criticisms of conditions that are different 'from what we have back home.'

"There was one comment, I've forgotten where it was in England, but some fellows were saying that the British were not 'sale conscious,' and as a salient example one of them mentioned a restaurant on which he said there was a sign: 'Closed — Out to Lunch.' Another one said: 'England's too good for the English.' I should emphasize that these remarks are not common, but I did hear them, and it is too bad there are those expressions which, as I mentioned, are not evidednce of a mature attitude."

More respect for British traditions and for the way of life there, would be a great help in promoting better relations.

A young newspaperman, Mr. Macdougall expressed the hope that Canadians would try to keep informed about the importance of NATO as an alliance of North Atlantic nations in a peacetime effort to build up effective defence of the countries of Western Europe who are outside the Iron Curtain.

Eisenhower Prepared To Map Korean Program

by RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower goes back to work today, prepared to map "positive programs" for bringing peace to Korea.

He said he returned from his trip to the war zone with new confidence about the outlook for speeding a satisfactory solution.

In two public statements Sunday, the general expressed optimism.

However, he repeated his view that no simple formula is at hand. He said patience, foresight and common sense will be needed in finding one.

Eisenhower gave no indication when he plans to meet Gen. Douglas MacArthur. MacArthur declared in a speech 10 days ago: "I am confident there is a clear and definite solution to the Korean conflict." Several days later, Eisenhower messaged MacArthur that he would like to talk with him, and MacArthur replied that he would be agreeable.

The President-elect said on his return here Sunday that his trip was a starting-point for his own planning. At La Guardia field he said:

"Every one of us thinks we have learned something to make this expedition a sort of starting-place from where we are going to plan the programs we are going to adopt.

"And we expect them to be positive programs. Because you know, my friends, just because one side wants peace doesn't make peace. We must go ahead and do things that induce the others to want peace also."

Eisenhower also had a prepared statement for reporters when his big Constellation landed.

The general tone of both statements, however, was a qualified optimism. "All of us have long realized," he said in the prepared statement, "that there can be no simple formula for bringing a swift, victorious end to this war. But at the very least, that knowledge prepares us for whatever tough tasks lie ahead. . "

In another passage he said: "I believe the architects of aggression can be made to realize that it would be fateful folly to ignite other conflagrations like the Korean conflict elsewhere in the world."

With respect to the future, he made three points:

"First, the training of RoK (Republic of Korea) forces can and should be expanded and speeded.

"Second. . .certain problems of supply have reached rather serious proportions, and require early correction.

"Finally, we must all recognize—in all our thinking and our planning—that the Korean war is but the most dramatic and most painful phase, for us at this moment, of our world-wide struggle against Communist aggression. This journey marks not the end but the beginning of a new effort to conclude honorably this phase of the global struggle."

Score Of German Specialists Building Up Egyptian Army

By ZEIN NAGATI

CAIRO (AP)—Scores of German specialists are building the Egyptian Army into a modern fighting machine.

There has been much talk lately about "German experts" employed by the Egyptian Army. Most of them are former Wehrmacht officers, but apart from the names of some of them, very little else is known.

Egyptian Army authorities admit only they numbered between 50 and 60.

Egypt hired German military experts to reorganize her Army early in 1951. Up to that time the training of Egyptian armed forces was handled with the help of a British military mission.

The first German expert to arrive in Egypt was Dr. Wilhelm Voss. He came to Cairo in February, 1951, and still heads the group.

TECHNICAL MISSION

Voss admits he is directing training and research work for the Egyptian Army. "Our mission is merely an advisory and technical one," he said.

Voss and his associates only smile when asked about reports they are directing work on rockets and on nuclear physics.

Voss' number two man is General Willy Fahrmbacher, formerly of Wehrmacht.

Fahrmbacher appears to be mainly concerned wih the training of Egyptian units in the field. He talks with pride of "his boys."

Voss said there still is hard work to be done "before the Egyptian Army can stand as an effective power in this part of the world."

Both made cautious reference to current efforts toward establishing armament plants in Egypt. German experts are helping to set them up, they said.

LOOKED ELSEWHERE

Egypt formerly procured the bulk of its armaments from Britain. The embargo imposed during the Arab-Palestine war of 1948, and later Britain's interruption of shipments, compelled Egypt to look elsewhere for military supplies.

Gen. Fahrmbacher hinted experts of other countries were working with the Germans in Egypt.

The Germans are unanimous on one thing—that with the coming to power of Premier Maj.-Gen. Mohamed Naguib, special attention will be given to the Egyptian Army development. And Egypt's Army may soon become a prime factor in Middle East developments.

Two Canadian Nuns Reported Shoemaking

HONG KONG (Reuters) — The Sunday Examiner says two Canadian nuns, jailed by Chinese Communists for allegedly murdering orphans in their care, have been seen shoemaking and repairing in a Canton jail.

The two nuns were given five-year sentences when tried last year. The charge is one commonly made by the Chinese Communists. The nuns looked after waifs suffering from disease and malnutrition and many died.

Red Tape Hampers Improved Crossings

TORONTO (CP)—Highways Minister Doucett said Saturday Ontario's program to make level crossings safer is hampered by red tape in provincial-federal relations.

Mr. Doucett made the statement after Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wilcox of Brampton were killed at a level crossing in Weston Friday night. Six persons have lost their lives at the crossing since 1945.

He said there isn't enough money in the grade crossing fund to cover expenses of improving level crossings. But, he added, the province is trying to abolish as many bad crossings as possible by providing bridges.

Draft Own Proposal For Pacific Defence

LONDON (AP)—Britain, Australia and New Zealand have drafted their own plan to put before U.S. President-elect Eisenhower on defence of the Pacific and Southeast Asia, it was announced early today.

A communique issued here indicated that Prime Minister Churchill has won support for his demand that Britain be given a voice in Anzus, the Pacific defence pact comprising Australia, New Zealand and the U.S.

Churchill is looking forward to talks with Eisenhower in Washington early next year after the new Republican administration takes over.

Details of the Commonwealth plan were carefully guarded.

Ready To Abide By Jury's Intent

OTTAWA (CP)—A knotty legal problem appeared solved Sunday night when the Ottawa Transportation Commission announced it is ready to abide by a jury's intent rather than its written decision.

The jury, hearing a civil damage case, suffered a mental lapse Friday. Its written decision, which involved a collision between an automobile and an OTC tram, awarded 20-per-cent damages to motorist W. F. McCulloch and 80-per-cent damages to the OTC.

After the juniors were dismissed, they said they had meant to give Mr. McCulloch the larger share of damages—about $200 instead of some $50.

Ann Sothern Back At Work After Long Illness

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I learned a lot during my illness. I learned that the important thing is not how much money you've got or how much people love you. The important thing is your health."

This was Ann Sothern talking. Not the flip, wise - cracking Maisie of film fame. She was a new person, tempered by two years of illness that brought her near death.

"It started three years ago," she said. "I had just finished 'Naney Goes to Rio,' and I was very tired. But they wanted me to go to London to appear at the command performance. I thought the excitement would pep me up.

"We had five or six wonderful weeks in London. I was enjoying myself, but I coulin't understand why I was so tired. As we were taking the train to Cherbourg for the boat trip back, Roz Russell kept staring at me. She asked me if I felt well, and I admitted that I was tired. Later, she told me she noticed I had the yellowest eyes she had ever seen."

Ann had a spree in New York and went to Sun Valley for skiing. Then she was stricken. The trouble was diagnosed as a virus infection of the liver. Recovery was slow.

"For a whole year I could do nothing," she remarked.

Ann emerged from her illness early this year. She found she had to carve a new carrer for herself.

"I had lost the momentum that every acting career must have to be successful," she said. "I had to start all over again. I went back to the stage."

Her Broadway show was not a roaring success, but it taught her how to work again. Ann also took on some TV dramas in New York. Then she returned to Hollywood. She is now acting in a movie, "The Blue Gardenia," her first in three years. She will soon start on a new career in TV.

Asked if she would take up her old Maisie role, she said: "Not a chance. I don't even look like Maisie any more."

U.S. Airmen's Morale At French Station Low As Mud

By WADE JONES
NEA Staff Correspondent

CHATEAUROUX, France — (NEA) — The morale of 4,000 American airmen at Chateauroux, "biggest U.S Air Force depot in continental Europe," is as low as the seas of mud they wade through.

The depot, begun a year and a half ago in a French aircraft factory, still can't overhaul a plane. The big hitch is that an 8,500-foot runway, started 13 months ago to handle fast-landing jets, still is incomplete. So jets can't even land here.

Long lines of supplies are piled outdoors, although money to build additional warehouses was available seven months ago. The new structures are still in the "planning" stage, except for a few "prefabs" going up.

Hundreds of highly-trained airplane mechanics, with no planes to work on, are tinkering with jeeps and trucks to occupy their time.

The low morale certainly is due in part to the lack of a job to do. "Things wouldn't be quite so tough if we could just see we were accomplishing something," says a mud-covered warehouse man.

But the problem is also partly due to a striking lack of entertainment and recreation, on top of poor living conditions. At least 1,000 men are going into their second winer living in a tent city. There is a temporary movie which seats 350, a small PX, a tiny beer joint.

About the least critical estimate of the situation here could be that somewhere along the line there's been poor timing. The most critical, certainly, would be the growled charge of a dirty, bearded mechanic: "Somebody oughta' get hung for this mess."

It all depends on who talks.

Maj. L. B. Krogh, base public information officer, says the runway hasn't been completed because of bad weather and a rash of bad rock that went into the concrete. "It ought to be finished in 30 days," he adds.

He grants that money has been available for seven months for more warehouses, new barracks, two new mess halls, a new theatre, a large chapel, and an enlarged PX. But he says "blueprints and planning for those things take time." A spokesman for Gen. Lauris Norstad, commander of U.S. Air Forces in Europe, says, "We are satisfied with Chateauroux."

A staff-sergeant engineer, who served with the Marines in World War II and holds an important job here, says:

"I guess they had their troubles with that airstrip. But what about this? It took 'em nine months to lay a stretch of railway track into here. It shoulda' taken three weeks.

"The latrines here are the worst I ever seen. I live in tent city. The tents leak. I'd like to go to church some, but the chapel only holds 220 people — and we got over 4,000 men here.

"There ain't anything to do here on the base and a man with a family at home can't afford to go into town but about once a month. I ain't hollering too much 'cause I'm due to go home in a couple a months. But this is some place, all right."

The only mess hall here is in a giant warehouse (which could be used to store supplies now piled out in the weather) and the airmen claim the mess lines are as long as a quarter of a mile.

Chateauroux, 150 miles south of Paris, is actually composed of two bases nearly four miles apart —Deols, for heavy mainténance and overhaud, and La Martinerie for supply. The mess hall is at the latter and the men from Deols ride back and forth in trucks and busses in a mighty shuttle whose efficient employment of manpower might be questioned.

In addition to serving as maintenance and overhaul base for U.S. planes, Chateauroux is to be a supply base for both U.S. and other NATO aircraft.

But whether major maintenance and overhaul could now be carried out, even if the runway were completed, seems questionable. It would be able to handle its full load until next summer, top officials admit.

A certain amount of the difficulty here must be attributable to the elaborate and unwieldy regulations under which French contractors did the work on the airstrip, with U.S. engineers as overseers.

North Atlantic Pact Grows Stronger During 1952

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The North Atlantic pact passed from enthusiasm to controversy and to cold realities in 1952, but all the time it was growing stronger. But it will still not be strong enough when 1953 dawns.

Through all the fluctuations of mood and action, Canada went quietly on carrying out the commitments she had made in the past as her share in the joint three-year building of Western armed strength.

She said she would do no less than she had promised. She resisted suggestions that she should do more.

FULFILS PROMISES

To those who said Canada isn't doing enough, the official Canadian reply was that it is a matter of Canadian pride and Canadian policy to do what is promised and not to promise what can't be done.

Big aims were enunciated at the controversial February meeting of the pact council in Lisbon with External Affairs Minister Pearson of Canada presiding.

They called for 50 divisions and 4,000 aircraft in Europe by the end of this fiscal year plus a build-up to 98 divisions and 10,000 planes by 1954. Those aims became the pivot of hot debate in one country after another.

Mr. Pearson himself came home to find the CCF waging the biggest domestic war yet on foreign policy, calling for a lowering of the "disastrous" military targets and greater stress on economic aid.

Mr. Pearson defended the targets and accused the CCF of giving comfort to the Kremlin.

AIMING TOO HIGH

By the end of the year, however, it became clear that NATO was aiming too high. One country after another said that economic factors were forcing a slowing and modification of its rearmament effort.

Through all this, the combined strength grew and roughly 8,500 Canadian soldiers and airmen were on the continent or in England to buttress it. But Gen. Matthew Ridgway, the supreme commander, warned that the strength still wasn't enough to beat back a Russian strike for the English channel, that the reserve strength in particular was weak.

The constant underground war between economic instability and military security had an effect on Canada. In fact, it lay beneath the Pearson-CCF clash.

NATO asked Canada to send economic aid to Europe to help ease the instability of her allies. In effect, Canada was asked to send gifts of basic exports. The Canadian government declined on the ground that to do so would imperil Canada's own trading position.

For the first time, a full-fledged Canadian embassy was established at NATO's new headquarters in Paris with A. D. P. Heeney, former departmental undersecretary at external affairs headquarters, as the first ambassador.

CANADIAN PROGRAM

Canada's program of aid to Europe was broken down this way:

Military—The army's commitment of one 5,500-man brigade was filled in 1951. The first large change-over in manpower took place late in 1952. Of four wings—12 squadrons—of RCAF jet fighters promised by the spring of 1954, two were overseas by the end of the year and another was due to go in another three to four months. The navy said it could put 24 warships into North Atlantic service quickly if war should come. The year saw the northwest Atlantic mapped out as Canada's sea in the event of war.

Aid—Parliament voted another $300,000,000 in "mutual aid" for Europe to cover arms shipments to Allies as well as air training in Canada. For the second year in a row, however, the actual money spent was expected to fall below the estimate.

Other costs — Parliament voted another $27,000,000 to cover Canadian contributions to joint expenditures on such things as airfields, headquarters and communications in Europe.

PREMIER'S DAUGHTER—Shirley Douglas, 18, daughter of Premier T. C. Douglas, of Saskatchewan, rests between classes at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, London. Miss Douglas studied ballet and is wearing her practice costume, complete with pointed shoes, as part of her dramatic training.

Freer Entry Of Foreign Goods Into U.S. Urged By Trade Group

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

An American trade organization urges that foreign countries be given a better chance to sell their goods in the United States.

The urging comes in the declarations, published in a 26-page booklet, of the recent New York meeting of the national foreign trade convention, held under the auspices of the National Foreign Trade Council, Inc., an association of American business men directly concerned with international trade and investment.

Of immediate interest to Canada is expression of the convention's "keen disappointment that the 82nd Congress failed to complete action on the customs simplification bill." The treasury department is urged to bring forward another bill. The declarations state:

"The convention records its opposition, specifically, to the imposition of any new tariff duties, import taxes, or other devices designed to increase the impediments at present existing against the flow of imports into this country (the U.S.).

"It calls for immediate action to remove all specially-legislated import taxes (as distinct from tariff duties), all unwarranted sanitary regulations, and all other subterfuges designed to check the flow of imports."

Repeal is asked of section 104 of the Defence Production Act, and of the "Buy American" Act, measures which restrict entry of goods from other countries.

These recommendations are in line with claims by Canadian and other exporters that U. S. authorities create, in effect, a second tariff, by interpretations of customs and other regulations.

Another recommendation is of particular interest to Canadian gold producers. It says:

"The world needs a universally acceptable currency in which it can carry on its international business —such as the pound sterling was prior to the First World War. The convention believes the greatest contribution the United States could make to the re-establishment of multilateral trade would be a restoration of the dollar as a currency convertible into gold on demand."

While the convention gives considerable advice to the United States, it also, by implication at least, gives some advice to other countries. It says, for instance:

"It is obvious that no progress will be made toward opening the door to the entrance of private capital, and particularly from the United States, so long as other nations believe they can draw upon American public funds, and can thereby escape the obligations and self-discipline which the attraction and use of private capital would entail." Also:

"If foreign nations are to take full advantage of the American market potential, they must greatly increase their productivity in order to supply the exportable goods in adequate quantities and variety, and to achieve quality and price standards attractive to the American buyer."

Everything Seems Rosy In United States Economy

By JOHN TRACY

NEW YORK (CP)—The United States economy neared the close of 1952 with everything rosy.

Although business and political circles were jarred by several developments, the stock market rolled along close to its 22-year peak. Business activity was higher than ever and more workers had jobs than ever before in peacetime.

Business feared confusion would develop after President Truman overrode the wage stabilization board's recommendation of a $1.50-a-day pay rise for the miners by approving a boost of $1.90.

The other sour note came when the harmony among Republicans slipped a little off-key as Senator Robert A. Taft blasted President-elect Eisenhower for appointing Martin P. Durkin of the American Federation of Labor as labor secretary.

INCOME HIGH

Otherwise, the news was good. The federal reserve board estimated November industrial production at the highest peak since the highs established during the war. The FRB monthly index for October was 227, or 127 compared with the 1935-39 average of 100.

The commerce department estimated personal income in the first 10 months of the year at the record annual rate of $266,000,000,000. The number of non-agricultural workers was figured at 55,500,000, an advance of 1,100,000 ahead of the previous November.

During the first half of the year, the market had weathered acute economic fears and political misgivings. By late June The Associated Press average of 60 stocks stood at $106.80, the highest point since June 10, 1932.

The AP average in early December stood at $112.40.

INFLATION STAVED OFF

Other aspects of the economy:

Economic problems — inflation may deliver some lingering kicks if price controls are allowed to expire in the U.S. on schedule April 30. And a dose of deflation is possible later on, when defence spending stops rising.

Armament program—The U. S. armed forces now are using about 15 per cent of the gross national product and next year will take an estimated 17 per cent.

Steel—the steel industry had two country-wide strikes this year but made a fast recovery and the estimated production of 91,000,000 tons for 1952 was close to the 1950 peak of 96,500,000 tons.

Prices—living costs inched upward during 1952, but the government viewed the creeping advance as an optimistic sign that the surge of inflation had been slowed down.

Commodities—the trend of grain prices was downward throughout 1952 because of big crops not only in the U.S. but in other countries. The meat industry was threatened with disease and drought but prompt counter - measures prevented a disaster. In cotton, a general decline in U.S. and world commodity price levels helped depress the staple.

STORED HOME FURNISHINGS belonging to Cyril "Skip" Hutchison, smouldered and were destroyed in a fire of undetermined orgin today. They were stored on the second floor of a service station on George St., near the Murray St. corner. The alarm was turned in at 10:25 a.m. and the fire department quelled the smouldering effects quickly. They were insured, Mr. Hutchison said, and he was to have moved them this week to his new home in Bridgenorth.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Gas Station Fire Destroys Home Furniture

The fire department rushed a lot of their equipment to a reported fire at the Texaco service station today at 10.25 a.m. They arrived to find a great deal of smoke pouring from the second floor of the administration building, George St., near Murray St., corner.

Cause of the alarm was the complete household furnishing stored there for the past while by Cyril "Skip" Hutchison. It appeared to be completely charred and did not burst into flames, to destroy the building, because the room was completely closed up, firemen said.

No one could tell how long the stuff had been smouldering. Station attendant Pat Curran arrived at work today at 7.30 a.m. and mechanic Roy Booth at 9 a.m. Both of them smelled smoke but could not locate the cause of it.

The gas station had been closed since Saturday night. By press time no one had been located who had been upstairs in the building.

Mr. Hutchison has been building a new house at Bridgenorth and was living in a cottage beside it. He had planned to move his furniture to his new place this week. It was insured. The service station lessee is Bob Sutton.

Police Report One Injury As Ice Causes Crash Wave

Only one injury was reported to city police Sunday afternoon when a number of small accidents were reported, practically all due to slippery road conditions. Most of these accidents were on Lansdowne and Charlotte St and Parkhill Rd. The light snow, which swept across the Peterborough district during the afternoon, did not cause any trouble until shortly after 3 p.m. From then until after 6 p.m. the police were kept busy checking small accidents.

Mrs. Elsie Ayotte, R.R. 9, Peterborough, was the only person injured in the accidents. She was in a car, driven by her husband, William Ayotte, when it went over the hill on Park Hill Road near Bethune St. and went into a skid, colliding with a parked car owned by Kenneth Bryan, 45 Hunter St. E.

CUTS HEAD

Mrs. Ayotte struck her head on the rear vision mirror, cutting her forehead. She was treated at the Civic Hospital, requiring stitches to close the gash; she was dismissed shortly after.

Bryan, minutes before, had been going east on Park Hill and had also skidded, his car hitting a hydro pole. This was previous to the accident with the Ayotte car.

Damage amounting to an estimated $325 was caused two cars, owned by W. S. Jolly, 283 Wilson Ave. and by D. Brundage, 281 Romaine St. Jolly was travelling east on Lansdowne St. and when Brundage, coming north on Park St., tried to stop his car, he slid into the Jolly car.

Another accident on Lansdowne St. caused minor damage. G. Little, 648 Armour Road, was driving west on Lansdowne when N. G. Field, R.R. 11 Peterborough, skidded into the rear of the Little car.

ON CHARLOTTE ST.

Icy roads at the same time resulted in several accidents on Charlotte St. at the same time as on Lansdowne St. A car, driven west on Charlotte St. by Mrs. Donna Fitzgerald, Hayes St., lost traction and skidded to the south side of the street. A second car, driven by Allen Moore, 100 Victoria St., Barrie, couldnt stop on the slippery snow and collided with the Fitzgerald car, causing minor damage.

One accident had an ironic twist; icy roads caused a car, driven by Ronald Girard, to collide with a city truck sanding the intersection at Charlotte St. and Monaghan Road. Again only minor damage was done.

Changes Mind, Woman To Stand

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Exercising a woman's privilege, Mrs. Marjorie Wilford changed her mind Saturday and decided to run for the Lakefield Public School board.

She and three men were nominated Friday night at the second nomination meeting held for school trustees. The first turned up only one; the second assured an election for the remaining two vacancies.

The village's main election is being held today; the auxiliary election for the school board will be held Friday.

Mrs. Wilford said at the nomination meeting she would stand only if there were not sufficient men to fill the two vacancies. She felt that one woman—Mrs. Jessie Doubt, who was acclaimed —was enough.

Between then and Saturday afternoon, when she qualified, Mrs. Wilford changed her mind. The three men seeking posts as school trustees are: Dr. Reginald Campbell, just completing a two-year term on the board, and newcomers Fred Dainton and Stanley Millage.

Youth Remanded

A 15-year-old Cobourg student accused of starting three fires in Cobourg Collegiate and with theft of a car was today remanded in Juvenile Court till Jan. 5. He was remanded in the custody of his father. The Grade 9 student was arrested Friday after an investigation by J. W. Richardson of the fire marshal's department. One of the fires destroyed stage hangings and damaged some furniture in the school auditorium. Two other fires were later discovered in the basement.

Asks For Eight Months Sentenced To Five

A regular visitor to the police station, Harry Brown, no fixed address, was sentenced to five months in the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph. He pleaded guilty to vagrancy.

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw said that Brown came voluntarily to the station and that he asked for eight months in jail. Mr. Bradshaw intimated that for several years Brown "has been up here over and over again."

Brown told Magistrate Philp that "I can't get any work."

Christmas Rush Hits Post Office

Cards Swamp Sorters As Mail Swells; To Hire 100 Helpers

A wave of Christmas cards and letters swept down on the Peterborough post office today as the Christmas rush started in earnest. Since last Wednesday the mail has been increasing daily, but today the load is far greater than any day yet.

A post office official said at noon, "We're into it right now." He added that the usual mail from the noon train is only two or three bags; but today there were 10, a good indication that the rush is on.

But the post office was ready. Over the weekend the mail was completely cleaned up in preparation for this week's flow. But early today the mail began to bog down and more men were called in to help sort and deliver.

All the letter carriers today were being assisted with delivering and sorting. At the same time there were eight others helping at the post office, four at the sub-office at the Armouries, and six called in for night sorting and stamping.

HIRE 100 HELPERS

In all the post office expects to hire about 100 extra helpers, these men assisting with sorting cards, letters and parcels, and delivering. More will be taken on as the rush increases.

The official said that indications so far show that people are carrying out the department's slogan to "mail early." He pointed out that the extra help are coming in two days earlier than usual.

The peak for incoming mail is expected some time this weekend, while the outgoing mail peak will likely be Wednesday or Thursday. Already the outgoing mail is quite heavy.

At the Armouries where the incoming mail (parcels) are sorted for delivery, there are two full-time employees assisted by four extra helpers. Today trucks were working from the Armouries making deliveries throughout the city.

People discovered the rush was on when they attempted to buy stamps at the post office. Despite the addition of another stamp wicket, there were two long lines of people waiting to buy stamps at noon.

Find Escapees In Toronto Yards

Two 14-year-old escapees from the Cobourg training school were found unconscious Sunday in a Don Valley railway yard. It is believed they jumped off a freight train before it had slowed to a safe speed.

Both are in a Toronto hospital with concussion and lacerations.

The boys escaped from the Cobourg training school on Saturday. Inmates are on the honor system and there is little difficulty in escaping if they want to.

The two boys told police that they hopped a Toronto-bound freight train after their escape.

Fined $50 For Crash, Shouldn't Drive: Crown

Walter Zachriah, of Billings Bridge, was fined $50 and $2.50 costs or 40 days in jail when he pleaded guilty in magistrate's court today to a charge of dangerous driving. A charge of careless driving was dismissed when the Crown offered no evidence.

The charges were laid following an accident on Charlotte St. late Friday night. Zachariah was driving west on Charlotte St., still in second after leaving a parking space, when his truck pulled to the right, hit the corner of Cecil Lapp's store and bounced off, crashing into the verandah of a house.

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw said: "I frankly don't think this man should drive at all."

Former Grafton Farm Boy Managed Stampede 33 Years

A former Grafton farm boy, E. L. Richardson for 33 years manager of the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, died in Vancouver last Tuesday at the age of 76.

He was born in Wicklow, a North Hastings township, attended school in Grafton and became a journeyman printer. Tiring of this trade Mr. Richardson attended the Ontario Agricultural College and graduated from it in 1896 and for two years following managed a dairy plant at Myrtle.

Mr. Richardson went west in 1901 and joined the staff of the department of agriculture, Northwest Territories, and was soon appointed assistant to the minister. In 1903 he was appointed assistant manager of the Calgary Exhibition and with funds and grants totalling $110,000 saw the original plant buildings constructed. Four years later he was appointed manager, a post which he held for the next 33 years.

He sponsored flower, dog, horse and cattle shows and horse races, the Calgary bull sale and set the stage for the world-famous stampede in 1928. Mr. Richardson was a member of the Calgary Rotary Club, president of the Western Canada Fairs Association, president of the Big Four Hockey League and secretary of the Alberta Livestock Association for 30 years.

Mr. Richardson leaves his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Charles Grant of Vancouver, and two sons, Herbert Richardson, deputy-secretary of the Bank of Canada, and Dr. Ronald Richardson of Oshawa.

Worse Than Shopping

Once they get home, Christmas shoppers with gifts for their children are finding a headier problem than buying. One woman remarked today that she would rather shop than try to keep the parcels hidden after she brings them home. Her cry of "I don't know how I'll hide them" is probably being echoed in hundreds of homes these days.

Murder Charge Hearing Starts Wednesday

Twenty-one-year-old Gale Knott, Curve Lake Indian charged with the murder of Wesley Taylor on November 22, appeared in magistrate's court today but was remanded until Wednesday. It is then that the preliminary hearing is expected to begin to decide whether he will be committed for trial by higher court.

Ontario Provincial Police, assisted by inspectors from the CIB, have been investigating the murder, attempting to piece the incident together. But they said today there were no new developments.

Knott was charged November 24 after he was picked up November 22, hours after Taylor had been fatally stabbed on the Indian recerve. The knife murder occurred shortly after midnight, after what police described as an evening of heavy drinking.

Knott has appeared three times in court since then, but has been remanded each time. He is represented by W. J. Arthur Fair, QC, who is defence counsel for him.

SEEN WITH VICTIM

Married and father of a small son, Knott was seen with Taylor, a 26-year-old Huntsville bush worker, on that Friday night, November 21.

Police said the drinking spree which began about 7 p.m. ended shortly before midnight with the knife being plunged into Taylor's chest. When taken to Dr. Lloyd Bailey's office in Lakefield, Taylor was pronounced dead.

OPP Corporal Jack Munro and Constable George Grey started investigations into the murder, and then later were joined by Inspector Alex McLeod of the provincial police criminal investigation bureau. He has been working on the case with the Peterborough officers since then.

When Knott was remanded in magistrate's court a week ago until today, Crown Attorney John Bradshaw and Mr. Fair both intimated that although Knott would be remanded today, the preliminary hearing would begin on Wednesday.

Joyriding Nets Month Jail Term

Despite a plea for suspended sentence for 16-year-old Gerald James Murphy, 922 Hurley Ave., Magistrate W. R. Philp today sentenced the youth to one month in jail.

Murphy pleaded guilty to a charge of joyriding last Thursday. He was picked up in the car, which had been taken from the CGE parking lot between 8 and 10 p.m. Wednesday night, by OPP Constables George Grey and Kenneth Barber.

Salvation Army Major Harry Everitt, in suggesting the suspended sentence, told Magistrate Philp that he could probably do "some good" with Murphy if he took him "under his wing and showed him there's a better life than stealing cars."

In deciding the verdict, Magistrate Philp said the joyriding charge is "just a watered down theft charge.'

When sentencing the youth, the magistrate said, "It's a very light sentence, Murphy, if you were charged with theft, I'd be compelled to give you a year. I just want to point out that you've had more of a break than you realize."

NON-JURY SITTINGS

The Non-Jury sittings of the Supreme Court resumed at 2 p.m. today, the Hon. Mr. Justice Danis presiding. The court is now entering its second week. One civil action was completed last week and another one started.

Burleigh Falls Workers Miss Injury As Car Crashes Post, Rips Through Fence

Late Model Car Travels 342 Feet Into Field After Losing Bumper On Fence; Driver Scratched, Passenger Slightly Hurt

Two young construction workers from Burleigh Falls were injured early Sunday morning on the Lakefield Highway when their 1951-car went out of control, snapped off a telephone pole, and overturned in a pasture field. Alyre Cyr, 21, a passenger in the front seat, was hurled through the open right door and landed in the pasture. He was knocked unconscious and was taken to Civic Hospital by ambulance. His condition is not serious. He has cuts and scrapes on his face, a bruised shoulder and other body scrapes and bruises.

The driver of the coach-model car received outpatient treatment at Civic Hospital for cuts and scrapes on his right hand. He is Sylvio Drapeau, 22.

The accident was just north of the Drive-In Theatre on the east side of the highway—in the exact spot and under almost the same conditions as another accident six hours before.

At 6.30 p.m. Saturday a northbound car veered off the highway and cracked the telephone pole. The driver, William Drummond, 36, of Lakefield, told OPP Constable Jack Ricard that he was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car and was forced into the ditch.

Then at 12.30 a.m. Sunday, the Drapeau car completed the destruction of the telephone pole. A 10-foot section was torn from the ground by the impact of the car and carried 33 feet into the field.

Drapeau later told OPP Constable Tom Armstrong that he too had been dazzled by the headlights of a southbound car. Altogether, the vehicle travelled about 342 feet off the highway.

After plunging into the east ditch and tearing the splintered pole from the ground the car went through a wire fence where it lost its front bumper. Cyr was thrown from the car about half way from when the vehicle left the highway and where it finally turned over, resting on its roof and pointing north-east.

The car is completely wrecked.

Both Drapeau and Cyr are employed by the Harco Construction Co. at Burleigh Falls.

In the earlier accident, Drummond was unhurt but the right rear wheel of the 1928-model came off and the right fender was dented.

Voting Heavy By Noon In Lakefield Election

Balloting was unusually heavy during the first hour of voting today in the election for reeve and village council in Lakefield. The polls were not open until 11 a.m. but by noon 27 people had voted at Poll One and 38 at Poll Two. This was considered very good.

This year 1,023 names were on the voters' list. A number of these are people living in cities and towns but who own property in Lakefield. The number expected to vote is about 950.

UN Committee Tries Decide On Recess

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United Nations steering committee decides today whether to recess the lagging seventh UN assembly until after President-elect Eisenhower takes office and maps out United States policy on Korea.

Committee members are Assembly President L. B. Pearson of Canada; the chairmen of the assembly's seven working committees, and the seven vice-presidents who include all big power members.

The committee had two alternatives. One was to recess until early in February, beyond the Jan. 20 U. S. inauguration. Another was to push through all the work it can until just before Christmas, and move the opening of the eighth assembly up to April.

ANNUAL ASSEMBLIES

Some sentiment was building up for annual assemblies beginning in the spring instead of in the fall.

The major political committee, however, has only partly done its work on Korea. Further action on Korea was delayed until the Communist Chinese and North Koreans answer the UN's appeal for a truce in Korea, with a five-country repatriation commission to handle the knotty prisoner-return problem.

Pearson sent the appeal out by cable Dec. 5. Peiping radio announced Sunday night that Communist China had rejected the resolution, but early today Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai's message quoted by the Red radio had not been received here.

RESTING IN HOSPITAL

One of the district's oldest residents, 99-year-old William O'Brien of Downeyville, is resting in St. Joseph's Hospital after suffering a slight stroke on Saturday. He came to the hospital, reported the incident, and was then admitted.

Nine Fatalities Reported During Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three young children trapped by fire in their Green Valley home, 25 miles north of Cornwall, were among nine persons to meet violent deaths in Eastern Canada during the weekend.

Dead are Gerald Proulx 4, Denise, 3, and Monique, eight months.

A total of seven persons died in Ontario, a survey showed. One died in Quebec and one in Nova Scotia.

Another Ontario death caused by fire was that of John Wendt, 56, who was fatally injured at the Wunder Furniture Manufacturing plant at Kitchener.

Other Ontario deaths: Clarence Sellore, 27, of Toronto, when the truck he was driving left the highway just outside Hamilton; John Henry Drummelsmith, Jr., 20, of Wheatley, trapped in a car which crashed off a dead-end road into Lake Erie; Isaiah Andrew Cromwell, 49, in a trailer just north of Brockville following a fall.

Maurice Tollensky, 52, died after a fall from the third storey of a Montreal old people's home. Gary Coon, 15, died in hospital at Springhill, N. S., after he was shot in the stomach during target practice.

ARREST STRIKER—A striker, one of 25 arrested at Louiseville, Que., is brought to police headquarters at Montreal. One man was wounded by a police bullet and a number of others suffered injuries of varying degrees in a clash between police and strikers at the Associated Textiles' plant. The Riot Act was read. Of the 25 arrested, six were released and one, a 16-year-old youth, was to appear in juvenile court.

Plan To Support Morale Of Men Overseas

FONTAINEBLEAU, France (CP) —Merchandiser of morale at popular prices is Flt. Lt. Lester Steadman of Bridgewater, N.S., special services officer at this Allied air base.

"Special services" means everything from luring Paris night club talent for floor shows in Fontainebleau to managing weekly bingo games which make a gross profit as high as $500. And it has to be done with an eye on the entertainment fancies of Canadians, Americans, French, British, Dutch, Belgians.

"Our job," says Steadman, "is not only to provide sport and entertainment but to integrate the nationals of half a dozen countries by promoting group activities and by finding common interests to take their minds off national differences."

Steadman, formerly stationed at Calgary wireless school and at Goose Bay, Labrador, arrived last July. With a limited budget, he and his small staff have organized fencing classes and volleyball games, plotted tennis courts and laid plans for a 400-metre track with a field that can be used for American football or European soccer.

Language problems are taken care of by bilingual Sgt. Rene Chaput of Halifax, who makes game announcements in French and English.

Different nationalities cause problems. "We even ran into one when we went out to buy Christmas decorations," says Steadman. "We were going to buy in two colors. Then we found every country has a different two colors. The way it looks now, our decorations seem to have been borrowed from the rainbow."

RIOT VICTIM—Adrien Dumas, 35, was shot by a policeman during a clash between police and strikers at Louiseville, Que., 70 miles west of Montreal. Traffic Constable Benoit Casgrain, of the provincial police, said he fired the shot that felled Dumas but said it was accidental. A number of other strikers were injured by police clubs and 25 were arrested as violence flared at the plant of Associated Textiles where a strike has been in progress since last March.

Mystery Of Sea Captain May Be Solved In Israel

Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — The mystery surrounding the behavior of a 24-year-old sea captain now appears headed for solution, perhaps a couple of weeks hence in the port of Tel Aviv.

One thing is certain: It won't be solved on this side of the Atlantic.

Harried by denials, retractions and tight-lipped officials, reporters so far have been unable to determine the background of reports that Capt. Adam Graetz held his radio operator at pistol point and threatened to scuttle his ship, the Israeli freighter Abraham Graetz.

The Israeli communications ministry Sunday reaffirmed receipt of radio messages to this effect from the young skipper, but the ship's radio operator and first officer told a press conference here they knew nothing about them.

LEAVES BY HIMSELF

David Brodie, vice president of M. Dizengoff and Co. Ltd. of New York, said Graetz left the ship of his own volition after a dispute with his father. He would not elaborate but intimated that the dispute centred about handling of the ship.

Crew members would not talk.

But reporters got their first real break when the communications ministry in Tel Aviv said Graetz demanded the appointment of his father as minister of communications, or else he would turn the ship "into another Atalena." The Altalena was a ship running guns and arms which was sunk off Tel Aviv in 1948.

The final message, addressed to Premier David Ben-Gurion on Dec. 8, read: "in name nation to which we both belong I call out to you to awaken lest you sleep await telegram direct from you confirming immediate appointment of my father Heinz Graetz as minister communications in your government and same time my appointment as commander Israel navy respectfully Captain Adam Graetz."

The whereabouts of Graetz, meanwhile, are unknown. He left his ship Wednesday night at Sambro lightship, 16 miles off Halifax, and flew to Montreal to meet his parents, who came by plane from Israel. He told reporters there that the radio reports were unfounded rumors.

The freighter docked here Sunday to load 2,000 tons of general cargo for Israel. She earlier took aboard pitprops for Turkey at Saint John, N. B.

In Commemoration

BOSTON (AP) — A spot of tea claimed to be made from leaves missed by revolutionists Dec. 16, 1773, was sipped Sunday in commemoration of the 179th anniversary of the Boston tea party. A group of 13 descendants of Revolutionary War families and the British vice-consul, Mrs. Muriel Rolls, toasted each other from 70-year-old teacups — made in England.

Take Beaver To Labrador

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Two groups of airborne beaver are providing the nucleus of what the Newfoundland government hopes will eventually become a profitable fur-trapping trade in northern Labrador.

If the experiment pays off, it will bring a new income source to Indians and Eskimos in an area which long has been barren of the fur-bearers.

Wildlife authorities began working on the beaver project after a decline in the price of foxes, long the area's major fur producer, made fox-trapping unprofitable.

They had a good precedent in their own island. Between 1935 and 1946, a series of transplantings built up the beaver population from a few hundred to a point where 14,700 were taken during the last open season in 1949.

Two years ago investigations were started in the Kaipokok river and scouts found several areas which looked like potential beaver territory.

Forty-six beaver were trapped alive on Newfoundland's east coast Avalon Peninsula and flown to Micmac lake. This year 94 more made the trip, 50 going to Micmac and the rest to St. Martin's lake 80 miles farther north.

The plantings are still in the experimental stage and authorities are not making any predictions. A game warden toured the Kaipokok-Micmac area this fall and spotted 23 beaver houses, about half of them in use for two seasons.

The northern territory has not yet been surveyed. Thick brush hampered an aerial survey and prevented count of houses but flying spotters located two dams.

Hundreds Of College Students Expelled From University

By HARRY GELBER

BERLIN (Reuters)—Hundreds of university students are being expelled in a new East Germany drive against Western thought and influence.

Some 600, most of them living in West Berlin, were expelled from East Berlin's Humboldt University in October alone, according to student research group officials here.

They were told that they "no longer merited the confidence of the working class," or were "politically unreliable."

Regulations for modelling East Germany's universities on the Soviet pattern, first introduced in September last year, have been applied more rigorously this year.

The new East German state regulations abolished division of the academic year into terms. The year now consists of a continuous study period from September to March, followed by about four weeks of examinations and ending in six to eight weeks' practical work for the student's future career.

ATTEND SUMMER CAMP

During the remaining two holiday months, good party men are expected to attend summer camps or other Communist activities.

"Basic scholarships" are given to all workers' and peasants' children and to the children of the "progressive intelligentsia," such as doctors or members of Parliament.

"Results scholarships" are given to the sons and daughters of the bourgeoisie who have to reach a certain examination standard each year to get them.

All University aspirants have to show that they "will fulfil the new social tasks" and take part in building up the East German republic.

About 150 professors and senior lecturers have left East Germany since 1946, and the Reds are having difficulty replacing them, one official said.

About 28 per cent of East Germany's 1,743 high school teachers have no degrees, he added.

Under the new regulations, students have to attend at least 40 hours a week compulsory lectures and seminars—some categories such as chemists have up to 58 hours—as well as their "private study."

World Bank Report

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The "world bank" has loaned $1,500,000,000 since the end of the Second World War and has been able to set aside $100,000,000 in reserve from profits received, the bank's top official said Sunday. Eugene R. Black, president of the international bank for reconstruction and development, said much of the loaned money has been repaid. He said the bank makes a profit of between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000 a year.

Temporary Victory

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — The president of the American Medical Association said Sunday his group has "temporarily won the battle against governmental control" by the election of Dwight D. Eisenhower and a Republican Congress. Dr. Louis H. Bauer, AMA president, spoke before the welfare committee of the Medical Society of New Jersey. The AMA has strongly opposed what it calls "socialized medicine" and has fought against some proposed government health measures, particularly compulsory health insurance.

Special Service Marks Re-opening Of Church

ROSENEATH (ENS)—A special service was held at St. James' Anglican Church on Sunday when the church was re-opened after being closed for the past month. The interior of the church has been redecorated and the chancel renovated. The rector, Rev. A. J. Patstone, was in charge of the service with Miss Doreen Nichol at the organ.

A baptimal service was also held when Wanda Diana, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Winkworth, was baptized. The Godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCracken.

Included in the large congregation were Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Brown, Peterborough. Mr. Brown, an Anglican lay reader, occupied the pulpit of St. James' Church for some time when the congregation was without a rector.

Go After Swindlers

LONDON (Reuters) — The Russian retail trade is riddled with "swindlers and rogues," the official Soviet Communist party organ says. Moscow radio, quoting the party paper Pravda, said "swindlers and rogues are everywhere infiltrating into the sales organization."

Find Economic Situation Still Unsatisfactory

PARIS (CP)—Despite a great recovery from Second World War destruction, Europe's economic situation is still far from satisfactory, says the report of the Organization for European Economic Co-operation.

The 400-page review by economic experts of the 18-country OEEC was made public Saturday night at the close of a two-day meeting in Paris headed by Britain's foreign secretary, Anthony Eden.

The solution to Europe's economic ills is "trade not aid," the report said. "Produce and produce more" was the slogan offered as a cornerstone for European economic policy.

Canada and the United States were represented at the conference. L. Dana Wilgress, Canadian undersecretary for external affairs, addressed delegates Saturday and outlined Canada's reasons for opposing trade restrictions.

MAKE NEW EFFORTS

The economic review said European countries must make new and co-operative efforts to boost production, especially of coal, steel and electric power and food. It added that the Commonwealth and the U.S. should join in working toward Europe's economic recovery.

On the bright side the report noted:

1. Industrial production is more than 1½ times what it was in 1947.

2. Imports are slightly ahead of the pre-war level while exports are up nearly two-thirds, showing a real effort to solve the balance-of-payments problem.

On the other hand, the report said, inflationary tendencies are rife in some countries, there is a lack of trade balance among some European countries themselves and an even more serious gap in payment balances between almost all the countries and the dollar area.

REVOLUTIONARY NEW SNOW AND ICE TIRE!

"Goodyear's Suburbanite best ever — bar none!" —say taximen, salesmen, private owners.

Here's an entirely new idea in tires for winter driving . . . Goodyear's remarkable new Suburbanite!

This new tire has a radical new design with 1,856 gripping edges. The tire rides through snow, doesn't "saw in". And on ice the gripping edges give more traction than any other tire made. Suburbanite backs up as smartly as it pulls ahead. The flexible cleats clean out snow, prevent packing the treads. Tread-noise is virtually eliminated.

Tests prove that Suburbanite is best in every respect in loose and packed snow, on ice . . . the driving hazards you run into most often in city and suburban driving.

Read what these users† (who tested the Suburbanite during the snowy winter of 1951-52) have to say:

Salesman (Ont.): "During February, when driving in a heavy storm of wet snow, I came upon a taxi equipped with ordinary snow tires. He could not get up a small grade covered with about 4 inches of wet snow. I was able to push him with my car, equipped with Suburbanites, without skidding or wheel slip."

Taxi Manager (B.C.): "I have put about 8,000 miles on these tires in all kinds of going over packed snow, sheer ice and fresh snow. I have no hesitation in recommending Suburbanite for any driver who requires traction over winter roads. Important in taxi work, they are practically noiseless over paved roads."

Police Dept.: "Suburbanites are doing a very good job. All the officers want to drive the Suburbanite-equipped car."

Reuther Learned Unionism At The Dining Room Table

By LEONARD RUPPERT (NEA)

DETROIT (NEA)—Thirty-five years ago, on Sunday afternoons in the industrial city of Wheeling, W. Va., four young boys sat around a table in their family dining room. For youngsters their discussions were strange. They talked about trade unionism, and as the boys argued knowingly, their father, a Socialist labor organizer, had a hard time concealing his approval.

Since then, Walter Reuther, one of the boys at that table, has grown up to become one of America's two top labor leaders, the new president of the CIO.

Unionism is Reuther's whole life. In battling his way to the top, he has been beaten up, fired from jobs and shot at. Yet the battering has only made his beliefs more entrenched.

A FITTING MOTHER

Ambitious and quick-minded, the 45-year-old dynamo is never at a loss for ideas. Some are practical, some are not. But whichever they are, he pushes them tirelessly. His enemies and admirers alike agree that "Damn the torpedoes, full speed ahead" would make a fitting motto for him.

The fact that Reuther rhymes with ruthless is said to be more than a coincidence, but even those who say it grant that he's a sharp, cold strategist. Well-informed and eloquent at the bargaining table, he's made a detailed study of the economics of making automobiles, and as United Auto Workers chief, the industry learned not to underrate him.

Neither is he bull-headed. He has proved he can let his ideas shift with the times. In 1949, for example, he objected to long-term "no-strike" agreements. He struck both Ford and Chrysler. Then, in 1950, he suddenly veered the other way and signed a five-year peace pact with General Motors.

KNOWS HOW TO WIN

Never afraid of a fight, Reuther knows how to win. Even more important he knows how to consolidate his victories. As head of the million-member UAW, he faced many foes, ranging from Communists and Norman Thomas Socialists to Coughlinites and Clansmen. He pulverized all of them.

Reuther is a fervent anti-Stalinist. Wherever he has found Reds in strategic union posts, he has weeded them out. He did it by beating them at their own game and proving to be a smarter maneuverer, organizer and politician. And he did it swiftly.

By 16, Reuther had already had his first brush with management. He'd been fired for attempting to organize his fellow tool and die makers in protest against Sunday work.

Reuther came to Detroit in 1926. By 1931, he had completed high school, three years of college night school, and was a foreman at Ford. In school, he organized his fellow students into a Social Problems Club and took them to join picket lines. He continued his union activities at Ford and in 1933 was fired for it.

WORKED IN RUSSIA

Failing to find work, Reuther and his brother, Victor, then made a tour of Europe. One of their stops was Russia where both worked 16 months in an auto-plant and became bitter anti-Communists.

→

Back in Detroit in 1935, the barrel-chested young organizer joined the infant UAW. In less than a year he was leading the union in the city's first major auto strike—a sit-down at Kelsey-Hayes Wheel Co.—and was a member of the union executive board.

Refused work by the auto companies, he got back at them by grouping all UAW workers in the city into one local. In a year, he upped the size of West Side Local 174 from 78 to 30,000 members. His reward was a first vice-presidency, won in 1942.

PRESIDENT IN 1946

Once he had worked up that high, Reuther was not to be stopped. By 1946 he was president, but his control was hampered by rival control of the executive board. This was overcome in 1947, and by 1949 he was getting re-elected by 90 per cent majorities and winning unprecedented bargaining powers.

The battle upwards earned him thousands of enemies and, in 1948, the enemies struck back. A shotgun blast through his kitchen window badly mauled Reuther's arm. "They got me, May," he shouted to his wife, later identifying "they" as "Communists, die-hard employers or a screwball."

Thirteen months later, a similar shotgun blast tore out the eye of his brother. And on Dec. 20, 1949, a Christmas-wrapped package containing 39 sticks of dynamite was left in the Detroit UAW building, just missed going off when the fuse burned out. All three crimes were unsolved.

After the attempt on his life, Reuther's executive board provided him with bodyguards and insisted he ride in a $12,000 bullet-proof car. To this he replied characteristically, "I'd rather ride in my old Chevrolet."

As UAW chief, he won regular pay increases, some peacefully, most not. One of his more controversial ideas was the "ability to pay" theory, advanced in a 1945 dispute wtih General Motors.

PRODUCE AIRPLANES

Before Pearl Harbor, he offered a plan for using the auto industry to mass produce airplanes. Many points of the plan later were accepted. During the war, he was a labor representative to several government agencies.

As president of the huge CIO, Reuther will have more power with which to enforce his ideas. These include a guaranteed annual wage, longer vacations, bigger pensions, pay raises, labor participation on corporation boards of directors.

Chunky, red-haired, fair-skinned, he has the knack of always looking fresh. He shuns liquor, tobacco and gambling, lives with his wife and two daughters in a brick and frame cottage in northwest Detroit.

He is described as a man who feels it is labor's responsibility to remake the world and is in a hurry to get on with the job.

Experts predict that his tenure as CIO president will not be as serene as that of his predecessor, Phil Murray: his opposition in the election fight was strong and expected to continue. But they also guarantee that it will not be dull.

REUTHER, TARGET: He still stuck to his old Chevrolet.

Would Cut Expenditures

LONDON (Reuters) — The Association of British Chambers of Commerce Sunday night asked Richard Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, to reduce government expenditure drastically in his budget next April. The association said federal and local taxes add 35 per cent to the selling price of Briths goods and services.

Canadian Wing Turned Over To NATO Forces

GROS TENQUIN, France (CP)—The RCAF No. 2 Fighter Wing was officially turned over to NATO Saturday by Canada's defence minister, Brooke Claxton.

The Canadians were welcomed to France by Defence Minister Rene Pleven.

The wing is made up of about 1,000 airmen and is the only NATO airbase in Europe equipped with the latest F-86 Sabre jet fighters. Three squadrons, or 60 of these jet fighters manufactured in Canada, were flown to Gros Tonquin, October 11.

The wing is the first of Canada's air contribution to the defence of Western Europe. Three more Canadian wings of 60 to 70 fighters each are due to be established within the next few months in Western Europe, one near Verdun in France and the other two close by in Germany.

Claxton handed over the three squadrons to Air Marshal Sir Hugh Saunders of the RAF, air deputy to Gen. Ridgway, NATO supreme commander. Pleven presented the Gros Tenqin airfield to NATO on behalf of his government.

COME IN PEACE

"Canadians have come to Europe in peace so as to make it unnecessary for them to come in war," said Claxton. "It is better to have airfields than cemeteries."

Claxton presented Pleven with an album of photographs of the wing "as a permanent souvenir of the friendship between our two countries."

Pleven described the base, constructed since May 19 of this year, as an example of the speed and efficiency of the defence effort of free peoples.

"In Canada as in France," Pleven said, "everyone has understood that whatever may be the uniorm he wears, an aviator, a soldier, a sailor of the Atlantic nations defends his country in defending all the others and there is in the universe only one frontier which counts, the one where liberty begins."

Pleven said no Canadian, whatever his language, is a foreigner in France and the presence of men such as those at Gros Tenquin would increase understanding between the two countries.

More than 300 officers and men of the Canadian wing paraded in biting cold during the ceremony which was attended by high-ranking Allied officers.

The ceremony opened with the unfurling of French and Canadian flags as 12 Sabres swooped low across the field.

BABY SAFE—Mrs. Fred Bond, 18, of oronto, looks long and gratefully at her seven-week-old daughter who was kidnapped from her carriage in front of the store in which the young mother was shopping. The baby was returned 11 hours later and Mrs. Beatrice Blower, 24, arrested on a kidnapping charge. It took Det.-Sgt. James Ledlie (left) a few minutes to convince Mrs. Bond and her husband that the child, in new clothes and her hair freshly cropped, was their own.

No One Knows Fate Of RCAF Officer

By BILL BOSS

IN KOREA (CP)—No one really knows what happened, but Sqdn. Ldr. A. R. MacKenzie's buddies are "pretty certain" that a Communist MiG jet fighter got him last Dec. 5.

Andy MacKenzie, 32, is the first Canadian fighter pilot reported missing in action in Korea. The Montreal flier, officer commanding No. 441 fighter squadron now stationed at North Luffenham, England, was last seen spinning to earth at 2:20 p.m. during a mission in which an enemy MiG was encountered.

(Air Force headquarters in Ottawa announced Dec. 8 that MacKenzie was missing on operations in Korea where he was sent in October for a tour of operations with the United States Air Force. He is the first RCAF casualty in Korea.)

MacKenzie, who won the Distinguished Flying Cross in the Second World War when he shot down eight enemy planes, had been in Korea only a month, flying F86 Sabre jets. He was on his fourth mission.

No one saw his parachute open but whether the Sabre crashed or made a crash-landing is unknown.

Reveal Korean War Has Cost 2,000,000 Military Casualties

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Korean was has cost more than 2,000,000 military casualties to both sides, according to the best information available here.

The figure is based on official announcement of losses by the UN allies and estimates by the high command of losses suffered by the Communists.

Of the 2,129,310 military casualties 364,370 have been suffered by UN forces and the remaining 1,764,940 are estimated to have been borne by the Communists, mostly by the Chinese Reds.

The figures do not include civilians, estimated in the tens of thousands. They do not cover all the fighting, especially during the last 60 days of bitter war for the peaks of central Korea, primarily between Chinese and Republic of South Korea troops.

ENEMY CASUALTIES

Estimates available to non-Communist sources say the Chinese Communists have suffered 795,119 killed and wounded. North Korean killed and wounded were estimated at 497,768.

The UN total of killed and wounded is 283,579, of which the RoK total is 158,678 and the U.S. total is 114,661. The other 15 countries with fighting forces have suffered a total of 10,240 killed and wounded. Canadian forces have 236 killed, 988 wounded and 29 missing or prisoners.

UN prisoner and missing lists total 80,791, of which the RoKs number 66,102, the U.S. 12,997, and the other UN members 1,692.

The RoK army toll is the UN's highest, with 35,031 listed dead, 123,647 wounded, and 66,102 missing, a total of 224,780.

The U.S., furnishing nearly half the UN combat manpower, listed in its weekly casualty report Dec. 10: 20,073 killed, 94,588 wounded, and 12,997 missing, for a total of 127,658.

Warning To Catholics

WARSAW (AP) — Polish newspapers Sunday published a letter instructing all Roman Catholics in Poland not to take part in "underground activities and economic diversions." The newspapers said the instruction was contained in an official declaration from the Polish episcopacy — the council of all the bishops, headed by the archbishop of Warsaw who is the newly designated Cardinal Stefan Wyszynsky. The declaration also warned against the "tendencies of alien propaganda" which it said is trying to make the church the "tool of anti-state political activities."

Reds Start Drive To Break Collective Farm Resistance

BERLIN (Reuters)—East German authorities have started a drive to break peasant resistance against the government's Russian-style collective farm program, East German press reports show.

About 1,000 collective farms, with some 38,000 members, were formed in four months after East German Deputy Premier Walter Ulbricht last July announced the start of the program.

A Communist central committee meeting has demanded that more farmers must be won over to the Communist cause.

Masses of peasants are unwilling to give up the land the Communists gave them after splitting East German estates. The core of resistance, under heavy fire in the communist press, is the class of "large farmers"—those with between 50 and 250 acres of land.

TAKEN HEAVY TOLL

The campaign against them has taken a heavy toll. In October alone, Western refugee authorities report, 2,100 large farmers fled to the West. Despite the poor harvest this year, additional burdens have been placed on the private farms, which pay more taxes and deliver more produce to the state than collective farms. They are also last in line for state help.

These obstacles have resulted in some farmers being heavily fined for non-delivery of their full quotas.

East Germany's two leading newspapers earlier this month printed identical articles attacking the large farm holders and calling for increased party help to peasants wanting to form collectives.

The article said peasants wanting to form a collective near Frankfurt-On-Oder had been attacked by "reactionary elements."

East Germany's first "model" collective farm at Worin near Frankfurt-On-Oder, has posted a round-the-clock guard on its pigsty to ward off "hate attacks," according to West Berlin reports.

There is much evidence in the East German press that the Communists are collecting data for the trial of many large anti-collective farmers.

Failure to fulfil quotas and raise cattle on party lines or the concealment of food are some of the "crimes" which can send a large farmer to jail for up to five years of hard labor for "sabotaging the food supply of the people."

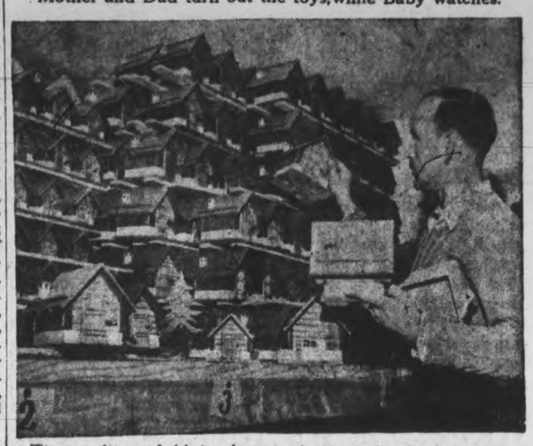
Wooden Toys Bring Fame To Tiny Alpine Town—

In the Christmas-like setting of an Alpine village, natives of the tiny community of Queyras, France, for many years have turned out tiny wooden figures and houses as toys for their children. Now, thanks to the enterprise of a French businessman who happened on the small community, the toymakers of Queyras have gained a measure of fame throughout France, where their toys are now sold in the smartest shops. During the long, snowbound winter evenings, whole families are engaged in turning out the wooden figurines, which have brought a new measure of economic security to the tiny community. "Pere Noel," France's Santa Claus, must be happy to have the aid of these skilled craftsmen during the Christmas rush.

Mother and Dad turn out the toys, while Baby watches.



Tiny replicas of Alpine homes are made by the hundreds.

Present Trend In Population Leaves Canada 32 p.c. British

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal branch of the Royal Empire Society believes steps should be taken to encourage more British people to migrate to Canada.

The branch has issued a 5,000-word pamphlet entitled "The Canadian People and Immigration." It gives immigration figures for the last 50 years and states that Canada's population probably will total 30,000,000 at the end of the century.

If present trends continue, said the pamphlet, approximately 32 per cent of the population will be of British origin, 30 per cent French and 38 per cent of other nationalities.

Now the population is 14,000,000—approximately 47 per cent British, 30 per cent French and 21 per cent from other countries. At Confederation the British percentage was 60 per cent of a population of 3,689,257. Of the remainder 31 per cent were French and eight per cent of other nationalities.

TREND QUESTIONED

The pamphlet says:

"Admitting freely that an infusion of many races gives vigor and enterprise to a nation, as it has to the British people, and with no reflection on the desirability as citizens of any race or group, thinking Canadians will still remember that our people, as they have been constituted since Confederation, have set the world an example of progress and stability in all their internal and external affairs which is nowhere surpassed.

"They may well question if the radical change in our population characteristics now in prospect is one we should willingly permit."

The pamphlet said that Britain can spare at least 500,000 people a year, many of them anxious to come to Canada. The cost of transportation appeared to be the main obstacle.

Since the end of the war in 1945, Canada has admitted 759,876 immigrants—235,991 from Britain, 58,342 from the United States, 188,572 from North Europe and 276,971 from other countries.

SOME OF THE LATEST IDEAS for your Christmas party dress and the accessories which should be worn. Above all, your dress should call for the minimum in trimmings.

Take Time To Select Accessories To Trim Your Christmas Party Dress

By DOROTHY BARKLEY

Dressing for a party is the one Christmas occasion which does not call for too much decoration. Most women, fortunately, will agree that a minimum of trimmings and furbelows create a far better effect.

But some party-goers still contrive to flaunt the "Christmas Tree look"—too much jewellery, too many artificial flowers, and a posse of bracelets worn at one and the same time. There is a simple explanation for this. It is caused by a lack of systematic planning. A great deal of time and trouble have been spent on choosing the dress—be it cocktail, evening or dinner; but too little time and trouble are spent on the accessories that are to be worn with it. Yet it is the accessories that mark the difference between a woman who is elegant and one who is merely well-dressed.

It is not only those who have money to spend on beautiful clothes who are the outstanding amongst party-goers. Those with original and inexpensive ideas of their own for accessories—even if the dress itself is two years old—can be equally successful.

Consider some of the ideas suggested here. Their success depends on the way you wear them. Can you carry them off with a flair, wearing them in an individual, not everyone elese's, way?

Starred for Christmas evening occasions are: Reversible shawl, with long black fringes. This particular model is in light-weight wool jersey—emerald green contrasted with black—and is simple enough to make yourself at home. If even a light-weight wool does not suit the climate, choose a fringed shawl in open-work lace pattern. It is the most fashionable complement for a cocktail or evening dress and is illustrated above.

Cocktail gloves, also illustrated. Do you realize that gloves are not merely something to keep the hands covered, concealed or warm, but can be the elegant accessory? Take these cocktail gloves for example. The way to be different with gloves this Christmas is to have them fringed, spattered with soapbubble sequins or trimmed round the cuff and side seam with a nylon frill. To be original, wear a bracelet outside the glove, as shown above.

The art of wearing flowers the fashionable way is an art to be acquired. This year, wear an outsize, double-centred rose pinned to the shoulder of the dress. Or make an "armlet" of flowers, sewn onto a band, and wear it just below the elbow. Again wear a pair of gold gipsy earrings and twine a tiny flower round each one. Or sew a group of artificial flowers to the corner of a handkerchief and let it trail from a hip pocket.

To give an unusual touch to your evening dress, why not have a mink (or other fur) choker and match it with a miniature fur muff? The muff can do double duty as an evening bag—if it has a zippered pocket in the lining.

If you want an evening bag in the newest shape, choose a circular one in transparent perspex, fastened with a gilt clasp.

Or a gay cap with a different air? The newest is simply a band of ribbed knitting pulled on over the head, 1920's style, and finished with any type of brooch from a coirngerm to costume jewellery.

Finally, go to the party in a mood to enjoy yourself, and not in the mood expressed by Proust: "Parties have little reality until the following day, when they occupy the attention of the people who were not invited.

Add 50 Years To Your Life

PETIT DE GRAT, N.S. (CP)—A washing machine, says Mrs. Adele Martell, will add 50 years to your life.

Mrs. Martell, now 96, has never owned one. But she wishes she had during the difficult years when she brought up 15 children in this Cape Breton fishing village.

"Seventy-five years ago this community wasn't much more than a pioneering settlement. Life was no easy chore.

"My husband had to go to the United States to get work and I was left at home to care for our children.

"That was a job in itself but there were times when I help load schooners with dry fish: And there was always wood to gather and store in the cellar for stormy weather.

"But when I look back at all the washing by hand and then think of the electric washing machines of today, I'm sure I'd live to be 150 if I had had one during my younger years."

Miss Jean Lang Guest Of Honor

COLDSPRINGS (ENS)—Some 75 relatives and friends gathered in Coldsprings hall Saturday night to honor Miss Jean Lang, RN, of Toronto, who is to be married on December 27 to Dr. Judson Taylor Hopkins of Chatsworth.

Miss Lang received her public school education at Coldsprings school when she resided with Mr. and Mrs. Newton McIntosh. She trained for a nurse in Kingston hospital.

An enjoyable evening was spent playing cards. High prizes went to Mrs. B. Hessin and Leslie McIntosh, low prizes to Mrs. Wilbert McMann and Stanley Jamieson.

Before lunch an address was read to the bride-to-be by Mrs. C. Challice and a number of beautiful gifts were presented. Miss Lang thanked all in a very pleasing manner. Lunch was served and a social half hour spent.

Kitchen Gadgets Installed To Aid Disabled Tenants

LONDON (CP)—Ingenious gadgets to facilitate household chores of physically disabled tenants are to be installed in houses and apartments controlled by Lambeth borough council.

The innovation is the outcome of a report from King's College Hospital, situated in the borough. It suggested the experiment after the supervisor of the hospital's physiotherapy unit found much of his rehabilitation work for women partially crippled by rheumatism, arthritis and the after-effects of stroke was frustrated by lack of facilities in their homes.

It was decided that alterations should be made to help patients occupying the council-controlled premises.

For a woman with only one good hand a potato-peeler will be screwed to the wall and other helpful devices provided.

For another whose hands are too crippled to turn a tap, a wooden lever will be fixed to each faucet so that it can be pushed on with the elbow. Where the problem is in lifting, the stove will be altered so that the oven, the burners and the sink will be at the same level, with a board placed between, along which pans and baking tins may be pushed.

Particularly helpful is a sturdy little trolley that serves as a combined crutch and tray, enabling a crippled housewife to move things about with comparative ease.

Enrol 12 Brownies At St. Andrew's Party Follows

Combined enrolment and a Christmas party for 1st St. Andrew's Brownies made a very special occasion of these girls on Saturday. Brown Owl Mrs. James McLeod enrolled them as follows: Sprites, Sharelle Seifried; Imps, Eileen O'Neill, Patsy Cowan, Sally Spearin, Jane Whiteley, Diane Hayes; Leprechauns, Eleanor Heard, Sandra Rome, Nancy Bacon, Ann Breckneridge, Jacqueline Fulton and Judy Burns.

Parents were present to see their daughters join Guide movement. Commissioner Mrs. J. R. Epping addressed the group briefly and Brownies returned the Brownie smile to her afterward.

A very happy time ensued when the Brownies entered into the spirit of their Christmas party. It commenced with a group of 42 Brownies singing two carols "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Good King Wenceslaus."

Jane Coleman recited a verse on "Brotherly Love." Rosanne and Barbara Goldbach played a piano duet and Mary Louise Bateman said a Christmas recitation. "Fairies" sang "Silent Night", and the Gnomes sang "Deck the Hall." Janet McLeod played a piano solo "Blue Danube."

The Imps put on a pantomine of "The Nigh Before Christmas" with Eileen O'Neill as reader. Duets were sung by Pamela Hocking and Ann Breckenridge and Penny Hilliard and Carol King, and Anne Reid gave a piano solo. The Leprechauns then sang a carol.

Three films shown were "The Pups' Christmas," "Snow Man in July," and "Present from Santa."

The splendid program was brought to a close with the arrival of Santa Claus who presented gifts to all the Brownies.

Brownies presented a lovely cup and saucer to Brown Owl Mrs. McLeod and a vanity case to Tawny Owl Mary Jane Hatton.

Refreshments were served by a group of mothers headed by Mrs. John Young. Those assisting were Mrs. Lorne Bateman, Mrs. A. Purdon, Mrs. F. M. Rawlings, Mrs. Fred Ford and Mrs. James Fraser.

Reserved View Taken On Love Letters

LONDON (CP)—The famous love letters of George Bernard Shaw and Mrs. Patrick Campbell have finally been published in Britain. Most literary critics take a reserved view of the result.

Under the heading "Lustless Lions at Play," Gerard Fay writes in the Manchester Guardian that publication of the letters will cause another plunge in Shaw's reputation as a man without adding anything to his name as a writer.

"An impassioned lover of more than middle age declining into a grumpy old man . . . is a sad character," writes Fay. "Shaw shows himself spiritually if not morally sordid in spite of internal evidence that what went on between him and Stella Campbell could have been put on the stage without offending the public morality council."

Author Rebecca West, writing in the Evening Standard, calls the correspondence as "desolate as a drained lake."

LONG CORRESPONDENCE

The letters are published (by Gollancz) under the title "Bernard Shaw and Mrs. Patrick Campbell: Their Correspondence." The exchange started in 1899 and continued off and on until 1939 reaching a climax in 1912-13 when Shaw's outpourings were at their most passionate.

Mrs. Campbell was a famous and talented actress. In a letter to her in February, 1913, Shaw started with the word "Stella" repeated 29 times. In a typical passage the same month, he wrote:

"I want my inspiration, my folly, my happiness, my divinity, my madness, my selfishness, my final sanity and sanctification, my transfiguration, my purification, my light across the sea, my palm across the desert, my garden of lovely flowers, my million nameless joys, my day's wage, my night's dream, my darling and my star."

Alberta Whan Is Married At Park St. Baptist Church

The wedding at Park St. Baptist Church Saturday afternoon of Miss Alberta Mildred Ruth Whan toMr. William Douglas Pugh of Hamilton was of special interest to the congregation of the church. Miss Whan is the daughter of their former minister the Rev. E. J. Whan and Mrs. Whan who left the city this past summer to take charge at New Sarum, Ontario.

The Rev. Mr. Whan performed the marriage of his daughter and she was escorted to the altar by her brother, the Rev. R. Lloyd Whan of Norwich, Ontario. Miss June Whan of Hamilton was her sister's maid of honor.

Mr. Pugh is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Pugh of Dorothy, Alberta, who could not attend the cermony. His groomsman was Mr. Roger Tedford of Toronto. Mr. James Whan of Fonthill, brother of the bride, and Mr. Max Tedford of Indian Rixer were the ushers.

The bride chose a wedding gown of white slipper satin with panels of lace and finished with lace sleeves coming to points over her wrists. A becoming half-hat of lace and satin was trimmed with pearls and orange blossoms which held her full, floor length veil. Her bouquet was of red roses. Her sister wore a gown in coachman's red, made of velvet-een with skirt of nylon net over taffeta. Her halo and gloves were of matching velvet and she carried a bouquet of white 'mums.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Whan chose a navy crepe gown and a hat of matching blue velvet and she wore a corsage of deep pink roses.

The reception of guests took place at the church with out-of-town friends there from New Sarum, Ingersoll, Norwich, Hamilton, Toronto, St. Catharines, Lindsay, Indian River, Fonthill and Lakefield.

Later the couple left on their honeymoon, the bride wearing a dress of winter white trimmed with red velvet, a brown coat and dark brown accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Pugh will live at 245 Grosvesnor Ave. S., Hamilton.

Find Television Audiences Mainly Adults

OTTAWA (CP)—Television influences more adults than children, the Canadian Film Institute reports in a study just completed of television's effect in an Ontario community.

The institute, formerly the National Film Society of Canada, is an organization promoting the educational and cultural use of films. The television survey was made during a period of more than a year in a southern Ontario community of about 4,000 population. This town had had TV reception from the United States for more than three years, over three or more channels.

The survey therefore does not cover possible changes in viewing habits since Canadian television went on the air this year from Toronto and Montreal.

CRITICAL VIEW

The writer of the report, Mary Jolliffee of Toronto, says that in the area under survey television audiences were mainly adult and such pastimes as bridge and bowling were losing patronage. Teenagers were said to prefer being active in the company of others their own age. Among the young set as a whole children of public school age were said to be most interested.

The survey said television has had a decided effect on family routine. "The entire living-room frequently is altered, and previous furniture discarded as unsuited to the new form of entertainment," it says. "In many solid, substantial Canadian households, TV now takes up more time than anything but sleeping and working."

Family Unity Strengthened By Gatherings On Holidays

DEAR MISS DIX: My brother and I want to go to a friend's house for New Year's Eve, but my father refuses to give his permission. He says that while his parents were alive the family always stayed together on that night to see the New Year in, and he wants us to do the same. Don't you think he is wrong? I am 16 and my brother is 17.

BETH.

ANSWER: While I sympathize with you in the desire to spend this gala night in the company of young folks, your father's wish to make it an occasion for a family gathering is so commendable that I must urge you to see his side of the story.

One of the trends of modern living that is greatly deplored by social and spiritual leaders is the breakdown of family life. Families, as a unit, do very few things together except sit down to meals —and even that small ceremony is often upset. Families do not make a general practice of praying together, attending church together or spending special occasions such as birthdays, anniversaries or holidays together. Obviously, a lone parent who makes a valiant stand to bring back some of these old customs in his own home is apt to play a losing game. Young people are too prone to scatter to four corners with their pals—and if they haven't been brought up to appreciate the sanctity of their homes, who is to blame them?

KEEP CUSTOMS ALIVE

Every family should have its traditions! Most families do have them, but it's surprising how many don't. Considering the wealth of ritual connected with many religions, the scope of traditional background involved in all national strains, it is indeed deplorable that fine customs have been permitted to die out as people become overconcerned with the practicality of everyday life.

Your father, Beth, is doing his best to bring you close as a family, and you should do everything to co-operate with him. Of course, since he refuses to grant permission for your party, you'll stay home anyway, but see that you do so with good grace and not just because of parental order. Wouldn't it be nice if you could contribute to the custom by suggesting something special for the evening —perhaps a particular food to be served every New Year's Eve, group singing of favorite songs, special friends to be invited, or anything that will become an integral part of "seeing the old year out and the New Year in"?

You, your parents and your brother can really have a celebration to outdo, in warmth and love, any outside party. Tell your friends, proudly, why you can't attend their party, and perhaps your father's example will inspire other parents to bring the holiday spirit into the home.

I hope you and your family have a fine time, Beth, and I'd like to hear more about it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 18, married to a man of 28. We have been married a year and I love him very much. He doesn't make much money and we can't afford high-priced food. At first, I spent hours over the stove preparing dishes I thought he would like, but he always fussed about hem. Now I am expecting a baby and I just cannot stand over the stove for a long time. I must cook quick meals and he fusses because I don't spend more time over his food.

MRS. C.

ANSWER: When you visit your doctor next, have your husband go with you and perhaps the doctor can make him realize how you feel about food at this time. Of course, the sickness will pass soon and you'll be able to resume your lengthy cooking sessions, but would it be worthwhile to work so hard over meals your man doesn't appreciate? Modern culinary art is becoming more and more concentrated on quick methods; you should learn to use them now. After all, with a small baby to care for, you won't have much time to spend on fancy cooking.

Go to the library with your problem and ask for books dealing with short-cut cooking, or read the sections on this subject in regular cook books. Women's magazines are full of suggestions for you; if you can't afford the higher-priced magazines, chain stores today sell splendid ones for a few pennies. Ignore your husband's complaints; apparently he complains whether the meal is a quickie or one that involved hours of preparation. He just seems to be a "hard to please" individual.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 16 and very lonely. I have a boy friend overseas who is writing to several other girls. I feel as though he doesn't care too much for me. He has been away for over a year.

VERONICA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are much, much too young to be so emotionally involved. The boy is quite right to correspond with other girls, and you should be going out with other boys. See your girl friends, too, but keep busy and overcome this horrible feeling of loneliness that is very out of place in a 16-year-old.

What's Right?

A letter comes to your house addressed to your husband and you know from the postmark and writing that it is from a member of his family.

FABRIC GIVES PLEATED EFFECT—A young English artist believes he has found a new texture design that will have a revolutionary effect. For 12 months he says he worked on what everybody thought was a fantastic experiment. When he had made the final test proving his experiment a success, he began looking for markets for his new fabric in Canada and the United States.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Buffet Supper On Five Dollar Level

Whether you live in a mansion or a one-room apartment your heart is wide open in this glorious Christmas season and your urge to entertain your friends knows no bounds.

You can do it too. You do not have to be the proud possessor of Sevres china (although if you are for goodness' sake use it) to give warm-hearted hospitality to your friends. If your supply of china and silver is small make your parties small. You can make up for the lack of worldly goods by your warm welcome and your cooking skill.

What I have in mind is a buffet supper that will not throw your food budget out of kilter, and that tastes heavenly.

This meal has an added attraction. The hot casserole I have in mind may be cooked in a pressure cooker if you have one and do not have an oven. Pretty good, eh?

BUFFET SUPPER
(Hi-Lo Income)

Tuna casserole (may be made in pressure cooker or baker).

Relish tray — Celery hearts, pickled beets, large olives. Pineapple ice-box cake, nuts, coffee.

You have come to know me well enough that when I star a dish it has flavor plus, and this tuna casserole is thus starred.

TUNA CASSEROLE
(Serves 5 tor 6)

(Directions for pressure cooking are below).

One 7-oz. can best tuna fish, 2 sliced hard-cooked eggs, 1 can condensed cream of mushroom or celery or chicken soup (I recommend the mushroom or chicken), ½ cup crushed potato chips, and 1 package frozen limas or peas. Dilute the soup by ading 1 can milk to it. Grease a 1-quart casserole and put in it half of the tuna which you have coarsely flaked, ½ of the limas or peas, half of the sliced egg and half of the diluted soup. Repeat. Cover top with crushed potato chips. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. about 30 to 35 minutes, or until bubbling. If to be cooked in pressure cooker, cover top with double thickness of wax or parchment paper, tie on securely. Place on rack in cooker, add ½ cup water to bottom, cover and bring pressure to 15 lbs. and cook 15 minutes, and immediately release pressure. Remove paper and sprinkle top with crumbled potato chips. (This topping to a pressure-cooked dish gives it a baked appearance.)

PINEAPPLE REFRIGERATOR CAKE (Serves 10)

One and one-half tablespoons gelatin, 6 tablespoons cold water, 1 2-3 cups crushed pineapple, undrained (do not use fresh pineapple for it will not jell), granulated sugar (see amounts below), 1½ tablespoons lemon juice, 2 8-inch sponge layers (or store-bought lady fingers), 1¼ cups heavy cream, maraschino cherries (or fresh strawberries if available) for garnish. Soak the gelatin in the cold water 5 minutes. Heat the pineapple to boiling. Remove from heat, stir in the soaked gelatin until dissolved. Add 6 tablespoons sugar and the lemon juice and chill until it BEGINS to set. Meanwhile split the cake layers and cut these in fingers, and use them to line the bottom and sides of a pan or glass dish about 10 x 6 x 2 inches. Whip ¾ cup of the cream and fold it into the still-soft pineapple mixture. Spread half of this on the cake in bottom of pan, top with another layer of cake fingers, then spread with remaining pineapple mixture, cover with remaining cake fingers, cut side down, pressing top gently with palm. Chill overnight. When ready to serve spread top with remaining cream whipped until stiff and sweetened with 2 teaspoons sugar and ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Cut in squares. Garnish each serving with sliced or whole maraschino cherries or sliced fresh strawberries. This may be made two days ahead of time if you wish and lady fingers may be used instead of sponge cake.

6—In Memoriam

POST—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Bruce Post, who passed away December 15, 1951.

In maple grove quietly sleeping,
Where the trees their branches wave,
Lies a dear dad and husband,
Who we remember every day.
He paid no one the last farewell,
He said "goodbye" to none.
His spirit fled before we knew
That he from us had gone.

—Lovingly remembered by wife Laura and daughter Betty.

See New Move To Break Iran's Deadlock

PARIS (AP) — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain lunches Tuesday with the United States secretary of state, Dean Acheson to take up a new 11th-hour move by President Truman's administration to break the Anglo-Iranian oil deadlock.

Informed officials said the broad outline of the American plan was submitted to the British foreign office Thursday by a state department policy expert, Paul Nitze. It suggested this sort of compromise:

1. Satisfaction of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's demand for compensation for its nationalized holdings in Iran. This would be through an international third party. Informants here did not confirm however, the Tehran reports that the world bank might do the paying.

2. Restoration of Iran's oil industry by an international group which would be entitled to market her output.

Eden's leisurely reaction — waiting until Tuesday to talk with Acheson about the plan — suggested Britain is not enthusiastic.

British informants recently said the foreign secretary got assurance from President-elect Eisenhower's incoming administration that it will continue to back Britain in her oil dispute with Iran.

Eden, therefore, may not be going too much out of his way to commit his government on any plan from the Truman administration.

MacArthur Plans Formosa Visit

TAIPEH, Formosa (Reuters) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur will visit Formosa after his trip to the Philippines next February, reliable Chinese Nationalist sources said today.

His arrival would coincide with that of John Foster Dulles, whom Chinese sources expect here about mid-February after assuming office as secretary of state.

Nationalist sources said MacArthur, former United States Far Eastern commander, "will assess the military situation on Formosa as part of a wider survey of the strength of anti-Communist countries in Asia.

The Nationalist world news agency said MacArthur's Far Eastern tour is for the same purpose as Dulles'—to find a solution to the Korean conflict and at the same time promote anti-Communist unification and military co-operaiton.

May Charge Driver, 61 After Car-Truck Crash

LINDSAY — (ENS) — Charges are pending against a 61-year-old Lindsay man following a Saturday night accident, in which he drove his car into a parked truck on Kent Street west, driving it four feet over the sidewalk, and knocking down a parking meter.

John Copeland, of R R 1 Lindsay, was driving west on Kent Street on Saturday night, when his car collided with a parked truck, owned by Scott Taylor of Little Britain, in front of the Public Library.

Litte damage was sustained by the truck, a three-ton vehicle, but it was pushed four feet west, and four feet north over the curb and knocking down a meter. Mr. Taylor was sitting in the cab of the truck at the time but was not injured. Copeland suffered a fractured rib and cut to forehead and hand. Damage to his old-model car was about $600.

Warn Russ Citizens On Spending Habits

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda warned Russian citizens today that they'd better keep a close watch on the spending habits of their close relatives and tell the government if they start living beyond their means.

Pravda also implied that relatives who benefit from the wrongdoing of embezzlers and thieves also should be punished

"Vigilance also is necessary inside families. It is the direct duty of close relatives to protect every member of the family from a serious sin against society," said the Communist party organ.

531 Electors Cast Votes For President

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 531 presidential electors today formally cast their votes to elect the next chief executive of the United States.

Under the constitution, the electoral college has the legal right if it wishes to elect Governor Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate—or anyone else.

But there would be almost no risk in predicting a 442-to-89 victory for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

That's the way the states' voters indicated they wanted their electors to vote today when Eisenhower, the Republican candidate, was swept into office by a record 33,927,549 votes to Stenvenson's 27,311,316 last November 4.

However, most electors are legally free to vote as they please. Few states bind electors by law to vote for the candidate who carries the state.

EXTREMELY RARE

Nevertheless, wrong-way electors are extremely rare. Only three out of 14,379 electors in the country's history have voted "for others than whom they were commissioned," according to a former electoral college president.

Latest such case occurred in 1948 when Tennessee went for President Truman but one of the state's 12 electors cast his vote for J. Strom Thurmond, States Rights candidate.

The final step under the electoral college system comes on January 6 when Congress meets to record the results, with the presiding officer of the state tolling off the electors' votes.

Expel 8 Reds From Morocco

CASABLANCA (AP) — French authorities today threw eight more Communists, including three Soviet citizens, out of this troubled North African protectorate.

They named the Russians as Victor Sokolof, Denis Verda and Tamara Ouss, whose wife was ousted several days ago.

This brought to 20 the number of Communists expelled from Morocco to France as a result of the bloody uprising a week ago.

Frenchmen here meanwhile expressed belief that the stern measures being taken to put down nationalism will guarantee Morocco years of peace. Moroccan nationalists, like those in Tunis, are fighting to win independence from the French.

In Casablanca alone nearly 1,000 persons have been arrested.

Mention Three Reeves As Counties Warden

COBOURG (ENS). — Two and a possible third have been mentioned as candidates for Warden of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council, who will be elected when the January session convenes on January 20. Reeve Allan Beer of Bethany, Reeve of Manvers Township, and Reeve J. H. Lowery of Orono, Reeve of Clarke Township.

The third man mentioned is R. W. Nichols of Courtice, Reeve of Darlington Township. Mr. Lowery has been in Counties Council the longest of the three.

As is the custom, the Wardenship alternates between Northumberland and Durham. This year Northumberland had the Wardenship in Warden Harry Campbell, and next year the honor goes to Durham County.

Last 2 Foreign Priests Sent From Nanking

HONG KONG (Reuters) — The last two foreign priests in Nanking, formerly the Chinese Nationalist capital, have been "banished for ever," Roman Catholic Church sources said today.

Two Franciscans, Rev. Gerbert Dierksmier of Germany and Rev. Raoul Falaise of France, arrived in Hong Kong Sunday after 16 months of house arrest by the Communists, Catholic sources said.

The priests had been charged with opposing the Communist-approved "progressive church movement."

3 Explosions Damage Gasoline Barge

NEW YORK (AP) — Three explosions and a racing fire badly damaged a small empty gasoline barge and injured two crew members early today.

The blazing craft was pulled from shore and was towed to a drydock after the flames had been extinguished. A wooden pier was partially destroyed.

Cause of the explosion and fire was not determined immediately.

Fire Destroys Home

Trying To Prod Wage Program Back Into Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States government prodded its limping wage stabilization program back into action today to accommodate unions and employers with 12,000 wage boosts awaiting official approval.

Administration of the entire pay controls set-up was changed during the week-end when President Truman, despairing of getting industry men back into service on the wage stabilization board, turned the problem over to Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam.

Putnam, whose own resignation takes him out of government in a few days, handed the issue to chairman Charles C. Killingsworth and three other public members of the WSB. They were empowered to carry on wage controls.

ASKED TO STAND BY

Instead of the WSB with equal numbers of members representing the public, industry and labor, Killingsworth and his three public members are to administer wage controls. They asked the labor members to stand by for "advice" in handling future cases.

It seemed probable that, although Putnam held out hope for wooing industry men back to posts on the wage board, pay curbs in the five weeks until the new Republican administration comes into power would be handled by Killingsworth's wholly-governmental set-up.

The controversy leading to this situation was set off when Truman approved all of a coal miners' negotiated raise after the WSB had approved only part of it. The WSB's industry members resigned

Peacetime Revolution

LONDON (Reuters) — The Times says today President Truman has led the greatest peacetime revolution in United States policy. It says "Anyone less endowed with moral purpose or with a lower sense of responsibility might have been content to swing with the tide of opinion. As it was the man who had been almost unknown. . .led the greatest revolution in policy that America has known in time of peace."

HO HUM AT UN — Delegates at the General Assembly listen vacantly to a Chinese National delegate charge France with being deaf to the Tunisian issue. Use Of Atomic Energy As Fuel Seen Years Away

By ELTON C. FAYE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The use of atomic energy instead of coal or other standard fuels to produce electric power economically still may be anywhere from 10 to 50 years away.

The wide range of estimates by some of the top nuclear physicists and industrial experts of the United States appeared Saturday night in a 400-page report of the joint congressional committee on atomic energy.

The committee itself made no effort in the report to arrive at conclusions or make recommendations.

However, the material did show whether and how private enterprise can enter the atomic energy field, now one of strict government monopoly. Among other points developed were these:

1. The proposal for "dual purpose" atomic energy plants stands high in consideration of methods by which industry could participate in a program which costs billions. Such a plant would produce for the government the plutonium it requires for atomic weapons. At the same time and as part of the same production of fissionable material it would produce, during the manufacturing process, enormous quantities of heat which could run turbines for electric power gentration.

2. The financing of an atomic plant for only power production, except for a limited size or experimental plant, might be difficult or impossible. Utility executives told the committee that they could not obtain capital for risk ventures "running onto tens of millions of dollars." There were estimates that the atomic reactor "furnace" end of such a plant alone might cost $40,000,000.

3. But despite the problems of financing and other questions of economics and techniques still unsooved, chairman Gordon Dean of the AEC felt there was an "upswing in optimism," including recent reports by four groups of utility and chemical companies which explored the feasibility of economical power production from atomic energy.

Deal To Sell Iranian Oil Said Spoiled By Acheson

TEHRAN (AP)—A high Iranian Government official in a bristling parliamentary address today blamed most of Iran's woes on a policy "imposed" by the U.S. State Secretary Acheson. He said American sympathy for Iran in the bitter oil dispute with Britain had been nullified by Acheson's actions.

Hussein Maki, secretary-general of Premier Mossadegh's nationalist party, accused Acheson of blocking all Iranian steps to remedy the situation. He charged Acheson prevented prospective American customers from buying Iranian oil and acted under the influence of the big American companies which, he said, are members of an international cartel of five American and two British firms.

DO NOT EXPECT CHANGE

Deputy Speaker Seyid Ahmad Razavi interposed to ask how Maki could expect a change in American policy under the new government since the same big companies supported President-elect Eisenhower.

Maki replied that he had no expectations the new U.S. Government would do anything in Iran's favor. He said Iran must attempt to make its nearly bankrupt economy healthy without oil income.

"Damn the oil which jeopardized our independence. What we want from Democrats or Republicans is only that they should not co-operate with British policy," he said.

Iran's economy has been hard hit since Mossadegh nationalized the vast holdings of the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. last year.

RETURNED FROM U.S.A.

Maki recently returned from the United States in an apparently unsuccessful attempt to interest smaller oil companies in buying oil. Since his return, local newspapers have quoted him as saying that he had documentary proof that the U.S. State Department aided the fall of the Mossadegh regime last July when Premier Ahmed Qavam ruled briefly. After three days of bloody rioting Qavam quit and Mossadegh again took up the reins.

The U.S. Embassy yesterday issued a denial, saying: "The Government of the United States . . . had no connection whatsoever with the events of July in Tehran."

In his speech today, Maki said he had been misquoted in the local press to the effect that he had documentary proof, but he said he had "reasons" for his allegations of U.S. State Department interference.

On his recent trip, he said, he obtained information in Texas that Acheson had "instructed" Texas oil engineers and other technicians to leave for Abadan immediately after Qavam became premier. Abadam is Iran's big oil refinery centre.

"This shows Churchill and Acheson were collaborating to bring Qavam to power," he told the deputies.

Olympic Swimmer Jailed For Theft

BRIGHTON, England (Reuters)—Jean Caplin, 22, 1948 Olympic swimmer who said "the bottom dropped out of my world" when she wasn't chosen for the 1952 team, today was sentenced to one year in jail for theft.

She pleaded guilty to stealing property from a sports stadium and asked for 11 other offences to be taken into consideration.

The magistrate told her she was a "person without any moral character at all."

"Just because you were disappointed at a certain stage of your swimming career you seem to have let yourself go to pieces completely," he said.

Plays Trumpet Solo

MANCHESTER, Eng. (Reuters) Conductor Sir John Barbirolli Sunday night handed his baton to an alderman and convulsed audience and orchestra with a solo on a toy trumpet. The occasion was a performance of Haydn's Toy Symphony. His substitute, Alderman W. Collings, is a conductor with 40 years experience — in a local Salvation Army band.

200 Research Projects Are Underway

REGINA (CP)—The University of Saskatchewan is achieving fame in various fields of research, both scientific and non-scientific.

University President Dr. W. P. Thompson, in his annual report, lists about 200 separate research projects now being carried on at the university. Subjects range from studies of radiation, cancer and blood-clotting to such non-scientific research as study of Greek literature and an economic survey of the development of the city of Saskatoon.

The university's department of physiology has earned an international reputation for its work on blood clotting, under the direction of Dr. L. B. Jaques. This work has been carried on with the aid of a radio-active tracer technique developed by Dr. J. W. T. Spinks, head of the university's chemistry department.

PIONEERS IN FIELD

Dr. Thompson says Saskatchewan scientists were pioneers in this field and have remained several jumps ahead of other centres.

The chemistry department also is working on the concentration of uranium ores, extraction of lignite and cereal chemistry.

The university installed the first cobalt bomb for cancer treatment at its hospital. The unit was designed by Dr. H. E. Johns of the physics department and built on the campus.

The university also is pioneering cancer treatment by other radiation techniques by the use of a 25,000,000-volt betatron presented by the atomic energy commission. This machine is being used in co-operation with the Saskatchewan cancer commission and 15 scientific papers have been published on work carried out with the betatron.

The university has been doing research on the aurora, or northern lights. This has produced results on the effects on compass direction finding and radio transmission.

CEMENT RESEARCH

Work done by Dr. T. T. Thorvalson on the chemistry of cement has resulted in the development of a commercial cement which is resistant to deterioration through the action of sulphates.

The biology department has carried out fundamental studies into the physical and biological conditions of lakes in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta and this has been put to practical use in increasing the fish harvest at Great Slave lake.

Research done by the agricultural college has resulted in the development of such grains as apex wheat, fortune oats, royal flax and alpha sweet clover.

Lie-Detector Tests Failure

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Police said today lie-detector tests had failed to link Wendell Hall, 49, and his son, Travis, 27, with the $7,128 bludgeon massacre of Gard Young and three small children.

They said both the father, held here, and the son, held in San Francisco, would be released unless further questioning developed tangible clues. Both Halls denied any link with the robbery killings. They were jailed on a technical holding charge.

The Halls were arrested last Saturday police said when an anonymous informant told them the father and son talked with him about a planned robbery of a man named Young. Gard Young, his two small daughters and a neighbor boy were beaten to death near their Chester, Calif., home Oct. 10.

Has 176th Birthday

ALLAHABAD, India (Reuters)—A local paper here reported recently that Baba Harainsingh has celebrated his 176th birthday and hopes to live for another 25 years. The paper said Baba had grown a complete new set of teeth, the previous ones having fallen out when he was about 100 in the 1870s. His grey hair is also turning black again.

Canadian Prisoners Get Battle-School Training

By CORLEY SMITH

SEOUL, Korea (Reuters)—Canadian military police are using tough, battle-school training to discipline offenders from the Commonwealth forces in Korea who reach their detention camp here.

In November, there were 99 prisoners in the camp, comprising 71 Canadians, 19 Britons, two Australians and seven New Zealanders.

Most of the men serve sentences of between 72 hours and 30 days, though Canadians can serve up to nine months in the camp and other Commonwealth troops up to three months.

The prisoners leave fit and strong —and eager not to go back

The policy is to make their days as tough as life in the front-line trenches so that troops do not find it profitable to desert or be ill-disciplined.

LOSE RIGHTS

From the moment a prisoner enters the barbed-wire compound, built around a former Korean school, he loses his right to all the amenities which Commonwealth troops normally enjoy—no movies, no canteen supplies, no tea, no beer—and worst of all, no conversation.

He is forbidden to smoke. If he is found in possession of cigarets or chocolate he is charged with having "contraband."

He may not speak to any other prisoner, though he may address the camp staff. And he must move everywhere on the double unless he is in a marching column.

PHYSICAL CULTURE

Four times a day, each man goes over an assault course—diving through barrels, climbing high wooden walls, swarming along ropes until every muscle aches. Then there is hill climbing which the prisoners go through for 3½ hours every day except Sundays, with full packs.

The man with the longest sentence on the camp books was a Canadian serving eight months for selling a jeep. When I visited the camp, he had escaped for the second time. If recaptured he would probably be sent to serve a long sentence elsewhere.

Most of the prisoners are on full army rations. Punishment diets are given men who break camp rules. These get one pint of gruel a day and one pound of bread.

For more serious offences, prisoners are locked in solitary confinement in wooden cabins and get only bread and water. Four men were "in the boxes" when I went to see the camp.

In one way, prisoners have a better life than men in the trenches they get more time to sleep. The 10 hours rest they get between lights-out at 7:30 p.m. and reveille at 5:30 a.m. is far more than the average soldier in the front line enjoys.

NAAFI Doing Big Business In Korea

• By CORLEY SMITH

SEOUL (Reuters)—The British NAAFI organization, equivalent to the Canadian dry canteen system, is doing a booming business in Korea with four thatch-roofed roadside stores, designed to look like centuries-old British inns.

At the NAAFI roadside stores, troops of all the UN fighting forces can buy tax-free cigarets and tobacco—at between a third and a quarter of the regular price—as well as candy, chocolate, toothpaste and a score of other items.

With a long tradition of serving Commonwealth forces behind it, NAAFI brings the solid comforts of a good general store and inn to British forces whether they be in the heart of London or the Korean front line.

Its full name—seldom used—is the Navy, Army and Air Force Institutes.

Here in Korea, the NAAFI's main job is to provide Commonwealth units with the stores the men want to buy. For the fastidious, it even keeps supplies of such items as anchovies, stuffed olives and liquers.

But NAAFI also runs a fleet of canteen trucks which take hot tea, sandwiches and cake, often under shellfire, to troops in forward areas. The drivers of these trucks, as one officer put it, "go up as far as they are allowed and a bit farther."

So highly organized is the service in Korea now that troops at the battlefront even get periodic visits from mobile gift shops. At these, a man can sign an order form and have delivered to his family at home a wide range of presents from Japanese dolls to fresh-cut flowers.

In Seoul, the U.S. post exchange store provides an excellent service for most Americans' needs. But a constant stream of U.S. troops from the front also passes through the Seoul NAAFI every day.

For the Canadian brigade in Korea, NAAFI supplies whisky and cigarets from Canada so that Canadians can smoke and drink their favorite brands.

Dollars earned from sales to the Americans and Canadians are credited to the British treasury in London and NAAFI gets sterling in exchange. All profits are used for servicemen's welfare and service charities.

Commissioned Ranks Open To Army Cooks And Clerks

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The army is preparing an attack from two flanks to find enough men to cook its meals and push its pens.

For a long time now it has been confronted with the fact that not nearly enough young Canadians want to be army cooks and army clerks.

There also is a shortage of young men to blow the army's musical instruments and run its other trades. But the cook and the clerk are the prize objectives.

PROMOTION PROSPECTS

So, from one side, the army is opening up greater opportunities. For the first time, it has become possible for cooks or clerks to progress up to commissioned rank and to become lieutenants or captains in those special fields, getting what are called classified commissions. Hitherto, they stopped short of officerhood.

One general had his young son come back from cadet camp this summer with an opinion the general could only consider profound. The youngster said: "The army would be a lot better off if it spent less money on food and more on cooks."

Something of that revolutionary spirit has crept into the new era.

On the other flank, the army is attacking with a revival of the pre-war apprentice plan. It will be touched off in January when an estimated 200 16-year-olds go to five training schools to learn various trades.

Some will become cooks, some clerks, some bandsmen—the army is so short of bandsmen it is recruiting them abroad—some engineers, some wireless operators, other mechanics and other types of tradesmen.

In the first two years of their five-to-seven-year hitches, they will be well looked after. Corporals will live with and mother groups of them. They will live apart from older soldiers, will have recreation, hobbies and outside interests. The wet canteen will be out of bounds.

The blend of military, trades, academic and athletic training they get will give them a good running advantage over the average soldier who enlists at 17 or later. The army can cite various brigadiers and colonels of today who started in the pre-war years as apprentices.

The army would like all the applicants it can get so that it can pick and choose. The interest so far—particularly in Quebec—has been

"IT'S AN ILL WIND"—And the good that this winter's first great storms blew in was an opportunity for some old-fashioned fun. At left, a snowman with a penchant for travel arrives in the Inman Yards of the Southern Railway at Atlanta, Ga. The frosty visitor from the north arrived in the form of snow-laden cars, and workers transformed the white stuff into an icy "boomer." Conductor J. R. Hanie puts the finishing touches on the creation. Above, the Dean Evans family, of Salina, Kan., resurrected this cutter, the pride of another generation, and treated the neighborhood children to a real, old-fashioned sleigh ride.

Dr. Jordan Says

Doctors Are Still Defenseless Against Another Flu Disaster

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, MD

One has to be about 50 years old or more to be able to remember very well the great world-wide influenza epidemic of 1917-18. Those who cannot remember that frightening experience may have difficulty in believing the suddenness with which apparently healthy men, women and children were suddenly struck down.

Many collapsed within a few minutes. Many quickly developed pneumonia and died almost before anyone realized they were sick.

The medical profession was practically helpless and could only try to insist that victims of the dread flu stay quietly in bed until fully recovered.

Too often this advice was difficult or impossible to follow; many times an entire family was laid low at the same time and the mother or father would creep out of bed to take care of the rest, thus taking a risk which was often fatal.

Since that great epidemic other less serious epidemics have occurred. But what is alarming is that our defenses against another disaster such as that of 1917-18 are little better now than they were then. This is true even though the cause has been identified as a virus, or perhaps several viruses, and other new knowledge has been added.

It is doubtful that any treatment known today would be much more effective in counteracting the flu than those available 35 years ago. When it comes to prevention, the outlook is a little more promising. Vaccination has been tried, but because there are several kinds of viruses involved, building up resistance to one does not mean that the next one which comes along will not knock us down.

RESEARCH GOES ON

The time may not be far distant when vaccination will bring protection, and indeed some of the most intelligent scientists in the world are working on this problem, but until this can be accomplished, we are helpless to resist the disease.

Influenza strikes the healthy and strong as readily as the weak or infirm. Indeed the man who has "never been sick a day in his life" and then gets the flu is perhaps running the greatest risk of all, because he is not accustomed to giving in to illness.

We can only hope that no serious epidemic lies in the future, but judging by the past history of the disease, it is likely to strike again in violent form, sometime.

Sees Canada-U.S. Friendship Weakening Over Policies

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (CP)—A Yale University political expert said Sunday night that the long and historic friendship between Canada and the United States is weakening.

Professor Frederick M. Watkins, who came to Yale recently after serving on the political science and economics faculty of McGill University, said Canadians are afraid of an "unwise and impulsive move" by Americans which would explode the Korean war into a third world war.

Watkins is a United States citizen.

Canadians do not trust American foreign policy, he said. "The feeling of these Canadians is that the interests of Canada and the other western nations are constantly being jeopardized by inept decisions over which they have no control," Watkins said in a Yale radio program.

Furthermore, the election of Gen. Eisenhower as President has "failed to produce any upsurge of confidence in American foreign policy, either in Canada or elsewhere," he said.

He said Canadians deeply appreciate American efforts to resist Soviet aggression, but they doubt whether American statesmen will live up to their responsibilities.

He recommended, however, that the United States make Canadians feel they are genuine partners in any alliance. "Then we would win wholehearted support of Canada," Watkins said.

Pansies Blossom

TORONTO (CP)—Winter? Six pansies blooming in Mrs. H. R. Skilling's garden evidently don't think so. "I was truly surprised and thrilled to see them," said Mrs. Skilling. "The mild weather must have had something to do with it."

Plan Nativity Cribs

TORONTO (CP)—Three nativity cribs will be erected on the University of Toronto campus, it was announced Saturday. One will appear in the window of the University Bookstore and others in St. Michael's and Trinity College grounds. The cribs are being erected at request of members of the Bring Christ Back to Christmas campaign.

May Ask Women Form Fire Brigade

BAIE D'URFE, Que. (CP)—Unless 18 males residents of this town 18 miles west of Montreal volunteer, an appeal may be made to the women-folk of the district to form a volunteer fire brigade.

The Baie d'Urfe Citizens' Association asked in its monthly bulletin that the men show an interest in the fire brigade question.

"Are there 18 men of brawn and intelligence in town who are home with enough regularity that, say, 14 would be on hand any evening to fight a fire?"

"If not, should we have an all-women fire brigade? Or what?"

German General Keeps Job Under Many Masters

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN (AP)—Systems come and systems go, but the German officer goes on forever.

Dynamic General Vincenz Mueller is the new chief of staff of the Russian zone's growing Red Army.

Mueller, professional soldier, has vaulted from the Kaisers through the Nazis to the Communists with remarkable ease.

The only pattern one can find in Mueller's experience is his rubber-ball habit of bouncing into position to capitalize on fate.

Mueller's Catholic background and his current fealty to the Communist state is a paradox in itself. Born in Bavaria 58 years ago, young Vincenz grew up in a Bavarian monastery. Even today he has an austere, monastic outlook on most things.

He became an officer in the Kaiser's First World War army and after its collapse, Mueller managed to wrangle a spot on the general staff of the Reichswehr, the organization Field Marshal Von Seeckt secretly built into the solid nucleus for Hitler's rampaging armies two decades later.

The stormy 1930's found Mueller serving as adjutant for General Kurt Von Schleicher. The Hitler purge, which cost Schleicher his life, slid past young Major Mueller as though he wasn't there.

By the time the Second World War broke, he had risen to chief of staff of the 17th Army.

RUSSIAN VICTORY

Disaster struck the general, now a three-star, when he took the German Eighth Army deep into the Soviet Union in 1942 and Stalingrad turned the tide in the Russians' favor.

Nazi generals and officers fell to the Soviet scythe. But Mueller bounced again. He quickly joined forces with the Kremlin's "free German committee."

Mueller's first task for the Reds was to organize the National Democratic party, consisting of former Nazis who professed a new-found allegiance to Moscow. As the political secretary and deputy chairman, he was and is the real boss of this outfit.

Some Germans think Mueller is playing for bigger game. They believe he is counting on the day the Socialist Unity (Communist) party may lose favor with the Kremlin and he can promote his own NDP to the top hole.

SKIPPER ADRIFT — Adan Graetz, 24-year-old captain of an Israeli ship, has been ordered from his command by his father, owner of the ship line. Young Graetz, reported to be suffering from a nervous breakdown, threatened to scuttle his ship if his father did not get an Israeli cabinet post.

15 Traffic Deaths

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—London's 1952 traffic fatalities reached a record of 15 Sunday with the death in hospital of Lillian Pegler, 73, struck by a car seven weeks ago. The city had 14 traffic deaths in 1937 and again in 1950.

Boulder Hits Train

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—A huge boulder thundered down a mountainside about 45 miles from Rio Saturday, smashed into a passenger coach of a Sao Paulo-Rio train and killed six persons. Fifteen others were injured. Heavy rains were thought to have loosened the stone.

4 Africans Hanged

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—Four Africans were hanged at Thomson's Falls Saturday for Mau Mau cult killings of fellow Africans. They were the first Africans to be hanged since anti-white activity flared up in Kenya, creating a state of emergency in the British colony.

Tossed Into Lake

GODERICH (CP)—Alex Mallough, 18, was tossed into the icy waters of Lake Huron Saturday when a cable whipped taut and caught him in the chest while he was working on the outer breakwater. Mallough swam 20 feet to the breakwater and was pulled into a boat, none the worse for the plunge.

Youth In Hospital Suffers Bad Burns

KINGSTON (CP)—William N. Sinnett, 20, is in critical condition in hospital here after suffering severe burns to his entire body Saturday night when his clothes caught fire.

A mass of flames, Sinnett rushed down two flights of stairs to the street after his clothing apparently ignited from a match or cigarette while he slept.

Hospital authorities say his chances of recovery are slim.

Cafe Robbed

MONTREAL (CP)—Three men, one of them armed, robbed a midtown cafe of $3,000 early Sunday, striking one of two night watchmen with an iron pipe and tying up the other. Elphege Martel, 55, suffered a cut to the head that required 10 stitches.

MPs Demanding Claxton Resign Over Army Scandal

Intend To Give Railways Boost Cover Wage Raise

OTTAWA (CP)—The board of transport commissioners intends to give the railways a freight-rate increase to cover the cost of their 16-cents-an-hour wage boost to non-operating employees, Mr. Justice John D. Kearney, chief commissioner, said today. The announcement was made at the conclusion of a 1½-day hearing on a railway application for a nine-percent increase in rates to produce about $43,000,000 a year for the carriers. Mr. Justice Kearney said the requested increase will be granted if examination of the railways' figures showed that the nine percent in rates would cover only revenue to meet the new wage costs.

He added, the nine per cent will be authorized "if we are convinced, as seems pretty clear, that the case has been stripped of extraneous material."

There did not seem much room for the exercise of judgment, the chief commissioner said. It was a matter of verifying the railway figures.

NOTHING EXTRA

Railway witnesses at Monday's opening session on the rate case testified that cost estimates in their submissions related solely to the increased labor bill resulting from the companies' acceptance of the majority report of a federal conciliation board dealing with their dispute with unions representing 144,000 non-operating employees.

The railways said Monday the cost of the wage increase for employees engaged directly in freight and passenger rail operations would be $42,100,000 for the two major companies, and about $52,700,000 including all categories of workers who would receive it.

They estimated the nine-per-cent rate increase would cross them $43,351,000.

NO DATE SET

A second nine-per-cent application now is before the board, but it is based on a claim by the Canadian Pacific Railway — the "yard stick" line for rates — that it should receive a greater yield than at present on its investment in railway property.

This has been set down for a hearing in January, with the date not specified.

Japanese Tells Weird Tale Dual Espionage

TOKYO (AP) — National rural police said today they had arrested a Japanese radio operator who told a weird tale of double-dealing espionage. He said he had made millions of yen spying for the U.S. in the guise of a spy for Russia.

A foreign office spokesman said police are investigating reports of an international spy ring. But he added that unless American secrets are involved, nothing can be done to the spies. Japan has no law against espionage.

Police said the radio operator, Masao Mitsuhashi, told this story:

He was repatriated from the Soviet Union in 1947 and was questioned by Allied counter - intelligence men. He admitted that Moscow had given him the mission of transmitting information of occupation matters to the Soviet Union by radio.

He was subsequently released under American surveillance and later offered to become a member of the American Counter-intelligence Corps (CIC).

SENT CODED MESSAGES

Unaware of the switch, Soviet agents in Japan used Mitsuhashi to send coded messages to the Soviet Union and North Korea about three times a month. Each time, Mitsuhashi said, he showed the message to American authorities and received money as reward. At the same time he was accepting pay from the Russians. American sources here declined to comment.

Japanese police said a radio transmitter confiscated at Mitsuhashi's house was a "superlative" instrument made in the U.S. Earlier reports had said the transmitter was Russian-made.

A foreign office report said the messages were sent to Vladivostok, Siberia.

The case took another weird turn with a report by the newspaper Yomirui that another man had come forward and claimed he was the real Masao Mitsuhashi and that the man arrested by police was an imposter.

The new Mitsuhashi said the story told by the jailed man coincides with his own, Yomiuri reported, and he claimed the jailed man had stolen his background record.

The Mitsuhashi in custody is charged with violation of the Japanese Radio Control Act by sending the coded messages.

Barrette Invites Union To Parley

QUEBEC (CP) — Labor Minister Antonio Barrette announced today he has asked parties to the Louiseville strike at the plant of Associated Textiles of Canada to meet with him Wednesday at 3 p. m.

Mr. Barrette at the same time released the text of a telegram to Gerard Picard, president of the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, inviting him to the meeting.

The telegram said the labor minister believes he will be able to submit an acceptable proposal to the parties in dispute.

The message also said the meeting proposal follows talks between Bishop Georges Pelletier of Three Rivers and Premier Duplessis.

The minister will report on the outcome of the meeting to Msgr. Pelletier and the premier.

Duke Of Windsor, Wife Pass Up Coronation

PARIS (CP) — The Duke of Windsor announced today neither he nor his American-born wife would attend the Coronation next June.

The Duke's statement to the press claimed it would not be according to royal etiquette for him to attend as a former king.

There have been widely circulating reports in Britain recently that he would attend, healing the family split which has kept him remote from Buckingham Palace since his abdication in 1936.

Several newspapers have adopted a "let bygones be bygones" stand.

His press statement said:

"The Duchess of Windsor and I will not be present in Westminster Abbey on June 2, 1953, because it would not be in accordance with constitutional usage for the Coronation of a King or Queen of England to be attended by the sovereign or former sovereign of any state."

Jackson's Word May Free Man

KINGSTON (CP) — A sworn statement made Monday night by Leonard Jackson, shortly before he was hanged, may help to free a man serving 15 years in Kingston penitentiary on a charge of bank robbery.

A Kingston lawyer, who asked that his name be withheld, said today that Jackson's statement says Anthony Brunet, 29, of Toronto had no part in a $9,000 Toronto bank robbery for which he was convicted.

Jackson, hanged early today with Steve Suchan for the March 6 murder of a Toronto detective, is reported to have said in his statement that he and not Brunet took part in the Jan. 22, 1951, robbery of a branch of the Dominion Bank.

Two other men serving prison terms for other robberies have also made affidavits that Brunet was not one of the four armed men who robbed the bank under direction of a leader who called signals like a football quarterback.

They are Lawrence E. Shirley, serving a 20-year term at Stoney Mountain, Man., and Gordon Reuben Lyons, serving 20 years in British Columbia. They said they participated.

Man 93 Becomes Father 13th Time

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP) — Luis A. Carrizales, who is 93 years old, became a father for the 13th time when his wife Mary, 28, gave birth to a daughter Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carrizales have had five other children since their marriage in 1945. Carrizales, who is half Cherokee Indian and half Spanish, has seven children by two earlier marriages.

Carrizales still works regularly at a farm-equipment firm. Each time the stork visits the Carrizales household he expresses surprise at the attendant publicity.

2 Boyd Gang Members Die On Gallows

Pair Hanged Sooner Than Expected, Show No Fear

TORONTO —(CP)— Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson died eight hours sooner than they expected. The convicted killers of Toronto detective Edmund Tong believed they were to be hanged at 8 a.m. today, and were surprised when the executioner entered their cells eight hours ahead of schedule. A jail official said both men "turned white" but said nothing.

The march from the cells to the execution chamber started at 12:07 a. m. When they reached the scaffold, Suchan and Jackson were given no opportunity for a last statement, as the black crepe hood and noose were slipped over their heads.

Within a minute of reaching the chamber the trap was sprung. Both men were rendered unconscious immediately but it was 46 minutes before death was pronounced. Suchan lasted seconds longer than Jackson.

The double hanging, first in Toronto since 1921, went off without a hitch. Dr. Smirle Lawson, chief coroner of Ontario, said: "I think it was a good job."

The bodies, clad in the regulation prison garb of shirts and blue jeans, were cut down at 1 a. m. At 1:46 a. m. the typewritten statements officially announcing the deaths were posted on the door of the big east end jail.

The statement said:

"We the undersigned do hereby declare that judgment of death was this day executed on Valent Lesso, alias Steve Suchan, alias Victor J. Lenoff, in the common gaol of the county of York, at Toronto in our presence."

A similar notice was posted bearing Jackson's name.

Outside a noisy crowd which reached 400 persons stood in the raw wind. A middle-aged woman, who said she was Jackson's cousin but refused to give her name, slipped through the police cordon but was turned back by guards near the jail entrance.

The shooting of Tong on a Toronto street last March started one of Canada's most intensive manhunts. Within days, Suchan and Jackson were captured in Montreal.

Before the pair started their last walk, Rev. John Kelly administered the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church in their cells. The St. Michael's College lecturer said:

"I can say they both went like brave men. They didn't tremble. I've seen men in a lot more happy circumstances do worse than they did. They did wonderfully spiritually."

Queen Holds Christmas Party

LONDON (AP)—The Queen held a family and staff Christmas party at Buckingham Palace Monday night.

The Queen, wearing a gown of silver and gray lace and a diamond tiara, gave her first waltz to the yeoman of the glass and china pantry at the palace, Percy Benham.

The Duke of Edinburgh stepped out on the dance floor with Isabel Ross, palace housemaid.

Princess Margaret glided across the dance floor with Inspector F.A. Kelly, the Duke's personal police officer.

Seek Hobo For Reward

Carries Diamond Bracelet Nine Months In Pocket

NEW YORK (CP) — A $7,500 diamond bracelet that a hobo had carried around in his pockets for more than nine months was on its way back to its owner today while police sought the tramp — to give him a $1,000 reward.

The bracelet was lost by Mrs. Eleanor Littlewood-Marston of Toronto and Monte Carlo after a Hallowe'en party last year. It was claimed Monday by her daughter, Mrs. Richard J. Reynolds who offered the reward.

Police uncovered the jewelry when they picked up the hobo, Herman F. Hamschmann, 55, for loitering in Grand Central station.

The bracelet was turned up when police frisked Hamschmann. He told them he found the bauble in a gutter and carried it around with him because he feared he would be charged with theft if he turned it in.

Police learned the name of the owner through the Paris maker's name engraved on the bracelet. It was turned over to Mrs. Reynolds, wife of the tobacco heir.

Jamschmann, dismissed on the vagrancy charge, had disappeared.

Mountbatten To Command Naval Forces

PARIS (CP) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization cleared up an 18-month dispute between Britain and the United States today by naming a British admiral commander-in-chief of all but U. S. naval forces in the Mediterranean.

Admiral Earl Mountbatten was chosen for the job. His No. 1 assignment is maintenance of sea and air communications between Gibraltar and Suez.

The powerful Naples-based U.S. Sixth fleet, including heavy carriers and amphibious forces, remains independent as an Allied striking force under Admiral Robert B. Carney for support of land operations in southern Europe. Both Mountbatten and Carney will report directly to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander.

DELIGHTED TO CONCUR

Ridgway notified the NATO council of foreign ministers through a spokesman today that the British chiefs of staff had appointed Mountbatten. The general said he was "delighted to concur."

The appointment and a compromise between British and American military leaders that preceded it capped a long wrangle between the two services as to whether an American or a Briton should hold the top job in the Mediterranean. As it turns out, neither does. Mountbatten's status will be equal with that of Carney, who heads the southern European command under Ridgway.

Military leaders of the 14 NATO nations, including Canada, agreed last week on a compromise by which a Briton would take over this command and the powerful U. S. Sixth fleet, based at Naples under Admiral Carney, would be concerned primarily with supporting NATO's land forces.

British craft will make up most of Mountbatten's forces.

23 Homeless In Sarnia Fire

SARNIA (CP)—At least 23 persons were made homeless Monday night as flames raced through the top floor of a three-storey building in the heart of Sarnia's business district.

Damage caused by the fire and by the tons of water poured in by firemen was variously estimated from $60,000 to over $100,000.

Alex Swartz, owner of the Front street building and proprietor of the British Clothing Store on the ground floor would not place an exact figure on his loss.

He indicated, however, his stock alone would run to well over $30,000. Both building and stock were insured, he said.

A few tenants of the eight apartments on second and third floors managed to save some personal effects, but many lost everything but the clothes they escaped in.

Helicopters Save Crewmen On Ship

LEGHORN, Italy (AP)—Four helicopters rescued the last crew members from the U.S. Navy ship Grommert Reefer today, 36 hours after she ran aground and broke in two off Leghorn. The helicopters brought off 13 men. Previously 26 had been removed by breeches buoy and boat. Originally the navy said 40 men were aboard, but this was revised today to 39. The four windmill craft circled the stern of the wrecked refrigerator vessel. Then one after another they hovered above the broken off section, lowered a seat, pulled it up with a man aboard and flew to a Leghorn soccer field.

The helicopters were from the U.S. aircraft carriers Midway and Leyte. They landed briefly at Pisa before starting the rescue operation.

LINE RE-RIGGED

Until the helicopters took over, the navy's rescue crew depended mainly upon a breeches buoy to get off the Grommet Reefer's men. The breeches buoy took three men off Monday, and then the line parted. It was re-rigged today.

Four other seamen slipped into the sea from rope ladders and were picked up by a small Italian Navy boat that bobbed nearby in the choppy water.

Savage winds and waves had piled the 3,800-ton ship onto the harbor reef 200 yards off shore here early Monday and then broke her in two. The stern, with all the

Hoboken Mayor Under Fire

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Fred M. Desapio of Hoboken, N.J., who said he was the choice of reform elements when he became mayor, was described Monday in testimony before the New York state crime commission as a power on the Hoboken piers.

Witnesses testified that Hoboken mile-long waterfront was a stamping ground for extortion artists, loan sharks, strong-arm thugs and racketeers.

In the testimony, both Desapio and his police and fire commissioner, Michael Borelli, were linked to Edward Florio, convicted bootlegger and president of a New Jersey local of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL).

Desapio took the witness stand and squirmed through an hour of questioning. Many of his answers were contradictory, and commission members finally rebuked him.

Jersey City, Hoboken's neighbor, was scheduled for commission study today.

Monday night Jersey City police said the headquarters there of ILA Local 1247 had been broken into. Alfred Bell, secretary-treasurer of the local, said complete union records for the last year are missing. The local controls all Jersey City dockers.

The New York state commission is in its second round of public hearings on waterfront rackets which milk the port of New York's shipping industry of an estimated $350,000,000 annually.

Rescue Party Tries Reach Trapped Miners

MANILA (AP) — A rescue party today worked to reach 56 miners trapped deep in a gold mine Monday when a river broke through its walls, but a mine official said: "We are sure the men are dead."

J. V. Stapler of Marsman and Co., agent for the United Paracale Mine in southeastern Luzon,. said the whole mine was flooded when the river cracked the wall of the 400-foot-deep shaft.

Relatives, "some sobbing, others stunned," manned the rescue squad a superintendent reported from the mine.

Stapler said damage would "run into hundreds of thousands of dollars. As far as we are concerned, the mine is a total loss and no further operations are possible."

The mine employed 1,000 workers.

Think Government Not Officers Should Be Blamed

OTTAWA (CP)—Lt.-Col. Douglas Harkness, Progressive Conservative member for Calgary East, today demanded the resignation of Defence Minister Claxton as result of irregularities in the army's store branch disclosed in the Currie report. Col. Harkness, who served as an artillery officer in Europe in the Second World War, said Liberal members were going to attempt to blame the stores thefts on the general staff. But, he said in the Commons, the public "will not swallow that." The "normal British practice" where a minister was derelict in his duty should hold in this case. The minister of national defence should "submit his resignation."

Reopening the Progressive Conservative attack on the government the tabling of the report in the House, Col. Harkness said the responsibility for the lack of supervision in army stores "rests squarely on the government."

The Liberal government seemed adept at coming up with "scapegoats." They had made a scapegoat of Brig. Alan Connelly — retired several years before his time. Now they apparently were going to make a "scapegoat of the general staff."

"There is only one goat and that is the great big nanny goat from which the Liberal members get their milk — the Liberal government," he said

Col. Harkness supported a call made Monday night by his colleague, Maj.- Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, (PC—Nanaimo) for a commission investigation of all aspects of national defence. If an inquiry into one small branch of the army such as the stores branch disclosed glaring irregularities, he wondered what a wider investigation would disclose.

KNEW IN 1951

Col. Harkness said the report by George S. Currie, former deputy minister of national defence, disclosed that as far back as 1951, auditors reported they were not satisfied with the way things were going in army stores.

But to his questions both in the defence committee of last session and in the House, he had received "evasive" replies from the minister and other government spokesmen. The government had withheld from the committee the aud-

Horse Breeder Thinks Petawawa Profitable

OTTAWA (CP)—A breeder and racer of harness horses, Hon. W. Earl Rowe said in the Commons Monday night he thinks he could make more money on them at Petawawa military camp than anywhere else.

The Progressive Conservative member for Dufferin-Simcoe set the House to chuckling at his reference to the Currie army-investigation report reference to horses having been put on the military payroll at Petawawa.

"I have a lot of horses," he said, "and I think they would earn me more up there than any place else."

Report Isotope Production Knocked Out

CHALK RIVER (CP)—Isotope production in the Western world's most powerful heavy water atomic furnace has been knocked out—perhaps for many weeks—as a result of the radioactive "burst" last Friday.

Dr. David A. Keys, one of the top men at the $40,000,000 plant here, said Monday night there will be no more isotope production from the big atomic powerhouse until scientists locate and repair a tiny "leak" in the squat, vat-like structure which forced the evacuation last Friday of hundreds of workers.

Previous reports were that about 350 atomic workers retreated from the 10,000-acre area when an excessive amount of radio-active particles escaped from the furnace stack. But current reports placed the number of evacuees at about 1,200, including a number of men on construction projects.

SETS OFF ALARM

The "burst" of radio-active particles which erupted from the stack and spread over the 100-building area was not considered particularly dangerous to the human body. But it was strong enough to set off alarms in all buildings.

In Ottawa, Defence Production Minister Howe told the Commons that the damage was "negligible as far as money is concerned."

He said a special Commons committee on atomic energy will be reconvened after the Christmas recess to reopen discussion on the plant.

All workers returned to their jobs Monday, following the three-day decontamination clean-up by a rubber-clad squad.

Dr. Keys said he believes investigation into the leak will in itself be important to science since it may unveil some hitherto unknown atomic energy reactions on metals.

Fishing Boat Reported Afire

ROCKLAND, Me. (AP) — The U. S. Coast Guard reported today that the 30-foot fishing vessel Evazone is afire 40 miles southeast of this port.

Other fishing craft were reported standing by and the Coast Guard cutter Laurel was sent to the scene, 21 miles southeast of Matinicus Rock light station.

The Coast Guard said the Evazone has five men aboard. They said they believed the schooner-type ship's home port was Gloucester, Mass.

Thousands of Fanatics

Use Machine-Guns To Quell Mass Outbreak

By SAM SUMMERLIN

PONGAM ISLAND, South Korea (AP) — American soldiers today told in vivid detail how U.S. and South Korean guards shot to death 84 Communist prisoners in quelling an attempted mass breakout Sunday by 4,500 fanatical Reds. The Communists were all civilian internees—former prisoners of war reclassified by the army.

A grim force of 300 guards conquered the mutinous thousands in 55 frenzied minutes with machine-guns, rifles, carbines and bayonets.

Two Americans and three South Koreans as well as 118 prisoners were injured.

The captives, locked arm-in-arm and fanatically roaring the chorus of Communist songs ignored volley after volley of close-range fire before they were cowed.

Newspaper men today toured the island and entered the compound where most of the captives died.

Guards made the prisoners, many of them limping and wearing bandages, file into another stockade before the correspondents entered.

Lt.-Col. George P. Miller, boss of the island's 9,200 North Korean captives, said he regretted the deaths but added sternly:

"They brought it on themselves. They tested our strength and lost."

He said the tension mounting on the island before Sunday's outbreak has vanished.

Pongam is a dumbell - shaped island near Koje Island, scene of the first PoW riots last February. Both islands are off the southeast coast of Korea.

Miller said "had I not taken the action, I would have had one-half the prisoners loose on the island and we would have lost many more lives. The barbed wire cannot hold determined prisoners."

Miller said he was tipped on the planned outbreak, largely by two notes scribbled by prisoners.

Prisoners in compound "Fox" burst out with Communist songs. That was the starting signal for the outbreak. Five neighboring stockades quickly joined the chorus.

Miller rushed to the scene and shouted "stop." But the Reds kept singing.

They locked arms and jammed three-deep in front of their barracks, set on a rocky terrace cut into the steep hillside.

Miller ordered one platoon—about 40 men—of U. S. military police service company and one platoon of South Korean soldiers into the compound. Another RoK platoon surrounded the stockade outside the barbed wire.

Miller again yelled "stop."

The Reds answered with a hail of stones, thrown down from the terrace at the guards about 20 feet below.

A narrow flight of stairs led up to the terrace from each side.

"It would have been suicide if I had ordered my troops to go up there and break up the body of prisoners," Miller said.

The colonel ordered all men with shotguns to fire one volley into the ranks of the PoWs.

"It had no effect," the island commander declared. "The wounded kept right on singing—and the others lifted the wounded as they fell."

Miller quickly ordered one volley from the rifles and carbines.

The front ranks of prisoners went down. The captives behind them again yanked up the slumping dead and wounded. The roaring songs went on.

At nearby "Baker" compound other rioting prisoners jammed into the courtyard. Miller said "they were about ready to force the gate or fences."

On the colonel's orders, South Koreans opened fire with a light machine-gun from a tower overlooking the compound.

The hail of bullets ripped into the prisoners and many fell.

Petawawa Report Causes Furore; Charge Tampering

OTTAWA (CP)—The official Opposition wants an inquiry into Canada's defence effort that would dwarf the Currie investigation. Within a few hours of the tabling of the spectacular Currie report on the Army works services, the Commons Monday heard Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, (PC-Nanaimo) suggest a full-scale inquiry by an independent commission into the makeup and administration of all three armed forces. His speech was one more indication that this session of Parliament, due to adjourn this week until mid-January, has likely encountered its No. 1 issue and quite possibly a key factor in a 1953 election campaign.

The issue showed up in the form of a 74-page report by the Montreal accounting firm of George S. Currie, former deputy defence minister, which spent seven months investigating the implications of the Camp Petawawa thefts.

Tabled by Prime Minister St. Laurent, the report offers the results of the most penetrating inquiry into the defence department since the Mainguy report of 1949 unearthed a variety of faults and grievances in the Navy.

GENERAL BREAKDOWN

It pictured a general breakdown in the system of administration, supervision and accounting in the army works services, a branch concerned with an investment of $750,000,000 worth of building and plants.

It reported a collapse of security, a carryover among high officers of a wartime mentality interested much more in speed than in cost, an indifference to administration, weaknesses in the provost corps, the works detachments, and in security generally.

It gave a vivid picture of the "irregularities" at Petawawa which touched off prosecutions and the inquiry. Most bizarre was the placing of horses on the payroll of one project and listing them as laborers.

REMEDIES BEING TAKEN

But the document said the inquiry could find no other extensive irregularities to match those at Petawawa and it said remedies can and are being taken.

The report described the army works services as overwhelmed with work since the start of the post-Korea expansion, badly organized, badly staffed and urgently in need of reorganization. It recommended 44 changes in organization, in security and in other fields.

It overshadowed any other development in the Commons Monday.

In the wake of the Currie report there were immediate rumblings from the Opposition, topped by Gen. Pearkes' speech at the night session. He read one part of the report after another and charged that they simply substantiated what his party has been saying.

The Opposition had warned against too-hasty demobilization in 1946 and now the Currie report said the army couldn't cope with the post-Korea expansion because it wasn't big enough.

The Opposition had charged waste, extravagance and improper supervision and the report said inefficiency is a greater menace than dishonesty, that there is a haste-before-cost mentality in the defence department.

NEED FULL INQUIRY

Only a full inquiry could satisfy the suspicion that what was found wrong in one branch of one service may permeate all three forces.

But the most surprising statement came from Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) who arose with what he described as a copy of the Currie report and said it didn't jibe with the report tabled in the House.

The CCF's copy, he said, had come to his group "a few days" ago and there were notable differences—both omissions and alterations—between it and the one Mr. St. Laurent tabled.

To his demand that the government explain how and why the changes came about, Mr. St. Laurent promised a reply but also said there would be an investigation of how the CCF got the report early.

Mr. Knowles declined to tell reporters outside the House how his party got the document. Gen. Pearkes, in his speech, referred to the two documents as the abridged and unabridged Currie reports.

BLAME DEFENCE DEPT.

Mr. Drew indicated that his party intends to lay the full blame for the army situation on the defence department and not on the army itself.

The report, in its reference to a serious collapse in security, says "there was little to prevent or to detect the organized plundering of military stores on a systematic scale though apparently comparatively little of it took place."

It recommended a number of measures to tighten security including an enlarged provost corps, the stationing of a Mountie in every large army camp, closer supervision of gate guards and greater barriers to the coming and going of the public.

At the night sitting Lt.-Col. Gordon Churchill, DSO, (PC—Winnipeg South Centre) a veteran of both world wars, again raised questions about Canadian casualties in Korea, the supply situation and the strategy there.

He said it seemed to him that Canada is "unnecessarily" sacrificing the lives of her soldiers in Korea which could be saved by supplying adequate stocks of munitions.

NOT PROPER STRATEGY

The 54-year-old Winnipeg soldier-member said he doesn't think patrol action is proper strategy for defensive action in Korea. Canadian troops should have more tanks to protect them.

Elsewhere in the general debate, George McIlraith, parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe, said government policy has resulted in a sharp general increase in Canadian trade. It had not lingered in "palsied impotence" as George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, had suggested.

George Nowlan (PC—Annapolis-Kings) took a different view. He said there is gloom among the exporters of Canada because they have lost their markets through government inefficiency.

No Compromise On PoW Issue U.S. Declares

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —The United States says flatly it won't compromise on the Korean prisoner issue and it sees no use pushing any more peace plans through the United Nations unless the Communists agree that PoWs won't be forced to go home.

The state department took this determined stand last night in a stiffly - worded communique which also accused the Chinese Reds of rejecting peace in Korea when they turned down the general assembly's plan for breaking the prisoner deadlock holding up an armistice.

Britain and France also expressed regret that the Communists had closed the door on the UN peace proposals.

A British spokesman said the Red rejection "raises serious problems which will require careful consideration by Her Majesty's government."

DESTROYS HOPES

France's spokesman termed Peiping's rejection "entirely negative and, for the time being anyway, destructive of hope."

UN delegates were busy studying the 3,000-word rejection note, sent Monday by Red China's foreign minister, Chou En-lai, to assembly president L. B. Pearson of Canada. It laid down terms for a settlement identical to Soviet proposals which the 60-country organization overwhelmingly rejected.

The Peiping reply called the UN plan, written by India's V. K. Krishna Menon, "illegal" and "unreasonable" and demanded that the assembly rescind it and order the U. S. to reopen truce negotiations.

The "no compromise" stand taken by the U. S. appeared to put off any further action in the UN until after the new U. S. administration and its new delegation leaders in the UN are installed.

The American statement laid full responsibility for peace in Korea on the shoulders of the Chinese and North Korean Communists "and their supporters" — a clear reference to the Russians.

Both the British and American governments reaffirmed determination to continue to discharge their responsibilities in Korea.

Western Oils Still Lead On Exchange

TORONTO (CP) — Western oils continued recent advances at a slower pace in early afternoon stock market trading today while golds declined.

Gridoil led the western oils with a gain of 25 cents in a third-hour turnover of 17,000 shares. New Superior, Britalta, Devon Leduc and Jupiter also gained. Central Leduc, Husky and Pacific led the losers.

Senior golds slipped although Lamaque added pennies. Junior producers also showed but a single gain. Prospects drew a little better support as Conwest and Gunnar gained but most slipped Holding companies were weak.

Papers and refining oils were weak in the industrials list while utilities gained. Most other groups were mixed.

Base metals showed a small majority of losses as Hudson Bay, Steep Rock and East Sullivan fell. Barvue gained and Rix and United Asbestos added pennies in active trading.

REFUSED SEDATIVES

During their last few hours, spent mostly in prayer with Father Kelly, Suchan and Jackson refused sedatives. The priest had gone to the jail at the request of Suchan, a Roman Catholic. Sunday Jackson, born Jewish and raised an Anglican, asked to be accepted into the Roman Catholic Church.

Mrs. Leonard Jackson, with Jackson when he was captured in Montreal amid blazing police revolvers, last saw her husband Sunday. Suchan's mother also saw her son then.

Arthur Maloney and J. J. Robinette, the lawyers who defended the pair at their trial and appeals both visited their clients Monday.

Lawyer Dies

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Hiram Fletcher Smith, 60, associate member of the law firm of Gunn and Smith, died Monday after a long illness. Born in Belwood, he came to London 30 years ago. He received early education in Guelph public and high schools and taught in several Ontario high schools before going into law.

Elect Grant Lakefield Reeve

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—In the village's heaviest vote in 22 years, William C. Grant was elected as reeve with a majority of 37 votes over 1952 Reeve Elwood H. Northey. Seventy-five per cent of those eligible to vote cast their ballots; a total of 717 of the 945 registered voters in the village. Mr. Grant, reeve from 1946 to 1951, was defeated in 1951 by Mr. Northey by 101 votes. Count this year was 380 to 343. Three newcomers were elected to council with veteran councillor J. R. Hull, who headed the polls with 550 votes. Others elected were: Gordon Dunford (527), the Rev. J. A. Steed (500), and Walter A. Killoran (331).

Defeated candidate for council was George Jeffrey, one of four making their first bid for a seat on the village council. Mr. Jeffrey polled 189 votes.

HELD FRIDAY

Election for school trustees will be held Friday. Only one qualified who was nominated at the first nomination meeting, and she — Mrs. Jessie Doubt — was acclaimed. The two other vacant posts will be filled from a slate of four candidates who qualified after the second nomination meeting.

It is the second year in a row that two nomination meetings have been held to fill posts not filled at the first meeting. In 1951, two were held to fill vacant positions on Council and on the School Board.

A number of voters and candidates credited the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce with the large vote. The chamber sent out cars for those voters who had not been to the polls by 3 p.m. The polls opened at 11 a.m. and closed at 7 p.m.

TO SERVE ON COUNCIL

Mr. Dunford, who ran behind veteran councilor J. R. Hull, is a retired carpenter. The Rev. J. A. Steed is a retired United Church minister, a former reeve of Sturgeon Point. Mr. Killoran is a hotelkeeper in the village.

Mr. Grant, a lawyer, is perhaps better known to the county as a several times defeated CCF candidate in the provincial elections, and Mr. Northey is a druggist in the village.

Following are the results by polls:

itor's reports which would have shown these warnings.

Col. Harkness was frequently interrupted.

At one point George Murray (L-Cariboo) said discussion of the Currie report should not be allowed until copies were available to all members.

Speaker Ross Macdonald ruled it was debatable since it had been tabled Monday.

TAKE SERIOUS VIEW

Col. Harkness said the public was going to take a serious view of the obvious "tampering" with the report. A copy which came into the hands of the CCF was not the same as the one tabled by the government. A section referring to an indifference to administration in the ranks "higher up" had been originally referred to in the copy obtained by the CCF to "at or near the top."

The "top," said Col. Harkness, could only mean the minister of national defence.

Mr. Claxton's continual insistence in the defence department" had a bad effect on the services. It induced in them perhaps a feeling of "smugness and carelessness."

Dealing with recommendations by Mr. Currie, Col. Harkness favored one calling for a pilot unit where officers and men of similar branches of the army could be well trained for their duties. He believed this might be followed throughout the army, as has been done in the German Army.

Woman Puts Aside Shotgun After Promise

WINTER PARK, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. E. J. Humpfer put aside her shotgun Monday.

The city promised that its workers won't pile dirt on her lawn or injure her shrubbery while installing a new sewer line.

Earlier, Mrs. Humpfer sat on her lawn threatening to shoot the heels off any city employee setting foot on her property in a fashionable neighborhood of this Orlando suburb.

She said the sewer is unnecessary in a region equipped with septic tanks and that the workers have been destroying property installing it.

crew aboard, wedged fast on the rocks. The ship had been trying to tie up in Leghorn harbor when a 100-mile-an-hour gust caught her.

WEATHER BEHAVES

In contrast to Monday's gales and swells, clear, sunny weather, slacking winds and a moderating sea aided operations today.

One of those picked up by the boat, Serge Flushing of New York, stepped ashore with the simple words, "thank God."

Barely a stone's throw from the shore, the ship's abandoned prow lurched heavily against the rocks with every swell. No one was aboard it, but sailors heard there was $20,000 worth of whisky there.

The military sea transportation service, operators of the ship, reported the plates in the stern were beginning to buckle.

The twins arrived at 3 p.m. Sunday, a little ahead of schedule, and the surgery was performed three hours later, after tests had been made to determine the extent of the connection.

U.S. Diplomat May Be Fired Over Loyalty

Charge John Vincent Involved With Communists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's top loyalty review board has ruled there is reasonable doubt as to the loyalty of career diplomat John Carter Vincent, but the state department kept the way open today to accept or reject its recommendation he be fired.

Some officials speculated that, after discussing the matter with President Truman, probably next week-end, State Secretary Dean Acheson may decide to reopen the whole case and may eventually reinstate Vincent. Acheson is in Paris and there was no official word to support this theory.

The state department announced the review board's action Monday night and said it suspended Vincent Monday and ordered him home from Tangier. He has been minister and diplomatic agent there.

CLEAR DAVIES

Simultaneously, the state department announced that the loyalty review board had cleared John Paton Davies Jr., another veteran diplomat and like Vincent a controversial figure for several years, of any reasonable doubt as to his loyalty. Davies is deputy director for political affairs with the U. S. high commission in Germany.

The department, in its announcement of the decision on Vincent, made public a letter to Acheson from board chairman Hiram Bingham. Bingham wrote that the board was not called upon to find that Vincent was disloyal, and did not do so.

But, he added, "his conduct in office. . .forces us reluctantly to conclude that there is reasonable doubt as to his loyalty. . ."

Bingham's letter cited what it termed Vincent's "studied praise" of the Chinese Communists in the early 1940s and his "equally studied criticism of the Chiang Kai-shek government." The U.S. was then supporting Chiang, Bingham added.

And, Bingham said, Vincent had "close association with numerous persons who, he had reason to believe, were either Communists or Communist sympathizers."

BEEN INVESTIGATED

Vincent, 53 and a veteran of more than 30 years' government service, has been investigated by various government agencies over several weeks. He has denied Communist affiliations and last February the state department announced it had fully cleared him of loyalty and security charges.

The board, after hearing Vincent last September, reversed the state department's previous finding.

The board said that in reaching its conclusion on Vincent, it took into account "without expressly accepting or rejecting" testimony which it attributed to ex-Communist Louis Budenz that Vincent was "under Communist discipline."

Auto Ordered Forfeited In Lindsay Case

LINDSAY (ENS)—James Sutherland of Oakwood lost his car and was assessed $80.50 in fines in magistrate's court here Monday when he was found guilty on three charges under the Highways Traffic Act. Sutherland was charged with driving while his ability was impaired, careless driving, driving while his license was under suspension, and while his car was under suspension as well. Sutherland pleaded guilty through his counsel, Col. R. I. Moore, QC, to both charges of driving while his licenses were under suspension, but pleaded not guilty to the other two charges.

Constable Mountsteven of the Lindsay OPP told of receiving an accident report from Peterborough headquarters, and investigating at the scene, Number 7 Highway, west of Lindsay, he found Sutherland in the ditch on the north side of the road, facing east and with marks of 143 feet leading up to it. On the advice of Peterborough OPP, Constable Mountsteven said, he went to Sutherland's home, where he found the accused "very busy drinking coffee," he found that Sutherland did not have a driver's license, and later found that his was under suspension.

Mr. Moore offered no defence, and Magistrate Gee decided that there was insufficient evidence to convict on the impairment charge, but that there was enough evidence for a conviction on the careless driving count.

On the careless driving Magistrate Gee fined Sutherland $10 and costs of $15.50. On the other two charges he assessed him $25 fine, $2.50 costs each, and his car was ordered forfeited to the crown.

In a sidelight to the case, a charge of false pretenses was dismissed against Sutherland, when he paid $2.50 to Austin Trent of Cambray, who complained that a check Sutherland had given him as part of the down payment for the car involved in the accident had been refused by the bank. Trent told the court he knew that he was not to cash the check for a week, but tried to, and found that Sutherland had not deposited sufficient money to cover it.

Woman Injured Driver Fined $10

LINDSAY (ENS) — Norman Burns of Lindsay was found guilty of careless driving in magistrate's court here Monday and fined $10 and $17.50 costs, as a result of an accident in November in which his car and the one he collided with were damaged to an extent of $925.

Burns' car was in collision with one driven by Miss Carole Lamb, RR 1, Lindsay, at the corner of St. James and Queen Sts.

Miss Lamb testified that she had been driving home from a party on the night of Nov. 25 and hat Burns' car darted in front of her from St. James Street. In the car with her at the time were her parents, her brother and a girl friend. Burns' witnesses said that they had not been able to see the oncoming traffic for bushes growing to the edge of Queen St., along the west side of St. James. Police officer Sgt. Gordon Eberts admitted that the bushes did block the view of Queen St., and that they had been later cut down. The occupants of the Burns car testified that he had had to drive out into Queen St. to see the approaching traffic.

Even then, they said they did not see the Lamb car until just before it hit them. Damage to the Lamb vehicle amounted to $425. The other vehicle involved was damaged to the extent of $500. Mrs. Lamb, the mother of the driver of the Lamb car, suffered a fractured knee-cap. Others in the accident suffered minor bruises.

At 9 o'clock, the group went on CHEX, where they proclaimed the Gospel in song and word. The broadcast ended at 9:30, and the meeting closed in prayer.

Auto Hits Bus None Injured

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Snow-covered roads caused one accident near Campbellford on Monday morning, involving a car and a school bus, but luckily no one was injured, although damage to the car and the bus will run over $500.

A car driven by Dr. W. W. Baker of Campbellford was travelling south on the township road near Petherick's Corners, five miles north-east of the town, on Monday morning. A school bus, driven by Donald Dalgleish of Campbellford, was travelling east on an intersecting road, and when Mr. Dalgleish applied his brakes to stop at the intersection, the bus skidded slowly out onto the main road. The car driven by Dr. Baker came up a slight rise, directly at the school bus. Dr. Baker swung his car to the left in an effort to miss the bus, but the two vehicles skidded into each other.

Although there were several children on the bus at the time, none were injured.

The car struck the bus a glancing blow, damaging the front left corner of the bus and the left side of the car. Damage to the bus was not heavy, but was estimated at about $100.

Provincial Constable George Rose investigated.

Jail Blind Beggar

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — A blind beggar got 60 days in jail Monday for begging in the streets. Magistrate Harry Pine imposed the sentence on George E. Binning and said blind beggars must suffer the full penalty of the law because they pin a badge of dishonor on honest, hard-working blind men. Binning collected some $50 daily by playing an accordion, police said.

Lions Sponsor Bancroft Parade

BANCROFT (ENS)—Thousands of persons jammed the streets on Saturday afternoon for the annual Santa Claus parade sponsored by the Bancroft Lions Club. Happy youngsters cheered Santa as he rode by in the colourful half-mile long parade headed by the Madoc brass band, members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, the North Hastings High School Cadet Corps and Boy Scouts. Twenty-four decorated floats took part in the parade.

Six clowns, and eight weirdly costumed characters added to the fun for the youngsters. Several of the floats depicted nursery rhyme and comic-strip scenes and one was an ingenious creation called "The Thing."

Following the parade more than 1,700 bags of candies and nuts were distributed to the mass of children eager to greet Santa Claus at the Community Hall. He was assisted in this busy task by Lions club members who then whisked him away to visit several kiddies confined to their homes by sickness.

Free comedy shows at the Community hall and the local theatre ocupied the children for the remainder of the afternoon. Both places were filled to overflowing for each of the two shows and several cash prizes donated by local merchants were distributed by Gord Broughton.

A light blanket of snow and Christmas decorations in stores and along the main street added to the spirit of the occasion.

The parade is an annual project of the Lions Club who were assisted this year by several members of the village. One unfortunate accident marred this year's preparations when Scotty Grant, a tireless worker of the club, was injured in a fall on Friday night while decorating a float and sustained five broken ribs.

Bette Davis Makes Hit On Broadway

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK (AP) — At long last, and that phrase is the only appropriate one to use in this case, Bette Davis has arrived on Broadway in the starring role of the new musical revue, "Two's Company."

Miss Davis' appearance on the Broadway stage Monday night is her first since her departure 22 years ago to cast her lot with the Hollywood films.

She returns in a song and dance revue that is light, full of Valentine lace and seldom with enough of Miss Davis, even though most of the time she is so suffused with make-up and costume that it is difficult to distinguish her from the props.

DOES IMITATION

In her major scene she does an imitation of Tallulah Bankhead. It's a night club sketch in which Miss Davis looks remarkably like a twin sister to Miss Bankhead.

In another scene Miss Davis is Sadie Thompson, the heroine of the W. Somerset Maugham drama, "Rain."

Hiram Sherman, David Burns, Nora Kaye and the score by Vernon Duke and Ogden Nash do much to lift this revue out of the ordinary class. But it needs Miss Davis more as a personality than as the character actress she is in too many scenes.

Scandalous SNAFU At Petawawa

The Currie report on the irregularities at Camp Petawawa, the army city near Pembroke, is an indictment of military management. Mr. Currie may say, as he has said, that the whole works service (the army branch under investigation) should not be branded because of "the sins of a handful of crooks." Prime Minister St. Laurent may hope, as he has said, that the report's "severe and sweeping statements" will not be taken out of their context and used to malign the army or its engineering works service as a whole. But the fact is—and no amount of hoping and gentle viewing can hide it—that the army is damned by what has gone on at Petawawa.

* * *

Petawawa is a completely military establishment. Civilians hired to supply it, work there, or supervise work, are reportable to the military. Petawawa has a Camp Commandant, or several of them. The engineering work is undertaken for and presumptively under the direction of field and staff officers. There are colonels galore and other senior officers responsible for and directing field workshops, R.C.E.M.E., Ordnance, R.C.E., Army Service Corps. National Defence Headquarters has a Quartermaster General, an Adjutant-General, a Master-General of the Ordnance, a Pay Corps commander, chiefs of staff—all with their staffs, including accountants, inspectors, auditors. There is a logical and, one supposed, a complete chain of responsibility and regulations. And yet, the army with all its "regulations and supervisory personnel," had to rely on an anonymous letter for a tip-off that all was not right at Petawawa.

* * *

The situation at the camp was so chaotic that it is reported that no one will ever know how much was looted there. There was "a serious collapse in security." Mr. Currie reported that the army knew about unsatisfactory conditions for some time, but nothing adequate was done about them. Apparently too many people in charge took refuge in the old latrine slogan: SNAFU—Situation Normal, All Fouled Up.

* * *

The investigation and report are an indictment of the army system and persons in it; of gross inefficency, culpable mismanagement or at the least, scandalous carelessness and bumbling. It is not merely a condemnation of a "handful of crooks." The recommendations in the Currie report imply a continuing lack of confidence in the military to run their own affairs; else why recommend that an R.C.M.P. detail be posted to each army camp? A shake-up is needed, as well as a shake-down of the crooks.

Police Station Not A Police Court

A Montreal city councillor has proposed that Montreal's city council rule that payment of fines be permitted at any police station. In other words, a policeman gives you a ticket for parking or speeding and you drive down to the policeman's station and pay up. This would be convenient; still simpler would be to hand the policemen five or ten dollars at the time he gives you the ticket. The councillor's proposal has logic—the logic of the police state.

In a democratic society the police are the agents of law, not the law itself. A police station is the quarters where the police and law-breakers are housed, not a court of the land. If a city or a state permits the police to be the interpreters of the law and the judges of the people, it widens dangerously the scope of the police. Persons who in the interest of efficiency and convenience are prepared to let the police act as the beginning, middle and end of a process of law (even in the matter of small traffic law violations) are the same sort who let convenience and efficiency destroy the courts in fascist countries and installed the police as their masters.

Even here in Peterborough there is a tendency to accept the police as the law and not merely as agents of the law and paid servants of the people. The magistrate's court is loosely referred to as the "Police Court". It is not a police court; God forbid; this is not a police state. It is a court presided over by the magistrate and set up to serve the public and not the police.

Another disturbing Peterborough practice is this. A driver given a "ticket" by a policeman on Saturdays is told that he may pay his fine at the police station. On other week-days the driver (if he chooses to plead guilty by signing the ticket in the place provided for this signature) takes his ticket and money to the city clerk's office. Thus as least the case has the semblance of being in civilian hands and not entirely under the control of the police.

The Saturday procedure has an unpleasant directness about it: the police nab you, you pay off the police. Thus in practice on Saturdays our police become the law as well as the arm of the law—in the interest of conveniencing the public or the city hall officials on their Saturday off, of course. In theory this Saturday practice is as harmless as the other week-day one of giving a two or five dollar bill (whatever is stipulated as the probable fine when the case is called in court) to a clerk in the city offices. In actuality, paying at the police station is a practice which could too easily be menacingly extended and destroy public rights and the courts.

Much better and more democratic than the Montreal councillor's proposition to make all police stations the collectors of money from traffic violators, was the opening last week in Montreal of a night court to deal with traffic offences, presided over by a judge.

No Magic At The Conference

The Commonwealth Conference in London has ended and the official statement issued holds no panacea for the difficult trade and fiscal problems which divide its members and harrass their relations. There was no monetary shake-up, no concerted requests to the United States to raise the price of gold, and no great plan for making the cheese of Canada leap to British tables.

The fact is that the difficulties of trade and finance are world-wide and cannot be resolved even within the wide bounds of the Commonwealth—even if all Commonwealth countries thought alike about them. As we have said before, the United States is the Croesus and the catalyst in these matters, and the U.S. was not party to the Conference. Without the United States no general trade and monetary plan of the Commonwealth can be fully effective. And since these matters are also political (as export and import duties are) and the political views of the Commonwealth governments are far from coinciding, the best that can be hoped from such a Conference is an increasing area of agreement, and separate reconciliation of conflicting national interests, for the purpose of liquefying the economies of the various countries and stimulating trade between them. The Conference achieved these limited and not immediate goals.

Further co-operation is likely to result, and mutual assistance to be given. Suspicions, jealousies and nationalistic shibboleths have been allayed as the Prime Ministers and their colleagues in trade and finance got down to very practical considerations of specific issues, with the general goal of strengthening the economies of the separate countries while at the same time fostering their joint interests. For instance, a new investment agency is to be formed, to help finance Commonwealth development projects. This is to be a private corporation with public and government support as definite as that given the Bank of England, or the World Bank.

The results of the conference, as made public, seem disappointingly small; but the Commonwealth pasture has been tilled; it remains now to be fertilized and seeded.

Mr. McLure's Brand Of Canadianism

There are several kinds of Canadianism, and one which we strongly dislike was embodied in the utterance of W. Chester C. McLure, who sits in the Commons for Queens (P.E.I.) when he referred to Yousuf Karsh, the eminent photographer; he called Karsh a foreigner, and a "doubtful Canadian", and was otherwise insulting toward him. Karsh's offense was that he mentioned in a published article that when he was in Prince Edward Island taking some pictures he found the food unpalatable.

Mr. McLure also quoted a Prince Edward Island journalist who called Karsh "this big-feeling foreigner", and suggested that he was an Arabian; Mr. Karsh was an Armenian, but since 1923 he has lived in Canada and has often, and proudly, declared himself to be a Canadian.

Karsh has brought distinction to Canada, and if he has not been resident here so long as the ancestors of Mr. McLure that is no reason to call him a foreigner, which he is not, or to suggest that he is in some way inferior to such native-grown cabbages as Mr. McLure. This person, we feel, has abused the immunity which his seat in the Commons gives him to use insulting language about a distinguished citizen of Canada. The fact that several citizens of Prince Edward Island must have voted for Mr. McLure makes us despair of that part of Canada; we sincerely hope that his brand of Canadianism is not so much in favour there as his presence in Parliament leads us to fear it is.

We are all foreigners, in some way or another, in Canada. The man whose sole claim to distinction is that his forefathers caught an earlier boat for these shores than did the forefathers of some others is not the kind of man this country needs in Parliament or elsewhere. We need men who are of some consequence in themselves; and, weighed in a scale, which has done the better job for Canada—Karsh or Mr. —— what was the name again?—McLure.

Fewer Wild Asses

By O. M. GREEN

THE INDIAN GOVERNMENT has for some time been much worried by the dwindling of the population of India's wild life. Some animals and birds once fairly plentiful in India are now extinct; others are going the way of extinction; and this regrettable decline has been more and more noticeable since India became independent.

The result has been the appointment of a Central Board of Wild Life, which has just held its first meeting in Mysore with the former Maharajah, now known as the Rajpramukh, of Mysore as chairman—an appropriate choice as the primeval forests of Mysore, Travancore and Coorg are the only part of India where wild elephants still rove, besides the hill country of Assam in the north-east stretching over into Burma.

Among the recommendations adopted by the Board are the rigid observance of close seasons and restriction on shooting at all times of birds and animals; total prohibition of the sale of trophies, such as antlers, skins and feathers; more national parks like the splendid Hailey National Park, two hundred square miles in extent, in the United Provinces (now Uttar Pradesh); and strict control of the cutting down of forests, particularly by Samindari, that is landlords, who, afraid of the Government's land reform scheme, have been felling their timber and selling it.

✧ ✧ ✧

FUNDAMENTALLY the worst danger to the wild life has come from the reduction of the Princes to the role of chairman of State Councils, in many cases mere puppets. The big Rajahs were great preservers of game—to be hunted, but for that reason carefully preserved.

A parallel case occurred in China after the Revolution of 1911, when the huge Eho Park, northwards of the Great Wall and adjoining Manchuria, which the Manchu Emperors had palisaded round and kept for their own hunting, was thrown open to all and sundry. Arthur Sowerby, the well known naturalist, explored the park soon after the Chinese Revolution, and wrote an account of its unrivalled wealth of rare birds and beasts But within a few years there were no more of them.

So, in India, the Board for Wild Life received reports of cases of State Councils which employed hunters to shoot down wild creatures under the impression that they destroyed crops.

Yet it is not uncommon for Indian villagers to regard the local tiger as a friend because he keeps down the harvest-devouring deer—until he gets too old and stiff in the joints to hunt anything but man.

Tigers are less plentiful than formerly, but appear less in danger of extinction than other beasts since they are found everywhere, from the Himalayas to the extreme south. Of leopards, too, there seem to be plenty, though the beautiful but extremely savage black leopard of the south is very rare.

✧ ✧ ✧

BEARS ARE common in rocky hills and forests; also wolves, and wild dogs hunting in packs of thirty or so—the Red Dog of one of the most exciting adventures in Kipling's "Jungle Book".

But lions, once known in the Punjab, are now found only in the little state of Junagadh, in the Kathiawar peninsular north of Bombay. Even there, the Board for Wild Life was told, there are probably not more than two hundred; several dead lions wantonly shot had recently been found.

The wild ass of the sandy deserts of Sind and Cutch and once described as "almost unapproachable" is decreasing. So is the urial, the wild sheep of the lower Himalayas. But his cousin, the shapu, never comes below twelve thousand feet and so perhaps may escape destruction.

Other beasts which are becoming much scarcer are the wild buffalo and the bison, or gaur (these are two of the fiercest and most dangerous to hunt of all creatures); the superb sambhur, five feet high with antlers three feet long; and the one-horned rhinoceros. All these are denizens of Assam and, in the great earthquake there last year, many were cut off by raging torrents on barren islets and died of starvation. But, if not hunted, they would probably recover again, as whales in the Arctic have done, since, owing to the earlier cruel slaughter, they became hardly worth hunting.

✧ ✧ ✧

AMONG THE BIRDS the pink-headed duck, the bustard and the monal pheasant are all urgently recommended for early protection.

One creature which the Board did not consider, but which has lately been discussed with much heat in Calcutta, is the monkey. So far from decreasing, he multiplies exceedingly and, in fact, has become something of a popular pet.

✧ ✧ ✧

STARTING IN THE SUBURB of Hastings the monkeys have spread widely in Calcutta; they are very tame and many people feed them morning and evening, just as Londoners and Parisians feed the pigeons in Trafalgar Square and the Luxembourg gardens.

Owing to the monkeys' fondness for swimming, the Ordnance Club at Hastings has restricted their use of the bath to Tuesday evenings, when the monkeys spring wildly from the diving boards and swim across with a good imitation of the over-arm stroke. (Next day the water is changed).

But the monkey has his detractors who declare that he raids larders, steals food and has been known to tear off the canvas hoods of motor-cars from sheer mischief.

In the same way pigeons are accused of destroying the mortar in masonry. But proposals to kill the pigeons off are loudly resented in London, just as Calcutta protests against a campaign against its monkeys.

Korea's Quarrel With Japan

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN

ALMOST unnoticed below the horror and violence of war in Korea is the fact that Japan and Korea are not on speaking terms. In more ordinary circumstances the tension is such that usually leads to war. When asked what his attitude would be to the possible use of Japanese troops on the United Nations side, Mr. Syngman Rhee, President of Korea, recently announced that he would withdraw his troops from the front, drive out the Japanese and then turn back on the Communists.

Though this is not a practical possibility, he was speaking from his heart. Most South Koreans would agree with him. The hatred between Korea and Japan is ancient and mutual distrust rather worse than that between France and Germany. Since the Seventh Century, the Japanese to the Koreans have been the ruthless bogeymen that came over the sea, as pirates, as invaders, as unanswerable negotiators. They murdered the brilliant Korean Queen Min in 1895, piercing her with swords and burning her with kerosene in her own palace—because she led the anti-Japanese party.

In 1910 Korea was declared a part of the Japanese Empire and for thirty years used as an economic milch cow by the Japanese. This was done with the approval of America and the Western Powers. Fifty per cent of Korea's rice was sold cheaply to Japan and her gold — three per cent of the world's production — was sent to Japan on Japanese terms.

Nothing was settled between the two countries at the Japanese Peace Conference in San Francisco. In June last year an attempt to reach a Japanese-Korean Treaty of Friendship and Commerce broke up with sincere expressions of mutual ill-will. Yet economically and culturally, the connection between the two countries is as close as that between England and Ireland.

The chief disagreement at present is over fishing rights. Both peoples eat fish rather than meat. When in power, General MacArthur drew a wide line round Korea and forbade it to unauthorized shipping. Syngman Rhee has since enlarged it to include the Japanese island of Tsushima — once Korean — and set his naval vessels to arrest any Japanese fishing vessels using these waters. Some two hundred and forty have been arrested or threatened. Several Japanese crews are now in Pusan prisons. Neither side will agree on a reasonable demarkation line between the two countries.

There are six hundred thousand Koreans, eighty per cent of them listed as North Koreans, still in Japan. There were two million of them there when the fighting stopped in the Second World war, many of them had been carried there by force to serve Japanese war industries. Today they are the hard core of any Japanese riot, and treated as second-class citizens, though they had to help pay the Japanese war indemnities. It is not easy for them to find respectable work and in 1950, one out of every eleven of them suffered some form of arrest.

In Korea, when the war ended, there were 650,000 Japanese. General MacArthur sent them all home, permitting them to take what they could carry and the equivalent of one dollar and fifty cents (U.S.) in cash. The same rules were applied to the Koreans in Japan, though they were not forced to go. The 600,000 Koreans still left in Japan are now bitter, rootless men, natural disciples for Communism.

At present the Japanese threaten to claim compensation for their former possessions in Korea. This represents eighty per cent of Korean property and fifty-four per cent of the country's farm land. The Koreans in their turn claim all Japanese property in Korea that ever had head offices in Japan, restitution for all the unpaid forced labour, for the gold reserves, the national treasures and libraries that were removed by Japan and — under another of General MacArthur's rulings — all the ships that were registered in Korea and all the Japanese ships that were in Korean waters on September 8, 1945. Rhee says this involves five hundred ships; more distinterested observers say two hundred. The ships are all small. Four ships have been offered by the Japanese, but all of these were wrecks sunk some time before.

The dispute between the two impoverished nations has a dream-like quality. The Korean claims appear to amount to 25,000 million (U.S.) dollars and the Japanese — without the property and land — to 4,500,000 (U.S.) dollars.

Today the Japanese are not allowed in Korea. The Japanese newspaper correspondents accredited to the United Nations forces are not allowed out of the military area. The last Korean Prime Minister, Chang Tak San, was dismissed for helping the Japanese ex-Mayor of Seoul who, for no apparent reason, smuggled himself into Pusan disguised as a labourer. There is a Korean diplomatic mission without status in Tokyo; there is no Japanese representative in Pusan; and there is no hint of any solution to the quarrel, no single gesture of forgiveness or commonsense.

Atomic Development Speeded In U.S.

By ALASTAIR BUCHAN

IN THE United States at least, the pace of atomic development for both warlike and peaceful uses, is increasing rapidly and the cost of production going down.

But the tenth birthday of atomic energy—marked last week by a reunion of the forty-three scientists who saw the first self-sustaining nuclear reaction started in a squash court beneath Chicago's sports stadium—has evoked no sense of elation among the American people. For America's lead in the development of atomic power and weapons is still regarded more as a result of necessity than as any case for pride. To have pioneered development of the world's most destructive agent is an achievement deeply troubling to the American conscience.

The intervening decade has seen the development of the atomic bomb by the world's three major Powers, the probable explosion of an American hydrogen bomb, and the development of a substantial armoury of atomic weapons, and it ends with plans for building nuclear-powered aircraft, submarines, and probably ships.

No scientist will speculate on what the next ten years will bring, partly because it is up to the statesmen to determine whether the major effort must still be applied to weapons, or to peaceful problems such as heating and propulsion.

Although there is no doubt that a hydrogen bomb makes a very much bigger bang—perhaps fifty times as great as the atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima—its destructive area is no more than perhaps twelve or fifteen times as great.

The greatest effect of any explosion is at the centre of impact, and the hydrogen bomb pulverises buildings at the centre, where, from a military point of view, all that is required is to destroy them as buildings. Some combination of the two types of bombs may be the next development.

No fully efficient atomic explosion has yet been made because the force of the explosion drives off some of the uranium fuel before fission, and therefore before it can contribute to the further build-up of the explosion. It is considered at least theoretically possible that an A-bomb explosion could be used to set off a hydrogen fusion process which in turn would help the fission of a large proportion of the atomic bomb's own uranium fuel, and thus increase its efficiency.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHATEVER THE next decade in atomic energy may hold in technical development, it will certainly open with an attempt to recast America's relations on atomic questions with her principal allies.

The three major Departments concerned—the State and Defence Departments, and the Atomic Energy Commission — have now agreed that the future defence of that North Atlantic Treaty area cannot be effectively planned without letting Britain and some of the senior officers of the other NATO countries know something of the capabilities of atomic weapons.

If President Eisenhower's new Administration accepts this point of view, a strenuous effort will be made to persuade Congress that present legislation, which forbids the sharing of information on weapons (though not of civilian uses of atomic energy), is making it impossible to arrive at a rational defence plan for Western Europe.

The fact that Britain now has her own atomic bomb should make it easier for Congress to agree.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Let a man so account of us, as of the ministers of Christ, and stewards of the mysteries of God. . . . For I know nothing by myself; yet am I not hereby justified: but he that judgeth me is the Lord. Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God. (I Cor. 4:1, 4, 5.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And such trust have we through Christ to God-ward: not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think any thing as of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God; who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life. . . .

Now the Lord is that Spirit: and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty. But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord. (II Cor. 3:4-6, 17, 18.)

Letters To The Editor

CAROL SINGING A MOCKERY OF RELIGION

Sir: I happened to enter a local food store last Saturday afternoon and was confronted with a most disgusting sight—a group of young people, attired in old clothes and with painted faces, were bawling out carols. Many of the customers were laughing loudly.

I understand that the participants were from the Collegiate. Such a flagrant mockery of religion calls for an immediate supervision of any further carol-singing or its cancellation.

At the same time the persons taking part should be given a lesson in decency and a respect for all religion.

This disgusting affair is on a level with the whole attitude displayed locally towards Christmastide by radio, press, etc., and amidst all the blather of the last few weeks I have yet to hear any mention of the true reason for Christmas.

Yours disgusted,
ONE CITIZEN.

Ed. Note: Our correspondent is referred to our editorial of Dec. 3, headed "Bringing Christ Back Into Christmas."

WANTS RETURN OF WARD SYSTEM

Sir: What has been a controversial issue for a number of years is the present day system under which our Municipal Elections are conducted.

At our election on December 1st there was listed on our Voters List 19,534 eligible electors names. Of this number 8,257 voted.

Can it be possible our citizens do not favour the tick tack toe plan as it makes no difference if you see one, two or three you would care to vote for; just forget Democracy and mark another cross for some one, and it does not make any difference if the ones you wish to be elected have enough votes or not. Just remember you save your ballot from going in the waste paper basket if you vote for four.

There is a petition being circulated which will require the names of four thousand electors before we can ask the city council to have a by-law passed.

The by-law will be submitted to the electors as a referendum which asks the electors if they prefer the Ward System whereby the wards will have equal representation on the council. If the by-law is defeated we will be remaining on the present system.

A few more canvassers are required to circulate the petition and offers of assistance will be very much appreciated. Now is an opportune time to get the question settled, the Ward System or General as at present. As far as I can see in the future, there could not be many more uninterested electors and have it necessary to have so many polls. The small number could all go to the City Hall.

Will the Ward System change the situation?

PETITION

To His Worship the Mayor and Council of the City of Peterborough, Ontario.

This petition of the Electorate of the City of Peterborough, Ontario with respectability sheweth:

That the opinion of the Petitioners is as follows: Under the present system of electing our Aldermen we are deprived of the proper use of our franchise as we are compelled to vote for candidates which are very often not known, and others which are not desirable.

We here request that the present General System be changed to what is known as the Ward System whereby the Electorate of each Ward will elect the same number of Aldermen.

Yours truly,
MAURICE E. KETCHESON.

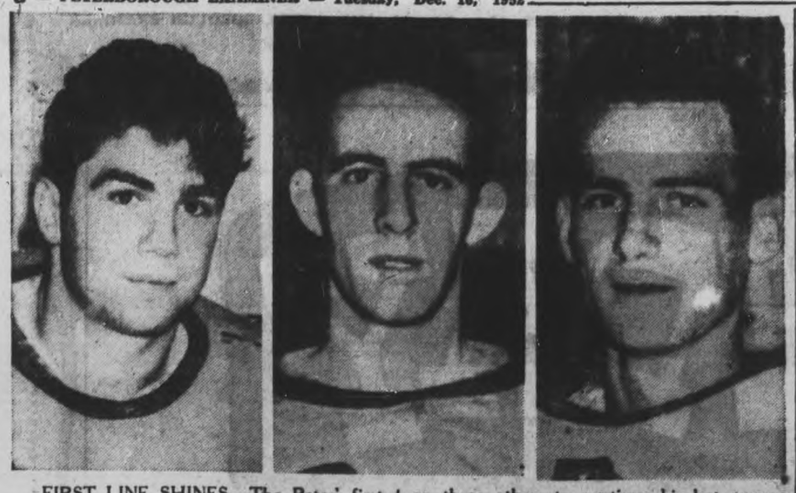
Happy Birthday Odéon—From All Movie Club Members—We Are Looking Forward To Your Birthday Show Saturday Morning



FIRST LINE SHINES—The Petes' first line of forwards turned in a neat chore here last night, though Kingston Goodyears grabbed off the 7-6 senior puck win. Chum Fryia (at left) scored one goal and aided on three others to continue his hot pace; Toodie Greenlaw (centre) counted two and helped on another; and Gus Leonard (right) began to hit his old form with a goal and an assist.

Walt Gerow's Late Tally Gives K's 7-6 Victory Against Petes In Hot Game

Kingston Goodyears took over top spot in the Central Ontario senior "B" hockey race here last night with a 7-6 win against the Petes before 1,000 fans. Wily Walt Gerow, always a fast opportunist, intercepted a Petes' passout in the homesters' area and blasted in the winner with less than two minutes to go. It was exciting, speedy and clean hockey all through. Petes led 3-2 in the first period but were behind 6-3 going into the third. They rallied then to sew it up only to have victory snatched from them in the dying minutes. The losers drew five of the nine penalties, which included majors to Clint Tinkess and Doug Hunter for fighting in the second stanza. Lorne Eakins suffered a fractured wrist in a collision in the same period.

LED THE WAY

Ken Partis and Walt Gerow led the Kingston lamp-lighters with two tallies, as Tinkess, Ted Nicholson and George McGregor got one apiece. Bob Markle was good for two assists, singles going to Bud Ohlka, Bob Londry, Jack McKeown, Nicholson, Joe Watts, Partis and Jack White. Goalie Ken Johnson turned in a solid effort, especially when pressed hard by the Petes in the first and third frames. The winners were minus Don Murray, who is ill.

Toodie Greenlaw notched a brace for the Ellis squad, with the other markers counted by Roy Armstrong, Don Floyd, Chum Fryia and Gus Leonard. Leading in assists was Fryia with three, as Greenlaw, Leonard, Buck Legrow and Eakins got one each. Ray Harding had tough luck on a couple of the Kingston goals, one on a screened shot and the other on a blistering angle drive by Gerow off his glove. Curly Mason and Fred Garvey missed this match for the Petes.

SCORED FIRST

Armstrong scored early on Eakins' passout but, after Tinkess served a roughing penalty, McGregor got it back with a high screened shot from the side on a pass from Ohlke. Greenlaw tore in a minute later to put Petes in front on a nice rush started by Legrow, with Fryia also in on it. Montgomery was sitting out a hooking penalty when Nicholson tied it again with Markle aiding as they ganged up. McKeown went over for slashing but all were back when Greenlaw finished off a picture passing play with Fryia and Leonard to give Petes a 3-2 lead. Legrow was gated for interference later.

The sides were even in the second when Partis tallied on a breakaway with Londry's pass as the Petes ganged up. Goodyears went in front then as Tinkess tallied in a scramble, McKeown and Markle being in on the play. Partis lengthened the lead on a neat play built up by Nicholson and White and exploding on Harding's doorstep. Markle was waved over for interference, and then Hunter and Tinkess drew three punches to draw major penalties. West followed shortly for slashing. The teams were even when Gerow's bullet drive slipped in off Harding's glove, Watts and Partis fashioning the rush.

ROARED BACK

After looking so-so in the second, the homesters dominated most of the third. Floyd stole the puck and raced in on a fine solo thrust to score the first. Fryia roared in close and batted home his own rebound to come closer, and then Leonard tied it up on a hard in-close thrust with Greenlaw and Fryia, poking the loose puck past a prostrate goalie. Hunter was back from a holding penalty and both squads were fighting furiously to break the deadlock as time ticked off when Gerow snared a Petes' corner passout and blasted the disc into the Peterborough twine for the winner with less than two minutes to go. The Petes' hardest drives the rest of the route failed to produce another goal. Teams:

Kingston: Goal, Johnson; defence, Londry and Nicholson; centre, Partis; wings, White Gerow; alts., Watts, Stewart, McKeown, McGregor, Ohlke, Tinkess and Markle.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Montgomery and Armstrong; centre, Leonard; wings, Greenlaw and Fryia; alts., Legrow, Wasson, Eakins, Hunter, Collins, West, Floyd, and Spiker.

Referee, J. Crombie; linesman, B. Kingdon.

Fresh Reports Robinson To Announce Retirement

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson was back in town Monday night from the Boston cabaret floodlights and there were fresh reports that his retirement as middleweight champion is only hours away.

A close friend and adviser said Robinson, 31, has prepared his retirement announcement and is ready to submit it to Abe Greene, commissioner of the National Boxing Association.

"My understanding was that the announcement would be made today and Sugar Ray insisted that it should come from Paterson, N.J., where Greene maintains his NBA office," added the source, who asked that he not be identified.

In Paterson, Greene said he had received no word from Robinson and knew of no impending announcement.

Robinson could not be reached for comment.

Since the New York state commission stripped Sugar Ray of his 160-pound crown Dec. 4 (later softening the edict), conflicting reports concerning Robinson have been current.

The champion's manager, George Gainford, insists his protege is not planning to quit but is committed—and ready—to meet England's Randy Turpin in a title fight in either London or Dublin in June.

Jack Solomons, London promoter, said Sugar Ray definitely has agreed to meet Turpin and Robinson compounded the confusion by declaring in Boston last week that he will retire "after the Turpin fight."

Brazil And Flanagan Combination To Tackle Canadian Champions

The team of Texas champions, Dick Raines and Lou Plummer, defeated the team of Whipper Watson and Pat Flanagan for the Canadian Open Tag Team Championship at Maple Leafs Gardens, Toronto, last Thursday night before 9,500 fans.

The sashwbuckling Texans will defend their newly-won laurels in the feature wrestling bout at the Brock Arena Wednesday night. The challengers will be the speed-packed twosome of Bobo Brazil and Pat Flanagan.

It was only after much persuasion and a heavy guarantee that the Texas grapplers agreed to put up the title. This can be readily understood as the combination of Flan and Brazil could easily make their reign short-lived. Their will be plenty of dynamite in this go with so much at stake.

The semi-final will be Johnny Barend against Sky-Hi Lee. The giant Lee has just returned from a successful campaign in Europe. The popular Barend will have his work cut out to win this one.

Jim Coffield will wrestle Man Mountain Dean Jr. in the first bout. Dean makes his first appearance here with a reputation of being one of the most ruthless men in the mat game. A capacity crowd is predicted for this classy card.

R. Pearse Rolls High

R. Pearse rolled high single of 315 this week in the Girls' City Bowling League and her 752 triple led in that department. Cardinals topped teams with 3063, including a single of 1186. The blind score of 552 was taken by D. Martin's 550 and D. Hendren's 554. Curtin's blanked Aces, Bassel's won 3-0 from Sevenaires, and 2-1 wins were taken by Cardinals over Austin's, Collis against Black's, and Marines over Arcos.

Good singles included: J. Snape 309 and 278, M. Behan 308, M. Hawthorne 275, L. Vincent 267, A. Dixon 261, M. Barringer 258, D. McArthur 258, P. Richardson 257, M. Timm 256, M. Sanderson 255, A. Stinson 252, M. Payne 250 and F. Kokesh 250. Neat triples were: J. Snape 731, D. McArthur 703, M. Hawthorne 699, L. Vincent 690, M. Behan 676 and M. Barringer 666.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Canadian Press is asking sports editors and sportscasters some questions for the annual CP poll. Best three individual performers, for instance, and that's a toughie. Maurice Richard should be in there for creating a new all-time NHL scoring record. What other two is a guy to pick? Best three women performers—we haven't the haziest. Outstanding personality? Argos' coach, maybe, or Conn Smythe or Jack Cooke of whosis. Dunno. Should the Grey Cup playoff be a two-game total-point series? Nope. Is football replacing hockey as Canada's major sport? Hardly. And so the poll goes. Guess we'd better start thinking it over.

* * * * * *

Debut of the fabulous Jean Marc Beliveau with Canadiens on Dec. 18 will be watched with much interest. This big highly-publicized amateur (?) hockeyist will take part in three games for Canadiens in the NHL under a lend-lease agreement. Then he returns to senior amateur ranks in Quebec. Maurice Richard and the Canadiens have been begging Jean for two years to step up to NHL company where they figure he'll be a star. Yet Beliveau makes more money now than most National leaguers, and he prefers being a big frog in a little puddle than maybe a medium toad in a large pond. But folks will watch with keen interest just how he goes in his three-game NHL test.

IOOF Has Busy Week

Local OHA junior "B" Oddfellows can creep up rapidly on the top-place Belleville Hawklets this week if they really roll. They're at Lindsay tonight and then have the Scugog squad back here Wednesday eve. To wind up a busy week ere a Christmas layoff, they tackle the Quinte crew here Friday p.m. in a postponed joust. If they could take all three tussles, they'd be sitting pretty and swinging in the canary's perch. But the Mortimer men will have to dig in every contest, neither Lindsay nor Bellville being puck pantywaists. We look for a trio of tough tilts for the junior IOOFers.

* * * * * *

Exciting senior "B" hockey was served up to a goodly gallery at Civic last gloaming as Kingston Goodyears edged the Petes 7-6 to vault into first place in the standing. A tough one to lose as Walt Gerow was handed a Petes' pass at 18.15 of the third period to cuff home the winning marker. Petes led in the first frame—and should have built up a bigger lead—while they outplayed the K's in the third in a fine comeback. But Kingston dominated in the middle heat and banked enough to see them through. Fast, rugged hockey, and it shows the improving Petes are about ready to knock off the best of them. But the Ellis squad had grim luck in losing Lorne Eakins with a fractured wrist.

A Line Packing Power

The Leonard-Fryia-Greenlaw line stood out for the home side in this engagement. Popular Monty is rounding rapidly into shape and fitting in nicely. Ken Partis was the pick of the winners, but they have a solid squad right through, Ken Johnson in goal and former AHL-er Ted Nicholson being valuable additions this season. Goodyears have 16 points now, one more than Stouffville and two higher than Oshawa. It's Belleville, Petes and Orillia then in that order. Lloyd Gilders won the fur coat drawn at this tilt. Johnny Russelle made a fine Santa on skates in the intermission as he went about wafting bags of peanuts into the crowd. Petes go to Belleville Friday and then take a Christmas rest.

Pardon a bit of free verse: There once were some docs in cage play, by heck; played some nurses and took it right on the neck—everyone said the fault was their own, they should have tended the sick and left the well alone! Height and trickery availed the hoop MDs naught at Collegiate last eve as Civic Nurses took an 11-8 exhibition victory over the Doctors before some 200 satisfied customers. A good show by the professionals—and the word is used not in a pay-for-play sense. Other part of the twin bill saw Irv Cipin's Collis basketeers romp ot a 35-20 triumph o'er Mabel Gillen's Blacks' team in a lasses' loop fixture, with Joan Dunk high scorer.

Sedgman, however, said: "It doesn't necessarily mean I am turning pro. I just don't want to comment."

Charles TKO's Frankie Buford

BOSTON (AP)—Ezzard Charles, former world heavyweight champion, scored a technical knockout over young Frankie Buford of Oakland, Calif., Monday night in 2:13 of the seventh round of their scheduled 10-rounder in Boston Garden.

Charles dropped Buford for a four count with a two-fisted attack in the sixth and then referee Joe Zapustas stopped it after a straight right to the jaw felled Buford for eight in the next round. Charles weighed 187 to Buford's 202.

The 24-year-old Buford—whose most notable ring feat was a verdict over Clarence Henry for the California heavyweight title—was on the defensive most of the way, but Charles was unimpressive as he tried to attack in the early going.

Charles slammed both hands to Buford's head in the seventh and then shot a smashing straight right that landed flush on the Californian's jaw.

Sullivan Scores TKO Victory

TORONTO (CP)—John L. Sullivan of Preston, Lancashire, England, third ranking middleweight of the British Empire, Monday night scored a technical knockout victory over Gus Rubicini of Toronto at 2:35 of the sixth round of a scheduled eight-round bout. Sullivan outweighed his opponent 164¾ to 161¾.

The 19-year-old Briton, still limited to eight-round bouts because of his youth, had little trouble disposing of Rubicini. He threatened to knock him out early with three first-round knockdowns and was in complete command except for the third and fourth rounds. He was leading 3 to 2 on the Canadian Press score card at the end of the fifth.

Gordon Wallace, Brantford middleweight, knocked out Jimmy Burke of Milwaukee, Wis., at 1:35 of the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout. Wallace, who weighed 162¾ against Burke's 158¼ opened up in the second round after a cautious opening three minutes.

Elect Chris Beatty Head Of Grafton Club

COBOURG—Chris Beatty was elected head of the Grafton Hockey Club at their recent meeting here. A young man, Beatty heads a new executive composed of secretary-treasurer Jack Turpin, team manager Don Hare, coach Dick Groves, captain Bill Turk, assistant captain Fred Goody.

The Grafton Club operated out of the new rink in that centre and has worked up a fine reputation in district hockey circles. Each year the Grafton Club holds what is rapidly becoming a hockey tradition in the annual series with Wilberforce.

City Carpetball

There will be no schedule games until January 5, 1953, when the following are drawn: Glens 1 v. Legion 10, Fire Hall 4 v. Legion 5, Red Patch 11 v. Legion 7, Legion 12 v. Fire Hall 9, LOL 6 v. Orphans 2, SOE v. Legion 3.

Results of last week's play:

At the SOE Hall, Fire Hall 9 captured the first game 19-3, holding the Sons to three singles. The second game proved tighter, the Sons coming from behind in the fourth frame to make it three-all, and went on into the lead up to a total of 12 before the Smoke-eaters scored again. The final score was 12-7 in the Sons' favor.

At the Legion Hall: Legion 7 won both games from Legion 10 by scores of 10-9 and 16-9. While No. 10 finished strong in the first game, they fell short by one ball to tie it up. A big six by No. 7 in the second game proved the deciding factor in that game.

Also at the Legion Hall: Red Patch 11 met Legion 5 and in the first game No. 5 went ahead 10-8 in the ninth frame; they failed to score again and No. 11 won it 11-10. The second game was No. 5's all the way by a score of 15-7.

At the Orange Hall: Legion 3 went into the lead over LOL 6 by an 11-3 score in the seventh end, and those Orange squeezers scored in every one of the final five frames. They lost 10-11. In the second game it was No. 3 who were behind, but they made it 12-all in the 11th frame. Then King Billie scored a 3 to win 15-12.

At the Legion: Orphans 2 went into the lead and were never overhauled by Legion 12. The score was 14-10 for No. 2. The reverse was true in the second game as No. 12 went into a lead and were never threatened by No. 2 until the final end when it a three instead of two had scored, the final score would not have been 10-9 for Legion 12.

At the Fire Hall: No. 4 met Glens 1. The Glens were leading and No. 4 tied it at 9-all in 10 frame. They went on to win it 11-9. The second game also went to the Fire Fighters by a 20-4 score as No. 1 could only score four singles.

Standing up to December 13:

Players' Insurance

Al Watkins, Peterborough member of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, advises all PMHA managers to return their OMHA insurance forms as soon as possible to Secretary Bill Dawson, so that they may be forwarded to the provincial body, thus permitting the maximum coverage for players.

It is expected that a lenient view will be taken in the case of Ron Jones, who suffered a fractured leg in play here last week, and insurance protection will be extended to him since the club concerned didn't have time to forward the forms at that time. However, the OMHA is not obligated to pay out anything until forms are completed and returned.

MACKINTOSH TO RANGERS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ian Mackintosh, high-scoring Vancouver Canuck forward, has been called up by New York Rangers, club owner Coley Hall announced Monday.

Mackintosh will join George Senick of Saskatoon, the Western Hockey League's leading scorer, who was called up last week by the Rangers, parent club for both teams.

Hall said he expects a replacement from the Rangers, probably Andy Bathgate.

Nurses Beat The Doctors In Hoop Exhibition As Collis Wins Other One

Cutting and stitching all day, the Peterborough doctors kept Civic Nurses' basketball team and about 200 fans in stitches Monday night in "Operation Basketball" at PCVS. Fifteen doctors took part in the huge operation, the purpose of which was to cut a defeat into the record of the nurses' team. But after an hour the operation was declared unsuccessful, the nurses winning 11-8. Meanwhile in the second game Irv Cipin's Collis' girls outplayed Mable Gillen's Blacks' lasses for a 35-20 victory in city league play.

Actually the main purpose of the nurses-doctors game was to attract attention to the basketball league which hasn't been drawing large crowds in several seasons. It served that purpose well for the balcony was jammed.

TRICKY MEDICOS

When it came to basketball, it's just as well to leave it there. The doctors, many of whom are former cage players, relied mostly on tricks and their height. Between the two, the nurses had trouble even seeing the ball during the first half.

But the doctors had problems, one in particular; they couldn't put the ball into the basket, that requires practice.

Jean Bell's successful foul shot opened the scoring, followed minutes later by a basket by Joan Plunkett, giving Nurses a 3-0 lead at the half. Bob Bell and John Fraser flipped in foul shots for the medicos in the second quarter while Pat Martyn scored a foul shot for a 4-2 half-time score.

Bill Arnup's third quarter field basket tied the score momentarily in the third but Joan Plunkett scored another basket and the Nurses stayed in front from therein.

The doctors, Bob Bell, John Fraser, Rog Chenoweth, Les Calvert, Jim Wishart, Bill Arnup, Bob Pow, Hugh Gastle, John Stewart, Ross Matthews, Joe Howes, John Currier, Doug Kelly, Warren Gamble and Rusty Magee, were given a hearty hand after the game for the part in the worthy project.

FAST BACKBOARDS

Irv Cipin's Collis' lasses with a thorough knowledge of ball handling had little trouble working their way to a 35-20 victory over Blacks. But they did have trouble shooting (the collegiate floor is much larger than the YWCA floor) and in rebounding. The new type backboards, glassy, were too lively for the girls during the first half.

Both teams were troubled by the large floor and backboards in the first quarter when Collis' took a 2-1 lead on Wilma Byers' field basket. Then Collis' found the range, particularly Joan Dunk who dropped in eight baskets in the second quarter, and they went ahead 14-7 at the half.

Collis' kept that pace up during the third quarter, again featuring Dunk and Wilma Byers, as they surged ahead 23-13. Despite points by Blacks' Mabel Gillen, and Carol Gibson in the last quarter, they couldn't overcome the Collis' lead which was helped by effective foul shooting by Dunk and field play by Byers.

Dunk easily led the scoring with 18 points, followed up by teammate Byers with 10. Collis' best mate Byers with 10. Blacks' best was Mabel Gillen with eight.

Lineups:

League Game:

Collis (35)—Stewart 2, Wasson 2, Borland, Poast, Byers 10, Dewarga, Smith, Dunk 18, Thompson 3, Wharry.

Blacks (20)—Gillen 8, Raper 2, Hollingsworth 2, Naylor, Laidley 1, Butcher 4, Butcher 2, Curran, McIlhagga, Merrett, Magill 1, Fredricks, Middleton.

Continuing with the third point of stone delivery:

THE BACKSWING

With most of your weight on the right foot, draw your rock back from the stance position. Be sure to keep your body upright and squarely facing the ice. The body does not change position at all during the backswing. The right knee straightens, elevating the body, the left foot moves sideways and back a bit, but the body remains in an upright position facing the ice with the head and chin up, eyes looking straight thead.

For a draw shot, a very short backswing is sufficient. For a running shot increase the arc of the swing. Remember this: No "pusher" gets the broom consistently.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

It's Christmas again. And no matter how hard-boiled and impervious to sentiment you may think you are, or as folks may believe you are, and, indeed as perhaps you are, as a general thing, Christmas does something to you. It did something to Old Scrooge, so probably the rest of us, who live in a rugged, realistic world, where no one expects, or gets, any the better of it, are not immune, either.

As every Christmas approaches, you decide that this year you're going to take the attitude, but firmly, that Christmas is only another Saturday, or Tuesday, as the case may be. This time, you say, you're not going to go overboard for a lot of gifts—well, maybe something for a few little nieces and nephews, but no one else—and no partying, and running around to other folks' houses, no receptions at your own. Just a good book, curl up in front of the fire, and relax.

Then the Christmas cards start to come in. You hear from folks that, in many cases, you'd almost forgotten, from others who form a bond or attachment in your life that, you strangely find, is a great deal stronger than all the anti-Christmas resolutions you'd mentally made. You see the light in a child's eyes as he peers hungrily through a half-frosted window at the glittering array of tempting toys grouped about a giant Santa Claus who shakes with rumbling laughter. Or you hear sleighbells across the frozen snow. Or the boys who sing the Christmas carols touch some half-forgotten chord of other days that was lurking deep in your memory.

And all of a sudden, you realize what you knew all along, that there's a real Santa Claus, a real Christmas for all of us, in the spirit of the season. It's something you can't escape. And when you come right down to it, who wants to? You'll go through with that one resolution, though, to curl up in front of the open fire with a good book. And the book will be Dickens' Christmas Carol, and you'll rejoice in the reformation of Scrooge, in the joys of Tiny Tim, and all the rest of those folks in the greatest fictional Christmas story ever written, so poignant that it still can bring a lump to the throat of one who has read it from boyhood, which is more years back than he cares to think. And a day when you can make the old wish that never seems to become trite:

A Merry Christmas to Everybody

No Christmas Spirit In NHL As Knock 'Em-Down Scramble Grows Apace

MONTREAL (CP) — The National Hockey League boys don't seem to be taking seriously the Christmas spirit. There's a knock-'em-down-and-drag-'em-out scramble for five of the six positions, and the team standings undergo revision with practically every game. Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens were the rudest of the lot last week in breaking up happy hockey parties. The Red Wings boldly took over first place. Canadiens unabashedly shoved through from fifth to a second-place tie with the slipping Chicago Black Hawks.

And the Vezina-award minded goalies have turned their private feuding into a bitter dog-fight, right out in the open. Only Sugar Jim Henry of the Boston Bruins showed any respect for the season.

From a distance in the Boston Garden last Thursday night, Henry appeared to be wearing a red suit and long white whiskers as Detroit took from him 10 goals.

Those goals helped Henry to slip from leadership in the goalies' standing to third and Gerry McNeil of Canadiens to move in. In the points department Detroit's Gordie Howe widened his margin at the top as five Red Wings, instead of four, moved in among the first 10 players.

The official statistics, released today, show Detroit in front by four points. In three games the Red Wings collected five of a possible six points and now have a total of 35.

Canadiens came out of the week with seven of a possible eight points. With 31 they are tied with the Black Hawks, who picked up only one point in three games.

Boston Bruins, although collecting three points in as many games slipped off from a third-place tie to fourth spot, only one point behind Canadiens and Hawks. Toronto Maple Leafs, with one point in three tries, fell to fifth place New York Rangers are still deep in the cellar. They picked up one point in two games.

With Howe, Ted Lindsay, Alex Delvecchio, Metro Prystai and Red Kelly in the first 10 point-getters, the Red Wings at the moment are the hottest team in the circuit.

Howe added three goals and two assists during the week for a total 32 points. Five points back at 27 are little Wally Hergesheimer of New York and Lindsay. Hergey collected one goal and one assist during the week and Lindsay had two assists.

Ted Kennedy of the Leafs and Maurice Richard of Canadiens follow with 26 points, Kennedy with a one-and-one count for the week while Richard could get only a single assist. Delvecchio is one point back with 25, followed by Prystai with 24.

Red Kelly's two goals and three assists sent him into a tie with Toronto's Sid Smith with 21 points.

Bernie Geoffrion of Montreal, last year's rookie award winner, scored three goals and one assist to bring his total to 16.

Gerry McNeil, with only three goals against him in four games, leads the goalies with a goals-against average of two a game. His margin over Terry Sawchuk of the Red Wings is one for a 2.03 average. Henry, with a 1.92 average a week ago, now has 2.18.

Toronto is the most penalized team with 409 minutes and Ted Lindsay the most penalized player with 54 minutes.

Jim McBurney Leads Junior Scoring Race

TORONTO (CP)—The top three spots in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A scoring race have new occupants this week.

Statistics released by the OHA, including games of Dec 14, show Jim McBurney of Galt Black Hawks leading with 32 goals and 16 assists in 30 games for 48 points. McBurney's 32 goals top the league in scoring.

Orv Tessier, recently traded from Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts to Barrie Flyers, and Wally Maxwell of Toronto Marlboros are in a second-place tie with 47 points each. Skip Teal of Barrie, who led the race last week, has dropped to a fourth-place tie with Murray Costello of Toronto St. Michael's. Each has 44 points.

Toronto Marlboros continued to top the standings, winning three games out of four on their Quebec tour last week. Windsor Spitfires vacated the cellar and pulled into a seventh-place tie with Oshawa Generals. Kitchener-Waterloo replaced Windsor in the basement.

Johnny Henderson of Toronto Marlboros continues to lead the goaltenders with a 2.56 average in 27 games. Dennis Riggin of Windsor is second with 2.74 in 23 games while Ed Chadwick of St. Michael's is third. Norm Defelice played his first game for St. Catharines this week and scored a shutout.

Moore Delighted Take On Maxim

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Archie Moore has to pinch himself now and then just to believe he's actually getting a crack at Joey Maxim's light heavyweight title here Wednesday night.

"Year after year I went along knowing that I deserved the chance at the title and hoping that I would get it and nothing happened," said Moore as he wound up training. "Then all of a sudden I've got it —and it seems so sudden, just like a dream."

Now that he has his opportunity, the husky, 36-year-old Negro intends to make the most of it. He's trained harder and longer for this 15-rounder than for any other scrap in his 16-year pro career.

"I've put in nine weeks training and have boxed between 130 and 140 rounds," said Moore. "I'm ready now as I'll ever be and I'm going to take that title. That's what I've been working for these years.

"I think I can beat Maxim—I know I can."

Long hailed as the "uncrowned champion" as titleholder after titleholder passed him by for easier opponents, Moore feels that at 36 he's as good now and maybe better than ever before.

Not Worried About Bribery

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police said Monday they are convinced there was "no serious attempt" to bribe city boxer Eddie Jones.

Jones reported last week that two men had offered him $300 "Christmas money" to take a dive in the first round of a middleweight fight with Bill Brenner here.

Detectives said they had not located the persons who made the suggestion but were convinced the attempt was "not serious" and not followed up. They were satisfied, however, that someone had spoken to Jones, they said.

Police also said they had been unable to trace the source of a phone call offering money to Dave Brown, Police Mutual Benefit Association coach, if three of his amateur boxers lost their fights.

Joey Maxim Has Eye On Victory

By MURRAY ROSE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—It's not often light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim will make a prediction on the outcome of any of his fights. But for his Wednesday night title defence against favored Archie Moore, Joey says "I'm going to win."

What brought that optimistic burst from the usually doleful Clevelander was a little incident with Moore a few days ago at a medical examination.

"We're being examined," said the 30-year-old champion as he wound up training Monday, "and some radio announcer says to Moore: 'How do you think you'll do with Maxim Wednesday night?' Well Moore says 'I'm gonna knock him out.'

"Imagine that," said Joey. "The nerve of the guy! So the announcer comes to me and says 'Watta you think of that?' I told him 'Look, if that happens, it won't be the first time.' But I told him 'I've always been told to string along with the champion. That goes double for Moore.' "

The champion is cheerful and confident, and especially happy about his big pay day for the 15-rounder.

Maxim has been guaranteed about $100,000 for his third title defence.

"I've worked seven weeks for this fight and I'm in great shape," said Joey. "I weighed over 200 pounds when I started training but for some reason I take it off pretty good in the winter. I'm down to 176 now and won't have any trouble making the 175-pound limit."

Sullivan Tied With Fielder As Top Scorer

NEW YORK (CP)—A pair of centres—a rookie and a veteran—share the lead today in the American Hockey League scoring.

Guyle Fielder, St. Louis Flyer, newcomer this year, and George Sullivan of Hershey Bears were deadlocked with 31 points each.

Fielder had 13 goals and 18 assists in 22 games for his total while Sullivan had five goals and 26 assists.

Sullivan's play-making efforts gave him the lead in assists.

Ike Hildebrand of Cleveland Barons maintained his goal-scoring lead with 16 tallies, although he failed to score last week.

FOLLOWS LEADERS

Marcel Bonin of St. Louis followed the leaders in the point parade with 30 points. Lorne Davis of Buffalo Bisons was next with 29. Three players, Arnie Kullman and Sam Bettio of Hershey and Hildebrand, were tied with 28.

Frank Sullivan of Pittsburgh and Norm Kaiser of Buffalo were tied for penalty honors. Each had a total of 53 minutes made up of 19 minors, a major and a 10-minute misconduct.

Johnny Bower of Cleveland registered his fourth shutout of the season last week and was the leading goal-tender with a 2.30 goals-against mark.

It's the 'KNOW HOW' that Counts!
TABLE TENNIS : THE GRIP

1 The Forehand Grip: Control of every shot is vital, and comes only from the properly-held bat. Grip the bat simply and naturally. The handle should be held by the whole hand. Blade is held between thumb and forefinger; thumb on one side, forefinger on other.
2 Make sure bat fits snugly in hand while the three fingers clasp handle with relaxed, controlled grip. Held in this manner the bat becomes an extension of the arm and hand.
3 The Backhand Grip: For a backhand shot the bat is turned slightly in the hand when changing from the forehand position. The thumb steadies the backhand shot; the first finger steadies the forehand shot.
Yes, it's "know-how" that counts in table tennis as in every sport — "know-how" that sets one performer above another. Learn the correct form — the "know-how" — then practise until you have mastered it and you'll get more fun and enjoyment out of your sports and game.

Prime Ministers' Parley Said 3 Years Too Late

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commonwealth prime ministers' conference came three years late, Hon. W. Earl Rowe (PC—Dufferin-Simcoe) said Monday night in the Commons.

He said the proposal for such a conference—which has just concluded—was ridiculed by Liberals when it was brought up by the Progressive Conservatives in 1949.

Since then, Canada has lost many markets, notably in farm products.

The former minister without portfolio in the Bennett Conservative government said the Canadian farmer is "rapidly becoming the victim, or the guinea pig, of the socialistic experiments" of the present federal government.

MAY BANKRUPT INDUSTRY

This "folly" had caused wheat farmers a loss of $750,000,000.

While warehouses were filled with bacon, the government now was "fixing" hog prices at levels that "threaten temporary bankruptcy of the whole industry."

Charging over-taxation, Mr. Rowe said Canadians are paying in federal taxes twice as much as they pay for food.

Raymond Bruneau (L—Prescott) said he gets the impression from opposition criticism that it is designed to tear down financial policy rather than put it on a sound basis.

No government liked to increase taxes. But times of emergency called for extra taxes. Government tax policy was formulated to prevent such things as "the rape of Korea" and further enslavement of other nations.

WOULD DELAY FEE

Donald Brown, Liberal member for Essex West, said the government should withhold a licence fee on television in Canada until there is TV coverage across the country.

Similarly, he was opposed to the present $2.50 annual licence fee on radio because it was "uncollectable."

The government was to be complimented in going carefully in establishment of TV in Canada, profiting from the mistakes that had been made in other countries.

In his constituency, he said, there is an audience of some 3,000,000 persons. Many of them had been enjoying TV on three United States channels for some time, but he did not think they should be charged a fee until Canadian television was provided in the Windsor area.

Pie Trays For Splints

CHATHAM (CP)—Pies were dumped from a delivery truck and wooden pie trays broken to make splins for a 66-year-old man hit by a car while he was crossing Richmond street Monday. George Huson, of Chatham, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with severe lacerations and 15 fractures to his right leg. His condition was reported critical.

SKIDS INTO RIVER—Thirty passengers and driver of this Gray Coach bus were uninjured when the vehicle skidded on Highway No. 11, 65 miles north of Toronto, broke a telegraph pole and plunged down a 20-foot embankment, burying its nose in the Severn River. The driver was able to open a rear emergency door and lead passengers to safety.

Britain's Economic Progress Conditioned By Monetary Means Of Control

Written For The Canadian Press
By GEORGE ABRAHAMSON

LONDON (CP)—Economic progress in Great Britain during 1952 was conditioned by the new Conservative government's preference for monetary means of control, the fall of world commodity prices and continued concentration on the defence program.

The trade recession in consumer goods industries noticeable before the end of 1951 deepened early in the year. By June textile production was 30 per cent below the corresponding period in 1951. A sizable improvement did not develop until the last quarter of 1952.

Short-time working rather than unemployment, however, was the consequence. Though unemployment rose from 209,000 in July 1951, to 518,000 in May 1952, the shift of labor into engineering industries prevented serious dislocation. Total industrial production recovered after a spring and early summer decline, but only sufficiently to end the year around the 1951 close level. Thus 1952 was the first post-war year not to show an appreciable output increase.

CREDIT RESTRICTIONS

Credit tightening by higher interest rates, direct instructions to commercial banks as well as restrictions on instalment buying and other special forms of borrowing was slow in making itself felt. But consumer resistance provoked by high prices led to sharp price cuts, especially for durable consumer goods. At the same time the trend of production costs, with prices of most industrial commodities and services, continued upwards. The curve flattened out towards the end of the year.

Gradual lowering of food subsidies, offset by income tax concessions, higher old-age pensions and family allowances, resulted in a further rise in cost of living by eight per cent, accompanied by an average rise in wage rates by six per cent.

Though further import cuts were avoided, the balance of trade improved substantially. Cheaper raw material prices largely accounted for a 10-per-cent decline in imports during the first 10 months, compared with the same period in 1951, while the value, though not the volume, of exports, was fully maintained in face of more competitive world market conditions.

EXTERNAL TRADE

By October external trade was temporarily in balance so that the whole of the appreciable "invisible exports" was surplus. Also, because of import economies in other sterling countries the drain on gold reserves was arrested, but not until after the end of 1951 total of £834,000,000 had been sliced to £594,000,000 by April 30. At the end of November, however, the reserve had recovered to £677,000,000.

Britain's own external payments were maintained in balance during the year. The fall in trade surplus with the Commonwealth was offset by a narrowing deficit in other directions.

Physical controls were eased as raw material shortages tended to disappear and private trading was encouraged wherever possible.

Government bulk-buying was ended for lead, zinc, softwood and other commodities. Restrictions on private housebuilding and repairs were relaxed.

A more cautious outlook was engendered in industry and commerce by stock depreciation and narrowing of profit margins.

The less favorable profit outlook and higher interest rates for short and medium-term money following a boost in the bank rate from 2½ to 4 per cent in March forestalled any marked recovery in security prices even when the foreign exchange position improved.

The 2½ per cent consols fell from 65.6 in October 1951 to a low of 56.4 per cent in July, from which they recovered to 60 by Nov. 30. The yield on this gilt-edged security meanwhile rose from 3.81 per cent, before the government raised the bank rate for the first time in November, 1951, to 4.23 per cent 12 months later.

Allow Holders Retain Shares

TORONTO (CP) — The Supreme Court of Ontario Monday issued an order allowing shareholders of Canadian Admiral Corporation Limited to retain their shares instead of exchanging them for shares of the parent company.

Admiral Corporation, the United States parent, consented to the order.

The parent company earlier this year offered one of its shares for each two shares of the Canadian company. By Oct. 17, U. S. Admiral had acquired 94.7 per cent of the capital stock and obtained a court order allowing it to get the rest.

Three groups of Canadian and U. S. minority stockholders who represented a total of about two per cent of the Canadian company's stock protested the court order. The Supreme Court Monday issued an order nullifying the original order.

The company manufactures radios, television sets and refrigerators.

Boy Faints Hearing Charge Of Setting Fires

COBOURG (ENS)—A 15-year-old boy, of Cobourg for the past few months, fainted in juvenile court Monday during the course of a hearing of juvenile delinquency charges against him.

He pleaded guilty to setting the three fire which broke out at Cobourg Collegiate last Thursday and with theft of a car on the same day. R. B. Baxter, judge of the juvenile court, remanded him in custody of his father until Jan. 5 and directed that he be examined by a psychiatrist.

The boy spoke in a low voice during the time he was questioned by the judge and several times had to be asked to speak up so that he could be heard. Judge Baxter spoke to him in a kindly voice throughout but the distressed lad keeled over just at the end of the hearing. Judge Baxter reached forward and caught him before he fell and lowered him to the floor. He was lifted into a chair by the window and the fresh air quickly revived him.

$1,500 DAMAGE

Fire Chief Ken Baird related that the fire brigade were called out shortly before the morning session of school last Thursday to extinguish a fire on the stage of the auditorium. About $1,500 damages were done to the stage furnishings. The firemen were just getting ready to leave when two fires broke out at the west end of the building and it was found that some one had stuffed paper into two cupboards near the basement stairs and set fire to it. There was no damage in the two fires involving the paper.

J. J. Richards, an inspector from the fire marshal's department testified that he interviewed the juvenile the day after the fire. He admitted setting fire to the stage but blamed the other two fires on another boy. However later he revised his statement and admitted being responsible for all three fires.

Chief H. Pearse of the police department, said that the car was stolen by the accused on December 11, driven to Newcastle and then ditched near Port Hope on the way back. About $300 damage was done.

The boy's father said that he brought his wife and family to Cobourg last August, having lived in Montreal before that. The boy had never been in any serious trouble in his life before but he noticed that during the past month he had grown secretive.

RESPECTABLE HOME

Harold Bigelow, probation officer of the family court informed the court that he had visited the boy's home and found it a good home and the parents very respectable people. He felt that the boy, however, had rather a bad temper. In conversation with R. N. McKenzie, principal of the Collegiate, he was told that the principal, personally, was willing to accept the boy back in school but that he would have to have permission to do so from the school board. Mr. Bigelow said that the boy was anxious to continue his education because he wanted to be an air pilot but the fact still remained that the boy did not want to return to the collegiate. His scholastic standing at the school was average. The accused was not fond of sports at school. He had no past record of setting fires.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman expressed the opinion the student reaction if the boy went back to the collegiate might not be favorable to the lad.

Judge Baxter in remanding him until Jan. 5 suggested to the juvenile that he give serious thought to his future educational plans which should be such that committal to a training school would not be necessary.

"I know that your parents do not want you to be sent to the training school, except as a last resort," said the judge.

Debentures Sell At Premium

$80,000 Bond Issue For New School Already Started

"The price turned out a lot better than we anticipated," said Ald. T. D. Miller in moving acceptance of the bid of Cochran Murray and Co., Ltd., Toronto at $101.27 for the $80,00 debentures the council authorized Monday to be sold for the Board of Education.

The Board is building a Public School on Cameron St. east, and the work is in progress.

Eleven tenders ranged in price from $99.53 to the Cochran Murray and Co. of $101.27 which pays a premium amounting to $1,016, out of which there will be the usual deduction for the cost of printing the debentures.

They pay 4½ per cent and are for 20 years. Ald. Miller's motion accepting the highest bid was a veiled reference to the council's earlier survey of the possibility of selling this issue over the counter.

SMALL ISSUE

Some of the members of the council suggested that the bond houses might not be interested in this comparatively small offering, and that possibly people who had surplus money in their bank accounts might be interested in their city's debentures paying 4½p.c. This detail was left to City Treasurer A. S. Couper who reported prospect of sale of no more than $30,000.

"In those enquiries the best price was the $100 par, with all expenses paid," Ald. Miller said. "So, it turns out better than we were anticipating after that experience."

Agreement Split Six Stores To Remain Open

Six Peterborough stores will be open Wednesday afternoon.

James Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce said today that six city stores had decided to disregard the chamber's retail section's agreement on a half day closing Wednesday afternoon.

Store hours for the Christmas period in Peterborough were first discussed at a meeting of the retail section of the chamber on June 2 of this year. At that time it was decided to submit a suggested schedule to an open meeting of all retailers (members or non-members of the section.

This meeting was held Oct. 1. At that time there was an agreement that stores would close Wednesday afternoon Dec. 17, and remain open until 9 p.m. Dec. 19, 20, 22 and 23 and until 6 p.m. Dec. 24.

"I would like to point out to the general public and to retail staffs in particular that the retail section does not set store hours but only falls in line with what the majority of the retailers want to do," Mr. Fraser said today. "And I would also like to point out that the retail section hasn't changed its mind about closing Wednesday afternoon."

Mr. Fraser went on to say that there is no legal factor involved in store hour agreements for December. It is merely a cooperation principle.

"I hope that there will be no repercussions among retailers over this situation," he said.

One employee said that he and others of the staff of stores that have decided to stay open were unhappy about the switch. They had been counting on their half day off. He said that when the Christmas nighmare was over, employees were too tired out to enjoy their Christmas. He added that he thought employers were showing little consideration for their staff.

$100,000 Fire Razes Separate School

NOELVILLE (CP) — A $100,000 fire Monday night destroyed the separate school here and gave Noelville students promise of a long Christmas holiday.

The eight-room frame building was the only school in this northern Ontario community of 500 persons. The blaze, of unknown origin, is believed to have started on the first floor.

The loss was partly covered by insurance.

Father Killed Baby Gets Yearly Award

Gets $240 Annually For 15 Years Court Decides

A 28-month-old infant has been granted a yearly allowance of $240 in a damage action that resulted from the death of his father. The allowance will continue for 15 years.

Beneficiary of this Supreme Court award, made by Mr. Justice Danis at the non-jury sittings, is Lawrence Russell, infant son of 21-year-old Lorne Russell of Oshawa, who was fatally injured while walking along Highway 28 on June 6, 1951.

FOUND NEGLIGENT

Melvin Wood, 22, of Water St., was found negligent by Mr. Justice Danis in the driving of his motor car that struck and fatally injured Lorne Russell.

Thirteen months ago Wood was convicted on a charge of dangerous driving.

T. J. Carley, QC, counsel for Wood, conceded that Wood was the driver and owner of the car. He did not defend his client's operation of the car, explaining that it was unlikely he could discharge the onus of responsibility that falls on the operator of a car that is involved in a fatal accident.

The greatest part of the case was spent in determining Russell's status regarding the infant. It was admitted that he was not legally married but the evidence indicated that his common-law wife's parents would not give their consent to marriage until the girl was 17.

DEPENDENT

It was claimed that the infant was dependent on Russell for support. Mr. Justice Danis had to decide what the damages would be to compensate the infant for the financial loss of his father.

The action was entered on behalf of the infant by his mother, Mrs. Lily Symons, 18, of Water St. N., under a provision of the Fatal Accidents Act. Since the accident Mrs. Symons married.

Russell was hit while walking along the western edge of the Lakefield Highway, near the McNaughton and Sugden Service Station. He died in hospital 13 days later.

The $240 a year allowance will continue until Lawrence Russell is 16 years of age.

W. J. Arthur Fair, QC, was counsel for the plaintiff.

Brethren of Corinthian Lodge No. 101 A.F. & A.M. are advised of an emergent meeting for purpose of attending a masonic funeral service for our late brother Worshipful Brother Garbutt Mann at his late residence in Bridgenorth on Tuesday at 7.00 p.m. Brethren of sister lodges also take notice.

Power Association Urges Speed On St. Lawrence Seaway Project

By JAMES C. MUNN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Public Power Association, describing itself as having a "friendly interest" in New York's application to join with Canada in construction of the St. Lawrence river power project, urged Monday its "earliest possible development."

Ontario has already been designated as the Canadian partner in the project.

Alex Radin, general manager of the association, asked however, that the power commission—before whom New York's application is being heard—impose adequate provisions for marketing St. Lawrence power to local public agencies and rural electric co-operatives.

Rading said it was "clearly within the public interest" that marketing of the project power, estimated by engineers at 12,600,000,000 kilowatt hours a year, be done so as to bring about "the most widespread distribution at the lowest possible rates to the ultimate consumer."

WILL CONTINUE

The hearing, which opened Dec 9, had been expected to end Monday but through inability of some witnesses to be present, will continue today.

B. J. Fletcher, an Aluminum Company of America (Alcoa) hydraulic engineer, testified that an Alcoa subsidiary — St. Lawrence River Power Co. — would lose millions of dollars unless the state's plans for the development are revised.

The subsidiary, he said, presently diverts 25,000 cubic feet a second of river water for the generation of about 500,000 kilowatt hours of power a year for use in Alcoa's aluminum smelting and fabrication works at Massena, N.Y.

Under the authority's plan for developing the St. Lawrence hydro-electric potential, the canal which now diverts the water to the Alcoa subsidiary would be blocked off during the period of construction.

The diversion, he said, would be halted for at least four years before Alcoa could begin receiving power from the proposed project.

He urged the installation of headgates on the canal dike that would permit continued diversion of water during the construction period for the Alcoa generating plant. Not to do so, he said, would be sheer waste.

New York takes the position that Alcoa should pay the cost of the headgate or intake works. Engineers estimate the cost at around $900,000. Alcoa's position is that New York should pay such cost.

Allied Pilots Down Four Red Jets

SEOUL (AP)—Allied Sabre jet pilots destroyed at least four Communist MiG-15 jets in a series of high altitude dogfights over North Korea today, the Fifth Air Force announced.

Allied pilots also were credited with damaging one MiG and probably destroying another.

Allied losses, if any, are announced weekly.

The air force said a total of 27 Sabres and about 32 MiGs engaged in 13 separate dogfights. The battles raged from 45,000 feet down to 800 feet.

Ground action subsided to routine patrol fights except in the Kimhwa ridges area of the central front, where Chinese soldiers continued harassing attacks.

The Reds hit Pinpoint hill and Rocky point five times Monday night in short but intense attacks. They were driven back each time.

Feared Police Check-Up Drug Addict Stabs Artist

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A 16-year-old high school student told police today he fatally stabbed artist Ida C. Mackeown, 67, when she threatened to tell officers he was a marijuana user.

Booked on suspicion of murder was Donald S. Crosby. Police said the youth led them to a trash can where they found a knife with a four-inch blade.

Mrs. Mackeown's body, punctured by 35 stab wounds, was discovered Monday by neighbors in her fashionable studio - home at nearby La Jolla. The well-known miniature portrait painter had been at work on a picture of a child. Coroner A. E. Gallagher said she was killed Saturday.

"I didn't know if she was dead or not, but when I left I hoped she was so she couldn't identify me," police quoted the youth as saying.

Neighbors who had noted a 'teenager standing on the Mackeown porch Saturday gave police a description. Officers checked their list of known juvenile delinquents. Then they arrested Crosby, who had been paroled from a correctional institution.

Police said Crosby gave the following version:

He was soliciting work in the La Jolla neighborhood.

While talking with Mrs. Mackeown, he pulled a pack of cigarets out of his pocket and a marijuana cigaret dropped on to the floor.

Mrs. Mackeown threatened to call police.

"I slapped her and when she began screaming I pulled out my knife. Then I beat her over the head with my fist."

Giant Machine To Discover Atomic Secrets

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

UPTON, N. Y. (AP) — A giant machine was dedicated Monday to the task of discovering secrets of the insides of atoms and new secrets of the universe.

The machine is the cosmotron, the world's most powerful atom smasher. It is a great doughnut shaped magnet, covered with a red plastic skin to keep it clean and rust-free, weighing 2,200 tons and measuring 75 feet in diameter.

It is the newest tool for learning what holds the hearst of atoms together, where the energy of stars comes from, what are the basic atomic facts of life of the universe.

The cosmotron was dedicated at Brookhaven national laboratories, one of the research centres of the atomic energy commission.

Like a slingshot, it has hurled atomic bullets at the fantastic energies of 2,300,000,000 electron volts sending them smashing into the cores of other atoms.

The collisions shatter atoms more powerfully than any machine yet built. The parts and pieces that come from the smashed atoms will yield new secrets about the hearts of atoms and atomic structure.

Divisional Engineer Honored At Bancroft

BANCROFT — (ENS) — C. F. Szammers, divisional engineer of the Bancroft division of the Department of Highways for the past nine years was honored at a smoker held Saturday night at Ohio Lodge and attended by nearly one hundred department members and associates.

Mr. Szammers has been transferred to Queen's Park. He was also in charge of the Bancroft division in 1937 before leaving to spend several years in Northern Ontario. Mr. Szammers was presented with a matched luggage set and a silver tea service for Mrs. Szammers who was unable to attend. A bouquet of roses was wired to her earlier in the day. The presentations were made by fellow workers who expressed regret at his leaving and wished him every success at his new post.

H. Duff, stationed here for the past three years, has succeeded Mr. Szammers in charge of the division.

Santa Claus Parade Held At Warkworth

WARKWORTH (ENS). — The Legion and the Business Men's Association sponsored a Santa Claus parade on Saturday in the village. The Town Hall was filled quickly with eager children. The Community Band, with their leader, Maurice Bell, played Christmas carols.

Finally the tree was unloaded and bags of candy were passed out to the children who filed by. Around 500 bags of candy were prepared for this special event.

The Girl Guides' float won the first prize and the child's decorated wagon (Humpty-Dumpty) belonging to Johnny Grant, won second.

Press Investigation

BERLIN (Reuters) — West Berlin police Monday arrested two persons who tried to sell a five-pound block of pure uranium worth $100,000 to a research institute for $25,000. Allied regulations forbid Germans to deal in the atomic raw material. A widespread investigation is under way to trace the source of the confiscated block.

Strikers Look To Gov't To End Strike

THREE RIVERS, Que. (CP)—With six men fined and eight awaiting trial for illegal assembly after the Riot Act was read during disturbances at strike-ridden Louiseville Thursday last, textile workers are looking to the Quebec government for settlement of their nine-month strike.

Labor Minister Barrette announced Monday, after a special cabinet meeting, that he will approach Associated Textiles Ltd., and the Catholic Textile Syndicate (CCCL) whose 800 members went on strike last March 10 for higher wages and better working conditions.

Premier Duplessis, in brief statement, said the Quebec government is "taking all reasonable steps to obtain a settlement on a fair and just basis."

LAST OFFER

Last offer made by the American-owned company in August included a work consumption bonus of $140 and a pay increase of 12 cents an hour.

Hourly wages previously ranged from 70 to 75 cents an hour but, with the 12-cent increase, would range from 82 to 87 cents an hour.

Mr. Barrette said there could be "no question of forcing a settlement."

He estimated all but 300 of the workers have found jobs since the mill reopened last summer with help mainly drawn from areas surrounding Louiseville, 17 miles west of here.

DO HIS BEST

He would do his best to have the 300 re-employed in the mill, chief support of the community.

Twenty-five were arrested in the disturbances, during which police used guns, clubs and tear gas to break assemblies.

Six were released almost at once, one 16-year-old turned over to juvenile court, one man fined $10 for creating a disturbance while drunk one fined $50 for disturbing the peace, six fined $100 and costs or two months in jail for illegal assembly and two ordered to trial. The remaining eight are scheduled to face preliminary inquiry Dec. 17 on the same charges.

Meanwhile the parent union body has a plenary session scheduled for Sunday when a possible general strike will be discussed.

Sawmill Worker Loses Parts Of Four Fingers

WARKWORTH (ENS)—A Warkworth sawmill employee, Max Nelson, lost parts of four fingers on his left hand Saturday when it was caught in the planer at Bowen's mill on the outskirts of the village.

Dr. R. F. Jolliffe rushed Nelson to Belleville Hospital after giving him first aid. Nelson was brought home later in the day.

Dies In Experiment

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Penitentiary officials have disclosed the death of 25-year-old prisoner who was voluntarily taking part in a medical research project. Warden George W. Humphrey said that John F. Gavin, serving 16 months to four years for house-breaking, died Monday in the penitentiary hospital. Death was due to "the part he played in a hepatitis (jaundice) research project," Humphrey said.

Ownership Of Minor League Clubs Called Unsound By Gabe Paul

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

CINCINNATI (AP) — General Manager Gabe Paul of Cincinnati Reds declared Monday that major league ownership of minor league clubs, "except for operational reasons, is unsound."

Paul made the statement to Reds' stockholders as he reported the Cincinnati club ended the 1952 fiscal year with a net loss of $34,706.50 despite an increase of 15,929 in home attendance.

Mounting operating costs were blamed for the deficit and Paul said the largest increase in expenses was in player development. He reported that the Reds' farm system now holds twice as many player contracts as it did a year ago but, he added:

"The ownership of minor league clubs by major league clubs is becoming an increasingly hazardous financial undertaking."

Explaining that the ratio of expenses for most minor league clubs is greater than for major league teams, Paul continued:

"The ownership of minor league clubs, except for operation reasons, is unsound. It is necessary to have one or two ownership clubs in a farm system for operational reasons but, beyond that, the ownership is a distinct luxury as the same benefits can be gained from working agreements without the possibility of large losses."

The Reds now have working agreements with three clubs and own three outright.

Reynolds Ends Brilliant Season With Earned-Run Honors

NEW YORK (AP)—Allie Reynolds of the world champion New York Yankees' pitching staff climaxed a brilliant season in 1952 by capturing American League earned-run honors, official statistics showed today.

The durable 33-year-old right-hander, who won 20 games for the first time in his career, gave up 56 earned runs in 244 innings for a league-leading 2.07 mark. It was the lowest earned-run average since 1946 when Detroit's Hal Newhouser posted 1.94.

Unofficial statistics compiled by the Associated Press and released in October also had Allie the top E.R.A. man at 2.07.

Reynolds also paced AL pitchers in strikeouts with 160 and tossed six shutouts to share the lead with Mike Garcia of Cleveland.

Bobby Shantz, the league's most valuable player, won the most games, 24. The Philadelphia lefty lost only seven games and his .774 winning percentage put him on top in that department. Bobby was third in the earned run listings with 2.48. Garcia compiled a 2.37 average.

Cleveland's Bob Lemon, a 22-game winner, hurled the most complete games, 28 and the most innings, 310.

Detroit's Art Houtteman was charged with the most losses, 20. He won eight games.

Luxury Cruises Only Future For Zeppelins

By HANS NEUERBOURG

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany (AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener who built most of the Zeppelins, thinks the only future left for new ones is as novelty airships for "million-aire cruises."

"Zeppelin flights is a wonderful experience which cannot be matched by other craft," said the 84-year-old former commander of the Graf Zeppelin. "Because of this, a world dirigible tour might have a future.

"It would be beautiful, but expensive. A round-the-world ticket would cost about $20,000. But I believe this is the only Zeppelin project which could be realized. Otherwise, the day of the Zeppelin is definitely past."

Eckener was the first Zeppelin pilot to cross the Atlantic in a non-stop flight from east to west. He commanded Germany's ZR III in 1924 when it was flown to America as war reparations. It later became known as the "Los Angeles."

STOPPED IN 1937

Thirteen years later Germany stopped building Zeppelins after the May 6, 1937, tragedy at Lakehurst, N.J., when the Hindenburg was destroyed by fire and explosion which killed 36 of its 97 passengers.

Recently two German experts were reported to have drawn plans for the construction of new Zeppelins to be used in a future German airline. The two are former Zeppelin captain Max Pruess and Rudolf Sauter, a dirigible engineer

"Sauter visited me several times and showed me his plan," Eckener said.

"I told him he had my blessing, but that I do not want to have anything to do with it. Today, a Zeppelin would not have a chance against an airplane."

"Imagine the expense: The Hindenburg cost 10,000,000 Reichsmarks. Today, a Zeppelin would cost about 25,000,000 to 30,000,00 because of higher construction costs. It would have to be filled with helium which is not cheap, either. Then a dock would have to be built because the old one here was destroyed in Allied air raids during the last war. Such a dock would cost at least 15,000,000, to 20,000,000 marks ($3,570,000 to $4,760,000."

NO JETS POSSIBLE

Dr. Eckener said he had read about Italian plans to build a jet-propelled dirigible.

"That's impossible," he said. "I just can't believe it. The surface resistance is too great. The maximum speed of a dirigible is 10 miles per hour even with the most powerful engines. Besides it would have to carry so much fuel that there would be no room left for passengers."

Padre Makes 'Parish Calls' By Helicopter

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Roman Catholic padre who has been making his "parish calls" by helicopter is resting at his home here.

Father George Hart spent 10 months as a Canadian chaplain with the United Nations naval forces off Korea. His chief charges were the men of the Canadian destroyers—the Cayuga, Athabaskan, Nootka, Iroquois and Crusader, which rotate with others so that there are always three Canadian destroyers serving Korea

On his way to say mass Father Hart would drop on to the ships from the end of a steel cable suspended from the helicopter.

In bad weather he came close to being smashed to pieces several times as he dangled perilously close to the steel decks and superstructure. On a take-off, the helicopter pilot would sometimes pull away suddenly and leave him dangling a scant 20 feet above the icy seas.

The 36-year-old Franciscan priest isn't very impressed by his own exploits. "I didn't do anything dangerous," he said, "but it was certainly interesting and I loved every minute of it."

He came home happy about the morale and bearing of the Canadian sailors in the Far East.

Dismiss Appeal Of Mrs. Pitre

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada Monday dismissed the appeal of Mrs. Arthur Pitre of Quebec from a murder conviction arising out of the time-bombing of an airliner, Sept. 9, 1949.

Mrs. Pitre is scheduled to be hanged Jan. 9.

Two others already have been hanged for their part in the plot which sent 23 plane passengers to their deaths. J. Albert Guay, Quebec jeweler, was hanged Jan. 12, 1951, for the murder of his 28-year-old wife, Rita, a passenger on the plane. Motive was $25,000 insurance money and the love of a pretty waitress.

Genereux Ruest, 54-year-old crippled watchmaker, was hanged Jan. 25 last for manufacturing the time bomb that destroyed the plane in flight from Quebec City to Seven Islands, Que.

Mrs. McColl and helpers served lunch.

All of Russell's previous marriages ended in divorce. The most recent was from his secretary and literary collaborator, Patricia Helen Spence, from whom he was separated last June 24.

Ethel Waters Strong Contender For Top Film Actress Award

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Academy Awards race is still months away, but it looks now as if a Negro — for the first time in history — is in strong contention for the top actress award.

Ethel Waters, recreating the role she made famous on the stage in "Member of the Wedding", is the possibility.

As producers rush to get their top product on local screens to make the 1952 deadline, the race among the women at the moment is Broadway 3 to 1 over Hollywood.

Shirley Booth in "Come Back, Little Sheba," Julie Harris in "Member of the Wedding" and Joan Crawford in "Sudden Fear," plus Miss Waters, are the most talked-of distaff performances. Folks in the industry will nominate five for final voting.

STARRED ON BROADWAY

For Miss Booth and Miss Harris, their first movies are recreations of roles that gained them laurels on Broadway. Both are excellent, but there is a growing feeling among academy voters that such tailor-made roles work an unfair advantage on the Hollywood talent.

That feeling erupted last year when the voters chose Humphrey Bogart over Marlon Brando for the top male actor award.

Should the anti-Broadway feeling persist, Miss Crawford stands an excellent chance to win her second Academy Award. Her triumph in 1945 for "Mildred Pierce" is regarded as the most popular award in the history of the presentations.

Although Miss Waters is recreating a stage role, she has been a movie veteran since the early talkie days.

HUMAN TOUCH

Hollywood Variety, the trade paper, comments:

"Ethel Waters is splendid as the Negro cook, giving the film almost its sole touches of human warmth and understandable emotion."

Miss Waters is billed as one of the stars of "Member" and as such must be considered that way in the voting.

"Had she been listed as supporting, she would have been a walk-in for an Oscar," observed one reviewer.

The late Hattie McDaniel was the only Negro to win an academy award. She won it in 1939 as best supporting actress for her role in "Gone With the Wind."

SAFE FROM STORM—Nova Scotia lobster fishermen take a day off when surging coastal waters signal the approach of a storm. With big waves warning of more to come a cautious lobsterman has his motorboat and skiff hauled well up on the beach at Hubbards, near Halifax.

Believe Eisenhower Plans Start Korean Offensive

TOKYO (AP) —President-elect Eisenhower's conclusion that the Communists can be impressed "only by deeds" is interpreted by some Allied military sources in Japan and Korea to mean the United Nations will take the offensive in Korea.

Before his visit to Korea, military leaders planned to inform Eisenhower that the only hope for an end to the Korean conflict was a military one.

Eisenhower's statement on arriving in New York seemed to bear out the belief that as commander in chief of United States armed forces he will order an end to the year-old stalemate.

". . .We face an enemy we cannot hope to impress by words, however eloquent, but only by deeds—executed under circumstances of our own choosing."

In those 24 words, Eisenhower not only seemed to say he will take the wraps off Gen Mark Clark's Far East command, but also that the armistice talks can result in nothing more than wasted words and time.

One year ago last month, when a cease-fire line was agreed upon at Panmunjom, quiet settled over the Korean front. In the last 13 months that quiet has erupted frequently in savage, if small-scale fighting.

The battle line has changed little and neither side has elected to attack in an effort to force a breakthrough. While Clark and Gen. James A. Van Fleet, his Korea commander, have been under orders only to hold, the Communists have made the most of the opportunity to build up in depth.

It is doubtful now if Clark has enough troops to smash through the 700,000 Communist soldiers facing him.

Therefore Eisenhower must have a way in mind to build up the Eighth Army to a real striking force.

Clark has 10 American divisions, counting two in Japan, 14 South Korean divisions, two Air Force and the U. S. Seventh Fleet.

If that force is bolstered by three or four divisions from Nationalist China and perhaps many additional thousands more South Korean troops still in training, Clark conceivably could take the offensive.

It is not revealing classified information to say that the Communists are suckers for a body punch.

The 1st Marine division landing at Inchon caught them flat-footed.

The Reds have massed their forces along the front again and are wide open for an amphibious attack anywhere along the two coasts. The fact that there are two coasts makes it doubly hard for them to guess where the man who led the attack on Anzio might smack them.

Once a beachhead were secured, the next move would be to hammer a line right across the peninsula and slam the back door on the Communists massed along the front. Cutting their supply lines would result in complete chaos and might bring the desired military decision.

If the stalemate is ever broken that's possibly the way it will have to be done.

2 Glamor Girls Make Coburn 20 Yrs. Younger

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After co-starring with Jane Russell and Marilyn Monroe, says Charles Coburn, "I feel 20 years younger!"

"Ah, youth!" sighed the 75-year-old actor as he reflected on the two glamor girls with whom he is appearing in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

"I have always made it a habit to watch young people; that's the best way to find out how people are living and thinking," he said.

"And I can't think of any more pleasant work than watching Miss Monroe and Miss Russell. Each possesses sex appeal to a remarkable degree. That is a kind of animal magnetism which is rare in human beings."

Apart from their obvious physical attributes, Misses Monroe and Russell are pleasant to work with, Coburn commented.

"Each has a sense of humor, and that is a valuable attribute in a woman," he said. "Neither has let fame go to her head; they are regular and don't put on airs.

SMART WOMEN

"Miss Russell seems like a very smart woman, she has apparently managed her career intelligently. Marilyn has had less experience in pictures, but she seems eager to learn. She will listen to direction and advice, which is something a lot of newcomers won't do."

Looking forward to more work with Russell and Monroe, Coburn said he was reminded of a story about the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes.

"One day when he was 90," the actor related, "he was walking down a Washington street with his old friend, Justice Brandeis, who was 70. As they walked along, a pretty girl came toward them. She gave them the eye, and they tipped their hats.

After she had gone 10 paces past them, they turned and she gave them the eye again. Then Holmes turned to Brandeis and sighed 'Ah, to be 70 again!' "

MYSTERY SHIP—The Israeli freighter Abraham Graetz reaches port at Saint John, N.B., amid contradictory reports concerning her former skipper, Capt. Adam Graetz. The radio operator denied a report that Capt. Graetz held a pistol to his head and forced him to send messages to the Israeli government. Other ship's officers refused comment. Capt. Graetz left the vessel at sea. He transferred to a tug and landed at Halifax, later going to Montreal.

Canadians Get Travel Privileges

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians on duty in Germany now enjoy the same privileges as British soldiers for leave travel to the United Kingdom.

They may buy a return ticket from any point in Germany to any point in the United Kingdom for $26.89. The Canadian government will pay the difference.

Under a similar arrangement a Canadian soldier in Germany on leave may travel to any point 50 miles outside the border and return for $3.85.

A Canadian soldier serving in the United Kingdom may get a leave warrant for a round trip anywhere within the U.K. for $2.45. A soldier from Germany in the U.K. on leave and wishing to travel from point to point also enjoys the $2.45 warrant privilege.

Poor Ontario Rum Keeps Nfld. MP Quiet

OTTAWA (CP)—A Newfoundlander implied in the Commons Monday that the "very poor quality" of Ontario rum was the reason he decided not to deal with controversial topics during the throne speech debate.

George Higgins (PC—St. John's) explained his statement by quoting a Newfoundland newspaper article which said "plain speech is a lost art in these parts."

" 'The modern Newfoundlander needs three tots of strong rum before he clears his throat and a good look under the sofa and behind the door before he ventures an opinion on any controversial subject.'

"As I say, Ontario rum is not very good and consequently I am not going to deal with any controversial matters."

50,000 In Ontario Have Lost Licences

TORONTO (CP)—For every 25 automobile drivers in Ontario, there is one person who once drove but now is prohibited.

Some 50,000 one-time permit-holders are prohibited. More than 17,000 persons had their licences suspended in 1951 alone, says the annual report of the motor vehicles branch.

Of this number, only 601 were banned because of bad driving records. Licences were taken from the others until proof of financial responsibility is shown.

Lawyer Argues Witnesses Anti-Religious

OTTAWA (CP)—A Quebec lawyer argued Monday in the Supreme Court of Canada that the Witnesses of Jehovah are "anti-religious and anti-social."

Ernest Gobout, counsel for Quebec City, said the Witnesses criticize all religions.

"They claim they are the chosen ones of Christ and that their duty is to destroy governments by force," he said.

Mr. Godbout presented his arguments in French during the fifth day of a hearing on the validity of a Quebec City bylaw which prohibits distribution of literature without a permit from the chief of police.

W. Glen How of Toronto, counsel for the Witnesses, asked the court to declare the bylaw invalid. He also asked the court to declare that the Witnesses form a religious denomination, entitled to the same freedoms as other denominations.

Before the adjournment, Emery Beaulieu of Montreal began presenting argument on behalf of the Quebec attorney-general's department. The department supports the contention of Quebec City that the bylaw is vaild.

CRITICIZED BY COURT

Mr. How, criticized by the court for taking more than four days to present his case, said in concluding remarks that a freedom of worship statute of 1852 guaranteed freedom of religion to the Canadian people.

However, the Quebec bylaw prevented exercise of freedom of religion. It prevented Witnesses from distributing bible tracts and other literature.

Mr. Godbout said the Witnesses preached religious and civil revolution.

From a book distributed by the Witnesses, he quoted a ... that the Witnesses do not constitute a religion.

"What can be more categorical than that?" asked Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret.

MYSTERY DEEPENS—Adam Graetz, master of the Israeli freighter Abraham Graetz, arrives in Montreal, following a report that he threatened to scuttle his ship unless his father was made Israeli minister of communications. The 24-year-old skipper said the report was a fabrication. An official of the M. Dizengoff and Company, Ltd., of New York, owners of the ship, said he believed there was some difference of opinion between Capt. Graetz and some authorities on topics of maritime procedure.

Chinese Reds Reject Appeal

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China Monday blasted hopes for an early truce in Korea by angrily rejecting a United Nations peace appeal based on India's plan for an exchange of prisoners of war.

Peiping's reply came from Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai, who called the UN general assembly resolution illegal, unreasonable, unfair and degenerate.

He demanded that the United States resume truce talks at Panmunjom along the lines proposed by the Foreign Minister, Andrei Vishinsky of Russia. The talks have been suspended since October.

Chou's answer to L. B. Pearson of Canada, UN assembly president, was broadcast over Peiping radio. Pearson had sent the text of the UN resolution and an 800-word personal appeal for its acceptance to both the Red Chinese and the North Koreans.

Vicar Prays 10 Mins. Exorcise Evil Spirit

IPSWICH, England (Reuters)—A Church of England vicar Monday night prayed for 10 minutes to exorcise an "evil spirit" who has been scaring a family here.

Canon F. Tucker-Harvey was called in by seaman Cecil Wilson and his family after they complained of thumpings, creakings and strange lights and weird shadows in their 16th century house.

Wilson said toys, brushes, shoes and candlesticks had been thrown about.

The vicar prayed "that God Almighty who has power over all things will turn away this evil spirit which is terrifying his children."

Industrial Accidents Higher During 1952

MALTON (CP)—C. H. Millard said Sunday the number of people killed as a result of industrial accidents in Ontario has increased from 296 in 1951 to 387 during the first 11 months of 1952.

The national director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) told a dinner meeting that at the present rate the 12-month total for 1952 will probably reach 422, an increase of 42 per cent over last year.

"I must conclude management is falling down on the job," Mr. Millard told students at a three-day leadership training course in workmen's compensation.

Eel Takes Place Of Turkey Christmas Menu

By KEN STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—Thousands of Americans in the New England states have Quebec eel instead of turkey for their Christmas dinner.

More than 1,000,000 pounds of eel, caught in the St. Lawrence river near the Island of Orleans and in the Richelieu river, were shipped to the United States this fall to meet the annual Christmas season demand. Some were also shipped to Europe.

The eels were shipped frozen in boxes of 125 or more, or in trucks equipped with special fresh watr tanks, instead of by boat. In past years the fish were transported alive in a specially-constructed barge with a perforated bottom compartment filled with water.

GROWING INDUSTRY

The eels are sent to the U.S., Germany and other provinces of Canada by the Fishermen's Co-operative of the Island of Orleans, one of the largest shippers of this product in the country. In recent years eel fishing has become recognized as a maritime industry in Quebec.

They don't sell too well in Canada, where housewives apparently won't cook a fish that resembles a snake and has a reputation for strange gymnastics in the frying pan. But in Boston, New York and other Eastern American cities they sell like hot cakes.

To people of Italian, German, and Jewish descent eels are great delicacies and are served up in various forms during the Yuletide season. Jellied and potted, eels are in great demand, and smoked eel, used for hors d'oeuvres, sells for as much as $1.25 a pound.

The eel fishing season along the St. Lawrence starts about the end of September and runs until early November.

The weirs or traps, which look like slender willow baskets and have a small entrance at one end, are filled with fish waste as bait. Sometimes they are placed as far as 300 feet out in the river.

Arthur DeRome, veteran authority and president of the Fishermen's Protective Society of the province of Quebec, said the catch this season was one of the best in years.

The average weight of eels caught in the Island of Orleans district runs between two and seven pounds, and they measure from two to five feet in length.

Home and School Association News

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL

A capacity crowd was at the Normal School Monday evening for the annual Christmas concert by pupils of Queen Alexandra School, which is sponsored by the Home and School Association. Mrs. Arthur Black extended a hearty welcome as did principal Mr. K. McKee, who was chairman.

Carol singing from colored slides was led by Mr. H. Wilson and Mrs. H. Hamilton was pianist. Carols were also sung at intervals in the program.

Miss Helen Staples presented an amusing group of "Teddy Bears", who marched and danced to the command of Captain Bear Barry Black. Karen Gatfield was a dainty Miss inquiring about the antics of the bears.

Miss Olive Armstrong's class presentation of a playlet, "The Christmas Tree," was entirely the children's own presentation, corelating art, music and English. Boys and girls from Miss Amy Curtis' class did a folk dancing number.

A well-trained group from Miss Beryl Hart's room did several choral speaking numbers, showing timing and expression well mastered. Mr. Dawson's room had prepared a pageant, "The Christmas Story" in three scenes, with a background choir. Costumes, music and solemnity of the scenes made a fitting conclusion to the program.

Mrs. Black announced a second parent-education playlet, "Fresh Variable Winds" will be presented January 19th in the Normal School with Dr. Robert Bell giving a commentary.

DOROTHY DIX

Service Marriage Approved In This Case

DEAR MISS DIX: My eldest daughter, who is 19, is very much in love with a 21-year-old boy in service. They want to marry when he returns to the States, which will be in another year. My husband says he will not give his consent until the young man is out of service. However, I think they should get married when they want to and here is why. As a rule, I do not approve of young marriages, but these two have so much in common and are so sensible that I feel they're ready for marriage.

They went through high school together, attended the same church, where they both sang in the choir and taught Sunday School. My daughter now has a good position, has been taught by me to sew and cook and has had so much experience taking care of her young brother that she is perfectly capable around a baby. The boy is a fine boy, sends her home $100 a month to save towards their home; she, too, is saving, and has some beautiful things in her hope chest. The boy has a trade, with a good job waiting when he leaves the Army. He is hard working and ambitious. They have already been separated for a year and a half, and I feel they should know their own minds by now.

A WORRIED MOTHER.

ANSWER: Your letter, which I have somewhat shortened, was so sensibly and straightforwardly written that I cannot believe you are exaggerating any of its details. You draw a perfect picture of two fine young people in love.

From the hundreds of letters I receive on the subject and the many talks I have with young people, I know there is no more controversial subject just now than this one of marriage while the boy is still in service. The overwhelming conclusion of workers among young people, and of the Army top brass, is that they are not to be indiscriminately recommended. The risks involved, coupled with the hazards attendant upon young marriages anyway, make such unions ordinarily tabu. No one general rule can possibly be given to cover all cases, however, and this particular instance is one where I think the young folks should be permitted to marry in a year's time, with the blessing of both sets of parents.

COUPLE IS READY

They have already accomplished as much as couples several years older. They have learned, even at their tender years, the lessons of consideration and mutual abligation that make the best foundation for a good marriage. These are the fundamentals that so many husbands and wives never learn. Our Worried Mother is rightly concerned over the dilemma, but she has done a fine job in teaching her daughter to accept responsibility. Since both young people and their families are active in church, the clergyman should be consulted. Perhaps his advice will clarify the situation with Dad.

Emotional and social maturity are much more important as marriage factors than age; however, since no gauge exists to measure them, we still must depend upon the good old calendar to set our standards. Common sense must often be called upon to settle controversies revolving around time, and this is one such instance. I hope every young woman faced with a similar problem will go in for a session of self-analysis to see if her equipment for marriage is as complete as this girl's.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Why are people, even ordinarily tactful ones, guilty of asking so many personal questions? Before a person is married the question is: "When are you getting married?" Then, as soon as the honeymoon is over, "When are you starting a family?" If you do begin the family a bit too soon, there's more whispering and questioning. If you wait a while, it's "Why did you wait so long?" Do such people really expect answers? And do they realize how personal their interrogations are? What a wonderful world this would be if we all lived our own lives and stopped inquiring into the affairs of others.

AN EXPECTANT MOTHER.

ANSWER: At the present time you are probably a little oversensitive and are apt to misconstrue many of the questions put to you. While it might be a wonderful world if everyone lived his own life, wouldn't it also be a bit lonesome? Perhaps at times the interest of others may be irksome, but there are other occasions when it is a blessed ray of sunshine.

That you are presently beset by many questions is understandable; probably no situation in life is as interesting to another woman as a new life itself. While some of their questions may appear tactless and annoying to you now, they are, I am sure, well meant for the most part. Try to be a bit more patient with your friends. When they definitely overstep the bounds of good taste, change the subject or tell them frankly you prefer not to pursue their line of conversation.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think it is proper for a mother to have a birthday party every year for her only child, who is now three years old? S.R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: What a question! Not only is it perfectly proper but actually commendable. Almost everyone likes to make an occasion of a birthday. Perhaps you are objecting to the necessity of small guests bringing gifts. This can be overdone, but surely a small gift is all that is required, and is not too much for the average family to manage. If it is, I'm sure the mother will understand and not expect your child to bring one. The party atmosphere is what counts.

What's Right?

Your husband is on a special diet that for medical reasons he must follow carefully and you are both invited out to dinner.

WRONG: Accept the invitation—and let your hostess find out at dinner what the situation is.

RIGHT: Decline the invitation, explaining why. Then if the hostess says she will be glad to have the proper food for your husband and insists that you come, you may feel free to do so.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Add Glamor To Christmas Vegetables

On Thursday in this space I will give you a delicious Christmas dinner menu. I have chosen riced parsley potatoes, fresh or frozen green peas and onions au gratin, but since your choice of vegetables can make the difference between that feeling of the same old thing OR the thrill of something different, I am giving you some glamorous vegetable choices today. Substitute these if they appeal to you more. If you do not use them for Christmas dinner clip them now and tuck them away in your file. The time will come in mid-January when you will crave a change in your vegetable-cooking ways.

HOW TO COOK VEGETABLES

A good general rule for cooking most vegetables—especially green ones—is to undercook them and to use as little water as possible, so that the water has all evaporated by the time they are barely tender. Thus you conserve a maximum of their precious vitamins and minerals.

SPINACH WITH HOT FRENCH DRESSING

Heat 1-3 cup of French dressing just to boiling point. Add 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 shelled and sliced and chopped hard-cooked egg and ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Cook washed spinach in only the water which clings to leaves, turning it over after first 2 minutes over high heat. As soon as you can cut through it with a knife, do so, until it is fairly coarsely chopped. Drain off excess liquid (but save it for the soup pot). Pour over hot French dressing, mix in and serve at once.

CASSEROLE OF BROCCOLI WITH BREADCRUMBS AND CHEESE

Trim outer coarse skin from big stalks of broccoli, but leave on the small leaves. Wash. Place in saucepan with 1-inch boiling water. Cover. Cook over high heat until barely tender—about 12 minutes. You will need 2 lbs. for this casserole, raw weight. Drain it and chop rather finely. Saute gently in 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon grated onion, for about 1 minute, then add 2 tablespoons flour, blend in, then stir in 1 cup milk, ¼ teaspoon each salt and paprika. (Or you may use a can of condensed mushroom soup.) Add the chopped broccoli to the sauce and beat the mixture for 2 minutes. Turn into baking dish. Sprinkle top with buttered crumbs or crushed corn flakes or potato chips, then top with at least ½ cup grated cheese. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. until mixture bubbles and top browns.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS AND CHESTNUTS CREAMED

Soak 1 lb. sprouts in salt water 10 minutes, then trim off yellow or wilted leaves. Cut crosswise gash in base of stem. Drop them in boiling water to barely cover and boil 10 minutes, covered. Drain. Add to them 1 cup of Italian chestnuts which have been boiled 30 minutes, shelled and skinned, and boiled in their bare state for about 15 minutes or until tender. Heat until golden brown 1 tablespoon butter, add ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar and add chestnuts and stir and cook them until they are golden. In another saucepan melt 2 tablespoons butter, stir in 2 tablespoons flour, then 1 cup Brussels sprouts liquid or half liquid and cream and stir until thick. When the sauce is smooth and thick add drained sprouts and browned chestnuts. If desired you may substitute 1 cup chopped celery, sauted in butter for 5 minutes, instead of the chestnuts.

CHANTILLY POTATOES

Make your fluffiest mashed potatoes, by paring and halving them and soaking in cold water ½ hour. Boiling in salted water until very tender, draining, beating over low heat until hot one lump remains, adding plenty of hot milk and butter, and beat until your arm aches. Place these on a glass pie plate in a careful mound. Whip ½ cup cream until stiff and add shake of salt and pepper and paprika and cayenne. Fold in ½ cup dry grated cheese. Cover the mound of potatoes with the whipped cream mixture. Place in oven at about 375 deg. Fahr. until cheese is melted and dish has a glorious golden tinge. Serve at once. This kind of cooking lures your children home for Christmas.
